TELEPHONE SYSTEM

G. W. Hooper Reaches an Agreement With Village Council.

G. W. Hooper, of Crookston, submitted an ordinance granting to himself a franchise to put in a telephone line in St. Hilaire, to the village council last Thursday evening at a special meeting and an agreement was reached whereby the franchise will be granted by the council at their first regular meeting in May.

Mr. Hooper deposits one hundred dollars as a guarantee of good faith and agrees to start work not later than August first, and have the line completed and in running order before January 1st, 1908. The rates will be $1.75 for business and $1.00 for residence phones, and the hours of service shall be from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. in summer and until 8 p.m. in winter. Mr. Hooper also agrees to extend the line into the country wherever two phones to a mile can be secured.

Teachers Elected.

At a meeting of the board of education last Saturday evening the following teachers were elected for the ensuing year:

Principal—Prof. Casper E. Bergh.

6th and 7th grades—Miss Belva Sorkness.

4th and 5th grades—Miss Olga Olson.

2nd and 3rd grades—Miss Huldah C. Gigstad.

Primary—Miss May Plowman.

The weather? Please don't mention it, as it is a painful subject just at present.

WEDDING ON APRIL 24TH

Howard K. Jones, of Crookston, and Miss Alma Remington Will Wed.

Crookston Journal: On Wednesday, April 24, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Remington at St. Hilaire will occur, the marriage of their daughter, Miss Alma I., to Mr. Howard K. Jones of this city. The wedding will take place in the afternoon after which the bride and groom will take the train for Crookston and at once start housekeeping at 303 Hulbert street which is being cosily furnished by the prospective groom for his bride. Miss Remington is one of the prominent society young ladies of St. Hilaire and is a talented school teacher in Red Lake county. Mr. Jones has been a resident of Crookston since last fall when he came here from St. Hilaire. He held a responsible position with the St. Hilaire Lumber Co., in this city. His uncle, E. R. Evans was formerly superintendent of the St. Hilaire Lumber Co., but is now a resident of this city and is now connected with the Crookston Lumber Co. The wedding will create a stir in social circles of St. Hilaire and this city, where the interested parties are both well and favorably known.

First Victory.

A special meeting of the commercial club was held at the village hall on Wednesday evening to discuss the telephone question and the matter was thoroughly discussed. Local parties did not desire the franchise and it was deemed inadvisable for the village to take it up, so a resolution was passed asking the village council to grant a franchise to G. W. Hooper, if his proposition was a reasonable one. As the council has already acted in the matter we can claim this as the first victory for the new club. Their regular meeting will be held at the village hall next Wednesday evening.

Mr. Hooper informs us that it is his intention to move here with his family and make this place his home and the country lines will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

Assessors Will Meet.

Gazette: The various township assessors of Red Lake county will meet in the offices of County Auditor J. B. O'Brien, on Thursday, April 25th, to receive their assessor's books and such instructions as are usually given by the county auditor relative to making the official tax estimates. There will be over thirty assessors who will be expected to attend the meeting. After receiving their full instructions they will at once begin the work of assessing the real and personal property in their individual townships and villages.

DID LAWYERS DO IT?

Each side claims that the other fellow stole the county seat petition and the following from Editor Hunt of the Sunbeam, claiming that the lawyers did it, will be of interest:

The stealing of the county seat removal petition from the vaults of the county auditor's office at Red Lake Falls, will undoubtedly stir up quite a muss between the people of the two Falls. We understand there is some blame being attached to Auditor O'Brien for the loss of the petition, but we can't see why he is to blame, as it appears that the attorneys of both sides had free access to all the records in the case, and it would be useless to try to make a six-year-old school boy believe that Auditor O'Brien would allow a common 25-cent sneak thief any opportunity to steal valuable records from his office.

Now who stole that petition?

It is a well known fact, that this county seat removal scrap has been a source of some good "fat picking" for quite a large number of lawyers, and that their day was passed as soon as this last meeting of the commissioners was had, for then the whole matter would be up to the people, and they would be out of a job. Now what would be more natural than that they should "mislay," the petition among some of their other papers and be unable to find it when they wanted it. Of course as soon as the petition is lost, we mean "mislaid," the business of the lawyers on both sides re-opens at the old stand for another two year's active business, while the poor devil that pays the expenses can go down in his pockets and dig up the price of a new petition and a trip for it and the attorneys to supreme court.

BOYCOTT A POSTMASTER

Residents of Plummer Are Now Mailing Their Letters on the Train.

The residents of the village of Plummer have invented a new boycott, says the Thief River Falls News. For some time past the business men of this village have been in an open war against Charles W. Latta, the editor and proprietor of the Plummer Pioneer, and withdrew all of their patronage from the paper. As a result the Pioneer has appeared each week and although it does not contain the advertisement of any business house in Plummer, it dishes up a few hot roasts for some of the residents of that place each week. Mr. Latta also happens to be the postmaster and has a little over three years more to serve before his term of office expires. His salary depends upon the number of stamps cancelled, and in order to deprive Mr. Latta of revenue he would otherwise secure from the cancelling of stamps, the people of that place make it a point to mail all of their letters on the train, and are conducting a campaign to induce all others to do likewise. As a result the postmaster-editor is not making much money out of the office and the war goes on.

Warning!

There are a few boys here that should read this item carefully and take heed:

Gazette: Sheriff Nelson was called to Thief River Monday where he arrested Willie Ewart, the eleven-year-old son of Henry Ewart, on the charge of incorrigibility. Willie has led a strenuous life for an urchin of his immature years, but his last escapade was a little more daring than his previous adventures and proved the windup of a career that bid fare to rival that of Captain Kidd. It seems that last week Willie got short of funds and in order to replenish his depleted larder confiscated a copper boiler which the owner had neglected to nail down, and sold it to a local junk dealer at Thief River. The deed having been disclosed by a descendent of Sherlock Holmes, Willie was placed under arrest. Henry Ewart, the boy's father, admitted that he could not manage the youth, and Sheriff Nelson took him to Warren, Tuesday, where the case was laid before Judge Grindeland, who decided that the state training school was the proper place for the boy for awhile. Sheriff Nelson took the lad to Red Wing Wednesday.

Hamilton Acquitted.

Thief River News: R. B. Hamilton, the Soo brakeman, indicted for rape upon the person of Miss Annie Christienson was tried last week and the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty. It took three days to try the case and was a hotly contested one upon both sides. P. W. Mabey, of this city, who was Hamilton's attorney, naturally feels quite elated over the outcome.

Hamilton was also indicted for assault, but this case will not be tried until the October term of court, and Hamilton has been released upon a bail bond of $1,000.

We have about 150 Boys' and Children's Suits that will be sold for less than half the regular prices.

FACTS ABOUT DURUM

World's Markets will Absorb All that Can be Raised in the Northwest.

Charles H. Thornton, of the Duluth Market Record, has written an article on durum (macaroni) wheat which will be of much interest to grain growers. He says:

The commercial value, actual as well as relative of durum wheat, is probably of greater interest this spring to producers of wheat in the northwest than any other subject with which they are confronted. And probably less is known about the value of durum than any other cereal grown in the northwest. As a study of the durum wheat movement from the time the crop first assumed proportions giving it a place in the world's markets, I am convinced that durum is destined to make a place for itself as a regular and valuable crop for certain sections of the northwest. In qualifying this statement by saying "certain sections," I mean that durum is particularly adapted to light soil, and I believe in the present stage of its development that growers will make a mistake by growing it on heavy soil. This also is the concensus of opinion of large producers in the northwest, who have raised it during the past three or four years.

Durum wheat was originally brought from Russia by the United States agricultural department with a view of having it grown on the light soil of the semi-arid regions through the Dakotas and Nebraska. By semi-arid I mean sections having a normal rainfall of ten to fifteen inches yearly. The first crop when the total was around 8,000,000 bushels, a large proportion of this was shipped through Duluth mostly for export, although it was taken in a small way by numerous mills through the east for experimental purpose. It will be remembered that 1904 was the year of the shrunken crop in the varieties of spring wheat, and at one time during the fall months of that year durum wheat sold at a discount of about 25 cents a bushel under No. 1 Northern, but before the next crop came in the discount had narrowed to 4 or 5 cents a bushel. In 1905 the crop was around 18,000,000 bushels and a little over 8,000,000 of it went through Duluth, mostly for export as eastern millers who had used it did not seem to care to repeat their experiments of the year before. This past year, 1906, the crop has been variously estimated at 40,000,000 to 60,000,000 bushels. I myself figured the crop early at around 45,000,000 bushels and have seen no reason to change those figures. Up to the close of navigation last fall a little over 12,500,000 bushels had been received at Duluth and forwarded to the Atlantic seaboard, and, as during previous years, almost entirely for export.

A peculiar feature of the durum price problem has been that every year since 1903 we have been told that the demand was limited and on the 1905 crop when, as stated above, we exported 8,000,000 bushels it looked as though another million or two would have filled the foreign markets to the point where they would not take any more, and it surely did look as though the 1906 crop with its increase of over 100 per cent would glut the market and that durum would have to go to a feed basis, but so far, with exports of 12,000,000 and sales of four to five millions more to go out in the spring, we are confronted with a demand that shows no signs of being satisfied.

As a matter of fact, it is now a fairly well settled matter that all of the durum wheat from the 1906 crop will be wanted and at relatively good prices, as compared with regular spring wheat, but we are unable to determine whether or not the demand this year is due, as it was during each of the previous years, to unusual conditions in the European markets. American millers, with few exceptions, are just as antagonistic to durum wheat as they have ever been, probably more so, but we do know that England and German millers who used it in 1905 for making bread flour and again last fall, are back again and buying it for spring shipment. It is my personal opinion that the failure, or partial failure of the Russian crop, has had little or nothing to do with creating the present year's demand for durum wheat. I think it is largely if not entirely due to the fact that millers are selling at a lower price than other spring wheat, and that foreign millers have learned how to use it, and foreign bakers have learned how to make bread from it, and with the necessity for economies abroad, they are ready and anxious to take it at a discount.

As regards the prospective price for durum the coming fall and winter, I feel that the world's markets will absorb all and more than we can raise in the northwest, and no other section of the country is going in for it to any large extent. It is now a very well established fact that Russia, which has heretofore been the world's largest exporter of wheat, cannot again be a factor of any magnitude until 1908, at the earliest, and European countries will be looking for cheap wheat this fall wherever it can be found. By cheap wheat, I mean wheat selling at a discount under standard grades, and at a nominal discount durum wheat is a much more profitable crop, provided one has the proper soil on which to raise it.

There are, as stated above, undetermined facts about the future of durum wheat, but they seem to be working out, and I have no doubt will work out. The principal one of these is the antagonistic attitude of American millers, and in my conversations with millers who have experimented with it, I have come to the conclusion that their attitude is sincere, and that they cannot find it profitable, either alone or as a mixture, but whether they do or not, I believe, as heretofore stated, that the world's markets for wheat warrant us in the opinion that it will all be wanted, and at relatively good prices. To northwestern farmers who have not heretofore raised durum, I would suggest that they go at it in a small way only, taking care to select good seed, the best No. 1 grade is none too good, and to seed it on light soil only. The best success seems to have been attained by cross drilling, using about a peck more to the acre than the ordinary varieties of spring wheat. The necessity for more seed to the acre is occasioned by the fact that kernels are larger and require more to get results.

The coming week Rapp & Post will have a special sale of Wash Goods. Those worth 15c to 60c a yard will go at 7c to 25c a yard.

Rich and Poor.

Upton Sinclair, the brilliant author of "The Jungle," said in a St. Patrick's day address:

"I love Ireland. She is downtrodden and oppressed, and the downtrodden and oppressed are dear to me. Ireland typifies the poor, her oppressors typify the rich, and the way the rich abuse the poor is typified in the story of the count and his valet.

"The valet had committed some trifling offense—forgot to perfume the count's handkerchief, perhaps—and the angry nobleman shouted:

Mix one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Kargon, three ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla. Shake well in a bottle and take one teaspoonful after meals and again at bedtime. Any good druggist can supply these ingredients.

This is said to be a splendid Spring Blood Tonic and system renovator because of its gentle action in restoring the Kidneys to normal activity, forcing them to filter from the blood all impure matter and acids, destroying micro-organisms which produce ill health and sour blood.

Everyone should take something to cleanse the blood at this time of year, and the above simple prescription is the most highly indorsed of the hundreds of home remedies generally used.

Mix this yourself, then you will know what you are taking.

"I see you have your share of the crop," said the owner of the ground. "Now, where's mine?"

"You ain't got no share," was the reply.

"What?" exclaimed the owner. "Why, wasn't I to have one-fourth of the crop?"

BRAVE DEED OF VOLUNTEER.

It is not always that the information carried by the recognized aid-de-camp to and from the commanding officer in battle which is of highest value. There was a supreme moment during the battle of Waterloo when the Duke of Wellington was left absolutely alone—and that not when he was running the risk of capture by sailing through the enemy's lines. It simply meant that every galloper had gone his way, each with his message.

At this moment a stranger rode up to the duke and quietly said, "Can I be of any use, sir?" The duke took one glance at him and unhesitatingly answered: "Yes; take this pencil note to the commanding officer," pointing to a regiment in the heat of battle. The stranger took the note and galloped away with it through the thick of the fight. He delivered it, but what happened to him no man knows. The duke always declared that to be one of the most gallant deeds that had ever come under his notice. It was done without prospect of acknowledgment or reward and neither attended its successful accomplishment.—London Standard.

NOVELTY IN VIENNA

WEATHER BOOTHS A FEATURE OF PUBLIC PARKS.

In several of the beautiful parks of the city of Vienna very interesting weather towers, or booths (Wetterhauschen) in the shape of a pagoda can be seen, says the Scientific American. In the Maria Josefa park, just opened, is one shown in our engraving, which is distinguished from most others by the number of meteorological instruments, and by very full data and indications of general interest. It was made by Heinrich Kappeller, from a design by Ignaz Fuchs. On the front is an ingeniously constructed universal clock, designed and patented by Prof. Lauda of Leitmeritz and made in Vienna. This clock shows the time in all the large cities of the world. On the northeast side is an immense atmospherical thermometer, showing the temperature of the moment, while another beside it gives the extremes of the 24 hours past. On the northwest side is a new instrument, namely, an electrical barometer, which gives warning of impending electrical storms. Beneath it is a meteorological instrument, and from these two weather prophets reliable conclusions can be reached. On the southeastern side is a self-registering barometer, by which the variations in atmospheric pressure for an entire week are recorded on a strip of paper. On the southwest side are two self-registering thermometers, protected from the sun. One shows the variations in temperature of the atmosphere, the other the changes in a stratum of earth beneath the booth some eight feet deep. The remaining space is filled with interesting meteorological data. The booth receives much attention from visitors. The idea of combining the useful with the ornamental is a good one, and might be followed to advantage in our public parks.

ROBBED DEAD OF RINGS.

Roumania Undertaker Confesses to Systematic Pilfering.

An undertaker of Bucharest, Roumania, is under arrest for robbing the dead; he gave himself up and denounced himself as the meanest of thieves. It is the custom in Roumania to bury married people with their marriage rings. This undertaker made it a practice to draw the rings from the cold fingers just before the lid was screwed on. For many years he melted up the rings and sold the gold and silver, but of late he had not the courage to do so since, according to his statement, the corpses appeared before him nightly in his dreams, threatening dire things lest he return the jewels. Some 50 rings were turned over by the thief to the authorities. His customers have petitioned the minister of the interior to issue an order for the unburial of their dead relatives, robbed by the undertaker. They demand that new wedding rings be placed in the coffins at the undertaker's expense. The ignorant people are afraid that man and wife will be unable to recognize each other when the trumpet blows unless they wear their wedding rings.

Strange Pets.

A tollgate keeper at Wytham, near Oxford, England, has some strange pets which he exhibits. He places a piece of bread on the toe of his boot and whistles in a peculiar way. Instantly a dozen or more wild rats emerge from the bushes, eat the bread and at another whistle go back to their holes. The man places a piece of bread on his shoulder, whistles again, and this time numerous sparrows and finches appear. The gatekeeper says that the obedience of his feathered and furry pets is solely due to patience and kindness.

Long-Lived Goldfinch.

The longevity of ravens, geese and several other birds is well known, but it does not often fall to the lot of a cage bird to live to a great age.

A goldfinch belonging to W. Goodwin of Victoria Park, Dorchester, England, furnished the exception to the usual rule by living till it was over 22 years old. The bird lately died from sheer old age.

TIRED BACKS.

The kidneys have a great work to do in keeping the blood pure. When they get out of order it causes backache, headaches, dizziness, languor and distressing urinary troubles. Keep the kidneys well and all these sufferings will be saved you. Mrs. S. A. Moore, proprietor of a restaurant at Waterville, Mo., says: "Before using Doan's Kidney Pills I suffered everything from kidney troubles for a year and a half. I had pain in the back and head, and almost continuous in the loins and felt weary all the time. A few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills brought great relief, and I kept on taking them until in a short time I was cured. I think Doan's Kidney Pills are wonderful."

Cause for Change.

A medical man was wandering through an asylum's wards one day. He came upon a man who sat in a brown study on a bench.

"How do you do, sir?" asked the doctor. "What is your name, may I ask?"

"My name?" said the other, frowning fiercely. "Why, Czar Nicholas, of course."

"Indeed!" said the doctor. "Yet the last time I was here you were the German emperor."

"Yes, of course," said the other quickly; "but that was by my first wife."—London Tit-Bits.

CARE OF THE SICK ROOM.

When the bedroom becomes a sick room there is an added reason why extreme precautions should be used to keep the room in a thoroughly sanitary condition.

Above all things, the bedroom should never be damp. It should be nice and dry, always warm and comfortable in winter, cool and airy in summer, and bright and sunny some parts of the day.

If there is any suspicion of dampness in a bedroom it is probably due, if there is wallpaper on the wall, to the absorption of water by the paper which frequently acts as a blotting paper and holds quantities of water in it.

The use of wallpaper on walls is to be deplored; it means disease, ill health and unhappiness. It is frequently the cause of lung trouble, not only because of its dampness but also because of its power to retain infection of many kinds.

The desired method of treating a bedroom wall is to tint it for the alabastined wall is a perfect wall. It never flakes off, chips or peels: It absorbs moisture and expels it, it opens the pores of the plaster and makes a room livable and breathable.

The floor in the bedroom should have light, cleanable, dainty rugs that can be easily shaken and a floor that is thoroughly oiled or varnished, that will not absorb moisture. The cracks in the floor should be thoroughly filled and covered. Woodwork in the bedroom should be attended to carefully, window sills should be thoroughly varnished or waxed, and the window casings kept in perfect order. The doors should be wiped off frequently as also should be all the standing woodwork in the bedroom, as the presence of dust on woodwork is a menace to health as well as an evidence of poor housekeeping.

Women Avoid Operations

The very thought of the hospital, the operating table and the knife strikes terror to her heart.

It is quite true that these troubles may reach a stage where an operation is the only resource, but a great many women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after an operation has been decided upon as the only cure. The strongest and most grateful statements possible to make come from women who by taking made from native roots and herbs, have escaped serious operations, as evidenced by Miss Rose Moore's case, of 307 W. 26th St., N.Y. She writes:—

MISS ROSE MOORE

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured me of the very worst form of female trouble and I wish to express to you my deepest gratitude. I suffered intensely for two years so that I was unable to attend to my duties and was a burden to my family. I doctored and doctored with only temporary relief and constantly objecting to an operation which I was advised to undergo. I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it cured me of the terrible trouble and I am now in better health than I have been for many years."

This and other such cases should encourage every woman to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before she submits to an operation.

DETAILS MAGNIFY QUAKE DISASTER

EACH SUCCEEDING REPORT ADDS TO HORROR OF CALAMITY IN MEXICO.

DEATH LIST TOTALS FIFTY

MANY PROMINENT CITIZENS ARE AMONG THE DEAD AND INJURED.

City of Mexico, April 18. — Heavy earthquake shocks continued on the west coast until 4 o'clock yesterday morning. Late news from the area of greatest destruction in the recent earthquake shows that the devastation wrought was greater than at first supposed. Besides the destruction of the cities of Chilpancingo and Chilapa it is now reported that the city of Trixtla, between the two cities above named and containing about the same population as Chilpancingo, was also leveled to the ground, and messengers from the coast who have reached Chilpancingo say that the towns of Ayutla and Ometepec have been

Ayutla is about fifty miles south of Chilpancingo. It is a small place, and it is thought the loss of life there will be insignificant.

Ometepec is further south. It is a town of about 4,000 inhabitants.

Tlapa, a town eighty miles west of Chilpancingo, is also reported to have been wiped out. The report from Chilpancingo says that the whole of the west coast from Acapulco south to Salina Cruz has been badly damaged. Owing to the remoteness of these points and to the fact that wire and rail communication is very poor, news news from the stricken district to the capital comes very slowly.

Fatalities Not Known.

But one wire is working to Chilpancingo, and that rather spasmodically. Through the courtesy of the officers of the Federal Telegraph company the Associated Press was given the wire yesterday at noon. The question as to the number of casualties was put to the operator, but he declared that he had seen about a dozen dead bodies and knew of some thirty wounded.

Horror Is Confirmed.

A dispatch from Chilapa confirming the report of the total destruction wrought in that immediate neighborhood. Fourteen are reported to have been killed in one house, and the number of wounded is given as thirty-nine.

In the city of Tixtla it is reported that twelve dead bodies have been taken from the ruins and that twice that number of wounded are being cared for.

Up to 4 o'clock yesterday morning the shocks, with more or less severity, continued in the vicinity of Chilpancingo, completing the work of destruction and destroying many of the most imposing public buildings of the city.

Thirty-eight Dead.

At this time the total number of deaths reported is thirty-eight, and the wounded ninety-three, but in view of later reports which tend to greatly magnify the extent of the catastrophe it is thought these figures will fall far short of the real number of fatalities.

It is reported that Acapulco is partly submerged from the great waves which dashed over the breakwaters. News is yet anxiously awaited from the isthmus of Tehuantepec, where it is feared the shock may have wrought much damage.

City of Mexico, April 18.—Owing to the great difficulty in establishing communication with the cities in the region of greatest devastation wrought by the recent earthquake, details are coming to this city very slowly. Each succeeding intelligence magnifies instead of diminishes the disaster. From the latest reports it is learned that the earth is again quiet in the region which was sorely afflicted, but the last shock occurred as late as noon yesterday. In the list of known dead, which now totals fifty, and of the injured, which approximates 300, are many names of Mexicans prominent in the official and social life of the region.

No Americans Killed.

So far the name of no American or other foreigner has appeared in the meager lists sent here.

At Tuxtla eight dead and forty injured are reported; in Ayutla nine dead and about fifty injured.

In Nuamixtlan the cathedral fell and the houses of Messrs. Sanchez and Frederico Savedra and the government offices and the official schools are in ruins. The rest of the houses are more or less damaged.

Many Houses Fell.

At Techan and Tlapa nearly all the houses fell, but nobody was hurt.

A careful survey of Mexico City has shown that the damage sustained was heavier than at first reported. In some instances buildings were so shaken from their foundations that it has been necessary to prop them up.

Acquitted of Manslaughter Charge.

Mora, Minn., April 18.—At the hearing in the case of Dr. Illstrup of Grasston, charged with manslaughter by the coroner's jury after a medical examination over the remains of Mrs. Sundstrom of Brunswick, who died after undergoing an operation, the case was dismissed by the prosecution.

REBATES TO GRAIN SHIPPERS

WISCONSIN CENTRAL AND TWO OF ITS OFFICIALS ARE CONVICTED.

Minneapolis, April 18. — "Guilty as charged in the indictment" was the verdict of the jury in the rebate case against the Wisconsin Central road and two of its employes, Burton Johnson, general freight agent, and George T. Huey, assistant general freight agent. The jury reported to Judge Page Morris at 1 o'clock after a deliberation of four hours and a half.

The minimum fine for conviction is $1,000 a count, or $51,000 for the three and the maximum fine that can be half a million dollars. There were hal fa million dollars. There were seventeen counts against each defendant, charging the giving of rebates on grain shipments.

Judge Is Careful.

At 4:30 yesterday afternoon the case was given to the jury in the court room of Judge Page Morris in the federal building. The charge to the jury was most comprehensive and clearly defied the rights of the parties. Those who heard Judge Morris make the charge stated that it was one of the most thorough and careful charges that has ever been delivered in the federal court room.

When the court opened yesterday morning Judge Page Morris denied the motions of the defendant's counsel to direct a verdict for the defense.

PROSECUTE POLICE OFFICERS.

Debauchment of Chicago's Police Force Is to Be Punished.

Chicago, April 18.—Further disclosures were made yesterday to the civil service commission, which is investigating the alleged debauching of the Chicago police department by Former Chief of Police John M. Collins in an effort to bring about Former Mayor Dunne's re-election. Police Inspector John Wheeler went before the investigating body yesterday and told about receiving an order from Collins to have the men under his charge subscribe to a campaign fund in the interest of Mr. Dunne.

Collins Found Fault.

The inspector declared that while opposed to such an assessment being made, still he felt at the time that he should obey orders and that he and his men had paid into the campaign fund over $2,000, and that he had been criticised by his chief because the collection was so small.

State's Attorney Healy has already begun consideration of the evidence.

Any prosecutions resulting from the investigation will be by indictment. The next grand jury will be sworn in next Monday and any steps looking to the indictment of the police officials accused will probably be then taken up.

WILSON'S IRE IS AROUSED.

Secretary of Agriculture Will Go After Food and Drug Men.

Washington, April 18.—"If this outrageous misrepresentation does not cease the department will publish a list bearing the names of manufacturers who are indulging in this campaign of deception."

This remark was uttered by Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture in an authorized statement yesterday, and was brought forth by the fact that there had come to his knowledge information that a number of manufacturers of foods and drugs were freely advertising that the United States government was guaranteeing their products. The secretary said that the serial number and guaranty required by the pure food and drug act to be placed on food and drug products were being used by these manufacturers for this purpose.

"The serial nmber," said Secretary Wilson, "is assigned to fix the responsibility where it belongs—upon the manufacturers—and to protect innocent dealers who have a right under the law to rely upon his guaranty. It is the guarantee of the manufacturer, not the guarantee of the government."

The secretary declared that every effort would be made by the department to put a stop to these statements.

TALK OF UNIVERSAL PEACE.

New York, April 18. — That intelligence, knowledge and culture are the things which the universities can contribute to the cause of universal peace was the consensus of opinion of the college presidents who spoke last night at Carnegie hall at the university meeting of the peace congress.

Vice Chancellor Roberts of Cambridge university and Pro-Vice Chancellor Rhys of Oxford were the two foreign educators who spoke. President John Finley of the City college of New York was an American representative in place of President Eliot of Harvard and President James of the University of Illinois, who were unable to be present. Dr. Felix Adler also spoke.

Decide They Are Guilty.

Fergus Falls, Minn., April 18. — W. M. Trkilla and Ernest Kicker of New York Mills pleaded guilty to the charge of selling liquor without a license in the district court here yesterday and paid fines of $60 each.

Welcomes Prison Sentence.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., April 18. — James Jones, who forged a check with his employer's name, George Mead, was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary by Judge Vinje. Jones says the sentence will do him good.

WAR WITH BRITAIN HINTED IN BERLIN

TO DISRUPT TRIPLE ALLIANCE

Berlin, April 18. — King Edward's approaching meeting with King Victor Emmanuel at Gaeta is attracting much attention in the German press, which comments on the event as being an effort to isolate Germany and win Italy from the triple alliance.

An article in the Cologne Gazette in this sense is being widely discussed because it is believed to have been inspired from Berlin. The writer says public opinion in Germany sees in King Edward's course an attempt to disturb the European equilibrium which is calculated to awaken misgivings regarding his disarmament proposal and, finally, warns Great Britain that "war with Germany would be dangerous for any opponent or any coalition of opponents."

Sharp Language.

This sharp language is interpreted by the Taegliche Rundschau as meaning that the German government has grown weary of the "English game of hide and seek and the comedy of peace and disarmament."

At the foreign office, whose attention was called to the Cologne Gazette's article it was stated that it expressed only the editorial opinion of the paper; that the German government was in no way responsible for such views.

France Is Satisfied.

Paris, April 18.—The forthcoming meeting of King Edward and King Victor Emmanuel at Gaeta is viewed with the utmost satisfaction in government circles here; where the royal conference is considered as not likely to strengthen the cordial relations existing between Italy and Great Britain, but as binding closer the ties between those two countries and France, and as exerting a good effect on the European situation.

ENGLAND HAS A NEW COURT.

Bill Is in Parliament Providing for a Court of Criminal Appeal.

London, April 18.—A bill constituting a court of criminal appeal, which has not heretofore existed in Great Britain, was introduced in the house of commons yesterday by Attorney General Walton. He explained that the measure would create the right of appeal against convictions for crimes, similar to that now existing in civil cases.

No Reunion Without Chief.

Prescott, Ariz., April 18.—President Hunter of the Rough Riders' association said yesterday, after the conference with the "Bucky" O'Neill Rough Riders monument committee here, that the Rough Rider reunion would not be held in this city this year, as planned, owing to the inability of President Roosevelt to attend.

New Postmasters Named.

Washington, April 18.—S. F. Ellingson is appointed postmaster at Airlie, Pipestone county, Minn., vice J. H. Doty, resigned, and Emil Hossbjor at Crawford, Roberts county, S. D., vice Ole Stovern, resigned.

Guilty of Murder.

First Boat Bound Down.

Superior, Wis., April 18.—The first boat to leave here for the lower lakes, the Crerar, has gone to Two Harbors to load ore for Erie ports.

Town Wiped Out by Fire.

Toronto, Ont., April 18.—Latchford, a mining town in the cobalt district, was destroyed by fire last night.

American Preserves Poison?

Madrid, April 18.—The local newspapers yesterday published a dispatch from Las Balmas, Canary Islands, asserting that a whole family there had been poisoned as the result of eating American preserves. Three of its members, it is said, are dead and two are dying.

Assassin Gets $15 for a Murder.

Warsaw, Russian Poland, April 18.—It was announced yesterday in the course of police investigations into the recent murder of a physician here by a hired terrorist, it was established that $15 each is the price paid by terrorists of Warsaw for murders.

Caught in Shaft; Killed.

Waseca, Minn., April 18.—Walfred Peterson of Otisco, Waseca county, was caught in a shaft while grinding feed and died an hour and a half later from the injuries received.

Cold Delays Seeding.

Albert Lea, Minn., April 18. — The weather has been so cold that seeding in this country has been greatly delayed and at the present time many farmers scarcely have begun.

PEACE CONFERENCE BEGINS

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT AND ELIHU ROOT SOUND NOTE OF WARNING.

New York, April 17. — Warned by Roosevelt and Elihu Root that if success is to crown the efforts of those who are working for peace among the nations of the world their endeavor must be along political lines; that they must not, by insisting upon the impossible, put off the day when the possible can be accomplished, the national arbitration and peace conference which is meeting in this city under the presidency of Andrew Carnegie, began yesterday its real activities with two crowded sessions in Carnegie hall.

The president, in a letter to the congress, expressed the hope that the coming conference might result in the adoption of an international arbitration treaty. Secretary Root, after seconding this hope, declared the United States thought proper to urge again the discussion of the subject of the limitation of armament of the nations on land and sea and the abolition of the practice of using force in the collection of debts owed by one nation to the citizens of another.

TAX POLICE FOR CAMPAIGN FUND

Chicago Politicians Collect Large Sums From Police Officers.

Chicago, April 17.—Chicago's police department contributed thousands of dollars to the Democratic campaign fund in the recent mayoralty campaign, and have contributed in a like manner to which ever party was in power as long as the older officers on the force can remember, according to revelations made yesterday before the civil service commission by police officials. Among the officers who offered this testimony to the inquisitorial body were Inspectors Revere and Kelly, Capt. McWeeney and Lieut. Jenkins. Capt. McWeeney, who several days ago refused to talk on the subject, confessed freely yesterday that he had aided in the collection of large amounts of money to be used in the recent city election.

All Liable to Indictment.

According to the civil service commission every man who engaged in the collection of the fund, even the patrolmen who contributed, is made liable to indictment by the grand jury under the provisions of the civil service act. One of the sections in the act provides that any person disregarding any of the provisions of the law shall be fined not less than $1,000 and may be imprisoned in the county jail for a term not to exceed six months. The commission has signified its intention to sift the matter to the bottom, but it is said will not prosecute the under officials, who it is asserted, merely carried out the commands of Chief of Police Collins.

FIGHT TO LAST DITCH.

Oil Trust Will Overlook No Legal Technicality to Escape Conviction.

Chicago, April 17.—The hearings of arguments on the motion of the attorneys of the Standard Oil company for a new trial in the rebate case, which resulted Saturday night in the conviction of the company, has been postponed for two weeks.

Despite overwhelming proof of its violation of the Elkins law, as shown by the verdict of guilty returned against it in the United States district court, the Standard Oil company has by no means given up. No legal technicality is to be overlooked by its attorneys and the case will be kept in the courts as long as possible. If the motion for a new trial is overruled the defense will present a motion in arrest of judgment.

LOSSES OF LIVE STOCK.

Report on Ravages of Diseases in Northwestern States Made Public.

Washington, April 17. — A report just made public by the department of agriculture shows that the estimated loss of horses in Minnesota during the twelve months ended March 31 was 14,463, or 2 per cent; cattle losses from disease and exposure numbered 59,829, or 3 per cent; sheep, 13,971, and swine, 45,441, or 3.3 per cent. In North Dakota losses of horses from disease numbered 12,779; cattle, 32,064; sheep, 42,487, and swine, 3,701. In South Dakota the losses of horses amounted to 9,870; cattle, 82,243; sheep, 13,971, and swine, 45,411.

RATIFIES ORE LEASE.

Action Is Taken at Steel Corporation's Annual Meeting.

New York, April 17.—At the annual meeting of the United States Steel corporation in Hoboken, N. J., yesterday, the eight directors were re-elected. A resolution was adopted ratifying the Hill ore lease to the Great Western Mining company on a royalty basis and guaranteed by the United States Steel corporation.

DISCOVERS NEW COMET.

New Heavenly Body Is Sighted by Badger Amateur Astronomer.

Madison, Wis., April 17. — While standing his back yard with a telescope J. E. Mellish, an amateur astronomer at Cottage Grove, a small village four miles east of Madison, discovered a new comet on the night of April 13. This comet was Sunday night sighted by Prof. G. C. Comstock and A. S. Flint of the University of Wisconsin observatory. The comet, they say, is quite faint.

OIL TRUST GUILTY ON 1,463 COUNTS

GOVERNMENT SCORES CONVICTION IN FAMOUS ALTON REBATE CASE.

MAY BE FINED $29,260,000

DEFENSE WILL ASK FOR NEW TRIAL AND SENTENCE WILL BE DEFERRED.

Chicago, April 16.—The Standard Oil Company of Indiana, which has been on trial for the last six weeks before Judge K. M. Landis in the United States district court on a charge of having received rebates from the Chicago & Alton road on shipments of oil from Whiting, Ind., to East St. Louis, Ill., was found guilty on 1,463 counts out of the original 1903 in the indictment. The remaining 440 counts were dropped from the indictment on account of errors.

The oil company is liable to a fine of $29,260,000, as the Elkins law, which the indictment charged the company with having violated, provides a fine of $1,000 to $20,000 for each offense.

Pending a decision on a motion for a new trial which John S. Miller, chief counsel for the defense, announced would be made immediately, the court will not pass sentence on the company.

Rebate Two-thirds of Rate.

The indictment charged the shipment of 1,903 cars of oil over the Chicago & Alton railroad from Whiting, Ind., to East St. Louis, by way of Chappell, Ill. The charge was that the oil company accepted a rate of 6 cents for 100 pounds when the legal rate was 18 cents.

When the case came to trial the attorneys for the defense endeavored to have all the counts in the indictment thrown out on technicalities, but the court ordered that each count be taken up and considered separately, which was done, and after a great deal of arguing the counts in which errors were found were dropped.

TAMS BIXBY IS VINDICATED.

Secretary Garfield Dismisses Charges Against Minnesotan.

Washington, April 16. — Tams Bixby of Minnesota, the surviving member of the Dawes Indian commission in Indian Territory, has again been vindicated. He is advised by Secretary Garfield that the charges made against him have been dismissed.

Mr. Bixby has been many times under fire during his long and interesting career as a commissioner of the Five Civilized Tribes in Indian Territory, and many of the charges made against him would have resulted seriously if they had been substantiated.

In every crisis, however, Mr. Bixby has been able to confound his enemies and come out with flying colors.

The latest charges filed against Mr. Bixby were brought to the attention of the interior department last fall. Allegations were filed by Marshall Mott, attorney of the Creek Indians, that Bixby had used his official position to obtain bargains in town lots from the townsite commission, and that Bixby had given a trust company in Muskogee, in which he was supposed to hold stock, inside tips on the allotment work by the commission, whereby the trust company made large sums of money in land deals.

Attorney Mott claimed to have evidence supporting these charges, and the matter was laid before the department of justice. It appears, however, that Mott's evidence did not support the charges he made.

SAYS BOY IS FIREBUG.

Desire to See Flame Fighters Run Is Alleged Motive.

Fond du Lac, Wis., April 16.—William Manderschied, the adopted son of a former superintendent of the county insane asylum, was arrested on a charge of arson. Chief of Police Nolan claims that the boy has confessed that he set fire to a number of frame buildings on Monday night and then turned in an alarm. He said he wanted to see the department run.

HOUSE FALLS ON HIM.

Beam Protects House Mover From Fatal Injury.

Faribault, Minn., April 16.—Bert Ellis was seriously injured while assisting in moving a house in this city. Something had stopped the rollers and Mr. Ellis crawled under the house to investigate and fix the roller, when the house slipped from the roller and fell to the ground, crushing him severely. A heavy beam partly protected him from a fatal accident.

Heads Dakota School.

Faribault, Minn., April 16.—Dr. H. A. La Moure, one of the resident physicians of the Minnesota school for the feeble-minded, has been elected as the superintendent of the state school for the feeble-minded of North Dakota at Grafton.

Frost Damage Reaches Millions.

Kansas City, April 16.—There was a killing frost again last night in the fruit districts of Kansas and Western Missouri. Authorities agree that the loss will reach millions of dollars.

DECORATION FOR CARNEGIE

CROSS OF LEGION OF HONOR FOR HIS WORK ON BEHALF OF PEACE.

New York, April 18.—The first convention of the national arbitration and peace congress came to an end last night after a three-day session, with two large banquets, one at the Hotel Astor and the other at the Waldorf-Astoria. The even of greatest interest was the decoration of Andrew Carnegie with the cross of the Legion of Honor by the French government, represented by Baron d'Estournelles de Constant, in appreciation of his work for peace and his gift of the palace at The Hague.

WHOLE CLASS SUSPENDED.

Theft of Seniors' Ice Cream Starts College Trouble.

Springfield, Mo., April 18.—The entire junior class of Drury college, Congregational, numbering thirty-four, was suspended yesterday because they refused to apologize for resolutions drawn up last Monday and directed against the faculty. The freshman class of eighty-seven students has voted to stand by the juniors. The trouble started with the theft from President Kirby's home of a quantity of ice cream intended for a senior reception. A junior, Wyatt Brandon of Rogersville, Ark., charged with being the leader of the raiders, refused to divulge the names of the others and was ordered home. Then the class intervened.

DRUG TURNS BODY BLUE.

Medical Men Flock to Examine Corpse of James Long.

South Manchester, Conn., April 18.—James Long is dead at his home here, and medical men are coming from many points to look at his body. Long turned blue some years ago from taking pills containing nitrate of silver. He was ill and pills were prescribed by a physician. They turned his skin almost as blue as indigo.

MINNESOTA SAILS.

New Battleship Makes Her First Official Cruise Along Coast.

Norfolk, Va., April 18.—The new battleship Minnesota sailed from the Norfolk navy yard yesterday on an official shaking down cruise which will extend to the New England coast. She will return in a few days and lay inside of Cape Henry until the morning of the Jamestown exposition.

DISMISSED FOR LETTER.

Impertinent Epistle to Roosevelt Causes Consul to Lose Place.

Washington, April 18.—For writing an impertinent letter to the president of the United States Charles A. Eckstromer, the Swedish vice consul at St. Louis, has been kicked out of the consular service of his country.

FIVE ARE KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK

GREAT NORTHERN PASSENGER TRAIN DERAILED AT BARTLETT, N. D.

COACHES DESTROYED BY FIRE

Lakota, N. D., April 17.—Five men were killed and several injured by the derailing of Great Northern Train No. 1 at Bartlett, N. D., at 1:15 o'clock yesterday morning. Those killed were: W. B. Jones, mail clerk, of Grand Forks, N. D., and four identified foreign laborers riding in the second-class coach.

Cars Are Burned.

Several other passengers were slightly injured but their names have not been secured. The injured passengers were taken to hospitals at Grand Forks and Devils Lake.

Immediately after the train was wrecked it caught fire and seven passenger cars were destroyed.

The cause of the accident has not been ascertained, but officials went on the ground to make an investigation. The train was running at a speed of forty miles an hour on a straight track, which apparently was in first-class condition.

WANTS DEMOCRATIC MEET.

St. Paul After National Convention—Minneapolis Helping.

St. Paul, April 17. — Minneapolis Democrats are rallying to the idea of securing the national convention for St. Paul in 1908 with as much enthusiasm as if an attempt was to be made to get the big convention for their own city. The Jefferson club of Minneapolis has thrown itself heartily into the work, and a meeting will be held this evening to discuss plans and appoint a committee to put the project into definite shape.

Minneapolis citizens generally have it figured out that there will be glory enough to go around between both cities and that all feelings of personal pride in one or the other city should be laid aside in the joint effort to secure the convention.

STEAMER RUNS ON ROCKS.

Louis Pahlow and Consort Wrecked During Blinding Snow Storm.

Green Bay, Wis., April 17. — The steamer Louis Pahlow ran on the rocks at Clay Banks, six miles south of here, during a blinding snow storm yesterday afternoon and is fast pounding to pieces. Her consort, the Delta, is also at the mercy of the storm, but managed to anchor near the wrecked steamer and may be saved. The crews have been taken off by the lifesavers of this port and are safe.

SNOW BLOCKS TRAIN.

Langdon Line in North Dakota Is Tied Up by April Storm.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 17.—The Langdon line of the Great Northern is again tied up by an April snow storm. The passenger train that left Grand Forks this morning is stuck in a drift two miles east of Easby, and there is a snow plow stuck about a mile west of Langdon. A freight train has been stuck all day between Langdon and Dresden.

HOLD SENATORIAL CAUCUS.

Four Ballots Taken and No Agreement Is Reached.

Madison, Wis., April 17. — After having taken four ballots and being unable to agree on a senatorial candidate, the Republican legislative caucus last night adjourned until to-night. The fourth ballot was as follows:

Lenroot, 19; Stephenson, 18; Esch, 17; Cooper, 17; Hatton, 15; Baench, 5; Winkler, 4; Fairchild, 4; Rogers, 1; Hudnall, 1.

State News of Interest

No One Cares to Work at Places That Seem Marked Out for Misfortune—Doorkeeper's Post an Example.

A series of misfortunes involving dismissals, resignations and deaths in the executive departments in Washington often develops what is known as the "hoodoo desk," says the Washington Post.

A desk comes under suspicion after a dismissal of two from the service or, after several transfers or resignations, and if there should occur several deaths among the occupants of the desk in the course of a year or two it is designated as the hoodooed desk, and no one in that room cares to do clerical work at it. In a room filled with clerks the hoodoo desk is easily recognized, for it is most generally occupied with the surplus books and general litter of the daily routine work.

The desk may remain unoccupied sometimes for months, until some new clerk comes into the room and is assigned to it, provided there is no other vacant desk in the room. Bureau officials generally avoid assigning a new clerk to the hoodoo desk if it can be done. In fact, the desk is apt to remain without an occupant until radical changes in the personnel of the office cause its reputation to be forgotten.

In one department there is a hoodoo desk from which four clerks have died in the last two years, two have resigned, one has been dismissed and three have been transferred. Therefore, no one cares to occupy it now. A $1,200 clerk said several days ago, in a half-hearted way, that he would move from his present room and try it for awhile if they would promote him to $1,800. He said afterward, however, that he was merely joking.

But there are other hoodoos in Washington. Some years ago a doorkeeper's post in the war department building came under the ban and it was a source of considerable annoyance to the officials.

At this particular door the first misfortune was death, the second dismissal, the third holder of the post lost his wife by death and finally fell and broke a limb, and the fourth appointee in succession lost a child and then resigned. This resignation kept the place vacant for a time, as no one could be induced to take it. The place had to be filled by calling on the civil-service commission for some one from the outside.

Perhaps the most conspicuous case of a hoodoo desk in any one of the Washington executive departments was that in which a succession of misfortunes came to private secretaries of one of the assistant secretaries. Several deaths and other misfortunes made the place dreaded.

Unfortunate Twins.

There is a colored woman who resides in one of the courts in the northwest section of Washington, and who has a penchant for bestowing upon her children unique Christian names. She has named one of her girls Ambrosia and another Cymbaline, while her eldest boy bears the cognomen of Prince Edward. It recently occurred to her that "pickaninny" would make a good prefix for her next girl, and she decide to apply it. But recently she became the mother of twin girls, and one of her friends called to see her and queried:

"Now, 'Liza, you done got two gals; whatcher gwine ter name um?"

"Well, Susanna, you know I'se stuck on dat name Pickaninny, and I'se gwine ter arrange it so's I can gib it to my two twins. I'se gwine ter name one ob dem gals 'Pickie' and de odder 'Ninny,' an' dat'll make de whole word—Pickaninny.'"

Rumor Busy With Carlisle.

The Hon. John G. Carlisle, who has an intermittent residence in Washington with his daughter-in-law and granddaughters at his handsome home in K street, presented to him years ago by his Kentucky admirers—does not deny the soft impeachment when taxed with his projected marriage to the beautiful Mrs. Logan of Virginia, sister of the Hon. St. George Tucker, president of the Jamestown exposition. When asked directly, "Is it so? Mr. Carlisle," the distinguished widower warily slips on a kindly mask of imperturbability and makes a reply of adroit noncommittalness. Hence —?

Mrs. Longworth in Society.

Mrs. Alice Longworth is taking her place as a hostess in Washington society and her Tuesday at homes are becoming one of the weekly features of the capital. It is an open secret that Mrs. Longworth has political ambitions for her husband and, perhaps, she is not far wrong in believing that one of the open doors to political preferment is to be found in the social observances for which she is so well fitted.

Secretary Always at Hand.

Henry O. Weaver, private secretary to Secretary Cortelyou, is a veritable fidus Achates to his chief. He has been with Mr. Cortelyou ever since the latter has been a member of the cabinet, first as secretary of the department of commerce and labor, then as postmaster general and now as secretary of the treasury. He accompanies his chief everywhere. Usually they lunch together and frequently at lunch the private secretary is seen to take out his notebook and scribble upon it as his chief talks in a low tone. It is believed that Mr. Cortelyou took from President McKinley the hint of the value of having his private secretary always in easy reach. When Mr. Cortelyou was secretary to Mr. McKinley the president had a habit of talking to him at leisure moments on subjects upon which the chief magistrate was preparing a speech or message and by this method the work of preparation was made less burdensome to both.

Old Saying Disproved.

A woman writer made $100 by a new recipe for mock-turtle soup. And still they say there is no money in literature.

RATES ON MILK REDUCED.

Railroad Commission Makes Out Maximum Schedule.

The railroad commission's order fixing a new schedule of milk and cream rates by express, which was filed recently, ends a long controversy which has been waged before the commission by conflicting interests. The express companies were willing for an adjustment, but not for a reduction in rates. The central creameries and milk companies and the farmers shipping to the cities wanted a reduction. The co-operative creameries and dairy interests of the small towns generally wanted cream rates raised, so as to give them an advantage over the hand separator concerns.

The commission's order makes a decided reduction in milk rates, but does not change the average rate on cream very materially. It is a maximum schedule, however, and the companies may grant lower rates at their option.

The following table shows the rates fixed by the commission as a maximum for each distance:

The schedule includes the following appended provisions:

Minimum charge, 15 cents.

No drayage service to be performed at either end.

No deduction in rate for partly filled can.

St. Paul and Minneapolis will be treated as one city, the mileage to nearest point to govern rates.

These rates include the return of empty cans, which must be waybilled back to the forwarding station.

Necessary shippings tags and seals may be returned in cans without extra charge.

When rates for exact distance are not shown the rates for the next greater distance must apply.

HAMLINE IS PROSPEROUS.

College Year Will Close Under Favorable Auspices.

Hamline university's approaching commencement promises to be of more than usual interest as commencements go. The class to be graduated is a large one, numbering twenty-four, and has made a fine record for itself; by commencement day the new Carnegie library will be well under way, and by the same date, June 10, it is likely that the names of two new professors will be announced.

The name of one of the members of the teaching force is already known, being included in the 1907 catalogue, which is just being issued. This is Miss Mattie D. Winston of St. Paul, who will have a part in the mathematical work. The graduation of a large class, the pushing forward of the new library, the cornerstone of which may be laid about commencement time, and the enlargement of the faculty, all mark growth for the institution and will be cause for making the commencement a sort of jubilee occasion.

SAYS WIFE ELOPED.

Man Causes Arrest of Helpmeet and Her Alleged Companion.

Cupid did not reckon with the husband of Mrs. Ole Iverson of St. James when, it is alleged, he persuaded John P. Huson to yield to his love for the woman and elope with her to another part of the countryside, where they could continue their romance and incidentally work to keep away hunger that might mar their bliss. Mrs. Iverson took along her baby, a ten-month-old infant, it is charged, in her flight. Huson got work on a farm and when the officials went to arrest him they learned that Mrs. Iverson was employed by another farmer not far away. The employers said they had understood that the man and the woman were husband and wife. After their arrest, the pair were brought to Rochester and then taken to St. James.

BUYS LAND FOR ASYLUM.

Strip From Railroad to Anoka Hospital Grounds Is Secured.

A. Prescott of Oregan has sold to John Coleman, as superintendent of the Anoka state asylum for the insane, a strip of land on Rum river, extending north from the Northern Pacific tracks to the present asylum grounds and containing thirty-two acres, for $2,000. It is a valuable tract of land for the state to own, and will add greatly to the appearance and value of the asylum site.

Game and Fish Warden P. H. Jordan of Mankato was called to Winthrop to investigate a case of violation of the game laws, and his trip resulted in the arrest of Harry F. Timm of that place on the charge of shooting ducks and prairie chickens out of season. Timm pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $10 and costs.

Russia is experimenting with the twenty-four time system, the hours being numbered consecutively from one to twenty-four instead of in two periods of twelve hours.

IS AN OLD CAMPAIGNER.

Col. Henry Page of Forest Reserve in Two Wars.

Col. Henry Page, recently appointed custodian of the Minnesota national forest reserve, with headquarters at Cass Lake, has arrived at Cass Lake, and entered upon the discharge of his duties, his time being especially given to the protection of the ten sections surrounding Cass Lake, from trespass and fire.

Col. Page is an old campaigner and his life history is a story of distinguished service and notable achievement for his country in both military and civil life. Col. Page is a Vermonter by birth, and at the outbreak of the Civil war he enlisted as a private in the Eleventh Massachusetts. He was in the ranks at the battle of Bull Run, and participated in every battle of the Army of the Potomac except one until the army arrived before Pittsburg in 1864.

After peace was concluded at Appomattox, having been brevetted colonel, he was ordered to Arkansas, and soon after assigned to duty as chief quartermaster of Arkansas and the Indian nation, and was honorably mustered out in July, 1867.

At the bugle call in 1898, the old war spirit brought Col. Page to the front in the trouble with Spain and he was appointed major and commisary of the United States volunteers and was ordered to Porto Rico and thence to Cuba. After one year of service in this position, with the rank of major, he was honorably discharged at Nuevitas, Cuba, and received an unsolicited appointment from the secretary of war as collector of customs at that port, which position he filled until the island was turned over to the republic of Cuba.

Returning directly to Salt Lake City in March 1903, Col. Page was appointed special agent of the United States land department with headquarters at Spokane, Wash., in which position he served until receiving the appointment in the forest reserve service, which has called him to Minnesota.

Col. Page has in his possession what he regards as priceless treasures, in the shape of personal letters of commendation from Grant, Sheridan, Meade, Hooker and many others prominent in the War of the Rebellion.

DAN PATCH TO TRY AGAIN.

Will Be the Attraction at the Opening Day of State Fair.

Dan Patch will go against his world's record of 1:55 at the Minnesota state fair of 1907. A contract to this effect has been executed between M. W. Savage of Minneapolis and the officers of the state fair. Mr. Savage is out to beat the record mile of 1:55 flat made at the Minnesota fair last year, and feels very confident that this great horse will do the stunt. Dan has done better with each succeeding appearance at the Minnesota fair. In 1903 he went in 2:00 flat; in 1904 he made first 1:59 1-2 and a few days later 1:57 1-2; in 1906 he went on Sept. 3 in 1:56 1-2, and on Sept. 8 in 1:55 flat—this last breaking the world's record, lowering the track record and being the fastest mile ever made by a harness horse. Mr. Savage believes he will clip at least a second off the time made last year.

Dan will be at the fair on Monday, Sept. 2, the opening day of the fair—Labor day—and will be driven by Trainer Hersey for all that he is worth.

Mr. Savage will join with the state fair management in making every preparation for the greatest crowd ever assembled at a race track for this appearance of Dan. Special plans for conveying the people to and from the fair grounds will be worked out, and it is very likely that fully 125,000 people will witness the greatest mile ever made in the whole world.

FINISH ROAD THIS YEAR.

Extension to Superior Will Be Pushed Rapidly to Completion.

F. E. Singer, general freight agent of the Wisconsin Central, who, with other officials of that road, have been in Duluth on a tour of inspection, announces that trains will be running into Superior over the Lake Superior & Southeastern road before the end of the present year.

"The exact date of the completion of the new line is not yet known," Mr. Singer said, "but it will be some time in the fall or early winter."

A dispatch received from W. A. Bradford, Jr., president of the hoad, says that work will be pushed forward as rapidly as possible, as the company desires to have its line to the Head of the Lakes opened as soon as possible. Bridge crews have been working all winter along the survey below Superior and large crews of track layers will be put on the grade as soon as the weather conditions permit.

PUPIL DEAF AND BLIND.

Child Is Also Dumb, but She Is Able to Learn.

A pupil who is deaf, dumb and blind has been admitted to the state school for the deaf and dumb. The little girl's name is Vera Gammon, and good progress is being made in her education. She has learned to spell on her fingers a large number of words and can use the corresponding signs of many.

Vera also has learned some simple sentences. She spends much of her time in cutting, fitting and sewing dresses for her dolls. In cutting she holds the cloth near her lips and cuts by the sense of feeling. When she threads her needle she puts the eye and thread between her lips and in some way, by means of her tongue, she works the thread through the eye of the needle, and this she can do quite quickly.

She appears to be happy among her new surroundings and likes to play with the other girls and joins them in many of their games.

CLUB TO BUILD NEW ROAD.

Abandoned Bed of Great Northern Track to Be Utilized.

At a meeting of the Crookston Commercial club it was deicded to build a wagon road between Crookston and St. Hilaire, following the abandoned railroad track formerly used by the Great Northern. Secretary Brown reported that he had taken up the matter with the Great Northern and that the right of way could be secured from that road. The plan is to utilize the gravel which was used by the railroad as ballast for road bed, and a committee was appointed to raise the funds to build the road. The road will be about thirty miles in length and will open up a large territory for the merchants of Crookston.

A committee also was appointed to confer with the county commissioners in regard to getting ditch No. 60 opened up immediately. This ditch leads from the Northwestern state experiment farm to the Red Lake river and will be used in connection with an experiment which the federal government will make in tile draining on the farm this year.

If this tile draining proves a success it will revolutionize farming methods in the Red river valley. The work is to be in charge of Engineer Stewart of Washington, who spent last summer in the Northwest.

CITY WHISTLE BLAMED.

Actions Over Runaway Call for $20,000 Damages.

The city of Winona is made defendant in two actions for damages amounting to $20,000 because of the runaway accident on the high wagon bridge over the Mississippi river at that city last winter, which resulted in the death of James Nichols of Trempealeau and in the serious injury of Amelia Botzet. It is claimed that the team was frightened by the blowing of the fire whistle near the bridge, and also that the city had not provided the bridge with proper guard rails, so that when the sleigh struck the railing it broke and the two occupants of the vehicle were thrown to the ice, sixty feet below. Mrs. James Nichols brings action in the sum of $5,000 for the death of her husband, and August Botzet, the father of the girl, brings action for $15,000 for the injuries sustained by his daughter, claiming that they are of a serious and permanent nature.

WOMAN OF EIGHTY WANDERS.

Is Found in Woods Two Days After Disappearing.

Mrs. Legg, a woman nearly eighty years old, whose home is near Beaver, in Winona county, spent two days and two nights in the woods and fields without anything to eat or drink and without shelter. When found she was in a pitiable condition.

Last Friday afternoon Mrs. Legg went to a neighbor, Mrs. Harmon, for some pork. After she left there she was not seen again until Sunday evening. The disappearance of the woman led to the organization of searching parties Friday night, but no trace of her was found until Sunday afternoon. Then, at a point about four miles from her home, her basket, containing the meat she had borrowed, was found, and a little distance away, in a lonely ravine, the woman was discovered, sitting on a stone. She was so weak from lack of food and water that she could hardly stand and her mind was somewhat affected.

FISHES WITH PITCHFORK.

Twelve-pound Pickerel Is Landed by Small Boy.

The little chap noticed the big fish floundering along in the shallow water, and running to the house he donned his rubber boots, seized a pitchfork and started out to capture the finny monster. He waded into the brook and by cleverly manipulating the pitchfork managed to get the fish ashore after a hard struggle.

The fish was almost as long as the boy was tall.

PASTOR RESIGNS PULPIT.

Dr. George N. Davis of Mankato Leaves Charge.

Rev. George N. Davis, D. D., who has been pastor of the First Presbyterian chuch at Mankato for several years has tendered his resignation. No reason was given, and Dr. Davis' future plans are not known. His family is in Europe. A meeting of the congregation was held to accept his resignation.

Twice Gets Postoffice Job.

Mr. M. B. Johnson, who was appointed postmaster of Clarkfield, took charge of the office, succeeding W. B. Torgensen, who recently resigned. Mr. Johnson enjoys the exceptional distinction of twice having been appointed postmaster of the same office under different administrations, having held the office during President Cleveland's first administration in the early pioneer days of this community, when there were no Democrats between the Yellow Medicine and the Minnesota rivers.

Will Head Schools.

The Fairmont board of education has elected L. H. Pryor superintendent of schools. He is now at the head of the Breckenridge schools and will succeed Prof. P. P. Kennedy, who goes from Fairmont to St. Peter next year.

Prof. A. D. Griffin, for the last five years superintendent of schools at Kasota, has been elected to a similar position at Hawley at an increased salary.

LADY POLE-CAREW MOST BEAUTIFUL ENGLISH WOMAN

Four Ladies of Gentle Birth and Two Actresses Are Picked as Leaders in Beauty Contest.

Hundreds of individuals have thought so for the last five years, but now it is all officially settled.

No one man was entrusted with the task of deciding such a momentous question. Even Paris himself who made the historic decision between Juno, Venus and Minerva, would probably have shrunk from picking out from the many entries the one daughter of Britain who excelled all the others.

Instead a popular vote was held with this result:

1. Lady Pole-Carew.
2. Lady Helen Vincent.
3. Princess Henry of Pless.
4. The Duchess of Sutherland.
5. Julia Neilson.
6. Evelyn Millard.

The vote that resulted in this choice was an honest one, for it represented a popular poll, everybody being permitted to vote from king to beggar.

King Edward himself took a keen interest in the outcome of the ballot, and it is even whispered that he cast a vote, but which of the fair dames of his realm received his suffrage is a secret that he probably would not have disclosed for a liberal percentage of his royal allowance. Even Edward's popularity could hardly survive the resentment of those he overlooked.

The choice of Lady Pole-Carew is popular, for she has long been pictured as the typical British beauty. Moreover, she has a great personal following, part of which probably results from the valorous part her husband, Gen. Pole-Carew, played in the war against the Boers. The wedding of Pole-Carew and Lady Beatrice took place in 1901, after he had returned from war crowned with laurels. She was the daughter of the marquis of Ormond.

LADY BEATRICE POLE-CAREW.
Voted most beautiful woman in England.

PRINCESS HENRY OF PLESS, THIRD ENGLISH BEAUTY.

The head of the winner of the contest is superb. It is classical in outline, the nose and mouth being purest Grecian. Her neck and shoulders are magnificent, and the hair is one lustrous mass that falls in ringlets over her eyebrows, and clusters in a huge coil on the back of her neck.

Lady Beatrice ascribes her perfect complexion to the breezes of Ireland, which fanned her cheeks during her girlhood days. She is a much traveled woman, and among her possessions is an uncut ruby presented to her by the shah of Persia, when as a child she visited his court with her parents.

Sir Edward Vincent, a prominent figure in British politics, is the husband of the winner of the second prize, Lady Helen Vincent. She is a daughter of the first earl of Faversham.

The winner of the third prize is more or less connected by birth with the United States.

Her mother, Mrs. Cornwallis West, was a famous Irish beauty of a quarter of a century ago, and her brother married Lady Randolph Churchill.

The Princess of Pless is famous for more than her beauty. She is a literary woman, whose ability is recognized by the most erudite of Johnny Bull's critics. She is generally credited with having written the immensely successful "Elizabeth in Her German Garden."

Fourth place also went to a literary woman, the Duchess of Sutherland. This superb lady possesses an intellect as flashing as her face and figure are beautiful. She wrote a play that, while it failed, "The Conquerors," critics admitted had much in it that was worthy of note.

The Duchess of Sutherland is a sportswoman, too. She can manage the tiller of her husband's costly yacht, the "Catania;" is a golfer and horsewoman.

The winners of the places in this contest of beauty represent many types. Lady Pole-Carew is the purely classical, Lady Vincent is distinctively English, after the fashion that Americans are sometimes inclined to think rather insipid. There is much of the Irish in the blonde, violet-eyed Princess Henry of Pless. The Duchess of Sutherland is notable for a wonderful pair of eyes, a perfect Cupid's bow mouth, a wealth of hair and a face that is a flawless oval.

A beauty contest held in the United States would probably see comparatively few votes cast for the owners of the nation's wealth, not that prejudice would withhold them the suffrages, but because the American of the middle classes but seldom gets a chance to see the women of the upper ten.

England's aristocrats mingle more among the poor than the wealthy women of the United States do. Thus probably 50 per cent of the London workmen know all four of the winners of the contest by sight.

Actresses would probably have monopolized the vote in an American beauty contest. Two of them were placed in this English vote, but they ranked fifth and sixth.

The first of the pair is very well known in Uncle Sam's realm, Julia Neilson, and if she were only good enough to be placed fifth, it speaks volumes for the pulchritude of those who were rated above her.

Lady Pole-Carew had more votes than her next two opponents put together. Lady Warwick fell just short of the total required to give her sixth place. Many gallant Britons voted for Queen Alexandra, though the latter, now a grandmother, laughed at the idea that she should be rated with the younger beauties. Be this as it may, England's queen is still a beautiful woman.

A Job's Comforter.

"A horse is a man's best friend," said the man who likes animals.

"Yes," answered young Mrs. Torkins with a sigh, "but when he gets on the race track he is liable to prove one of those fool friends who make so much trouble.

Big Bird of Prey.

The largest bird of prey in the world is the bearded vulture, which measures, from wing tip to wing tip, as much as nine or ten feet.

OLD SETTLERS SAY SATAN STILL HAUNTS OLD MILL

Satan haunts the old Dutch grist mill at Minnesota Lake, Minn., the more superstitious among the pioneers of that region declare, and after hearing their tales of the misfortune that befell Gotlieb Shostag, the former miller in his last years, it is a stout-hearted person, indeed, who can pass the antique structure on a black night when the wind is blustering, without a timerous glance behind him. Against the sky those skeletoned arms, stretching from the black body, present an ugly shape; as if the Evil One disrobed and bare of all the alluring disguises that make him popular in the world, had squatted there to rest a spell. Among the timbers the wind gives forth a mournful sound, seeming to bear the wails of those, who held fast in Satan's service, beseech him here to set them free.

For fifty years the mill has stood as a landmark on the north shore of the lake, near the village, where nothing exists to cut off the breezes that seldom fail when there is grinding to be done. It was built by Gotlieb Shostag, an old German millwright.

The mill is octagonal in shape, of frame construction, and has a diameter of forty feet at the base, tapering to about twenty-five feet at a height of forty feet. The four great arms are each thirty-five feet long, and as they revolve, reach a point eighty feet above the ground. While seeming to move slowly, they may be revolving at a speed of twenty-five miles an hour and furnishing thirty-horsepower. The mill is a counterpart of those in Holland, and is one of a few in this country.

Shostag prospered until steam mills were erected. When his mill was first built it was the only flour mill within a hundred miles, the mill at Hastings being the nearest. It did a rushing business, but when the roller mills came, Shostag ceased to make flour, and confined his operations to grist. He made the grinders out of hardheads, chiseling the granite with infinite labor. He made all repairs himself.

"The Old Windmiller," as Shostag was known far and near, was scrupulously honest in his dealings and had the respect of all who knew him, in spite of his odd ways. He did all of his work himself, although frequently having more work on hand than one man could attend to. His dependence on nature for power was shown in the statement that he invariably made to customers:

"God makes de wind blow, and when de wind blow I grinds. If He makes it blow, I grind your grist to-morrow; if He don't, then I will wait until He does make it blow."

The man in appearance and character was strangely in keeping with the curious old mill which he so faithfully attended. He was superstitious, and was fond of meeting with his German neighbors, when ghost stories frequently were told. A man named Schumacher was famous for his ghost tales, and he finally persuaded Shostag to believe that the mill was one of the abiding places on earth of his satanic majesty, who was the cause of accidents, lack of wind and other ills that befell the mill from time to time. He told Shostag that if he watched at the mill on a certain night he would see satan emerge from the mill in the form of a black rabbit.

Shostag watched at the mill on the night named and beheld a black rabbti run from under the mill and make for the prairie. The old man lost no time in consulting Schumacher as to the method of keeping the "common enemy" out of the mill in the future. Schumacher told him that the only way to do it was never again to allow any human being to enter the mill, and never himself to go in with his hat on. Schumacher was much of a joker, and started a report that the rabbit never stopped running until it reached Mankato, where it took up its abode. Shostag's statement that the animal ran out in a northwesterly direction corroborated this as far as it went.

Shostag was rational on every other subject, but never got over the delusion of the devil and the rabbit, although he operated the mill for a great many years thereafter. He obeyed Schumacher's injunctions to the letter, and never allowed a person to enter the mill, nor did he ever forget to uncover when entering it himself. For more than twenty years, not even members of his own family were admitted inside of the mill door. He hung large signs on the mill, requesting the public in English and German to keep out. This naturally stimulated a good deal of inquisitiveness, and many young men sought adventure by visiting the mill and trying to enter. These were given no quarter by the old miller, who bruised more than one head under the belief that he was saving his mill from being "possessed" again. He never allowed his customers to carry grain in or grist out of the mill, and they learned to respect his wishes.

According to one old resident, some evil-disposed person "put the devil in the mill," and for five years it caused Shostag a great deal of annoyance, trouble and anguish of mind. After repeated efforts, he finally succeeded in getting the "evil one" out, and he knew this to be a fact for he distinctly saw him going out in the form of a rabbit. This and other variations of the story are extant in every household in the countryside. Everybody knows the story in some form.

Shostag died three years ago. He became quite demented in his later years and was committed to a hospital. His only wish on leaving was that no one be allowed to enter the mill during his absence. He was in the hospital about six months and died shortly after his return home, firmly believing that no one had been in the mill during his absence. His son now conducts the mill.

Schumacher had much trouble after he had played upon Shostag's credulity so strongly, and finally died estranged from his family and the world. People said that the Lord had punished him for his act.

Because of Shostag's firm belief that the mill had been bewitched at one period, and his earnest efforts to prevent such an occurrence again, the sight of the mill causes the nerves of the more superstitious of the older settlers to become strained, and when driving past it at night they speak in whispers, and breathe freer when it has been left behind.

The American Homestead.

Bids as Candle Goes Out.

The parish meadow in the village of Broadway, Dorsetshire, England, has been let by auction under the conditions laid down in the will of John Gould, who died in the fifteenth century. The parish clerk lit a candle and called for bids to be made while it burned. The people were not eager, but just as the wick began to fall over a farmer offered $15, which bid was not topped, as the candle went out suddenly.

"Speaking of snake stories," he said, throwing the head, with its wriggling serpents, into a bag, "I guess that will hold you for a while."

But the appalling realization of what he had done did not burst upon him until he discovered that his hasty deed had turned Pegasus loose upon the world.

Shy One Bull; Fined $200.

The manager who would advertise his forty minstrels, "count 'em," in Mexico, and then put on his show with about ten men all told, would not escape as easily as he does in the States.

Because the number of bulls produced for a bull fight in Monterey, the other Sunday, were one short of the advertised number, the manager was fined $200 by the municipal authorities.

No Chance for an Argument.

"Speaking of idle curiosity," said the typewriter boarder, "men have more of it than women."

"Naturally," rejoined the scanty-haired bachelor. "The curiosity of women is anything but idle; it works overtime."

GRIEVANCE OF A MEXICAN.

Refused a Square Deal, He Thinks, by an American.

In looking up some mining claims in Mexico I found myself making inquiries of a native named Don Estanso. His greeting was anything but cordial and he andswered my queries in a way that gave me no information. I was rather surprised at this and a few days later I expressed myself so to a friend of the don's. He couldn't see through it, but said he would find out why things were thus. In a couple of weeks he came to me and said:

"Well?"

"A year ago he was in the mine business with one of your countrymen. At that time he was in love with Americans. Together they did business—much business. It was pleasant b' tween them. They were like sisters. If one said so then the other said so. Nothing was the trouble for a long, long time."

"And then there was trouble, eh?"

"There was. My good and sincere friend Don Estanso he saw his chance."

"Chance for what?"

"To beat the American out of thousands of dollars—many thousands. He improved that chance and did beat him."

"And is that why he is down on Americans now?"

"Ah, no. When your compatriot had been beaten he went to the courts. He said it was a swindle. He called for justice."

"And did he get it?"

"Not at all, but what did he do? Instead of leaving the case to the judge, whom my friend could have bribed for $5,000, he demanded a jury, and it cost my friend four times that sum to keep what he had swindled. It was very bad policy—very bad. It gives my countrymen the idea that you will not give us what you call a square deal."—Baltimore American.

PROGRESS IN SOUTH AFRICA.

Four Railroads Built or Projected in a Portuguese Province.

The development of Angola, a Portuguese possession in South Africa, is the subject of an optimistic report by British Consul Mackie. The total values of exports and imports last year were $13,053,412, as against $14,288,530 in 1904.

There are now four railways in existence or contemplated. The Loanda-Ambacca, or Royal Trans-African railway, is 225 miles in length, and belongs to a company, but an extension of about 100 miles to Malange is being built by the government. The Benguella-Katanga line, the principal railway enterprise, is being constructed by English capitalists, and will run 1,200 miles in the heart of Africa till it joins the cape to Cairo system, and probably by the shortness of the route capture much of the business to Northern Rhodesia that now goes over Central African lines.

The length open to traffic is twenty-three miles, and construction of the remainder is being steadily pushed forward. The Mossamedes-Chella line is another state road, intended at first to be twenty-eight miles in length, in order to supply the Plan Alto tableland with transportation facilities, but liable to future extension. Another railway project, which so far has only been officially approved, is a line in St. Thome, which is to unite the capital of the island with the cocoa and coffee plantations.

HOW LO GOVERNS HIMSELF.

Each Tribe Has a Constitution and Maintains Good Schools.

"The idea which seems to be prevalent in the East that the Indians of the Indian territory still live in tepees and tents and go about naked should be relegated to the rear with that antiquated idea that all men of the West are wild and woolly," said Judge J. H. Sheperd of MacAlester, I. T.

"It is true that some of the Indians live in shacks, but, as a rule, they have comfortable homes, many of them living in mansions, and they live as white people do. The average Indian, a member of one of the five civilized tribes, is equal to the average white person in the territory in education. They have their own schools where their children learn to read from books printed in their own language and they have newspapers.

"They have their own forms of government, and you may be surprised to know that each tribe has a constitution, and has had for sixty years. It is patterned after the constitution of the United States. They also have bodies which correspond to our legislative, judicial and executive branches, and they hold elections.

"The Cherokee Indian is industrious and successful as a farmer, but the Choctaws and Chickasaws, who are better provided for in the way of lands, prefer to employ white men to till the soil for them."

Jokelet.

"Grandpa, what's the difference between rehumatism and gout?" asked Willie, who knew his granfather was a sufferer from both these painful diseases.

"Well, sonny," answered grandpa, "you put your thumb in a vice and turn it till you can't bear the pain any longer and that's like rheumatism. Then give the vice a couple of extra turns and you'll get a faint inkling of what gout is."

As Seen From the Sea.

They were on their wedding tour.

"Darling," whispered the young husband as they strolled along the beach, "don't you love the seashore?"

"Yes," she said, "but Emerson says, you know, that there are two ways of looking at it."

His only response was a sigh. He couldn't afford a yacht.

There are things a woman will not eat because they ruin her complexion, but a man never refuses to drink anything for a similar reason.

ARE YOU GOING TO BUILD A HOG HOUSE?

Working Plans of Structure That Will Prove Most Serviceable and Convenient.

The plans of hog house shown beneath are considered by a successful stockraiser as among the best he has ever seen. The plan is for a house 40 feet long. It may be only ten feet and it may be 20, 30, 100 or any multiple of ten. It will be seen there are the indispensable department in each pen, sleeping-room 5x7, feedroom 5x7 and brick alley 5x8, besides yard and feed alley. In order to come out of sleeping-room, it will be seen, pigs have to pass out through back alley, where they are sure to leave their droppings, leaving the other rooms clean. Beginning at one end with a sleeping-room the enclosures go in pairs as the plan shows. First nest, then a pair of feedrooms, than a pair of nests and then a pair of feedrooms, etc. In fattening time the division planks between the pairs may be lifted out and the pairs make one enclosure 7x10. The nest-room floor and feed alley floor are some two inches higher than feedroom and back alley floors. This ensures dry nests and walks. The floor is best and warmest partly of cement. The front should face the south. On the central north side is the feedroom. The one outlined in plan is 8x10. This is large enough for a 40-foot house; for an 80-foot house it should be twice as large; 5x7 will be ample size for pens on this plan. A steam cooker should be in this feedroom to heat water and steam food for brood sows and young pigs, etc.

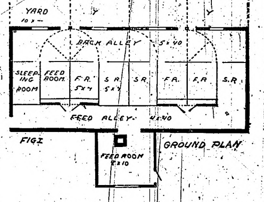

FIG I GROUND PLAN

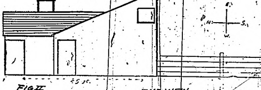

FIG II END VIEW

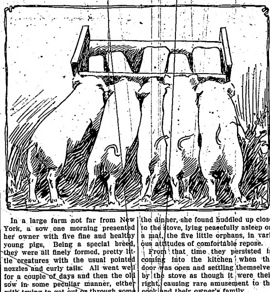
The roof is shed roof, which is the best for a hog house. There is a loft over head to be filled with straw for bedding and ventilation.

Of course, says Hord's Dairyman, in discussing the plans, each farrowing sow should have one set of compartments to herself, but for the balance of the herd one set would accommodate three or more, according to size. Partitions between pens are to be not more than four feet high.

Raising a Bunch of Orphan Piggies



In a large farm not far from New York, a sow one morning presented her owner with five fine and healthy young pigs. Being a special breed, they were all finely formed, pretty little creatures with the usual pointed nozzles and curly tails. All went well for a couple of days and then the old sow in some peculiar manner, either with trying to get out or through some fancied anxiety over her offspring, managed to get her head so jammed between the iron gate of her pen in the night that in the morning when her owner went to feed her he found only a cold, dead body squeezed halfway through the gate, and five miserable, hungry little animals squealing blue murder at the top of their shrill voices.

The loss of the sow—a very valuable one—was bad enough, but it seemed at first as though the poor owner would lose all the young pigs in addition. For the baby pigs could not be made to understand how to suck up milk from any utensil nor could they be induced to try sucking it through a tube. After endless trouble, heated strivings and wasted time, during which the young pigs grew not only more and more hungry, but weaker and weaker, the owner suddenly thought of a plan.

Obtaining five babies' bottles fitted with the usual rubber teats, he filled them with warm milk, placed them in a wooden box, passing the necks of the bottles through holes pierced in the side, and then one by one took a little pig up to it. With a grunt of satisfaction the first little pig "caught on" at once and was promptly followed by all the others, and in this way the owner saved his young hogs.

It was a curious sight to see the little creatures at first, four or five times a day, wait impatiently for the coming of their meal; to see them wildly scrambling for the first place, or indeed any place they could get, shrieking and squealing as though being killed, and then sucking at the bottles as if they had not been fed for days. One and all thrived on it and, taken altogether, these orphans had a fine time, especially while they remained babies.

One rather chilly afternoon, after being allowed to run about the yard they could not be found, but when the cook descended after her afternoon's rest to the kitchen to begin cooking the dinner, she found huddled up close to the stove, lying peacefully asleep on a mat, the five little orphans, in various attitudes of comfortable repose.

From that time they persisted in coming into the kitchen when the door was open and settling themselves by the stove as though it were their right, causing rare amusement to the cook and their owner's family.

Cultivating the Garden.—It pays to cultivate the garden often, no matter what is being grown in it. After every heavy rain the crust formed by the rain should be broken up as soon as possible to prevent the escape of moisture, and also to let the air into the soil. The greatest good this does is to keep down the weeds that are the greatest drawback in gardening. It is cheaper to cultivate the garden often than it is to wait till the weeds have obtained a vigorous start and try to dig them out. Many a garden has been declared a failure where the only cause of failure was the lack of frequent cultivation.

Warm Nests.—If any of the hens set early, care must be taken to make the nests as warm as possible and then if the weather is cold, feed and water them in the nests. As a rule, whole corn is the best ration for sitting hens. When the weather will admit, they should have an opportunity to get off the nests, but even then it will be best to have food and water convenient.

Feeding Pens for Chicks.—Feeding pens for the little chicks will be necessary in order to prevent injury to them by the older fowls.

Water for Poultry.—Eggs are largely made of water, so don't fail to keep a fresh supply on hand at all times for the hens.

When bread is cut crumbs are left. Expressing the fact that we all have a share in our neighbors' good fortune.

This is True.—The tail wags the dog wherever the barns and buildings are more up to date than the dwelling.

The Paying Hen.—The birds that lay are the ones that pay.

MATTERS FEMININE.

SIMPLE "DUST BAG"

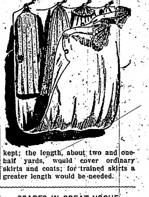
PROTECTS DAINTY GARMENTS WHEN HUNG UP.

A Few Yards of Cheap Calico All That Is Required—Device Used in Dressing Rooms of Theaters.

In the dressing rooms of many theaters, where a number of smart costumes have to be kept in such a manner that they are free from dust and dirt, and at the same time always ready to hand, the simple plan we illustrate is much in vogue. It merely consists of a large sheet, at either end of which are sewn a number of rings corresponding with the number of pegs on which the dresses are hung. The rings at one end of the sheet are slipped over the pegs and the costumes are hung up, and then the sheet is folded upwards (a glance at the sketch will explain this), and the rings at the other end of the sheet are slipped over the pegs, thus forming a large kind of bag and entirely enclosing the dresses. Tapes are also sewn on at the sides, and a few inches of sheet should be left beyond the last ring, in order that the sides of the bag may be tied up with the tapes, and enclosed entirely when the costumes are not required for a time.

This plan will be found excellent for protecting clothes hung up at the back of a cupboard or in a wardrobe, and will prevent many a delicate blouse or costume from soiling that would otherwise suffer from dust and dirt.

A few yards of calico would serve to protect several garments; the width required would, of course, depend on the size of the cupboard or wardrobe in which the garments were kept; the length, about two and one-half yards, would cover ordinary skirts and coats; for trained skirts a greater length would be needed.



TRIMMING ON NEW HATS.

Shape Is Now of Secondary Importance to the Wearer.

One thing very certain, even thus early, is that hats are to be very much betrimmed and very showily so. This puts the shape of the hat as a matter of secondary importance and leaves it almost entirely to the taste and discretion of the milliner. All trimmings have a tendency to droop, even upstanding loops being unwired or only partially so, so that while they keep their place they may not appear stiff and uncompromising. Next to this the sweeping effect is most noticeable, all trimmings being arranged to give a suggestion of breadth.

Ribbons, though, on account of the exceeding rage for flowers, not quite as lavishly as in some former seasons, are still very much in favor, and even when they do not form the sole trimming almost invariably, have some part in the scheme of decoration and are managed in various ways, gathered into bows with uneven loops, which, by the way, are gathered closely instead of being plaited and are arranged symmetrically; again they are formed into the most delectable knots with long streamers, in watteau choux with short, slashed ends hanging from them or in lovely butterfly bows with the ends extending over the brim of the hat and caught with an ornament to the hair.

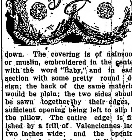
These ribbons are of taffetas preferably, but many new effects in chine and gauze are noticed. There is a novelty in toile de soie ribbon printed with weird little Japanese flower and vine designs.

FOR THE BABY'S CARRIAGE.

Dainty Pillow Makes a Very Acceptable Present.

A pillow for baby's carriage or mail cart should always be as dainty as possible. The one we show is pretty and practical, and would be a very acceptable present to any young mother.

The pillow itself, which is of pale blue or pink sateen, or flannelette, is cut shamrock shape, and filled with down. The covering is of nainsook or muslin, embroidered in the center with the word "Baby," and in each section with some pretty round design; the back of the same material would be plain; the two sides should be sewn together by their edges, a sufficient opening being left to slip in the pillow. The entire edge is finished by a frill of Valenciennes lace two inches wide; and the opening must be fastened by small linen buttons and worked loops.



SCARFS IN GREAT VOGUE.

Many Styles Made of Chiffon and Other Dainty Fabrics.

Time was, when the fascinating scarfs were admired only when seen in old French prints or pictures of southern beauties in early colonial days. But there are so many styles of scarfs at present that it is difficult to say which is the most attractive. There are the effectively flowered chiffons, the figured silks, the spangled nets and a dozen other materials, all soft and light, that give a charming touch to an already attractive costume.

The average scarf this year is about a yard and a half in length to three-quarters of a yard wide and, although these dimensions may vary, all scarfs are now long rather than square. A length of fine china or habutai silk with some figure or flower design at each end with a single large flower or smaller floral cluster in the center of the strip is a favorite style of scarf. The same design is seen in chiffon and also in crepe de chine.

LACE OF VARIOUS SORTS.

Wide Choice Is Afforded by the Season's Materials.

Silk Russian lace, in its inimitable shade of silvery ecru, is much used with the chiffon weight silks and satin finish silks and crepes. In the misty, diaphanous tulles and nets the various silk novelty laces, repousse lace, or Mechlin are used. Fancy valenciennes with the weave partly in imitation of batiste, abounds in many attractive designs of points, squares and tabs, both in insertions and edgings; all-over laces coming to match. For the simpler cotton frocks, a novelty is the Valenciennes-Venetian lace, which reproduces in a lightly patterned mesh the beautiful designs of the heavier lace. This lace is also suitable to combine with India silk. Torchon appears as the favored inserting and edging on many of the washable dresses, and is immensely smart this year for inserting in linen suits for children, when outlined by braiding in cord or soutache.

Laces White and Colored.

The silk of Malta is particularly good to combine with the white pargee, the deep cream tint of this lace making a charming contrast to the pure glistening white of the silken fabric. Mechlin, the lightest and most cobweb-like of all the laces, is to be found in a silk or a cotton lace, and outlines the heavier laces when a frilled fluffy effect is desired. The cotton Mechlin is usually a burnt ivory or cream color, and blends with any color most charmingly. In the lace blouses so much in evidence, and so useful, both white and coffee color laces are combined.

Woman Everyone Is Interested In.

She is an excellent talker, but she doesn't say much, she merely suggests. She has a trick of leaving unsaid the things she ought to have left unsaid, and of saying the things that are pleasant to hear.

She never gossips and she is kind and liberal in her judgments. She has a wise way of looking at things and is broad in her views.

DICTATES OF FASHION.

Pearl trimming is frequent upon evening dresses.

Chine ribbons will be worn a good deal, and they are very pretty.

Pale pongee color and putty shades seem to be favorites for spring.

Variety in millinery is as pronounced as in dressmaking this season.

Black and white effects in summer fabrics are to be fashionable.

Frogs and cabochons are found even on the linen suits this season.

Drap souple of a silky weave made in the kimono order makes a graceful evening wrap.

There is a new yellow-green that resembles a pale lettuce shade. It seems to be gaining in the popular fancy.

In Gray Shades.

In striped fabrics some of the most pleasing color schemes are in gray, varying shades being used. If a bit of contrasting color is introduced it is used sparingly, and employed as a trimming for the neck and vest, with probably a suggestion added to the cuffs. Bat, faume and the light French grays occupy a place all to themselves in the realm of spring modes, and are quite as pretty in this fabric as in the stripes and checks. The new pale greens are also exceedingly pretty, but are not capable of the varied treatment that one finds so advantageous in some of the other colors. The complementary tints look well in voiles, chiffons, muslins, etc., and are delightfully fashioned with various laces and braids.

Saturday, April 20, 1907.

Thief River Falls people will start on May 1st to circulate a new county seat removal petition.

There was not an application for a state seed grain loan in Red Lake county. Creameries are what did the work.

Seeding will be a couple of weeks later than usual this season, but that is no reason why we should not have a good crop.

It is freely predicted that travel will so increase that the railroads will make as much carrying passengers at 2 cents a mile as they did at three cents.

The legislature has appropriated four hundred thousand dollars to be expended by the county boards of the different counties in the state for good roads.

The Warren papers don't seem to like the idea of having Red Lake and Marshall county in the same senatorial district. There is no danger—the bill was only a bluff.

The members of the Minnesota house must be rather a cheap lot, to say the least. In passing the anti-pass bill to take effect December 31, 1908, so that they could enjoy their passes from the railroads for nearly two years, is about the worst that any legislature has done for a long time. Their constituents should see that every one who voted for the bill should get a free pass to stay at home for all time.

Grand Forks Herald: If there ever was a time when the political situation in the United States was more mixed than it is now it would require a painstaking search of all the records to locate it. We have Roosevelt booming Bryan, Bryan booming LaFollette, John Temple Graves urging Bryan to nominate Roosevelt, and Bryan declining for the present, but with the distinct understanding that his denial is for the present only. Some of the ablest men in the democratic party are known as "White House" democrats, while the president is vigorously and industriously belabored by speakers and journals of his own party. Out of the chaos there looms one significant fact. The radical element in each party has more in common with the radical element in the other party than it has with the conservative element of its own party. Also vice versa and per contra. Roosevelt republicans have less dealing with Morgan and Rockefeller republicans than ever the Jews had with the Samaritans. And a Bryan democrat can stand almost anything except a democrat of the other persuation.

Arab Fatalism.

Arab fatalism, which is at the root of his stoic impassiveness, though much talked of, is but little understood in its almost superhuman invincibility. This is brought into strong relief by the history attaching to one of the treasures of the Louvre museum. It is a human skeleton—a skeleton with a history. It is the disembodied framework of a man, an Arab and an assassin. In the flesh he was Suleiman el Aleby, and his hand it was that murdered Kleber, the commander of the French revolutionary army in Egypt. For this crime he was condemned by a French court martial to have his right hand burned off, to be impaled and exposed to birds of pray and to have his body reduced to a skeleton. The burning off of his hand Suleiman bore without a groan or even a wince, but toward the end of the dire ordeal the executioner happened to touch another part of his arm with the redhot iron. "This punishment," he shouted, with anger, "is not in the sentence." Then he underwent the rest of the execution without giving any expression or even a sign of feeling.—London Globe.

Mastered the Q.

Hundreds of people have cured themselves of impediments in speech. One of last year's mayors as a young man used to find it almost impossible to pronounce words beginning with a "q." Every day for months he used to walk across St. James' park practicing this sentence aloud: "A quantity of quicksilver quietly quartered in a quagmire," until he conquered the impediment. Today he is one of the most fluent speakers in England.—London Tit-Bits.

School Notes

"These are the times that try men's (soles)." If they do not stand the test, damp feet is the result.

Preliminary steps are being taken toward giving a school entertainment some time in May. Some excellent songs have been obtained and are well under way, and there will be other features galore that will make it truly entertaining.

All things considered, the attendance has been good since vacation.

Delose Payment has been missed in the second primary room since they moved out on the farm.

The fourth grade is now taking up nature study. At present they are studying the animals of the water. This subject is not of so much value to the child for the information which he obtains as it is to teach him to observe more closely the animals and plants which they see in their every day life.

A wee little mouse, mischevious as the rest, has lately made its home between the ceiling and upper floor near where the gong-rope goes thru, and it evidently thinks the rope makes good nest for it has made regular inroads upon it. But strange to say even a rope won't serve two masters; if it is to make a nest for the mouse it won't ring the gong for the gong master, and there you are. Woe mark the day when that mouse and that gong-master shall meet face to face!

The Dog's Story.

One day as I was running along the street I met a little dog and we at once became the best of friends. We ran along until at last we came to a shady place and decided to rest a short while before going home. While so doing my companion told me the story of his life. He said:

"I was born on a farm and lived with my mother and sisters until I was six weeks old, when one day a boy came and got me. I did not know where I was going to but at last we came to a very large house and the boy found a box and put me into it. I was very much frightened at first but soon became used to this place. I was very fond of the little boy and would go with him wherever he went.

"One morning the little boy's mother told him he could not keep me any longer as they were going to the city to live. He felt very badly when his mother told him this.

"He gave me to one of his neighbors. I did not like this boy because every day he would put a small harness on me and hitch me to an express wagon and go to the brook and make me haul stones from there to the barn. If I did not want to do this and stopped he would take a long whip and beat me.

"At last I could stand this treatment no longer and made up my mind to run away the first chance I had.

"One day the boy was not looking and I ran around the corner of the barn and into the forest. I ran very fast for fear of being captured. I soon came to a small stream of water and rested a short while. Soon I was on my way again and came in sight of an old house.

"I walked boldly up to the door and laid down on the mat. The lady who owned this house came out and gave me something to eat and said she would keep me as she had just lost her little dog. This lady was very kind to me and I have lived with her ever since.

"Now every time I see a boy who has an express wagon I run as fast as I can because I am afraid the boy who was mean to me will find me again and take me with him."

When he had finished the story it was quite late and we were soon on our way home.

Uncle Sam's Land Goes Up.

The general land office has issued a circular under date of April 8, which will be of interest to those parties who intend to purchase what is known as "isolated tracts" at auction, when ordered into the market by the government. Heretofore the minimum price at which all lands could be sold was $1.25 an acre. Under the circular of April 8, 1907, disconnected or isolated tracts which are offered for sale, when located within railroad limits—forty miles or less from the railroad limits—will be sold for not less than $2.50 per acre—or as much more as competitive bidding will bring. If the land is outside the railroad limit the minimum price will be the same as heretofore. This decision effects all sales to be made hereafter lying along the Northern Pacific railroad.

It looked like a freeze-up the first part of the week but the weather is a little better at present. It will be the latest spring we have had in a long time.

Pres. C. L. Hansen of the Merchants State Bank went down to Minneapolis last Wednesday evening, where he will spend a few days attending to some real estate affairs.

The coming week Rapp & Post will have a special sale of Wash Goods. Those worth 15c to 60c a yard will go at 7c to 25c a yard.

BIG ORDER FOR SEED

Six Hundred Dollars' Worth Recived for Creamery Patrons.

A few years ago a farmer asking for grass seed would have been a curiosity, but it is different now in this vicinity. Nearly every merchant is selling both clover and timothy seed, and this week Geo. L. Austin received for the patrons of the creamery over six hundred dollars' worth of timothy and clover seed. There is more tame grass in the vicinity of St. Hilaire at present than at any other point in northern Minnesota and there is hardly a farmer in this vicinity who is not figuring on seeding a considerable part of his farm this season.

It means without question that this section will abandon wild grass for both hay and pasture and that grain raising has seen its best days. We will venture the prediction that in the near future one of these grass-seeded farms will be worth more than two wheat farms of the same size.

Supt. McDonald of the St. Hilaire Retail Lumber company, was a business visitor here on Thursday.

THE GREAT NORTHERN

About two months ago the Roseau Times stated upon semi-official authority that work would commence on the Roseau extension of the Great Northern before the frost was out of the ground. This was no prediction, but a statement made upon the word of an official who was in a position to know what he was talking about, and it appears now that his statement is about to be verified. Word comes from Greenbush to the effect that about all the material needed for the bridge work between that point and Warroad has been unloaded, and a construction man in Greenbush stated that the work of laying steel would be completed to Roseau not later than May 15. It is to be hoped that this will prove true and the building of the road no longer delayed. The entire matter is up to the construction department and there does not appear to be any other work to interfere with the completion of the Roseau branch from Greenbush to Warroad, by June 1st.

The commercial club held its regular meeting last Wednesday evening at the village hall and considerable business was attended to. The next meeting of the club will be on Wednesday evening, May 8th.

Dr. H. E. Nelson and wife moved their residence the first of the week from the rooms over Holmes' hardware store to the McCaffrey residence on Water street and are now nicely settled in their new home.

George Hughes came back the first of the week from Blackduck where he has been working for the Thief River Falls Lumber company. He will remain home a few days but will return there for the summer.

The spring term opens in the Riverside school on Monday, April 22. Our new library addition has arrived and all who attend the first day will have their choice of good stories.

RAPP & POST.

J. J. Power, of Langdon, N.D., writes us that he and Mrs. Power, who was Miss May Sorsoleil, wish to announce the arrival of a fine baby boy on April 7th. THE SPECTATOR together with their many friends here extend congratulations.

Axel Jacobson and John Brandvold, two prominent young men of Black River, left last Monday for Eveleth, Minn., for the purpose of looking up a new location for their future homes. Their friends sorely regret their departure as they will be gone for some time.

Henry Peters left on Wednesday for St. Paul where he has obtained a position in the stereotyping department of the Pioneer Press. Mr. Peters is an old hand at the business having worked at that trade for many years before he came here a couple of years ago for his health.

Andrew Letvig, the well-digger from St. Hilaire, was up in this part of the country last week on business and is now engaged in drilling a well for A. Rolandson, of Lillo. He also made one for Wm. Bruckman at a depth of 157 feet, striking a vein of good soft water.—Radney Correspondent in Eleven Towns.

The coming week Rapp & Post will have a special sale of Wash Goods. Those worth 15c to 60c a yard will go at 7c to 25c a yard.

PAYROLL IN MOTION

St. Hilaire Creamery Pays Out $3,950 for Month of March.

The St. Hilaire Creamery is again unloading the heavy burden of gold which the premium butter has gathered in the treasury for the month of March. And in order to clean up and make room for what is coming it was necessary to pay 30 cents a pound for butter fat and thereby draw out $3,950, the total money received during the month and the following will give you the idea in which way it is done:

Those receiving over $50 were:

I. Baril, (Red Lake Falls)	$80.60
N. A. Nelson	75.41
Chas. Seeger	74.15
Gust Konickson	72.15
H. Haupt	69.82
G. H. Sandum	56.93
Swan Johnson	55.82
Andrew Mortenson	55.40
L. P. Thyren	54.98
N. E. Beebe	54.78
O. W. Brink	51.99
O. L. Larson	51.41
D. Patnode (Red L. Falls)	50.23

Last year the same month the total amount of business done amounted to $2,505.50, so the prosperity is growing.

HATHAWAY IS PAROLED

Eckky Kathaway, who was sentenced at Thief River Falls last June to serve a year in the state prison at Stillwater, on the charge of stealing flax and later breaking jail, has been paroled by the state board of pardons in session at St. Paul at present.

Hathaway arrived in Crookston Tuesday. He is looking in the best of health and will be allowed his freedom for the next three months subject to certain restrictions imposed by the prison authorities. Hathaway was working in a pop factory at Thief River Falls and he fell in with a gang of tough young men who used him as a cat's paw in stealing a carload of flax which they sold to the elevator at that place. He would not have been sent to prison had he not broken out of jail at Thief River Falls and tried to get away.—Crookston Times.

Wangan Here.

Pat Sullivan, river superintendent for the Grand Forks Lumber company, came up on Thursday and commenced unloading a large wangan which came by freight. The boat is being moved to the river and Mr. Sullivan will take a drive down from here as soon as the ice goes out of the river.

Millinery Exhibit.

Taugbol Sisters and company, dealers in ladies' furnishings and millinery and one of the leading firms in that line in Grand Forks, N. D., have decided to exhibit a full and complete line of ladies' furnishings and millinery at Rapp & Post's store, on Tuesday and Wednesday, April 23-24. Only the latest styles will be shown and prices will be moderate. Ladies interested should remember the dates.

Auction Sales.

On Tuesday, April 23rd, G. H. Sandum at section 14 of River Falls, will offer at public auction a large amount of live stock and farm machinery. Sale will commence at 10 o'clock and lunch will be served. R. J. McKercher, auctioneer; B. E. Burkee, clerk.

On Thursday, April 25th, J. B. Schumacher, at SE¼ section 12, Bray, at 11 a.m. will offer for sale horses, cattle and a large amount of farm machinery. Lunch at noon. R. J. McKercher, auctioneer; B. E. Burkee, clerk.

"Mike," he said, "you've taken a homestead, an' I thought maybe ye could tell me th' law concernin' how to go about it."

"Well, Dennis, I don't remimber th' exact wordin' uv th' law, but I can give ye th' manin' uv it. Th' manin' uv it is this: Th' Governmint is willin' t' bet ye 160 acres uv land agin $14 tho' ye can't live on it five years without starvin' t' death."—April Everybody's.

Half Million Cows in State

E. K. Slater, state dairy and food commissioner, has issued a pamphlet containing lists of Minnesota creameries and cheese factories compiled to the close of 1906. At the close of last year there were 640 co-operative and 185 independent creameries in the state. These creameries had 55,798 patrons, and the milk was supplied by 461,466 cows. During the year 78,455,459 pounds of butter were made in the state, of which amount 15,634,754 pounds were sold within the state and 56,317,118 pounds were shipped out of the state.

There were seventy-two cheese factories in the state at the end of the year. Of what they turned out 3,479,223 pounds were sold in the state and 156,223 pounds were sold outside of the state.

We have about 150 Boys' and Children's Suits that will be sold for less than half the regular prices.

INDUSTRIAL CONTEST

Similar to the One Held Last Year Will be Held in December.

The State Grain Growing contest promoted in 1906 by Prof. D. D. Mayne will be continued under the general supervision of the Farmers' Club of Minnesota. Contests in cooking, sewing and in growing fruit and vegetables will be added to the three grains, used last year. This makes the name "Grain Growing Contest" inadequate, and the name "Minnesota Boys and Girls Industrial Contest" has been chosen instead.

There is almost no limit to the good results which may be expected from this work. Not alone is the educational feature of the contest important, but the practical and economic results which will certainly follow where the plan is successfully carried out, should and will interest every public spirited citizen.

The plan of the county contest is very similar to that followed in many of the counties before the state contest was started, that is, the contest is under the supervision of the county superintendent of schools. Where the County Farmers' Clubs are organized the members will co-operate with the county superintendent in every possible way to help make the contest a success.

Any boy or girl in Minnesota, under eighteen years of age, or any public school student, is eligible to enter this contest. All that is necessary to enter the contest is to send your name to the county superintendent of your county and state in which of the classes you wish to compete.

The county superintendent or members of the Farmers' Club, or both, will solicit from the business men and other citizens of each county reasonable prizes for the various exhibits made. This will insure substantial prizes for several of the best exhibits in each class. The winners of the first three prizes in each class in the county contest may compete in the state contest.

The county contests should all be held before the first of December if possible. It is planned to hold the state contest at St. Paul December 19-20-21.

IS NOT ALL SUNSHINE.

Thief River News: "Billy" Knight arrived in the city Tuesday evening from Prince Albert, where he spent the winter working in the woods. The railroads up in that section are all tied up owing to numerous snow storms of late and it took Mr. Knight sixteen days to make the trip from Prince Albert to this city. At Regina he reports that there are 1500 car loads of stock, farm machinery and household goods on the side tracks belonging to settlers who are enroute to the Canadian Northwest to make their future home.

Many of these had to be tied up there for over a month and restaurants and hotels are reaping a big harvest and charging exorbitant prices for meals. Many of the new settlers had spent most of their cash and wishing they had never started for the Canadian Northwest.

Scarlet Fever.

The situation in regard to the cases of scarlet fever in the village, while not alarming, are nevertheless dangerous and will require considerable work to wipe it out.

The local board of health has established a quarantine at the following residences: Leonard Holmes, Mrs. Stalwick, P. P. Hovd, John Fallstad. Besides this the River Falls board has quarantine at J. S. Roy and N. A. Nelson. This quarantine must be strictly observed by all.

The citizens in general are invited by the board of health to unite in making the quarantine effective, as in this way only can the disease be stopped. All persons who evade it will be promptly arrested. While the situation is not particularly dangerous it is sufficiently serious to demand a strict enforcement of the quarantine.

Wonderful South American Cataract.

The falls of Iguazu, near the meeting place of Brazil, Argentina and Paraguay, seldom visited by foreigners, are among the most wonderful cataracts in the world. They are particularly interesting on account of their greater extent and far more varied character than those of Niagara. It is a well known fact that golden grain belt beer is the ideal table beverage. Take a glass of this delicious beverage before each meal and you will not have to deprive yourself of the things you like to eat. TWO DAYS ONLY !!!!!!

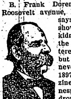
Thief River News:—Upon the complaint of Ole Homme, County Attorney Germo last week instructed Judge Bishop to issue a warrant for the arrest of Frank Zavoral and Joseph Varlicky, two settlers living out in the new town of Star near Erie postoffice. It appears that a few weeks ago while enroute from Thief River Falls to their claims, Zavoral and Varlicky stopped at the home of Homme which resulted in some trouble. Mr. Zavoral is an old Thief River Falls man and Varlicky is his brother-in-law. Those who know the circumstances of the case say that a mistake was made in having a warrant issued for their arrest. The warrant has been in the hands of Sheriff Nelson for several days, but as yet no attempt has been made to have it served owing to the bad condition of the roads in that section.

The coming week Rapp & Post will have a special sale of Wash Goods. Those worth 15c to 60c a yard will go at 7c to 25c a yard.

A TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE.

How a Veteran Was Saved the Amputation of a Limb.



B. Frank Doremus, veteran, of Roosevelt avenue, Indianapolis, Ind., says: "I had been showing symptoms of kidney trouble from the time I was mustered out of the army, but in all my life I never suffered as in 1897. Headaches, dizziness and sleeplessness, first, and then dropsy. I was weak and helpless, having run down from 180 to 125 pounds. I was having terrible pain in the kidneys and the secretions passed almost involuntarily. My left leg swelled until it was 34 inches around, and the doctor tapped it night and morning until I could no longer stand it, and then he advised amputation. I refused, and began using Doan's Kidney Pills. The swelling subsided gradually, the urine became natural, and all my pains and aches disappeared. I have been well now for nine years since using Doan's Kidney Pills.

Is Slow Traveler.

A New Haven man was praising the late Judge David Torrence of Derby, Conn.

"Judge Torrence," he said, "uttered many an epigram from the bench. In a case concerning a noise nuisance a scientist was once testifying before him about the speed of sound.

"'Sound,' said the man, 'travels at the rate of 400 yards a second.'

"'All sound?' asked Judge Torrence.

"'All,' replied the scientist.

"The judge smiled.

"'I'm sure you're wrong,' he said. 'I have noticed a great difference between the speed of certain kinds of sound. Thus, slander travels at the rate of quite 1,000 yards a second; flattery, 500 yards, while truth makes only a few feet a second, and, slow as its progress is, truth often fails to reach the goal, no matter how short the distance.'"

The German Way.

Prior to the last solar eclipse the colonel of a German regiment of infantry sent for his sergeants and observed:

"There will be an eclipse of the sun to-morrow. The regiment will meet on the parade grounds in undress uniform. I will come and explain the eclipse before the drill. If the day is cloudy the men will meet in the drill shed as usual."

Whereupon the sergeants drew up the following order of the day:

"To-morrow morning, by order of the colonel, there will be an eclipse of the sun. The regiment will assemble on parade ground, where the colonel will come and superintend the eclipse in person. If the sky is cloudy the eclipse will take place in the drill shed."

Poor Aunt Mary.

Mrs. Flint was a very stern woman, who demanded instant and unquestioning obedience from her children. One afternoon a storm came up and she sent her son John to close the trap leading to the flat roof of the house.

"But mother"—said John.

"John, I told you to shut the trap."

"Yes, but mother"——

"John, shut that trap!"

"All right, mother, if you say so, but"——

"John!"

John slowly climbed the stairs and shut the trap. The afternoon went by, and the storm howled and raged. Two hours later the family gathered for tea, and when the meal was half over Aunt Mary, who was staying with Mrs. Flint, had not appeared. Mrs. Flint started an investigation. She did not have to ask many questions; John answered the first one.

"Please, mother, she is up on the roof."

Right From the Shoulder.

Tommy—No; but Auntie Emily is my godmother, you see.

Uncle—Ah, yes, I had forgotten that.

Tommy—And I am afraid you have forgotten you're my godfather, too.

ROMANTIC DEVONSHIRE.

The Land Made Famous by Philpotts' Novels.

Philpotts has made us familiar with romantic Devonshire, in his fascinating novels, "The River," "Children of the Mist," etc. The characters are very human; the people there drink coffee with the same results as elsewhere. A writer at Rock House, Orchard Hill, Bideford, North Devon, states:

"For 30 years I drank coffee for breakfast and dinner but some 5 years ago I found that it was producing indigestion and heart-burn, and was making me restless at night. These symptoms were followed by brain fag and a sluggish mental condition.

"When I realized this, I made up my mind to quit drinking coffee and having read of Postum, I concluded to try it. I had it carefully made, according to directions; and found to my agreeable surprise at the end of a week, that I no longer suffered from either indigestion, heart-burn, or brain fag, and that I could drink it at night and secure restful and refreshing sleep.

"Since that time we have entirely discontinued the use of the old kind of coffee, growing fonder and fonder of Postum as time goes on. My digestive organs certainly do their work much better now than before, a result due to Postum Food Coffee, I am satisfied.

"As a table beverage we find (for all the members of my family use it) that when properly made it is most refreshing and agreeable, of delicious flavor and aroma. Vigilance is, however, necessary to secure this, for unless the servants are watched they are likely to neglect the thorough boiling which it must have in order to extract the goodness from the cereal." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

LADY ISABEL AND MISS NOBODY

By MRS. NEISH.

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

It was towards the end of last winter that Lady Isabel confided in me about her other brother's love affair.

"My dear girl," she said pathetically, "you ought to be really and truly thankful Providence has not blessed you with brothers."

"Ought I?" I answered doubtfully. "Do you know, I have an idea I should simply love to have brothers?"

"It's only an idea," she responded lightly. "You see, you write fiction, and so you are full of imagination, and you imagine it would be nice to have brothers; but out of the realms of fancy, in real, hard, everyday life they are a great nuisance and a fearful responsibility."

"All brothers?" I asked.

She nodded. "All mine, at any rate. Look at Bob," she continued. "dear old boy, he's awfully nice and all that, but very dull and heavy, you know, with the sort of heavy dullness that so often characterizes the future head of the family, and yet he is always falling in and out of love."

"You have only one other," I said, "and he is not even dull."

"No," she admitted. "Cyril is certainly anything but dull—in fact, is the other extreme; he is too lively, and that is just what is worrying me now."

"In love, too?" I asked, with sympathy.

She nodded. "You know, he has been sort of engaged to Violet all his life—one of those matches mothers make over their cradles, and which is an absolute necessity for a penniless younger brother."

"Your cousin is very pretty," I said tentatively.

"I know," assented Lady Isabel, impatiently, "but so are lots of other women, and men never notice women they have known all their lives; besides he is in love just now."

"Who is she? Isn't she a nice girl?"

"Nice?" echoed Lady Isabel, raising her eyebrows with some slight show of irritation. "Yes, she may be nice enough for all I know. I don't know her, but she is a mere nobody—a governess, or a companion, or something—a dowdy little thing, who probably loves him entirely for himself, and won't give him up even although she knows he is poor."

"Must she give him up?"

"Of course she must," answered Lady Isabel sharply. "Papa says he will cut Cyril out of his will if he does not marry Violet, and he has left it entirely to me to manage."

"Is your father angry about it?"

"Angry? He is simply furious. I have just been interviewing him—I mean Cyril—but he says he doesn't care a button about the governor, and he shall marry whom he likes. The worst of it is," added Lady Isabel, "he has lent her my mother's string of emeralds—he got Bob to give it to him out of the safe where papa put it after poor mamma died. Bob has had charge of everything lately, since papa has been so ill, and now"—Lady Isabel paused tragically—"he has had the audacity to give it to Cyril for this girl, because, he says, it was to go to Cyril's wife anyway, and I have all the diamonds except the ones to go to his wife," she finished up a little incoherently.

"This girl will perhaps give it back to him if he does not marry her."

"Will she?" said Lady Isabel. "Catch her doing anything so silly—I know I shouldn't if I were in her place!"

"No, dear, I am quite sure you wouldn't," I rejoined, with what I felt was a peculiarly feminine sweetness of tone.

"Marjorie, what am I to do?" said Lady Isabel despairingly a day or so later. "I knew it was coming; and so has—Violet. She has asked papa to lend her those emeralds for Lady Avington's ball, and he has promised, and Cyril is in such a state, he gave them to the girl because he couldn't afford a really nice ring—you know, he is like me, always hard up, and he says he is d— if he is going to take them away from her again. Men are so dreadfully emphatic," sighed Lady Isabel. "It is exactly what Vernon says when he means to have his own way."

"Well, what about the emeralds; do tell me what happened?" I asked as we sat chatting, about a fortnight later, over luncheon.

"I have got them," she said triumphantly. "Miss Burnett gave them to me at once. I went and called upon her and asked her for them back myself."

"What was she like?"

"Oh, a nice little thing," answered Lady Isabel, indifferently. "Rather pretty—in a sort of helpless dolly fashion."

"Why did she give them up to you?"

"Well, you see, she has given Cyril up as well."

"Really!" I said in amazement.

"Yes; she refused to see him or answer his letters; and then I invited him and Violet to dine here, and threw them together, and dear Violet has so much tact," said Lady Isabel enviously, as though she was quite without that quality herself. "Cyril was furiously angry at first, but," she said presently, "like all men, he got over it in a very short time, and now of course, he's going to marry Violet."

"But, my dear Isabel, how did you manage the other poor girl?" I asked. "She seems to have broken off her engagement without giving you much trouble at any rate."

"Yes," said Lady Isabel thoughtfully, "but it was quite easy. You know, these sort of middle-class girls are much more particular about their men than we are—" she hesitated.

"And so—"

"Well, I just told her about a few of Cyril's escapades, you know—some things I could say and some I, of course, could only hint—and she turned very icy at once, and I could see it would be all right, and so I thanked her—no, I mean, of course, she thanked me, and then I came away."

"Poor girl," I repeated.

"Oh! she'll soon get over it—at least, I can't imagine anyone fretting long for Cyril; but I was in an awful fright at first, because I thought she might have had the emeralds changed for paste, you know."

"Oh, Isabel!"

"My dear Marjorie, please don't say 'Oh, Isabel' in that tone—it's just the sort of thing a girl in that class would do; and even two or three of the stones would have kept her in clothes for a year. Anyhow, you know, I don't really trust anybody, so I took them to Rubenstein's and had them looked at."

"And were they all right?"

She nodded. "Yes, I am bound to say they were. She was evidently quite as honorable as even Violet or I, in spite of the fact that she is a mere nobody."

"Perhaps, indeed, even for that very reason," I said, with mild sarcasm.

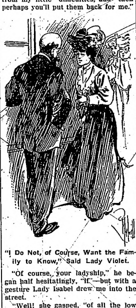
All this having happened at the end of last year, Lady Violet's marriage is already a thing of the past.

But yesterday morning I was suddenly reminded of poor Miss Burnett and the emeralds. Lady Isabel and I were driving from Dover street into Piccadilly, when she turned suddenly to me and said, "Oh, by the way, dear, do you mind stopping at Rubensteins? I want to get my diamond brooch, I left it to be cleaned and mended the other day."

As we reached the shop door a tall woman standing with her back to us was saying in a high, languid voice, that made Lady Isabel start sharply and clasp my arm. "Yes, all right; by Monday next, then—but you will be sure and see they are exactly like the real stones."

"Oh, yes, your ladyship," answered the junior partner, "our imitations are quite perfect, you really need have no anxiety; in these days, indeed, it is often quite impossible to tell the real from the false."

"I do not, of course, want the family to know," said Lady Violet, "but it's only for a time; I hope to soon be free from my little difficulties, and then perhaps you'll put them back for me."



"I Do Not, of Course, Want the Family to Know," Said Lady Violet.

"Of course, your ladyship," he began half hesitatingly, "if"—but with a gesture Lady Isabel drew me into the street.

"Well! she gasped, "of all the low class frauds! Our family jewels. How dare she! I shall go at once and tell papa and Cyril."

"My dear Isabel," I said soothingly, "I beg you will not be so extremely foolish. I can quite understand your natural dislike to a fraud, but I should strongly advise you not to interfere. It's never safe to interfere between the married; and it was you who made the match between Lord Cyril and your cousin, instead of letting him marry poor honest little Miss Nobody. As to your brother," I added sententiously, "he is quite happy—don't destroy his trust in his wife. He will never find it out, and—does it matter very much? No one will know but you and I, and, as your jeweler himself remarked, 'In these days it is often quite impossible to tell the real from the false.'"

OLDEST ORCHARD IN AMERICA.

Apple Trees Near Estancia, N. M., Six Feet in Circumference.

San Francisco.—The oldest apple orchard in America, if not in the world, is in the center of the ancient town of Manzano, 18 miles southwest of Estancia, Torrance county, New Mexico. Many of the trees are more than six feet in circumference, but all are still fruitful and vigorous, although neglected for generations. Little is known of the history of the orchard, but the oldest inhabitants of the valley of the Rio Grande remember the orchard from childhood, and claim that the trees have not changed in appearance since then. Venerable Mexicans and Pueblo Indians tell of visiting the orchard as far back as they can remember and finding apples on the ground in all stages of decomposition at least two feet deep.

The Estancia valley has been peopled for ages, probably by the kinsmen of the natives found by the Spanish explorers at Gran Quivira, Abo and other ancient cities. Probably in the early days of the Spanish occupation some Franciscan monk found his way to Manzano and there planted the seeds that have developed into these venerable trees. They are no doubt fully 300 years old. Close by the orchard is a little lake fed by a large spring. A short distance away is a grove of pines and cedars, making an ideal place for picnic and camping parties.

"Home, Sweet Home."

"Home, Sweet Home," was first sung in this country at a theater in Philadelphia, in connection with the production of John Howard Payne's melodrama, "Clari, the Maid of Milan." This was in 1823. The play was originally produced in Covent Garden Theater, London, and immediately the sweet air of the song sung by Clari became famous.

ILL FROM OVERWORK

NERVOUS PROSTRATION CURED BY DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS.

When the nervous system is broken down from overwork, or whatever cause, life loses its joys. Not only is the nervous victim a sufferer himself but he is usually a trial to the whole family. Nervous breakdown is often gradual, appearing at first to be merely an unusual fretfulness. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills tone up the nerves in the most direct way and not only cure minor troubles but serious disorders as well.

Mr. W. W. Munroe, of 16 Hazel Park, Everett, Mass., says: "About four years ago this September I became all run down from overwork and from confinement to work during warm weather. For two months I grew steadily worse. I lost in weight and strength and had no appetite. My memory failed me quite rapidly and I became in a very low state, both physically and mentally. I took no interest in life, neither in business nor recreation. In my position, as foreman in a large manufacturing chemist's establishment in Boston, a good memory is absolutely essential to success because of the immense amount of detail that must be carried in the head.

"I grew very despairing, could not bear to have people meet me and my friends remarked on my condition. About the middle of December a friend told me one day that he had tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and found them reliable. I commenced taking them and at the end of two weeks the change for the better was remarked by friends. I continued using the pills until I was thoroughly recovered. I regard them as a fine remedy and make this statement voluntarily in gratitude for the benefit I received from them."

These pills actually make new blood and have cured such diseases as rheumatism, nervous and general debility, indigestion, nervous headache, neuralgia and even partial paralysis and locomotor ataxia. As a tonic for the blood and nerves they are unequalled.

If you are a sufferer from any disorder of the blood and nerves write for proof of what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have accomplished in cases similar to yours. Every testimonial used by this company is carefully investigated before being published and is authentic.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or direct by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

He Knew.

A teacher in an isolated school situated in the cattle country of Wyoming, where the children learn their letters from the brands on cattle before they learn the alphabet, was endeavoring to teach her pupils the different sounds of a as denoted by the marks above the letter.

"Now, children," she inquired hopefully, pointing on the blackboard to the letter and the mark signifying the long sound, "what is this?"

There was long and discouraging silence; then an embryo cowboy cried excitedly, as he waved his hand: "I know, teacher, that's Bar A."

ANOTHER WESTERN CANADA RECORD.

The Way in Which a Swan River Farmer Became Wealthy.

Swan River, Manitoba, Nov. 21, 1906.

Two weeks ago we gave an account of the prosperity of a farmer in Western Canada, and this week we reproduce another.

"I have been asked regarding this year's work on my farm, and I herewith willingly submit the following statement:

"Three years ago I purchased an improved farm of 186 acres on Section 9, Township 36, Range 27 west of the First Meridian—two miles from the town of Swan River.

I plowed and cropped 122½ acres of land during this year (1906), 80 acres in wheat, 30 acres in oats, and 12½ acres in barley.

"The cost of putting in and taking off this crop this season is as follows:

Cash paid for blue stone	$ 1.50
Cash paid for binder twine	39.00
Cash paid for hired help	125.00
Cash paid for threshing	175.00
Total	$ 340.00

"Receipts for the year as follows—

80 acres of wheat (yielded 30 bushels per acre)—Total	2,400 bu.
1 stack of oats in sheaf	200 "
Crop potatoes	300 "
Hay, tons	15

Sold.

1,168 bu. wheat at 62c	$ 724.16
1,232 bu. wheat in granary at 62c	763.84
300 bu. barley at 35c	105.00
300 bu. barley in granary at 35c	105.00
1,200 bu. oats in granary at 25c	300.00
100 bu. potatoes at 30c	30.00
200 bu. potatoes in root house at 30c	60.00
1 stack of oats in sheaf for feed	50.00
15 tons of hay at $3.00	45.00
Garden roots and vegetables	30.00
Cost of above, besides my own labor	340.50
Balance	$1,872.50

I have in all, 125 acres ready for crop next year, including 10 acres cleared and broken this season.

Total Assets.

186 acres land, with house, stable and outbuildings, etc.	$5,000.00
Implements	500.00
4 head of horses, and harness	800.00
15 head of cattle	375.00
20 pigs	200.00
Receipts of this season's crop	1,872.00
Liabilities are	1,000.00
Total assets	$7,747.50

I have made the above amount by farming in Manitoba. I think it has paid. This is my standing to-day. I am a single man, a Canadian, and 26 years of age.

AN INTERCEPTED DEATH SENTENCE

(A Story of Joseph Chamberlain.)

By JOSEPH KEATING.

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

When he put his latch-key into the door he felt as if he were letting himself into a dungeon. He struck a match and found on the hall table the brown envelope of a telegram.

"Cable from army headquarters, central Africa; this morning to O'Callaghans. Their poor son Tim court-martialed and sentenced to death for mutiny. Old people heart-broken. Save their boy. Biddy."

This was a message to try a man. For Denis' ample affection and admiration for the loving wife who signed herself "Biddy" gave everything she ever said or did extraordinary importance in his eyes; and he took it that she meant him to save the life of the unfortunate Private Tim O'Callaghan of the Seventeenth Wicklow rangers even if he had to fight all the laws of the British empire.

And one little thing could stop him from saving his "misfortunate towny"—Tim might already have been shot.

The thought of this gave Denis a twist:

"Begor! if he is—Biddy'll never speak to me agin."

That evening at ten o'clock saw the honorable member for Rathkeale before a vigilant constable on guard outside an ominously closed door.

The policeman cast a wary eye upon Denis as he came up. But all the same, he touched his helmet respectfully to "the honorable member."

"Is Misther Chamberlain inside?" said Denis, casually, as it were, throwing a side nod at the closed door.

"He—is—in his room, sir."

"Would ye tell him that Misther Denis Cavanagh, member for Rathkeale, would like a word with him?"

"I—dare, dare not, sir. Orders—must not disturb on any account. Important orders—affairs—"

"I'm going in, anyway," said Denis.

The policeman dared not lay hands upon a member of parliament—without the sergeant-at-arms beside him. But his body shrank in agony under his uniform as Denis—himself in a quiver—put his knuckles to the oak with the whisper of a knock.

A low but penetrating "Come in!" intensified the horror of the situation.

He saw a green-shaded electric light shining mildly upon a litter of papers, blue, white and yellow, and the tall, grave statesman sitting at the table. Mr. Chamberlain looked pale and tired.

"Well, Cavanagh?"

"Before I say a worrd, sir, I must ask you to put no blame on that polisman outside your doore." Denis made a straight point at the shrinking uniform at the open door. "He did all he could to keep me out. 'Taint he's to blame for disturbing you. 'Tis I'm to blame entirely."

Mr. Chamberlain smiled at the earnestness of this.

Denis went to the door, winked magnificently at the policeman, and closed the door.

"Now—what can I do for you, Cavanagh?"

Mr. Chamberlain said this in the tone of a man who can do nothing at all for the suppliant.

Denis stood at the opposite edge of the table, looking down over the green-shaded lamp anxiously at the severe expression of the great minister.

"I will spare you five minutes, Cavanagh, but no more. Frankly, my time is mortgaged to the hilt."

"So's poor Tim's, too, sir."

"But what can I do? The court-martial sentence must be carried out."

Mr. Chamberlain pulled out a paper from a bundle on his left. "Look at that; and perhaps you will see, then, the helplessness of O'Callaghan's case."

"I can't read it," said he, putting the paper down by the lamp.

Mr. Chamberlain gazed steadily at Denis. He saw how keenly the Irishman felt about this insignificant soldier. He took up the paper and said gravely:

"The information here is precise. O'Callahan's officer gave an order, which was openly disobeyed. When they got into camp the officer was bound to report the insubordination. But as O'Callaghan's fighting record was good, the punishment inflicted was slight—guard-room and pack-drill. Then, in his first hour of freedom O'Callaghan got drunk, and went looking for the officer with his gun. As a matter of fact he fired at the officer, but his condition interfered with his marksmanship—usually excellent. The court-martial found the crime punishable with death."

The quiet force with which these facts were stated completely destroyed Denis' idea of debating the question. But, it did not destroy his natural hopefulness.

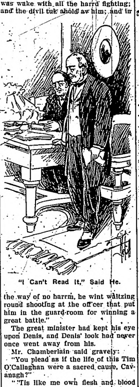
"Ah, sir," said he, "Ye're looking only at the facts."

"In heaven's name, Cavanagh! what else can I look at?"

"Sure, ye know very well there's the human side to ut. Ye niver knew Tim? Sure I knew Tim when he was as big as the little green lamp y' have there before ye. Sure there never was any harm in Tim O'Callaghan."

"That may be so. But you know, Cavanagh, you can't alter the facts and the actual circumstances."

"Do they want altering, sir? If ye look at the 'circumstances,' as ye call thim, sure, what will ye find? More to pity than blame. Isn't Tim only one av about twinty left of all the hundreds the Seventeenth Rangers were when the fighting started? Is it because they fought so well that ye want to shoot thim wan by wan, because the inimy didn't do it? And if wan makes a poor fool of himself in a mad minute—must all that he and his dead comrades fought for and fell for be forgot? Is there no charity due to their memory? And phwat made him disobey ordhers? Isn't it a notorious thing that the handful of the Seventeenth Wicklow Rangers that day turned a bating into a vict'ry? Didn't the little off'cer want to save what was left of his brave comp'ny and ordher thim off the field? And Tim wouldn't let thim go back? And sure, the off'cer himself must have had no notion of hurting Tim whin he put him in the guard room. Thin whin Tim got a mere shmell av the canteen—he was wake with all the harrd fighting; and the divil tuk ahold av him; and in the way of no harrm, he wint waltzing round shooting at the off'cer that put him in the guard-room for winning a great battle."



"I Can't Read It," Said He.

The great minister had kept his eye upon Denis, and Denis' look had never once went away from his.

Mr. Chamberlain said gravely:

"You plead as if the life of this Tim O'Callaghan were a sacred cause, Cavanagh?"

"'Tis like me own flesh and blood he is to me, sir."

"So you knew Tim?"

"Know him, is it? Sure didn't I know red Tim O'Callaghan before he was born? And don't I know his poor ould mother, and his father over in Rathkeale? And if he's shot, now, the news of it will surely kill his ould mother. And the poor ould man, his father, will be ruined in body and mind for iver—"

Mr. Chamberlain looked in silence at the green lamp-shade.

"I spared you five minutes, Cavanagh, and I find I have given you nearly an hour. All I can do is to use what little influence I have on the favorable side for your friend O'Callaghan."

"Ah, but the ould people," pleaded Denis. "They're breaking their hearts over in Rathkeale this night—waiting for me to send the blessed worrd. And all Rathkeale at this minute, sir, is gasping with wild excitement over Tim O'Callaghan."

"I will do my best. I can promise nothing more. But you are well aware, Cavanagh, that you have made a point."

"Sure 'tis y'r own good heart, sir."

To Denis' utter amazement, the great man stood up and took his hand in a most friendly grip. This act of good will nearly brought tears to the eyes of the big Irishman. And he returned the hand-shake with the most fervent cordiality.

"Begor, y've made a fighting frind of Denis Cavanagh, sir. And I'll be delighted to support anny measure y' iver bring in,—unless," he added in a hurry, "'tis inimical to the welfare of Ireland!"

Mr. Chamberlain laughed heartily. "Cavanagh, I hope," said he, "you will have a little of the feeling for me that you have for Tim O'Callaghan! I shall be glad of such eloquent advocacy."

And the honorable member for Rathkeale and the right honorable gentleman, the secretary for the colonies, sworn political enemies, departed sworn personal friends.

FIGURES ON "UNKNOWN ARMY."

Commissioner of Pensions Says Number Will Not Exceed 5,000.

Washington.—"The unknown army has been the subject of much controversy in discussing the forces engaged in the civil war," said Commissioner of Pensions Warner the other day in speaking of the pension roll, "but never until the McCumber service pension bill became a law was there a means for determining anything about its extent. The unknown army has come to be so called largely because its members did not apply for pensions. This they did not do on account of the various reasons of delicacy, pride or indifference, but most of these causes have been removed by the passage of the service law.

"So far there have been about 280,000 applications under the new law, but of these only a little over one per cent. are in the shape of the original applications, or, in other words, applications of the hitherto unknown possible pension claimants. Certainly the entire number will not exceed 5,000."

The records of the pension office show that 2,351 of the civil war pensioners died in February, but there are still 652,488 of them left on the pension rolls.

A SOCIAL LEADER OF KANSAS CITY

Attributes Her Excellent Health to Pe-ru-na.

MRS. W. H. SIMMONS.

Mrs. W. H. Simmons, 1110 E. 8th St., Kansas City, Mo., member of the National Annuity Association, writes:

"My health was excellent until about a year ago, when I had a complete collapse from overdoing socially, not getting the proper rest, and too many late suppers. My stomach was in a dreadful condition, and my nerves all unstrung.

"I was advised by a friend to try Peruna, and eventually I bought a bottle. I took it and then another, and kept using it for three months.

"At the end of that time my health was restored, my nerves no longer troubled me, and I felt myself once more and able to assume my social position. I certainly feel that Peruna is deserving of praise."

There are many reasons why society women break down, why their nervous systems fail, why they have systemic or pelvic catarrh. Indeed, they are especially liable to these ailments. No wonder they require the protection of Peruna. It is their shield and safeguard.

Easily Prepared at Home and Harmless to Use.

This is known as "Blood-Cleaning Time," especially among the older folks, who always take something during this month to clean the blood of impurities and build it up.

Get these simple ingredients from any good pharmacy and mix by shaking well in a bottle. The dose is one teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime.

Everybody should take something to help the blood, which becomes impoverished and almost sour after the winter season, especially those who are subject to Rheumatism, Catarrh, Kidney and Bladder trouble.

It is said that one week's use of this mixture will clear the skin of sores, pimples or boils.

This is sound, healthy advice, which will be appreciated by many readers.

"Just go up to my room, No. 37," called to boots, "on the top flight, and see if my umbrella is in the corner, and be quick, as I have to catch a train."

"Yes," he said, "it's all right; it is in the corner, just where you thought it was."

NEVER SHOWED UP

JIM MANGUM'S CAT DISAPPOINTED HIS OWNER.

Feline with Wonderful Record Failed to Make Good Just When It Was Most Desirable—Cost Him Much Money.

"Ever hear about the cat-losing we had out our way in '88?" asked the Cairo Liar. "Never heard of a cat-losing? Why, they've often had 'em out in my section since the first one was pulled off at Cairo. The way it happened was this: There was an old citizen in Cairo named Mangum, who bragged all during the summer of '88 that he had a cat that couldn't be lost. The cat was onnery and a night marauder of the despised male gender, and Jim had tried all sorts of ways to lose that cat, he said. He had tied four bricks to the cat's neck on several occasions and then chucked the feline into the Mississippi, which runs pretty swift at Cairo, but every time Jim went home after doing this he had found the cat sitting on the front porch, licking off the wet and sunning himself. Jim was determined to get rid of the cat, though, and he finally tied it up in a jute bag and handed it to a friend of his, a mail clerk on the railroad, and asked the mail clerk to just ditch the cat, bag and all, at any old point not nearer than 100 miles from Cairo. The mail clerk did this to oblige old Jim, heaving the cat out in the dark somewhere on the edge of a swamp about 125 miles from Cairo.

"Jim announced down at the post office three days later that the cat was back, looking a bit hungry and with less of its left ear than it had had before, but still in the ring and pretty nifty, considering. Jim by this time regarded the cat as a wonder, and he made a good deal of a nuisance of himself telling everybody in Cairo that, in his opinion, which he was willing to back with money, marbles or chalk, there wasn't a cat in the state of Illinois, or, for the matter of that, in the whole blamed country, that had such a dead bead on home as his cat had.

"Jim's Cat Didn't Come Back."

"Somebody finally suggested that the thing be tried. This was just what Jim wanted, and so a committee of arrangements went ahead to organize the cat-losing. It was finally determined that all of the cats entered should be driven out in the woods, in a farm wagon, and then, at a point about five miles from town, chucked out of the wagon, free-footed, and left to hustle for themselves. There were 30 entries, each man who entered his cat paying $5 for the privilege. The cat that reached its home first was to pull down the $150 for its owner.

"Well, on the day the cats were driven out into the woods, competent and honest judges were placed at each of the 30 homes of the 30 cats, with instructions to time the exact moment of the appearance of the respective felines they were looking for. The cats were turned loose from the farm wagon at exactly two o'clock on a Saturday afternoon, and by that time most of us who had bets down on the outcome were sitting on the courthouse steps, waiting for the first judge to turn up with the announcement that the cat he had been appointed to time upon its arrival was back.

"At exactly 2:35 a young fellow named Charley Glass came running up to the courthouse on a lope, with his cat under his arm. The cat had its numbered tag around its neck and we all fully identified it as one of the starters. So the $150 was Glass', and I had won $150 from Jim Mangum. Following that, for a space of half an hour the judges all turned up with their respective cats—all except the judge who had been placed at Mangum's home. Jim's cat didn't come back that night nor the next night, nor ever again. That happened nearly 20 years ago, and Jim's cat isn't back yet. Jim almost went broke paying up his debts, and after that whenever he'd see a cat two blocks down the street he'd shy rocks and cuss it as far as he could see it."

It is stated that 9,000 children die annually in New York city from the poison of impure milk.

Death Trap for Snakes.

A hunter found, in a patch of woods in Connecticut, 11 large black snakes tied up in hard knots and stone dead. Two telegraph wires ran through the woods overhead, and a few days before there had been a heavy blast set off in a quarry near by. This broke down the wires, and startled a colony of black snakes from their slumbers in a neighboring ledge.

One of the wires was crossed in a distant city by a trolley wire, and hence the broken wires, which lay near the snakes' den, made a death trap.

When the snakes came to the wires trailing on the ground, one after another crossed over them, touching both wires at the same time. They thus "short circuited" them, and received a shock which caused death. Immediately upon being shocked each snake curled up in a hard knot, thus opening the circuit and setting the trap again.

BABY WASTED TO SKELETON.

"My little son, when about a year and a half old began to have sores come out on his face. They began to come on his arms, then on other parts of his body, and then one came on his chest worse than the others. At the end of about a year and a half of suffering he grew so bad I had to tie his hands in cloths at night to keep him from scratching the sores and tearing the flesh. He got to be a mere skeleton and was hardly able to walk. I sent to the drug store and got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment, and at the end of about two months the sores were all well. He has never had any sores of any kind since, and only for the Cuticura Remedies my precious child would have died from these terrible sores. I used only one cake of Soap and about three boxes of Ointment. Mrs. Egbert Sheldon, R. F. D. No. 1, Woodville, Conn., April 22, 1905."

BACKACHE AND DESPONDENCY

MISS LENA NAGEL

Are both symptoms of organic derangement, and nature's warning to women of a trouble which will sooner or later declare itself.

How often do we hear women say, "It seems as though my back would break." Yet they continue to drag along and suffer with aches in the small of the back, pain low down in the side, dragging sensations, nervousness and no ambition.

They do not realize that the back is the main-spring of woman's organism and quickly indicates by aching a diseased condition of the feminine organs or kidneys, and that aches and pains will continue until the cause is removed.

made from native roots and herbs has been for many years the most successful remedy in such cases. No other medicine has such a record of cures of feminine ills.

Miss Lena Nagel, of 117 Morgan St., Buffalo, N. Y., writes:—"I was completely worn out and on the verge of nervous prostration. My back ached all the time. I had dreadful periods of pain, was subject to fits of crying and extreme nervousness, and was always weak and tired. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cures Female Complaints, such as Backache, Falling and Displacements, and all Organic Diseases. Dissolves and expels Tumors at an early stage. It strengthens and tones the Stomach. Cures Headache and Indigestion and invigorates the whole feminine system.

The Value and Importance of Ethical Remedies.

Remedies which physicians sanction for family use, as they act most beneficially and are gentle yet prompt in effect, and called ethical, because they are of

To gain the full confidence of the Well-Informed of the world and the approval of the most eminent physicians, it is essential that the component parts be known to and approved by them, and, therefore, the California Fig Syrup Company has published for many years past in its advertisements and upon every package a full statement thereof. The perfect purity and uniformity of product which they demand in a laxative remedy of an ethical character are assured by the California Fig Syrup Company's original method of manufacture, known to the Company only.

There are other ethical remedies approved by physicians, but the product of the California Fig Syrup Company possesses the advantage over all other family laxatives that it cleanses, sweetens and relieves the internal organs on which it acts, without disturbing the natural functions or any debilitating after effects and without having to increase the quantity from time to time.

This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of Syrup of Figs, and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent of family laxatives, and as its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well-Informed of the world to be the best of natural laxatives, we have adopted the more elaborate name of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtlessly it will always be called for by the shorter name of Syrup of Figs; and to get its beneficial effects, always note, when purchasing, the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package, whether you simply call for Syrup of Figs, or by the full name, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, as Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is the one laxative remedy manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company, and the same heretofore known by the name, Syrup of Figs, which has given satisfaction to millions. The genuine is for sale by all leading druggists throughout the United States in original packages of one size only, the regular price of which is fifty cents per bottle.

Every bottle is sold under the general guarantee of the Company, filed with the Secretary of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C., the remedy is not adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906.

ROBBER GETS OFF WITH $25,000 WAD

FORMER EMPLOYE DOES TRICK

St. Paul, April 18. — Fred Zimmerman, clerk in the Northern Express company's office at the union depot, was held up and robbed of $25,000 at 9:40 o'clock last night. Zimmerman says that the man who got the money from the safe at the point of a revolver was John Gunderson, who formerly was employed by the company and recently discharged. He had not been captured early this morning.

Mr. Zimmerman was at work in the depot office of the company last evening when the would-be robber appeared. As the latter was well known to Zimmerman and had worked in the office, nothing was thought of his presence there.

Is Real Entertaining.

He remained an hour or more, talking to Zimmerman and others employed about the place. He apparently had been drinking and seemed to be in a very entertaining mood.

He awaited his opportunity and when all others had left except Zimmerman and a porter, the young man gave the porter some money and asked him to go for a bottle of whisky. The visitor explained that he expected to go out on an evening train and wanted the liquor to take with him.

As soon as the porter had left the office the robber pulled a revolver on Zimmerman and ordered him to open the safe. As the young man seemed in earnest and had been drinking Zimmerman feared to temporize and obeyed the command. The robber took from the safe a package containing $25,000. He left the office, ran down the tracks and disappeared in the darkness before Zimmerman could give the alarm.

Was Discharged Employe.

The police were notified at once, and in a few minutes every member of the city detective force was at work on the case.

The young man who secured the money recently was employed by the company and was discharged for drunkenness. The officials of the company say that he was aware, from his recent connection with the office, that the $25,000 package was to be sent to the Cloquet Lumber company at Cloquet last night.

CART HITS STREET CAR.

Great Falls, Mont., April 18.—Hubert D. Chevigne is in the hospital suffering from severe injuries received in a runaway accident. Chevigne and another man were in a breaking cart to which was attached a team of bronchos. The horses became unmanageable and bolted into a street car, wrecking the cart and throwing its occupants out. Chevigne is a cousin of Henry H. Rogers, the Standard Oil millionaire.

PETRIFIED IN GRAVE.

Body Exhumed From Cemetery Found to Have Turned to Stone.

St. Cloud, Minn., April 18. — The body of Mrs. J. J. Salfinger, buried in the Melrose cemetery in 1900, was exhumed and buried in another lot. The men making the disinterment finding the box and casket decayed expected to find nothing but the skeleton to remove, when to their surprise they found a well preserved body. Upon touching it they discovered that it had turned to stone.

BADGER SOLONS IN DEADLOCK

JOINT BALLOTS IN LEGISLATURE AND BALLOTS IN CAUCUS ARE FUTILE.

Madison, Wis., April 18.—The joint ballot of the assembly and senate at noon yesterday and five more ballots in last night's caucus of Republicans were not marked by any notable change of position on the part of the candidates for Senator Spooner's seat. In the balloting last night Esch moved up to nineteen votes, with the elimination, possibly temporary, of three of the minor candidates. No significance, however, is attached to any of the changes.

EARTH SWALLOWS TEAM.

Horses Fall Into Sink Hole and Are Dead When Removed.

Winona, Minn., April 18.—Clark G. Corey, who lives in Wiscoy valley, a dozen miles from this city, lost a valuable team of work horses in a peculiar manner this week, the earth literally opening up and swallowing them. Mr. Corey's hired man was at work in the field with a three-horse team, when suddenly the animals broke through into a hidden sink hole, dropping into a deep cavity. The top horse was pulled out alive, but the other two were dead before they could be rescued.

TO HAVE NEW SCHOOL.

Sacred Heart Cathedral Parish to Erect $40,000 Building.

Superior, Wis., April 18.—At a meeting held last night definite steps were taken for the erection of a new school for the parish of the Sacred Heart cathedral. Vicar General Fardy presented the parish with four lots which he secured at a cost of about $7,000 and the plans for the new building will be ready in a short time. The building will be a two-story and basement structure of brick, with stone trimmings. The cost is estimated at about $40,000.

IOWA MAN HURT.

J. W. Peterson, Commercial Salesman, Injured in Wreck.

Winona, Minn., April 18.—The man hurt in the Great Western accident is J. W. Peterson of Clinton, Iowa, traveling for Lindeke, Warner & Sons, St. Paul. He is being treated at the Merchants hotel at St. Charles, but has been out of his head since the accident. His physical injuries appear to be confined to a shoulder bruise.

Edward Graves of Elba sustained a broken rib.

BOY HURT AT ROLLER RINK.

Blood Poisoning Follows Collision and Death May Result.

Jesup, Iowa, April 18.—While the seven-year-old son of Frank G. Walker was skating in the roller rink, another skater collided with him and knocked him down. The boy was struck in the head with a skate, but the wound was so trifling that not much attention was paid to it. Blood poisoning, however, has now set in, and it is feared that the lad will die.

REACHES 4,000 MARK.

University Enrollment for Year Highest on Record.

Minneapolis, April 18. — Enrollment at the university has passed the coveted 4,000 mark for the first time in the history of the institution. Registrar Pierce announced yesterday that the enrollment at present is 4,126. To this number a few more may be added when complete returns from some of the departments are secured.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT DEAD.

Farmer Killed by Boy Who Was Shooting at a Target.

Sioux Falls, S. D., April 18.—Andrew Sundt, a farmer, was accidentally shot and almost instantly killed by Willie Thompson, the ten-year-old grandson of John Thompson. The boy, with a companion, was shooting at a mark with a .22-caliber rifle, when unknowingly Sundt got within range, the bullet entering his back.

FIND NO TRACE OF $25,000 PACKAGE

MAN ACCUSED BY CLERK OF EXPRESS ROBBERY DENIES CHARGE.

IS ARRESTED IN HIS BED

POLICE MAKE EVERY EFFORT TO FIND MISSING PACKAGE WITHOUT SUCCESS.

St. Paul, April 18.—The police acted promptly in capturing John Gunderson, the young man accused by Fred Zimmerman of the hold-up Tuesday night in the union depot office of the Northern Express company. But Gunderson denies he had anything to do with the robbery, and now the police are looking for the $25,000 which was taken from the safe when the man with the pistol forced Fred Zimmerman to open the safe in the office.

Gunderson was arrested about 4 o'clock yesterday morning at his home, where detectives found him in bed asleep. Members of the family say he got home about 2 o'clock in the morning.

Sticks to Denial.

Gunderson was still under the influence of liquor when he was brough to the central police station and even yesterday morning he seemed to be in a sort of stupor. He did not have the package of money when he was arrested, nor have the police been able to get any trace of the stolen money.

Gunderson was questioned closely yesterday by the police and also by officers of the express company, and throughout he denied positively that he had anything to do with the hold-up. He says that he can't tell where the money is because he does not know; he never had it.

Hunt for Money.

Meanwhile the police have made every effort to find the missing package. They have banked entirely on Zimmerman's story that it was Gunderson who forced him to open the safe, and they have made a thorough search in every place they could think of where the money might have been planted.

If Gunderson did commit the robbery, as Zimmerman charges, he had plenty of time to "plant" the package in some place not near his customary haunts.

Seen With a Package.

The robbery took place about 9:40. At 10:30 an acquaintance saw Gunderson on Grove street. He noticed that Gunderson was carrying a package under his overcoat. He asked Gunderson what he had and Gunderson gave an evasive answer, saying he had a package. If Gunderson did not get home until 2 a. m. that left him more than three hours to hide the package of money in a place where it may take the police a much longer time to find it.

PLAN INTERSTATE SHOOT.

Crookston Gun Club Purposes to Hold a Big Event.

Crookston, Minn., April 18.—A meeting of the Crookston Gun club will be held in this city next Saturday evening. One of the matters to be taken up at this meeting will be plans for a big interstate shoot which will be one of the biggest events of the kind ever held in the Red river valley. It is proposed to hold this big shoot some time in July.

KILLED BY TIMBER.

Ex-conductor, Fired for Drinking, Meets Death as Laborer.

Clinton, Iowa, April 18.—After losing his position as Northwestern freight conductor because of having contracted the drink habit, Fred Thomas, who had been working about town as a laborer for several months, was accidentally killed by a falling timber in an old mill here.

TIES SELF UP; SHOOTS.

Bangor, Iowa, April 18.—Strapping himself to the porch to prevent his body from falling off, George McLane, a prominent and wealthy farmer near here, leaned over a shotgun and pulled the trigger, receiving the charge in the heart. Much mystery surrounds the cause for the suicide.

MAYOR ORDERS LID.

New Sauk Center Executive Issues Decree.

Sauk Center, Minn., April 18. — Mayor Ward has given the police department positive instructions to compel a strict compliance with the laws governing the liquor traffic and to have slot machines removed.

GRIND OF THE LAW MILL

What Is Being Accomplished by the State Solons.

St. Paul, April 13.—The house committee of the whole yesterday voted to report for passage the bill extending the primary election system to state officers. The bill, besides providing for the extension of the primary system to state officers, provides that the nominees for state offices, for United States senator, for congress and for the legislature shall meet and formulate the state platform and select the state central committee and its officers. The vote on the bill stood 66 to 19.

The bill to require all hangings to take place at the state prison was killed in committee of the whole.

The bill creating the state board of immigration was reported for passage by the committee of the whole. The bill provides for a board of five, composed of the governor, the auditor and the secretary of state and two others appointed by them. The board is to elect a commissioner of immigration.

The house yesterday passed the reciprocal demurrage bill for the third time. The corrections in the bill made by the conference committee were adopted, and the bill is now in shape to be signed by the governor.

The bill to prohibit a charge of more than 25 cents for a ten-word telegram between points in the state was advanced to the calendar.

A special committee of five to draft a new automobile bill was appointed yesterday. The bill is to take the place of the three automobile bills now on general orders.

The house had another night session and passed twenty-three bills. Most of the bills were either of a local nature or to correct defects in the code.

In the Senate.

The senate yesterday passed the commodity rate bill which passed the house a few days ago. The bill received 49 votes, the only negative votes being cast by Senators Calhoun, Smith and Dunn. The bill fixes the commodity rates about 10 per cent higher than the rates made by the railroad and warehouse commission several months ago. The bill was passed under suspension of the rules.

The McColl bill providing for the selections of candidates for United States senator by popular vote met its death in the senate yesterday, when a motion to reconsider the vote by which it was defeated Wednesday was lost by a vote of 28 to 30.

After cutting down the annual appropriation from $300,000 to $250,000, the senate passed the bill providing for the erection of new buildings and the acquisition of additional land for the university campus. The bill as reported back by the finance committee carried an appropriation of $300,000 for the following four years, making $1,200,000 in all. Only one vote was cast against the bill.

The woman suffrage bill was killed in the senate by a vote of 21 to 33.

The senate in committee of the whole acted upon a large batch of bills.

St. Paul, April 15.—The house Saturday passed the bill establishing a new industrial school for girls at some place to be selected by the state board of control. The vote was 74 to 25. Before the passage of this bill the house voted down the Putnam bill for the establishment of a new school for girls in Red Wing, four miles distant from the present school. The vote on this bill was 22 yeas and 59 nays. According to the bill passed the board of control is to select the superintendent and other officers, all of whom are to be women. The board is to have control of the financial management, but the governor is to appoint a board of five women who must visit the school at least twice a year to inspect conditions.

The house passed the good roads bill which provides for the appointment of a county superintendent of highways and the abolition of the present office of county surveyor. The office of road overseer in the townships is abolished and in its place a road inspector is elected for the whole township.

The special committee appointed to report a bill covering the features of the three automobile bills already before the house reported a bill Saturday covering all the important features of the three bills.

In the Senate.

The bill which authorizes the state investment board to loan money to counties for drainage purposes as low as 3 per cent was recommended for passage in the committee of the whole in the senate.

The highway commission bill had a close call in the senate committee of the whole. A motion to report the bill for indefinite postponement resulted in a tie. One member subsequently changed his vote and the bill was laid on the table, to come up at some future time.

The committee of the whole recommended for passage the bill to allow a wife to testify against her husband without his consent at his trial on a charge of failure to support her or her children.

The bill to raise the governor's salary to $7,000 was recommended for passage.

The senate passed the bill extending the option of adopting the Torrens system of land title registration to counties of at least 30,000 population.

The bill to prevent the sale of milk, cream or butter, the product of cows afflicted with tuberculosis, was killed in the senate. The objection to the bill raised by several senators was that it would entail an expense of millions of dollars to the farmers of the state.

The senate put in three hours of work in committee of the whole, and when the committee rose fifty-three bills had been reported for passage and five for indefinite postponement.

St. Paul, April 16.—The bill to provide for the appointment of a commission to have charge of the extension of the capitol grounds was passed in the senate yesterday, but ten senators voting against the bill. The governor is authorized to appoint the members of the commission who will have charge of the acquisition of additional grounds and the improvement and beautifying of the grounds when acquired.

The bill to provide for the creation of a board of immigration was passed by the senate yesterday.

The non-partisan judiciary bill passed the senate yesterday by a vote of 33 yeas and 21 nays.

The bill to provide for pensions for the citizen soldiers who participated in the Indian massacre of 1862 was passed, Senator Moonan casting the only negative vote.

The senate passed the bill to raise the salary of the public examiner from $1,500 to $4,500 and to increase the salaries of some of the employes of the department. Senator Moonan cast the only negative vote.

The bill to prohibit any public school directors from using basement rooms for school purposes was passed in the senate.

The bill to provide for a third fish hatchery, to be established at Deerwood, Crow Wing county, and appropriating $6,000 for this purpose, was passed by the senate. The bill authorizes the game and fish commission to acquire the site and construct the necessary buildings for the purposes of the hatchery.

In the House.

The house passed the bill to appropriate $200,000 from the state's general fund for roads and bridges throughout the counties. The money is to be spent under the supervision of the county boards. The highway commission is left without any say in the matter.

The house passed several other bills of minor importance.

The greater part of the time was put in in committee of the whole, and thirty bills were recommended for passage.

The bill to prohibit bogus pedigrees of horses was recommended for passage. The bill requires horses to be registered with a state board to be created for that purpose.

The bill providing that the permanent school and university funds shall be loaned to school districts for 3 per cent, the same rate as charged on loans for drainage purposes, was recommended for passage.

The senate bill permitting persons to sell milk from two cows without a license was amended in the house so as to permit the sale of milk from three cows without a license, and as amended the bill was recommended for passage.

The house committee on railroads reported for passage the bill to cut freight rates on the ore carrying roads an average of 10 per cent.

St. Paul, April 17.—The house yesterday passed the anti-pass bill after long discussion. The bill goes into effect Dec. 31, 1908. Under the terms of the bill passes are prohibited, but a long list of exceptions is tacked to it. The list includes agents, lawyers, surgeons, members of charitable organizations, railroad employes and numerous others. Saugstad, Opsahl and Wold cast the only votes against the bill.

The house passed the bill prohibiting discrimination among communities by the Standard Oil company. The bill provides that no dealer in petroleum shall sell oil cheaper in one community than in another, except to make allowance in quality and for difference in freight. Four negative votes were cast against the bill, E. W. Gates, Thayer, Orme and White.

The bill providing that the location of the county seat may be omitted from petitions for the division of counties was passed by the house.

The tax commission bills, which were a special order for the house yesterday, were laid over until Thursday afternoon.

The house passed the bill transforming the labor bureau into a bureau of labor, industries and commerce, and also the committee bill creating a woman inspector in the department.

The house passed the senate bill creating a state immigration bureau.

In the Senate.

The senate yesterday passed the bill providing for an increase in the salaries of the members of the legislature, with an amendment proposed by the senate committee, which provides that the increase shall not take effect until the expiration of the terms of the present members of the house. The bill makes the salaries of the members of the legislature $500 a year. It also provides that the speaker of the house and the president of the senate shall receive $5 a day during the session of the legislature, in addition to the regular salary. Twenty-two votes were cast against the bill.

The bill providing for the payment of pensions to the citizen soldiers and others who suffered by reason of the Indian massacre in 1862, passed Saturday, was laid on the table yesterday on motion of Senator Peterson. He said that he had been informed that the bill would cost the state about $140,000 a year, and he thought it ought to be investigated before being disposed of.

The bill to regulate the hours of labor of railway employes was advanced to the calendar.

The senate passed the house bill providing for the establishment of a hospital farm for inebriates and authorizing the state board of control to purchase land for this purpose.

The senate killed the bill to provide for the establishment of six agricultural high schools and branch experiment stations.

St. Paul, April 18.—The house yesterday killed the bill providing for the issuance of $250,000 of certificates of indebtedness for improvements at the state fair. There were 38 votes for the bill and 68 against it. The bill was introduced after the bill providing $1,000,000 for a semi-centennial had been killed by the senate. The same arguments that defeated the exposition bill were used to defeat the new bill. The argument was frequently used that the Twin Cities got all the benefit and should therefore stand the greater part of the expense. The bill came up as a special order and was the subject of a long debate.

The house passed the senate file of the bill drawn by the joint committee which visited Wisconsin to formulate a compromise law relating to the fishing in the waters between the two states. The same bill is being passed by the Wisconsin legislature, so there will be no conflict regarding the fishing in the waters of the St. Croix and Mississippi rivers.

The house refused to concur in the senate amendments to the sleeping car tax bill and conferees were appointed.

A bill was passed under suspension of the rules permitting the board of control to borrow 75 per cent of the revolving fund of the state prison instead of 50 per cent as at present. It was explained that the board intends to increase the twine output at the prison and needs more capital to do the work.

In the Senate.

The senate yesterday passed the bill increasing the governor's salary from $5,000 to $7,000 a year. The bill now goes to the governor for signature.

A bill providing for the acquisition and preservation of the buildings erected by H. H. Sibley and Alexander Faribault in the village of Mendota was introduced yesterday. The houses are to be preserved as historical landmarks. The bill carries an appropriation of $5,000.

The senate yesterday refused to confirm the appointment of John Keating of Wabasha to be inspector of boilers and steam vessels for the Third district.

The senate passed the Tighe bill providing for the resubmission of the wide-open tax amendment which was voted on at the last general election, and the result of which has been cast in doubt by the recount now in progress.

Senator Nelson's automobile bill was passed after amending it so as to make the maximum speed in cities fifteen miles an hour instead of eight.

The house bill limiting the continuous hours of labor of railroad employes to sixteen was passed by the senate without a dissenting vote.

The senate refused to reconsider the vote by which the Indian massacre pension bill was passed.

The Heron Lake agricultural school and subexperiment station bill was passed in the senate. The section containing the appropriation, however, had been cut out by the finance committee.

KILLS SELF DURING WALK.

Man Cuts His Throat While Strolling With Friend.

Missoula, Mont., April 18. — J. H. Edgemont committed suicide by cutting his throat, about a mile east of Arlee. He was walking along the railroad in company with Henry Matt of Arlee, when he drew a pocket knife from his pocket and before his companion could interfere cut his throat from ear to ear. No cause is known for his act.

MENINGITIS SEIZES FAMILY.

Saylorville (Iowa) Authorities Take Steps to Prevent Epidemic.

Saylorville, Iowa, April 18. — The family of William Davidson, a farmer living one mile north of here, are nearly all sick from spinal meningitis. Alarm is felt that the disease may become epidemic, and the health authorities of the county are taking measures to prevent its spread.

RECLUSE IS FOUND DEAD.

Man of Three Score and Ten Dies Alone in Hovel.

Menominee, Mich., April 18.—In a cold, cheerless hovel in Shantytown, just across the river, the dead body of John Larson, seventy years old, was found by neighbors. The body was in a rocker in his bedroom, where for twenty-four years he had led the life of a recluse.

FOUR FALL WITH BUILDING.

Workmen Are Uninjured, Despite the Disaster.

Waseca, Minn., April 18. — While four laborers were at work on the roof of a two-story building belonging to Simon Taarud the building suddenly collapsed. The men on the roof at the time of the collapse fell, but none were seriously injured.

Lars A. Williams of Emmons village committed suicide by shooting himself in the head. He had been in the saloon business in Emmons and was despondent because license was defeated there for two successive years.

Fred Rinker has been arrested and confessed to breaking into the Milwaukee station at Le Sueur Center and stealing a shotgun and a revolver belonging to Agent Newcomb. The stolen articles were recovered. Rinker was held to the grand jury in the sum of $500.

A woman who registered at a Virginia hotel as "B. Ellis" committed suicide by taking poison at Angora, on the Rainy Lake road. She left a note which said: "My husband died last week. Am threatened with insanity and prefer death. Bury me here as I am. Have no relatives."

Injured so severely that he may die, and bound with his own handkerchief, suspenders and shoestrings, Fred Kohler was found locked in a box car on the Milwaukee tracks at Minneapolis. He had been brutally beaten and robbed of $100 only a short time before. It is feared that Kohler's skull may be fractured and that he may die.

C. F. Ruggles, the millionaire lumberman of Michigan, has disposed of the timber on three townships north of Bemidji to E. R. Farley and Samuel Simpson. It is estimated that the land contains 25,000,000 feet of white and Norway pine which Farley and Simpson plan to cut within the next two or three years. The consideration was $225,000.

Christian Billette, a well known farmer of North Branch, had a narrow escape from being gored to death by an angry bull. Billette was in the barnyard feeding the animal, when it suddenly charged at him. Billette succeeded in picking up a sharp stick with which he succeeded in putting out both the bull's eyes, blinding it and rendering it harmless. Several of Billette's ribs were broken by the attack of the animal and he was badly bruised.

Oscar Ferguson has been arrested at Grand Rapids on a warrant charging him with arson. It is alleged that he attempted to set fire to the Northern hotel at Deer River, by starting a blaze near the oil room of the hotel building. The Northern is the hotel which nearly burned a year ago, and of which Jerome Kelliher is the proprietor. The alleged attempt to burn the hotel a year ago resulted in a sensational trial.

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

SAYS STEVENS EXAGGERATED

NEW CANAL CHIEF CASTS REFLECTIONS ON HIS PREDECESSOR.

HIS FIGURES WERE FALSE

GOETHALS DECLARES DIRT WILL HAVE TO BE MOVED SECOND TIME.

Washington, April 24.—Serious reflections have been cast by Maj. G. W. Goethals, the chief engineer of the Panama canal, upon the work done by his predecessor, John F. Stevens.

Maj. Goethals charges in an official communication to the war department that the reports made by Former Chief Engineer Stevens, regarding the large amount of dirt excavated from the Panama canal are not accurate and are not in accordance with facts.

Maj. Goethals declares that instead of the figures representing the work actually done they are based on the estimates of the capacity of the steam shovels and how much work they should perform each month. These figures did not cover the days when the shovels were idle or were being repaired.

Estimates Are Wrong.

These estimates, says Maj. Goethals, were made on loose earth after it was excavated and the measurements were not accurate. He has also forwarded to the war department a profile survey which, he says, demonstrates the fact that much of the dirt that has been excavated has been dumped in wrong places and will have to be removed again, the purpose having apparently been to push the excavators to their limit so as to make a record, regardless of effectiveness of work. Maj. Goethals concludes with a strong recommendation that the work of excavating the canal should be let out to contract.

Denies Such Mistakes.

When questioned regarding the charges made by Maj. Goethals, Mr. Stevens said he was certain that his successor did not make the statements attributed to him. There are many reasons why he does not believe the statements, the main one being that it is impossible to make the mistake charged. Stevens said that the estimates on the excavation were simply a matter of figuring the cross-sectioning, which process was infallible.

TAFT RETURNS TO CAPITAL.

Secretary Found Matters in Cuba in Satisfactory Condition.

Washington, April 24.—Secretary of War Taft and party arrived at the Washington navy yard on board the Mayflower last night, after an absence of exactly a month on a trip that included Panama, Cuba and Porto Rico. The secretary and Mrs. Taft were immediately driven to their residence.

Secretary Taft gave out a statement in which he says he found matters in Cuba, "in what under the circumstances must be considered a very satisfactory condition;" that there is every ground for hope that the plan adopted for a census, preliminary election and then a general election six months later will result in the selection of a president and congress who will be able to maintain themselves and give stable rule to the island; and that the delay in taking a census is taken by the Cubans as an earnest of American government's desire to secure a stable government before it leaves so there shall be no excuse for a second intervention.

YOUNG WOMAN IS BURNED.

Alma Supernant's Clothes Ignite From Trash Fire at Crookston.

Crookston, Minn., April 24. — Alma Supernant, aged twenty, was badly burned here while burning refuse which she had raked from the lawn of the family residence. Her apron caught from the blaze, and in attempting to put it out her hands were badly burned. The flame ran up her dress and burned her back severely. She was given medical attention immediately and it is hoped that she will recover.

TEACHERS CAST BALLOTS.

A. P. Ritchie Is Elected President of North Central Association.

Bemidji, Minn., April 23. — The North Central Minnesota Teachers' association has elected the following officers: President, A. P. Ritchie, Bemidji; vice president, Miss Morford, Akeley; corresponding secretary, Miss Conant, Fosston. The next annual meeting will be held not later than Thanksgiving day this year at Cass Lake.

THIRTY-NINE LIVES LOST.

Foundering of Ferry Fatal to Almost Two Score Russians.

St. Petersburg, April 24—It was definitely established yesterday that thirty-nine persons lost their lives through the foundering of the ferry steamer Archangelsk on the Neva Saturday night. Divers this morning recovered several bodies, but the majority were borne by the current into the Gulf of Finland. The owner of the line will be prosecuted on the charge of gross negligence.

BLACK HAND BAND IS BROKEN

TWENTY-TWO LEADERS ARE ARE PLACED ON TRIAL AT WILKES-BARRE, PA.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., April 24. — More than a score of foreigners charged with being members of the "Black Hand" and responsible for a large number of crimes in this vicinity were placed on trial yesterday here. Thirteen cases of shooting with attempt to kill, thirteen of conspiracy, six of dynamiting and two of robbery by threats and menaces are charged against the men who are alleged to be the leaders of the "Black Hand."

Hundreds of foreign families in this section have for several years lived in a state bordering on terror as a result of threats made by this mysterious organization, which in many cases have been followed up with murder.

The men on trial were arrested in February at the instance of District Attorney Salsburg. Twenty-two men were captured and, with the exception of ten who were released after habeas corpus proceedings, were held without bail for trial.

The men who exposed the personnel of the society are Charles Salvatore and Joseph Ritz of Browntown. The persecution of these men began in the early part of last year, when a letter was slipped under their door demanding $500 lest the entire Ritz family be annihilated.

The principal witnesses in the case have been placed under bail to appear, and families that were driven away by the society's persecutions were brought back as witnesses by the district attorney from Buffalo, Rochter and many other cities.

DUMA EXPECTS CZAR TO GIVE UP

St. Petersburg, April 24. — Discussion in the lower house of parliament of a motion disapproving of terrorism, which was expected to result in a stormy debate, has been postponed in the belief that a personal interview between M. Golovin, president of the house, and Emperor Nicholas, which will take place to-day, will throw some light on his majesty's mental attitude toward the duma.

The Constitutional Democrats are in a pessimistic mood and consider that the discussion of this motion on terrorism will be a most crucial ordeal for the house.

Would Like to Lose It.

The Constitutional Democrats since the inception of their party have steadily refused to commit themselves for or against terrorism and would gladly shelve the entire question if this were possible.

Up to the present time the Center party has been unable to draft a formula for a motion on terrorism on which the majority could be united.

Hold-up Costs Ten Lives.

At Lodz last evening thirty terrorists, armed with automatic pistols, held up a carriage in which a portion of funds derived from the government sale of spiritous liquors was being transported to the bank. The carriage was escorted by soldiers. The terrorists threw a bomb, which destroyed the vehicle, killed three of the accompanying soldiers outright and mortally wounded five more, as well as the coachman and a government employe who had the money in charge. They secured $2,000 and escaped.

COL. COLT IS NEW SENATOR.

Rhode Island Deadlock Is Broken After Thirteen Weeks.

Providence, R. I., April 24.—After thirteen weeks of deadlock, during which time fifty-six ballots have been cast for a United States senator to succeed George Peabody Wetmore, the Republican state central committee yesterday declared in favor of Col. Samuel P. Colt of Bristol and urged that all Republican members of the general assembly cast their votes for the man, who throughout the deadlock had polled the majority of the party votes. While the action of the state central committee is not binding upon the members of the general assembly, it is believed that the end of the deadlock will come to-day and that Col. Colt will be elected.

FATAL FIRE IN HURON.

Dan Carroll of Algona, Iowa, Victim of Flames.

Huron, S. D., April 24. — A frame building owned by A. J. Bick and occupied as a restaurant and lodging house by Nels Watt, was destroyed by fire. Dan Carroll of Algona, Iowa burned to death. Joseph Ryan was severely burned and others received small injuries. Loss is $4,000.

Former Judge Kills Self.

Lead, S. D., April 24. — Joseph B. Moore, aged forty-seven, former circuit judge for Lawrence county, committed suicide last night by shooting himself through the brain. Despondency over ill health is supposed to have been the cause. He leaves a family.

FATE AFFLICTS FAMILY.

Three Weeks After Wife's Sudden Death Hudson Man Is Killed.

Hudson, Wis., April 24.—Thomas J. Wickham, an employe at the Omaha shops, was instantly killed yesterday forenoon. He was assisting in placing new sills under a car when the blocking gave way, letting the sill drop upon his head. He was about sixty years of age. Wickham's wife was found dead in her bed just three weeks ago. She died of heart failure.

WILL CO-OPERATE WITH RAILROADS

LUMBERMEN'S PLAN IS BIGGEST EVER KNOWN IN TRANSPORTATION CIRCLES.

BUREAU TO HANDLE KICKS

WORKING SUBSTITUTE FOR RECIPROCAL DEMURRAGE IS ARRANGED.

Minneapolis, April 25.—W. G. Hollis, secretary of the Northwestern Lumbermen's association, has just completed what is styled one of the biggest movements ever organized in transportation circles for the co-operation of railroads and shippers. A special serrvice department for the benefit of the members will be conducted by the lumbermen's association and will be recognized by the roads, twenty-one of the leading lines having already agreed to the plan.

The project was set on foot last January and has now been practically completed. All complaints about shipping will be made direct to this special department of the association. If after careful investigation it is decided that the case does not merit notice it will be dropped and the member making the charges will withdraw them.

Right of Appeal.

But if it is found to have merit it will be taken to the railroad traffic officials. They have agreed to stand by the actions of the department as made in good faith. In case a subordinate official turns down the complaint right of appeal may be had to the head of the railroad department.

It is believed this will be a substitute for reciprocal demurrage and will greatly relieve conditions. The troubles of the lumbermen will now be laid before the railroads in a dignified and clear manner and will receive just consideration by them. There are 3,000 members of the association affected by the formation of this department in the States of Minnesota, Iowa, North and South Dakota and Nebraska.

HUNTS JURORS IN AUTOS.

Sheriff Scours County for Panel to Call in Murder Trial.

Racine, Wis., April 25.—The sheriff is scouring the county in an automobile in an endeavor to round up sufficient jurors to fill a special panel called for by the exhaustion of the regular venire in an effort to secure a jury to try Joseph Hood, who is charged with murdering Edward Pinnow. When the regular panel was exhausted, Judge Helms called the sheriff before him and instructed him to have a fresh panel ready when court opened in the morning. As most of those drawn on the special panel lived in the country it was necessary for the sheriff to have them summoned as speedily as possible.

CAUSE OF WRECK UNKNOWN.

Coroner's Jury Exonerates Officials of Great Northern.

Lakota, N. D., April 25.—The jury in the coroner's inquest on the bodies of two unknown men killed in the Great Northern wreck near here Monday, April 15, returned a verdict that the wreck was the result of an unknown cause. All the evidence and the verdict completely exonerates General Superintendent R. W. Bryan of Minot from responsibility and refutes the charges that he was to blame for the accident.

LUMBER INSPECTOR FALLS.

Twenty-foot Tumble at Menominee May Be Fatal.

Menominee, Mich., April 25.—While inspecting lumber for the barge Ida Corning, loading at the docks of the N. Ludington company, William Connors, one of the oldest lumber inspectors, fell off the tramway, receiving fatal injuries. Mr. Connors was walking backwards when he stepped off the tramway, falling twenty feet.

Snow Storm in Wisconsin.

Green Bay, Wis., April 25.—The second severe snow storm of the spring raged here yesterday. Six inches of snow were recorded with flakes still falling last night. Traffic is suffering great delay.

LAW MILL WINDS UP BUSINESS

WORK OF LEGISLATURE COMES TO CLOSE IN RIOT OF HILARITY.

St. Paul, April 24.—After an evening of riotous proceedings the house of representatives of the Minnesota legislature closed its work last night. The senate turned back the clock and worked on until long after midnight. To-day both bodies will meet to correct the journal and adjust affairs among members and will adjourn at noon. According to the constitution the time for passing bills ended at midnight.

The disorder in the house started in the afternoon, when the anti-pass bill was on its final passage. Members began throwing spitballs and paper wads at each other and started a general confusion. Not half the members were in their seats, but gathered in the aisles and corners talking so loud that it was next to impossible for the clear voice of Reading Clerk J. T. Jones to be heard. The speaker called them to order repeatedly. He pleaded with them to take their seats and do business. "You are acting worse than schoolboys," he shouted.

The disorder was kept up during the entire evening.

In the Senate.

The senate passed the omnibus appropriation bill after amending it as it came from the house by adding various items amounting to about $94,000. The bill as reported to the house by the committee carried appropriations of $11,500,000. The house added net additions of about $36,900. The senate made few changes in the house amendments, the notable one being putting back the appropriation for a power plant at the state fair grounds, which the house cut out. An effort to cut down the appropriation for a capitol approach failed.

The house last evening agreed to the senate amendments without much discussion. The state tax levy was increased from 1.5 mills to 1.7 mills.

The report of the conference committee on the tax commission bill was adopted by the senate yesterday and the bill as amended was passed.

The bill providing for a special tax to raise $700,000 for the state university in the next four years for the purpose of acquiring additional buildings was passed by the senate in the form in which it came from the house. Senator Schaller withdrew his amendment appropriating $75,000 for a ladies' dormitory and announced that a wealthy Minneapolis citizen whose name he was not at liberty to use, would build the dormitory.

The senate passed the house bill covering back into the treasury $35,000 of the $50,000 recently appropriated as a contingent fund for the attorney general to enable him to employ special counsel to assist in fighting the freight rate cases pending in court. The announcement of the railroads that they would accept the freight and passenger rates fixed by the legislature made the fund no longer necessary.

In the House.

The house spent some time yesterday repassing house bills which had been amended by the senate. The drainage bills were passed. There were four of them, a bill for a judicial system, a bill for a state system, a bill amending the county system and a bill providing for an increase of the price of state land to cover the cost of drainage. They will all become law.

The municipal ownership bill was passed. It is intended to facilitate the acquisition of public utilities and permits the issuance of certificates of indebtedness which are a lien on the property only instead of a mortgage on the whole city.

On recommendation of the conference committee the house accepted the senate amendments to Speaker Johnson's sleeping car tax bill. The bill now provides for a gross earnings tax of 4 per cent, with the option of an ad valorem tax.

The hotel inspection bill passed the house.

The stock train bill received its finish in the house yesterday when a motion for indefinite postponement went through by an overwhelming vote.

The bill requiring deaf and dumb children to attend the school at Faribault, which was defeated in the house Saturday, was reconsidered yesterday and passed.

The game and fish bill was amended to require license of hunters only when outside of their own counties and then passed.

An anti-pass bill, effective Jan. 1, 1908, was reported by the conference committee and passed in the house. The bill embodies the essential features of the bill passed by the senate last week, except that the house provision for free transportation for members and employes of the state railroad commission is left in the bill.

The bill proposing a constitutional amendment by which the state may go into the hail insurance business passed the house last night.

Plague Is Raging.

Madrid, April 25.—According to an evening newspaper the ministry of marine has received a telegram from the captain general at Cartagena saying the plague is raging at that port and that 300 persons have been sent to hospitals.

Jack London Sets Sail.

San Francisco, April 25.—Jack London's sailboat, the Snark, started yesterday for Honolulu, the first port to be touched, on a six-year cruise around the world.

IS WORSE THAN THE INQUISITION

RUSSIAN POLITICAL PRISONERS SUBJECTED TO TERRIBLE TORTURES.

TOO ABOMINABLE TO PRINT

MINISTER OF INTERIOR FINALLY ORDERS INVESTIGATION OF CONDITIONS.

St. Petersburg, April 25.—The commission appointed by the duma to investigate alleged torturing of prisoners at Riga submitted a report which was read in the duma. It confirms the worst stories, most of its statements being admitted by deputy ministers of the interior and justice.

The report states that a special committee was appointed at Riga to direct tortures. The governor, with the knowledge of the administration authorities, put prisoners, many of whom are merely suspects, to death without trial.

Like Inquisition.

Descriptions of the tortures reveal an amazing fiendishness practiced on the victims by officials acting with authority. Some are too abominable to print. Among the milder cruelties were the tearing out of finger nails, toe nails and hair. Other prisoners were thrashed with India rubber sticks until their flesh hung in ribbons. Then salt was rubbed into the wounds. One man was tied to a bench and a plank laid across his body. On this plank policemen see-sawed until the victim's back was broken.

Inquiry Begun.

Deputies from the Baltic provinces and other places made speeches adding confirmatory testimony. They declared the prisons were overflowing with suspects, who have been awaiting trial for months. They are supplied only enough bread and water to keep them alive until their tortures begin. A deputy minister of the interior said the minister had ordered an inquiry and prosecution of those guilty of torturing prisoners.

ACCUSED OF KILLING MARVIN.

Dover, Del., April 25. — Frank H. Butler, employed as a deckhand on the steamer John P. Wilson, was taken into custody yesterday, charged with the murder of Horace N. Marvin, the four-year-old son of Dr. Marvin, whose disappearance on March 4 aroused the entire country.

The arrest of Butler was made principally upon a statement given the detectives by a man named Caldwell, who was working with Butler the day the child disappeared.

TWENTY YEARS' HARD LABOR.

Washington, April 25.—Twenty-five years of imprisonment, twenty of which shall be at hard labor, is the sentence of the court-martial which tried Maurice Burke, a seaman attached to the cruiser Tennessee, for murdering James A. Douglass, chief master at arms, and attempting to kill William McCool, master at arms, both of that vessel.

SHOW HALL IS FLOODED.

Pittsburg, April 25.—Five minutes after the Sportsmen's show opened last night in the Duquesne gardens, a huge tank containing 100,000 gallons of water broke, flooded a section of the garden and destroyed many of the decorations. Several hundred spectators rushed for the exits, panic stricken, but none was injured.

NEGRO LIVED 150 YEARS.

Santiago, Cuba, April 25.—Antonio Infnate, a negro, died yesterday at the age of 150 years. Despite his great age, the greatest recorded in modern times, he retained his faculties unimpaired to the end.

He was born in 1757, nineteen years before the beginning of the American revolution.

TWO KILLED IN WRECK.

Chicago & Alton Freight Crashed Into Light Engine.

Bloomington, Ill., April 25.—In a collision between a freight train and a light engine on the Chicago & Alton road at Dwight, Engineer Bruce Goodman and Fireman C. F. Taylor were killed and Fireman Brown was fatally injured.

Three Killed by Smokestack.

Millville, N. J., April 25. — Three young women employed at T. C. Wheaton & Co.'s glass factory were killed by the collapse of a smokestack which crashed through a room in which they were working.

Negro Sentenced to Hang.

McDonough, Ga., April 25. — Buck Nigh, a twenty-year-old negro, who on March 25 assaulted four-year-old Mary Donnell near here, was yesterday convicted and sentenced to be hanged May 29.

THE LEGISLATURE ADJOURNS

GOOD FEELING PREVAILS ON ALL SIDES DURING THE CLOSING HOURS.

St. Paul, April 25.—Expressions of friendship and gratitude marked the closing session of the legislative bodies yesterday, and before the members parted the scene of mixed mirth and hostility of Tuesday night was changed to a scene of dramatic interest as the members forgot their animosities, told how much they loved each other, thanked each other for what they had done and told how hard they had worked for the state and what they had accomplished.

Watch for Johnson.

Before adjourning the members of the house took occasion to present Speaker L. H. Johnson with a gold watch, and the house employes presented him with a handsome charm to go with it.

The session of the senate came to an end yesterday shortly before 1 o'clock. After the long session Tuesday, lasting until nearly 3 o'clock Wednesday morning, the adjournment was until 11:30, and with the usual exchange of assurances of good will and congratulations at the harmony which prevailed during the session, with the transaction of the few matters left for the last day, the session ended in good order.

Lieut. Gov. A. O. Eberhart was presented by the senators with a silver dinner service and Secretary S. A. Langum was given a handsome engraved sugar bowl and creamer.

WIND BREAKS UP ICE.

Chequamegon Bay Is Getting Clear Along Shores.

Washburn, Wis., April 25. — The warm weather and strong winds of the last few days have succeeded in breaking up much ice in Chequamegon bay, and there is now considerable open water about the shores and at the head of the bay. While the ice is still intact and apparently quite thick, it is thought that boats would have no difficulty of getting through by the time they reach here from the Soo. All steamers that have been lying at the ports on the bay during the winter are in readiness to begin navigation as soon as the ice goes out, which will probably be the latter part of the week.

CALGARY IN BAD SHAPE.

Coal Situation in Northwest Is Most Serious.

Vancouver, B. C., April 25.—Regarding the possible results of a continuation of the Fernie strike, a Calgary dispatch says:

Calgary wholesalers and manufacturers report the coal situation as most serious. An official of one prominent firm stated that if the railway coal supply gave out and a tie-up resulted there would be a famine from Edmonton to MacLead and Lethbridge. A two weeks' tie up on the railroads would put many firms out of business. Most of the manufacturing plants have not more than a week's supply of coal on hand.

TOT OBEYS; IS KILLED.

Tries to Put Out Fire in Pail and Is Fatally Burned.

Royalton, Minn., April 25. — The 8-year-old daughter of Victor Sawdy is dead as the result of burns. The child and a companion had started a fire in an old tin pail. The girl's mother bade her extinguish the fire, but in doing so the child's clothing took fire.

The little one was so badly burned that she survived only a few hours.

GHOST GROWS IN SECRET.

Marinette, Wis., April 25.—All of the 200 employes of the N. Ludington company (the I. Stephenson company) were surprised last evening when getting their pay envelopes to find their wages had been raised 10 per cent. The increase was made without any request by the men or any public announcement and was a complete surprise.

Horseless Farming.

Arlington, S. D., April 25.—The horseless farm is the latest thing. Sully county claims to have the only one in this state. The Groseclose brothers, who have several thousand acres, do all their plowing, harrowing, seeding, harvesting, thrashing, and hauling of grain to market by the use of motors. Even the errands about the farm and to town are run with automobiles.

No Change in Deadlock.

Madison, Wis., April 25.—At the Republican senatorial caucus last night twelve more ballots were taken. The result of the last ballot was as follows:

Cooper 17, Esch 19, Hatten 15, Lenroot 16, Stephenson 19, Winkler 3, Baensch 4, Sanborn 1, Hudnall 1, Owen 1.

Missing Iowa Boy Found.

Tulsa, I. T., April 25.—Harry Loupe, sixteen years old, who has been missing from Monmouth, Iowa, for three years, was found here yesterday. He was thought to have been kidnapped, but says he ran away.

Soo Pulp Mill Burned.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 25.—The pulp mill of the Lake Superior corporation, located in the Canadian Soo, across the river from this city, was burned yesterday. The loss will be about $100,000.

PRESIDENT HITS BACK AT CRITICS

STICKS TO HIS OPINIONS

INDIFFERENT TO CONDEMNATION OF EITHER CAPITAL OR LABOR.

Washington, April 25.—In a letter addressed to Honore Jaxon, chairman of the "Cook County Moyer-Haywood conference," made public yesterday, President Roosevelt replied to the criticisms of his recent letter, in which he referred to Moyer and Haywood, officials of the Western Federation of Miners, charged with implication in the murder of Former Governor Steunenberg of Idaho, as "undesirable citizens." The president says he regrets any body of men should so far forget their duty to their country as to, by formation of societies and in other ways, endeavor to influence justice and coerce court or jury; that they, not he, are trying to influence justice, and he condemns what he calls their flagrant impropriety in the matter.

No Opinion on Guilt.

He says that he indicated no opinion as to their guilt of the Steunenberg murder, but that it was a simple absurdity to suppose that because a man is on trial he is free from criticism as to his manner of life. He said he might as well be accused of trying to influence the suits against Harriman, some of whose friends had also criticized him. He said that Moyer and Haywood stand as representatives of those who habitually appear as guilty of incitement to or apology for bloodshed and violence. He added that he was profoundly indifferent to the condemnation of him for his criticisms of the undesirable types of citizens, regardless of the power of either labor or capital.

BARGE LOST WITH 14 ABOARD.

Manistee, Mich., April 25. — The wooden lumber barge Arcadia, which left this port April 12 for Two Rivers with a cargo of hard wood has been lost in Lake Michigan with her captain and owner, Harry May, and about thirteen others. Marine men here would not be surprised to hear that her wreck was caused by a boiler explosion. Some hold the theory that she went down as the result of the big storm of April 14.

While it has been impossible to learn absolutely how many persons were on the wrecked barge, it is generally believed that the number was between ten and fifteen, with a majority of the reports agreeing on fourteen.

Fierce Storm Raged.

The Arcadia left Manistee April 12. April 13 and 14 Lake Michigan was swept by such a severe storm that navigation was almost completely tied up. It was during this storm that the Arcadia probably was lost. Wreckage was sighted four miles off Ludington, in the direct course to Milwaukee immediately after the gale, but until the bulwarks bearing the steamer's name washed ashore yesterday it was impossible to identify the wrecked craft.

M. & S. L. TARIFF KNOCKED OUT.

General Passenger Agent Sends Instructions From Washington.

St. Paul, April 25.—The Minneapolis & St. Louis block 100 tickets offered for $600, which have been a disturbing factor among the St. Paul-Chicago lines for several weeks, are now definitely off the market. A. B. Cutts, general passenger agent of the road, sent a telegram from Washington yesterday giving instructions that the tariff be withdrawn. No explanation is given as to the withdrawal, but it is stated that the interstate commerce commission has declared the issuance of the tickets illegal on the supposed grounds of discrimination.

KING NABBED IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, April 25.—Charles C. King, president of the First National bank of Scotland, S. D., was arrested here by United States marshals. King was recently indicted by the federal grand jury in South Dakota on charges of having misapplied the funds of the bank and of having issued certificates of deposit in his own favor amounting to $95,000.

Four Swept to Death.

Raleigh, N. C., April 25—Swept over the falls, four men were drowned in Cape Fear river yesterday at Buckhorn Falls. The men were coming from the river in a naphtha launch which was caught in the current and carried over the falls.

Ptomaine Poisoning Is Fatal.

Charlotte, N. C., April 25.—As the result of ptomaine poisoning two members of the family of S. Jordan are dead and all the others of the family are suffering from the same cause.

Honest now, as a friend do you think you should ask your neighbor: "Does this weather suit you?"

Harriman says "he wants to get close to the people." Probably he does, but so does a pickpocket.

The railroads in Minnesota will not contest and you can ride a mile for two cents after next Tuesday.

The legislature, which, thank goodness, adjourned last Tuesday, appropriated over eleven millions of dollars, and the state tax levy will have to be materially raised to pay the bills.

In many parts of the state the rural school districts adjacent to villages are consolidated with the town schools and better schools established. Would it not be a good plan to try here?

The legislature compromised the matter and will hold onto their passes until the end of the present year. If the railroads want to do a popular act they will call in every pass they have issued at once.

We are in receipt of the "Industrial edition" of the Duluth Evening Herald, published last Thursday evening, and it is a hummer. The prospects of the new steel plant, dry docks and other good things are making things lively at Duluth, as the Herald's edition will testify.

Secretary of War Taft will probably be the man selected by President Roosevelt and his friends as their candidate for the republican nominee for president. It looks now as if Taft would be selected to carry out the plans and ideas of the president, and we hope he will as he has every appearance of being a man of enterprise and integrity with plenty os hustling ability and thoroughly in accord with the president on anti-trust matters. For these reasons THE SPECTATOR is in favor of Taft—and besides, we fat men must stand together.

Started Sawing

News: The ice went out of the Red Lake river Monday and the Thief River Falls Lumber company's big saw mill is now converting logs into lumber. The mill has been fixed up in fine shape and a good season's run is expected, although the output this year, owing to the late start, will fall below that of former years. Last year the mill started up for the season two weeks before the start this season.

TEST ASSOCIATION

Joel G. Winkjer's Interesting Article in the "Dairy Record."

The first month's work of the St. Hilaire Test Association at this writing is nearly complete and to those who work with all the reports and see the many differences in the individual cow and in the different herd records, it is very interesting, and I wish it could be the lot of every farmer to do some of that work, and I am sure it would impress them so much that the Test Association would be a necessity for their community.

It seems peculiar to one who has seen the good of the herd record and the test association, that the farmers are so slow to take hold of the work. It is the case, however, that it takes the work of some wide-awake person in a community to show up the good of this work and stir up the interest so that his neighbors will co-operate and share in the benefits. The buttermakers as a class are generally more progressive than the dairymen on the farm and keep their eye on up-to date methods and from them can be expected more efforts in stirring up interest in this matter than from the farmers themselves.

Mr. Geo. L. Austin of St. Hilaire is one of the first buttermakers in the state to wake up to the importance of the test association and has had one started at St. Hilaire. This association bids fair to become a successful one and in that event Mr. Austin will rightly receive the honor for starting the first successful test association in the state.

The test associstion will increase the output of the creamery, from the same territory as before it was started, and it is the part of any buttermaker's work to increase the output of the creamery. It is not so easy a matter to get one started, but it will show the mettle of the buttermaker if he gets one going.

The successful operation of a test association, it is believed, necessitates a man to do the testing and go from farm to farm and take the records. This looks expensive to the farmer in a new community although it is a paying investment, and in the St. Hilaire test association it is planned to have the farmers send in the records by mail. The members of the association are patrons of the St. Hilaire creamery and a few members are also from Thief River Falls, Plummer and Red Lake Falls creameries. The patrons of the other creameries have the milk tested by the buttermakers of their own creamery and send the records to the teat association in ready printed envelopes prepared for that purpose. When the importance of this association becomes impressed on the rarmers, then each of these creameries will be ready to take hold and eave their own test association. Much will depend on the success of this test association and it is hoped that each of these places in Red Lake county will be successful in getting their own organization.

THE CHURN.

The churn is the piece of machinery that the buttermaker takes most pride in keeping good looking as it is the most striking in appearance when you come into a creamery. Most of the churns I have seen look old and this is mostly caused by scrubbing the outside with strong, hot soapsuds that take the paint right off. From what I have seen now, I would avoid washing as much as possible and keep it clean by wiping with waste partly soaked in separator oil. This will keep the new gloss on the paint and the thin coating of oil that the hoops and other iron parts get, will keep them from rusting. Oiled waste will take off rusty grease spots on the gear end of the churn better than any washing can do. One should be particular in not letting the scalding hot wash water used in the inside get on the outside of a new churn for that will discolor the paint right away.

The inside of the churn can be kept clean by washing with scalding hot water twice each time it is washed. Where the churn gets that yellow coating inside it is generally found that too cold water is used to wash it with. The first water that is used need not be any hotter than to melt the fat freely, but the second and third washing, if used, should be as hot as steam will make it, and even carrying it from wash sink to churn cools it off too much. It is best to have a pipe that can be connected with steam right over the churn and extend it into the water with a noiseless heater on the end. This noiseless heater can be cheaply constructed with tees and pipes and should be big enough to heat the water quickly. After the churn has been washed this way, it should be turned with the cover up so as to allow the steam to escape. With the hot water for the inside and wiping for the outside, the churn can be kept in a condition pleasing to the eye and nose.

THE REFRIGERATOR.

The common fault with the refrigerators built in the creameries is that they are too high and the ice is not placed in such a position that good refrigeration can be had. The size of the room should be no larger than just so it will hold the largest possible one week's make at that creamery, and no higher than any one can stand straight up inside, for no one wants to pile tubs any higher than that.

Often a mistake is made in placing the ice too low. The principle to be remembered in building the ice room is that the cold air drops down from the ice as long as it is colder than the surrounding air. The higher you get your ice the more complete and effective will be the circulation to cool the room.

The value of complete and constant refrigeration for butter is too often underrated by buttermakers and creamery managers. Butter loses several points in quality on being softened by a high temperature. It is an easy matter to have a little hole 12x14 inches in the wall of a refrigerator in which three window lights may be put to give two air spaces. This will give light in the refrigerator and you can close the door while you go in there and prevent any unnecessary loss of cold air.

Tax Judgment Sale

Pursuant to a real estate tax judgment of the district court, of the county of Red Lake, state of Minnesota, entered the 25th day of March, 1907, in proceedings for enforcing payment of taxes and penalties upon real estate in the county of Red Lake remaining delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1907, and of the statutes in such case made and provided, I shall on

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS

Of The Board of Conuty Commissioners of Red Lake County.

Red Lake Falls, Minn.,
March 19th, 1907.

Pursuant to call, the board of county commissioners of Red Lake county, Minnesota, met at the office of the county auditor, at the court house, at ten o'clock a. m.

Present, Commissioners Lindquist, Aubol, Shaw, Pigeon and Demann.

Minutes of the meeting of February 26th and 27th, 1907, read and approved.

On motion duly carried the application for correction and abatement of taxes of Conrad Lajambe was granted, subject to the approval of the state auditor.

On motion duly carried the application for correction and abatement of taxes of Octave Morisette was granted, subject to the approval of the state auditor.

On motion duly carried an auctioneer's license was granted to Daniel Patterson.

On motion duly carried the petition of W. H. Quist et al for organizing township 154, range 39, was granted and the following order was made:

State of Minnesota, } ss.
County of Red Lake }

Upon receiving a petition of a majority of the male resident freeholders who are legal voters of Congressional Township number 154, north, of range number 39 west, in said county, asking that the same be organized as a new town under the township organization law, to be named "Reimer," we, the county commissioners of said county, did, on the 19th day of March, A. D., 1907, proceed to fix and determine the boundaries of such new town, and to name the same "Reiner" in accordance with said petition, and designate Reiner postoffice as the place for holding the first town meeting in such town, to be held on Saturday, the sixth day of April, A. D, 1907.

The boundaries of said town of Reiner as fixed and established by us are as follows: Beginning at the north corner of southeast quarter of section 12 in township number 154, north of range number 39, west in said county, thence west on the quarter line to the northwest corner of the southwest quarter of section 7, said township and range, thence south on the township line to the southwest corner of the southwest quarter of section 31, said township and range thence east on the township line to the southeast corner of the southeast quarter of section 36, said township and range, thence north along the township line to place of beginning.

By order of the board of county commissioners.

—C. A. Lindquist,
(Seal) Chairman, Board of County Commissioners, Red Lake county, Minn.

Attest: John B. O'Brien,
County Auditor and Ex-Officio Clerk of Board.

Motion made by Commissioner Shaw and seconded by Commissioner Aubol that the employment of additional attorneys by the board was ill advised and unnecessary, and that we recind the resolution passed at the last meeting, appointing F. A. Grady and Chas. E. Boughton as attorneys for this board.

Commissioners voting aye are Shaw and Aubol.

Commissioners voting nay are Demann, Pigeon and Lindquist.

On motion duly carried the following resolution was adopted and made a part of the record:

We, Chas. E. Boughton and F A Grady, having been employed by the board of county commissioners of Red Lake county, Minnesota, to cause the judgment entered against said Board in Mandamus Proceedings in District Court April 12th, 1906, to be re-opened, vacated, and set aside and to interpose and answer therein and litigate said action, do hereby agree that there will be no charges for attorneys' fees against said board of Red Lake county for such services, and no expenses or costs of said action to be paid by said county.

Chas. E. Bougnton,

SNOWSLIDES OF ROCKIES.

Peril of Mountains Takes Its Toll of Life and Property.

Every year the life of a miner in the high mountain regions is menaced by the avalanche or snowslide, and every year brings its list of casualities and of hairbreadth escapes. The story of snowslides would fill a book and would be a thrilling, tragic and in some cases a grewsome one.

Men have ridden hundreds of feet on the back of a snowslide and have escaped unhurt. Others have been caught and buried so deep and in such uncertain spots that their bodies have not been discovered until the melting of the snow in the following spring.

Some have been caught as they were walking, but a few steps from the boarding house to the mine, or while emptying a car on the mine dump. Not infrequently men have found themselves temporarily imprisoned by the entrance of the mine being closed by a slide while they were at work and have had to dig their way out.

A Chinese cook at one of the Idaho mines stepped outside his kitchen door for a moment and was caught and hurled with the slide 1,000 feet down the hillside and his body was not recovered till the following spring.

Such incidents denote the extreme suddenness, power and velocity of the slide. Little or no warning is given, a roar, a cloud of snow obscuring the sight of the real slide, and in a moment thousands of tons of snow, mingled with trees and debris, are shot down the gulch or the slope of a mountain as from the mouth of a cannon. In a few seconds all is over and the scenery of the little valley is completely changed.—Mines and Minerals.

A few farmers have been doing their spring work this week. Some dragging and a little bit of seed has been put in. The fields are in fairly good condition and work will progress rapidly just as soon as it does not freeze so hard at night.

James Gilbertson, the veteran assessor of River Falls, came back from the county seat on Thursday with the assessor's books. Mr. Gilbertson has been the assessor of River Falls for a good long time but seems to do the work in a way that he is promptly reelected every spring. He is a firm believer in the future prosperity of Red Lake county and an enthusiastic patron of the creamery.

There has been but one new case of scarlet fever in the village the past week at the home of John Carlson on Water street. This makes five residences in the village under quarantine. All of the cases so far have been exceedingly light and it is hoped the spread of the disease has been checked. The schools were closed last Monday and the school house has been thoroughly disinfected. School will not open on Monday but they may start some time during the week providing no new cases develop. The quarantine is being strictly enforced and the school children are obeying the order not to play on the streets. The situation looks much better than it did a week ago.

New Office.

Dr. J. C. Cummings has his new office completed and invites his friends to call and inspect his new quarters. The building has been thoroughly repaired and painted, new hardwood floors laid and everything fixed up in a first class manner. The Doctor now has a very neat up-to-date office and it is a credit to the community.

The Weather.

The weather man is evidently out to make a record for coldness in April and it looks now as if he had won by several degrees. The cold weather is not confined to this locality alone but extends far south and east. There will probably be less spring work done by farmers this April than in any April in any year in the last twenty.

Jones-Remington Nuptials.

Last Wednesday, April 24th, 1907, at at 2 p.m., occurred the marriage of Mr. Howard Jones of Crookston, to Miss Alma Remington of this city, at the bride's home in the presence of a number of friends and relatives.

While Miss Alice Hall played the Lohngren wedding march, the ring ceremony was performed beneath a beautiful bell, by Rev. C. W. Gilman.

The bride was attired in a gown of white silk, with her white slippers and bridal veil adorned with orange blossoms. She carried a boquet of white roses. The groom wore conventional black.

Mr. Farley of Crookston was "best man" and Miss Nora Johnson, bridesmaid. The latter carried a boquet of pink roses.

C. A. Jeglum and Arne Thompson Trade Land for Stock.

E. M. Hoff concluded a deal this week whereby he becomes the owner of a large farm in Walsh county, N. D., near Adams, and C. A. Jeglum and Arne Thompson, of Adams, become the owners of Mr. Hoff's entire stock of general merchandise. The store is closed this week to take an invoice and it is the intention of the owners to open for business next Monday. C. A. Jeglum, the head of the new firm, is here taking the invoice, but will not remain. He is the cashier of the 1st National Bank of Adams.

Mr. Jeglum informs us that it is their intention to close out the stock here and that A. Johnson, assistant cashier of the State Bank of Edinburgh, N. D., will have charge of the store as manager.

Mr. Hoff has not yet decided what he will do, but will for the present remain here.

School Notes

Nothing much doing at school this week.

As soon as the janitor is thru with it, the building will be turned over to the fumigator.

In the meantime it is best for all children to lay low and keep by themselves until all danger of contagion is over and the school is reopened.

My Life as a Crow.

I will now tell you of my life as a crow.

I come of a very good family and my name is Tom.

I was born in a twig nest, lined with hay and feathers, in a large poplar tree in northern Minnesota.

When I was a week old some boys came by and shot at my mother who sat near the nest watching over us. They missed her and she flew away off. The smallest boy among them spied the nest and he told them about it. The largest boy then climbed the tree and took my brother and sister and myself to the ground; there they began to wring the necks of my brother and sister. When my turn came I was very scared but they did not wring my neck as hard as my brother's and sister's necks were wrung as I was the only one to live after it. They then went away and my mother came back and put me in the nest again.

Soon after that she taught me how to fly as she said every crow must learn to fly. Life moved along faster after that and the summer was gone before I knew it.

The life of a crow is very hard as a boy will always rob one's nest and kill the small crows.

I have often wondered why it is so because I have seen a boy walk by a robin or other small bird and not try to harm it, but will walk a long ways to get a shot at a crow.

One day not long ago as I was sitting in a tree resting a boy came and shot me before I knew anything about it. He left me to die. I did not die, but it was some time before I could fly and am not over the pain it sometimes gives me.

I am just back from my winter's sojourn in the south, and some time I may tell you about my life among the rice and cotton fields and the orange groves and where many of the people are of the same complexion as I am.

Notice to Clean Up.

Notice is hereby given to the residents and property owners of St. Hilaire that they must before May 20th, 1907, clean up and remove any and all garbage, manure or slops, on the premises owned or occupied by them and also on alleys or thoroughfares adjacent to said property. Said owners or occupants are also required to maintain any and all property which they own or occupy in a thoroughly sanitary condition, also that proprietors of hotels and restaurants keep sufficient barrels in the rear of their places of business in which to deposit all offal and refuse, and contents of which shall be deposited on the dumping grounds at least once in each week.

Any person failing to comply with this order will be promptly prosecuted according to law.

DR. J. C. CUMMINGS,
Health Officer.

In order that the public may be thoroughly informed, we herewith publish the following resolutions, ordered by the board of health, which will be rigidly enforced:

I.

That owners of or occupants of lots within the village limits be required to remove from their respective premises before the 20th day of May, 1907, all manure, garbage and other refuse matter, manure must also be removed at frequent intervals during the summer months.

II.

That the keeping of hogs within the village limits be prohibited except upon special permission from the board of health.

III.

That the carcases of all dead animals such as cattle, dogs, sheep, etc., must be properly buried by the owners.

IV.

That slops and kitchen refuse must not be allowed to accumulate unless suitable receptacles be provided. The board requests every family to provide suitable barrels, convenient to be gotten at by some conveyance.

V.

The board recommends that private wells be thoroughly cleansed in order to remove from them all decaying animal and vegetable matter, and it is also recommended that particular attention be given to cleaning and disinfecting all cellars as these two are the main sources of all contagious diseases prevalent in this country.

VI.

The annual inspection by the board of health will take place May 20, 1907, at which time all premises not found free from garbage, manure or other refuse, and all outhouses in an unsanitary condition will be ordered cleaned according to the provisions of the village ordinances.

VII.

Garbage and refuse should be burned or mixed with a liberal amount of quick-lime or crude carbolic acid (5 per cent) and buried in a pit or hauled to a suitable dumping ground where it is exposed to the sunlight.

VIII.

Be it further resolved that the above resolutions be published in The St. Hilaire Spectator for two successive weeks.

Dated April 25, 1906, by order of the board of health.

THE CANADIAN WEST IS THE BEST WEST

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

The testimony of thousands during the past year is that the Canadian West is the best West. Year by year the agricultural returns have increased in volume and in value, and still the Canadian Government offers 160 acres FREE to every bona fide settler.

Some of the Advantages

The phenomenal increase in railway mileage—main lines and branches—has put almost every portion of the country within easy reach of churches, schools, markets, cheap fuel and every modern convenience.

The NINETY MILLION BUSHEL WHEAT CROP of this year means $60,000,000 to the farmers of Western Canada, apart from the results of other grains and cattle.

DIDN'T WANT THE FARM.

But Was Willing to Buy Those Big Hogs.

Some few days ago two Oklahoma City real estate men had a German farmer in tow and carted him into the country to see a farm which had considerable low land and where overflows are frequent. They passed a barn where the high water mark was about eight feet above ground.

"And what is that?" inquired the farmer.

They drove on in silence, when suddenly the farmer broke the atmosphere by saying:

"I do not want the farm, but will buy all the hogs like that you can possibly scrape up."

WEIGHT AND HEALTH

THIN, NERVOUS PEOPLE NEED THE TONIC TREATMENT.

This Woman Took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, Gained Thirty Pounds and Has Been Well Ever Since.

How many women—and men too—are suffering from a general decline in health which the ordinary remedies seem unable to check! How many husbands see their wives wasting away, steadily losing health and beauty, and are powerless to help! Consumption and other germ diseases find in these debilitated systems easy prey, for the lowered vitality is unequal to the task of fighting off the infection of these diseases to which most of us are almost daily exposed.

The symptoms indicating the decline which may have results so fatal could scarcely be better described than in the statement of Mrs. William Manley, of 92 Court street, Utica, N. Y. Her case is a typical one. She says:

"For six months after the birth of my baby, I suffered from sick, dizzy headaches, which seemed like a rush of blood to my forehead, just back of my eyes. Some days they twitched so I could hardly see and black spots floated before them. The least exertion brought on this sickness. My appetite was poor and I was often sick to my stomach.

"If I tried to work my feet soon became swollen, paining me terribly. I had sinking spells and grew pale and nervous. I was so thin that I weighed only 95 pounds.

"One day when at the drug store to get headache powders I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills instead. I soon noticed that my headache was disappearing and my nerves gradually grew stronger. The pills gave me a hearty appetite and I now weigh over 130 pounds. I believe the pills to be the best tonic and builder a woman can take, as they certainly helped me when my condition was critical and I have never been seriously ill since."

The great value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills lies in the fact that they actually make new blood and this carries health and strength to every portion of the body. The stomach is toned up, the nerves are strengthened, every organ is stimulated to do its work.

If you are ill and the treatment you are taking does not cure you, write for proof of what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done in similar cases.

Your druggist sells them or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $3.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

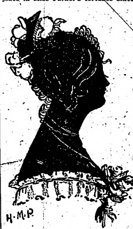
Barrie sold the right of Peter Pan for stage production he stipulated that it should not be illustrated and that its personnel should not be photographed in any of the poses or character parts of the play. Finally the manager, anxious to have Miss Adams and other members of the cast, including the famous dog, reproduced in some of the poses which were delighting New York, bethought him of silhouettes. Mr. Barrie consented to silhouettes where he had been obdurant about other methods of illustration, and it was put up to the editor of the popular journal who was to handle the story to find someone to execute them.

The famous art editor made a search for silhouette artists and returned.

"There is only one person in America whom I can get to do the job," he reported, "and that is a little girl in Philadelphia. There are plenty of board walk cutters, but with the exception of this girl there are no silhouette artists in America."

How the young girl with her mother as chaperon was transferred from her modest studio to the gay New York hotel where she both "cut" the photographs and received the admiring friendship of the company for her skill which saved them the day, how Miss Adams lavished boxes upon her and sent her roses and lilies of the valley, "with"—as she says with goulish delight—"stems a yard and a quarter long," is only part of the wonderful transformations which have taken place in Miss Parker's fortunes since she was a little schoolgirl two or three years ago living at Port Huron, Mich.



A strange part about her profession, or her part profession, rather—for she makes only a side issue of it and is working toward still more difficult things—is that it was a family inheritance preserved and handed down by her mother as a pretty fashion always more or less known in her family. Herself perhaps the better silhouette artist of the two, though a non-professional one, the mother taught it to her daughter almost as child's play.

It was here that Miss Helen Parker, who had asked when she was a tiny girl to be allowed to do portraits like her mother, began to really do things with the scissors. Belonging to a more mercenary age than her mother, she tried her hand at the valentines in a girlish attempt to make pocket money and succeeded beyond her wildest expectations. Just then the family moved to Philadelphia, where Miss Parker found herself in a little world of art in which she soon became famous for her silhouettes with still better returns financially.

Says Miss Parker in telling how she does her work and the way it developed from the valentine days: "I used to do pretty faces at first just to send on postcards to the girls and then I used to idle time in between classes making their caricatures. Then I got to cutting them and exaggerating the features less and less until now I underexaggerate."

The reputation of both Miss Parker and her mother is based upon the wonderful likenesses they get, and these artists smile at the modern mechanical methods of using photography or even penciling first the lines which are to be cut. The work is all free hand, although pencil sketches are made first to study from and pen and ink elaborations are often made afterward.

Saved by an Earthquake.

The earthquake in Jamaica reminds a correspondent of a curious epitaph which he read on a tombstone there some years ago. It runs thus: "Here lieth the body of Lewis Galdy, Esq., who died on the 22d of September, 1737, aged 80. He was born at Montpellier, in France, which place he left for his religion, and settled on this island, where, in the great earthquake, 1672, he was swallowed up, and, by the wonderful providence of God, by a second shock, was thrown out into the sea, where he continued swimming until he was taken up by a boat, and thus miraculously preserved."

Turkish "Palace of Waters."

The "Palace of Waters" is an enormous subterranean reservoir, which stretches for miles beneath Constantinople. The roof is upheld by ponderous stone arches; but who constructed this amazing reservoir no one can say. In 1830 two men attempted to explore the underground lake, but were never heard of again.

If honesty paid bigger dividends than it does more people would be willing to accept it as the best policy.

ADVICE TO RHEUMATICS

Noted Physician Tells How to Prevent and Cure Rheumatism, Kidney and Bladder Troubles.

(By Geo. Edmund Flood, M. D.)

If you would avoid Rheumatism and Kidney and Bladder Troubles, be moderate in the consumption of heavy, rich foods, substitute as far as possible soups, broths, fresh milk and drink water—lots of water. Take plenty of time to eat, and don't eat after you have had enough, even if it does taste good. If your work is confining take a moderate amount of exercise each day in the open air.

Of course, neither diet, water, rest nor exercise will cure these afflictions. I advise them as preventives only. For the benefit of the readers of this article who are now afflicted with Rheumatism, Kidney, Bladder or Urinary trouble, and desire to be cured quickly, I give below, complete in every detail, the famous prescription which has made me so successful in the treatment of these diseases. It is the most certain cure for these diseases that I have ever used. It is pleasant to take, it is not expensive, it can be filled by any druggist, and I believe it is the greatest prescription for Rheumatism, Kidney and Bladder Trouble ever written. It is also a valuable spring tonic and blood purifier. If you are a sufferer, save this, take it to your druggist and have it filled, or get the ingredients and mix them at home.

Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, ½ ounce.

Concentrated Barkola Compound, 1 ounce.

Fluid Extract Prickly Ash Bark, ½ drachm.

Aromatic Elixir, 4 ounces.

Adult dose, take one teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime; children, one-fourth to one-half teaspoonful after meals.

After you are cured follow the advice I have given you in regard to diet, exercise and water, and you will not need the services of a physician again for these ailments.

BLOOD GETS SOUR.

Every Family Should Make Up This Home Mixture and Take Now.

At this time of year, says a well-known authority, the Kidneys become weak, clogged and inactive, failing to filter out the poisons and acids, which sour the blood, causing not only facial and bodily eruptions, but the worst forms of Rheumatism, Nervous and Stomach troubles, Backache and painful, annoying Urinary afflictions.

It is worth anyone's time now to get from some good prescription pharmacy the following ingredients: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after your meals and at bedtime.

This simple home-made mixture will force the Kidneys to normal, healthy action, so they will filter and strain all uric acid and poisonous waste matter from the blood, and expel this in the urine, at the same time restoring the "full blood count"—that is, 95 per cent. red blood corpuscles—which is absolutely indispensable to perfect health.

A DOG THAT CHEWS GUM.

He Picks Off All That Is Left Beneath Tables.

A family in this city owns a dog that eats all the chewing gum it can find, says the Kansas City Star. The gum sticks to his teeth and he chews and chews upon it until he works it loose and then he swallows it.

At some time in his career this dog observed that gum might often be found adhering to the undersides of chairs and tables. Now when he goes into a neighbor's house, and that is quite often, he begins at once a systematic search of all the chairs and of other articles of furniture. If he finds a wad of gum stuck there he bites it off and chews it.

MONKEY HELPED TO FISH.

For some years I lived in a small town not far from Frome and being very fond of fishing I was able to indulge in my favorite pastime very often, as the little river abounded in trout and I had permission to fish about eight miles of it, writes a correspondent of the London Field.

The only boat on the lake belonged to a Capt. C., who rented a large house with grounds coming down to the lake, and he very kindly allowed me to use the boat at all times. The captain was perhaps the finest fly fisherman I have ever seen, an enthusiast at the sport, and was often to be seen in the boat, his page boy rowing him about.

The other occupant of the boat was invariably a monkey that sat stolidly in the stern sheets. But when the captain hooked a fish Jocko was all activity, dancing about the boat in a most excited manner, and as soon as the captain had drawn the fish near enough the monkey, holding on to the gunwale with one hand, would seize the fish with the other, throw it into the boat and then resume his usual seat.

I never saw the monkey lose a fish, and Capt. C. told me that he very rarely did miss one. He never took a landing net with him when the monkey accompanied him. I am well aware that few will believe this tale, but it is true in every respect, and there are no doubt many still living at Stourton or in the neighborhood who could testify to the correctness of what I have written.

Met Death in Oven.

An old woman who lived alone in a cottage near Zurich, Switzerland, was in the habit, when feeling unwell, of getting into a hot oven for a sort of Turkish bath. When inside she used to close and reopen the oven door by means of a small cord. The other day she was taking one of these baths, and in attempting to open the door she broke the string. Some days later she was found dead in the oven—suffocated or starved. From the woman's distorted body she apparently had a desperate death struggle.

The skeleton of a tortoise cut across so that the upper and lower shells are separate shows that the boxlike case in which the reptile dwells is formed chiefly by an outgrowth of its ribs.

All Prepared for Death.

Because he dreamed that he could not enter heaven with his beard parted on the bust on his $1,500 monument, Phineas Gardner Wright said to be the wealthiest man in Putnam, Conn., has had a sculptor bunch the stone whiskers at an expense of $400. Wright, who is a bachelor 78 years old, erected the monument on his family plot, in Grove cemetery, three years ago. It attracted much attention because of the line he had inscribed upon the granite shaft just below his bust, "Going, but know not where." At the same time he had an immense grave dug and bricked up, he said, so that the earth would not crowd him and he would have enough room in which to turn over and move about, and with flat stones at the base, so that he could not sink.

What She Was Doing.

One day a neighbor borrowed our hatchet. Our little five-year-old boy kept wondering what she wanted with the hatchet. Presently he came running in and exclaimed. "Mamma, I know what Mrs. Smith wanted with the hatchet. She is down in the cellar hatching kindling with it."

THE CHANGE OF LIFE

MRS HENRY LEE — MRS. FRED CERTIA

Owing to modern methods of living not one woman in a thousand approaches this perfectly natural change without experiencing a train of very annoying and sometimes painful symptoms.

This is the most critical period of her whole existence and every woman who neglects the care of her health at this time invites disease and pain.

When her system is in a deranged condition or she is predisposed to apoplexy or congestion of any organ, the tendency is at this period likely to become active and with a host of nervous irritations make life a burden. At this time also cancers and tumors are more liable to form and begin their destructive work.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, melancholia, dread of impending evil, palpitation of the heart, irregularities, constipation and dizziness are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period of life when this great change may be expected.

Mrs. Fred Certia, 1014 So. Lafayette Street, So. Bend, Ind., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the ideal medicine for women who are passing through Change of Life. For several months I suffered from hot flashes, extreme nervousness, headache and sleeplessness. I had no appetite and could not sleep. I had made up my mind there was no help for me until I began to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, my bad symptoms ceased, and it brought me safely through the danger period, built up my system and I am in excellent health. I consider Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound unsurpassed for women during this trying period of life."

Mrs. Henry Lee, 60 Winter Street, New Haven, Conn., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"After suffering untold misery for three years during Change of Life I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I wrote you of my condition, and began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and followed your advice, and to-day I am well and happy. I can now walk anywhere and work as well as anyone, and for years previous I had tried but could not get around without help. I consider your medicine a sovereign balm for suffering women."

Women passing through this critical period should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If there is anything about your case you don't understand write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice. It is free and has guided thousands to health.

When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health, actually thousands of women, you cannot well say without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me." It is your duty to yourself and family to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

That's So.

"Do you think Henpeck would make a good mayor if elected?"

"No, but his wife might."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

REVIEW OF THE WORK OF THE LEGISLATURE

Much of Importance Accomplished—Railroad Questions Have Lead in List of New Laws—Start Made Looking Toward Tax Reforms.

Entire Insurance Reform Program Placed on Statute Books—Public Ownership Law Passed—State Board of Immigration Established.

The Thirty-fifth legislature of Minnesota has passed into history and its deeds are before the people for their judgment. Much of importance has been accomplished. No Minnesota legislature has ever undertaken to do so many things. Few have equaled it in performance. Railroad, insurance and taxation matters occupied the most prominent place in the attention of the members. Much of lasting benefit to the state is expected to result from the legislation enacted along these lines.

A list of about thirty measures can be cited that compares in significance and importance with any state legislation in recent years.

Summary of the Work.

Briefly summarized the important things accomplished are:

Reduced rates on grain, coal, lumber and live stock an average of 10 per cent.

Established 2 cents a mile as a maximum passenger rate.

Abolished railroad passes.

Passed a reciprocal demurrage law.

Provided for a separate girls' training school.

Created a permanent tax commission.

Passed a law for a registry tax on mortgages.

Taxed gross earnings of freight line companies.

Abolished private banks.

Passed the entire insurance reform program, also codes for fraternal and assessment life associations.

Participated in agreement for reduction of express rates 25 per cent.

Created a state hospital farm for inebriates, to be built and supported out of liquor license fees.

Resubmitted wide open tax amendment.

Divided $40,000 among the counties, to be spent on roads and bridges.

Provided for extension of state university grounds.

Passed a new and stringent child labor law.

Created commission to acquire more land for capitol grounds.

Abolished fraternities in high schools.

Passed new code of drainage laws, and doubled provision for state drainage work.

Created a legislative reference bureau.

Turned Itasca park over to the state forestry board and university school of forestry.

Passed a "Mueller law" for acquirement of public utilities by cities.

Passed a law to prohibit cut-throat competition in sale of petroleum products.

Passed a law to expedite enforcement of the railroad commission's orders.

Re-elected Knute Nelson United States senator.

Investigated the coal, lumber and grain trades, the railroad business, express rates, state land and timber holdings, iron ore taxation, the Great Northern ore deal, delays in publishing supreme court reports, finances of the state university, the state fair, complaints against management of insane hospitals, and the Minnesota Shippers' and Receivers' association.

Railroad Rates.

The 2-cent passenger fare bill provides that after May 1 no railroad doing business in Minnesota shall charge a passenger fare of more than 2 cents a mile. The bill provides that any agent of a railroad company who shall demand more than 2 cents a mile will be guilty of felony and subject to punishment by imprisonment and a fine not exceeding $5,000.

The commodity rate bill provides for an average reduction of 10 per cent in the freight rates within the state. The law contains a penal clause like the passenger fare bill. Already the railroads have indicated their acceptance of both the freight law and the passenger fare law.

Must Pay Share of Taxes.

The private car companies and the sleeping car companies have long been escaping the payment of their share of taxes in Minnesota—the former absolutely not having been obliged to pay a cent, while the latter have paid a very small proportion of their share of the just burdens. At this session a bill has been passed requiring the private car companies to certify once a year the amount of the gross receipts on business done in this state, and the auditor is instructed to draw on the different companies for 4 per cent of their gross earnings each year. A heavy penalty clause is attached. The tax on sleeping car companies has been raised, so that instead of receiving from $1,000 to $2,000, as has been previously the case, the state will receive from $8,000 to $35,000 annually from this source.

In Farmers' Interest.

Legislation for the great agrarian masses of the state is seen in the law authorizing the board of control to construct and operate a factory for the manufacture of binders and mowers in connection with the prison at Stillwater. A machinery trust exists, and it is believed that the prices are exorbitant and that, as far as Minnesota is concerned, if harvesting and other farm machinery can be manufactured at Stillwater, the board of control may at once install a plant and give to the farmers of Minnesota another such a boon as has been given in the binding twine plant in that institution. The board is empowered, after marking the proper investigation, and finding that a plant can be successfully conducted, to proceed with the work of installation and operation of the plant.

Important Revenue Law.

A revenue measure of vast importance to the people of the state is the registry tax law, enacted by the present session. Heretofore mortgages have been taxed where they have been held by residents of the county where in the mortgage was filed, and this was discrimination against the local residents and in favor of the non-resident who could not be reached under the old system. Under the new system the only tax will be on the registration of the mortgage, 50 cents on each $1,000 contained in the mortgage, and to be paid only once. The money so derived is to be turned into the county treasury; and the state is to receive a certain proportion of the same. It is estimated that the latter will amount to over $500,000 annually, and the nonresident money loaner is placed on the same basis as the resident owner.

Insurance Legislation.

The insurance legislation enacted by the present legislature has been comprehensive and far-reaching; at the same time every interest has been treated with absolute fairness. Most of the measures recommended by the committee on uniform legislation have been enacted into law.

For years past Minnesota has suffered from the evils of tax inequality, and the effort of individuals at various sessions came to naught. This year a tax commission has been created, and Gov. Johnson named three commissioners, whose duty it will be to get at the vast amount of property in this state which has heretofore escaped taxation and place the same upon the assessment rolls.

Again Put Up to People.

The wide-open tax amendment, definite and certain as to taxation of church property, is once more submitted to the people. Certain corporation interests have been engaged ever since the last election in proving that the amendment was not ratified by the people. These interests have been recanvassing the vote of the state at their own expense.

An immigration bureau has been established, with the governor, auditor and secretary of state, as ex-officio members. Thirty thousand dollars has been appropriated to carry out the work intended under this bureau, and at last something is to be done towards holding out inducements for the settlement of Minnesota—of making the lands already under cultivation more valuable and of opening thousands of acres in the central and northern portions of the state, which are still virgin to the plow.

Many Bills Handed In.

Bills rolled in all winter at an unprecedented rate. The house received a total of 1,215 and the senate 916, or 2,131 in all. This was 50 per cent more than in 1905, when the total was 888 house bills and 524 senate bills, or 1,412 for both houses.

The house held sessions on seventy-seven days, and the senate seventy-five. Members and employes drew pay for 106 days.

The little one was so badly burned that she survived only a few hours.

CROOKED WORK IN RISK ELECTIONS

IMPORTANT ARRESTS ARE MADE

SENSATIONAL RESULTS FOLLOW INQUIRY BY DISTRICT ATTORNEY OF NEW YORK.

New York, May 2.—Sensational results have followed the inquiry by the district attorney's office into the recent election of directors of the New York Life Insurance company.

George R. Scrugham, manager of the international policyholders' committee, which inspired the investigation by making grave charges against those who conducted the election, was himself arrested at Albany last night.

Conspiracy Charged.

Scrugham was charged with conspiracy and was the third man identified with the international policyholders' committee to be taken since noon yesterday. The others are Charles Stirrup and Charles F. Carrington. These two were employed as watchers at the election. Stirrup was a watcher at the directors' election of the Mutual Life Insurance company, while Carrington acted in a similar capacity at the New York Life election.

Ugly Charges Made.

They are specifically charged with having unlawfully conspired together for the perversion and obstruction of the due administration of the laws of the State of New York with relation to the election of directors of the New York Life Insurance company.

Earlier yesterday Jacob Frank, a New York Life Insurance company agent, was arrested, charged with forgery in the third degree.

Frank, it is said, made a statement to Assistant District Attorneys Smyth and Howe that had an important bearing on later developments.

Investigate Crooked Work.

Since the elections in both the New York and Mutual companies on Dec. 18 the district attorney's office has been looking into the counter charges of crooked work. Complaints were made by the policyholders' committee of wholesale forgeries by agents of the companies. The companies, made counter-charges against the employes of the policyholders' committee.

Assistant District Attorneys Howe and Smyth have been in charge of the matter. The first result of their labors was the arrest, on evidence furnished by Manager Scrugham of the policyholders' committee, of Agent Frank. This was quickly followed by yesterday's arrests.

ENTOMBED MEN RESCUED.

Pittsburg, May 2. — After being entombed since Friday noon in the Berwind-White Coal company's mine at Foustwell, seven miners who were shut off from the world by a sudden rush of water caused by the breaking of a wall of an abandoned mine were rescued at 10 o'clock last night.

The men were greatly exhausted. Owing to their weakened condition it was decided not to bring them out until after the mine had been drained.

Cheer, Laugh and Cry.

Never in the history of the mining region has such a joyous scene been witnessed as when the men were reached. Hundreds of persons who were watching the work of rescue cheered, laughed and cried.

The men were reached by Stiney Rodon and Charles Ream, who made a dash through fifty feet of water filled heading. Earlier in the day John Bolya, a brother of one of the imprisoned men, and three comrades made a futile attempt to reach the imprisoned men. They came back half-drowned and reported that portions of the heading were still filled and that more pumping would have to be done. The pumping was then redoubled.

Men Found Alive.

At 10 o'clock the water had so far gone down that it was resolved to make another attempt to break through to the overcast, where the men were imprisoned. Stiney Rodon and Charles Ream volunteered. Like the first party, they plunged into the water and darkness. An hour elapsed before Ream came swimming back, bringing the first news of the imprisoned seven. The effort had nearly exhausted Ream. He reported that the seven men were alive and in good shape, but that until more pumping was done the passage to the place where they had taken refuge was impassable to those who could not swim.

IMITATES GIRL'S FATE.

Lover Returns From Trip and Follows Example of Suicide.

Huntington, W. Va., May 2.—Samuel Rittenour committed suicide yesterday by taking carbolic acid. Saturday Rose Spears ended her life in the same manner because she thought Rittenour had deserted her.

Rittenour returned from Kentucky, where he had been on business, and learning of her death drank the deadly acid in the room in which the girl had ended her life.

GRAVE CRISIS APPROACHING

Washington, May 2. — Ambassador Creel of New Mexico and Assistant Secretary of State Bacon yesterday conferred at length concering the situation at Guatemala. Advices agree on the point that affairs are approaching a crisis in Guatemala and any moment there may be an uprising which the present forces there would be unable to control.

The assassination of Former Guatemalan President Barralis in Mexico, the attempt yesterday on the life of President Estrada Cabrera in Guatemala City and anti-American feeling that in the Cabrera government have caused complications in Central American politics which, it is believed here, must be handled by a firmer hand than can be found in Guatemala.

Indications of an uprising against the Cabrera government are giving the United States and Mexico some concern, as a revolutionary movement now probably would embroil the whole republic in conflict.

Attempt to Assassinate.

Guatemala City, May 1.—Estrada Cabrera, president of Guatemala, narrowly escaped assassination yesterday. He left his private residence at 7:30 in the morning for his customary drive.

On Seventh avenue an explosion killed the horses and wounded the coachman and several staff officers.

The president was not injured. The explosion was caused not by a bomb, but a mine. The conspirators dug a tunnel, placed explosives under the roadway and connected them by a wire with a battery in a house nearby. Many suspects have been arrested.

COMPLAIN TO COMMERCE BOARD.

Washington, May 2. — Rivalry between the Hill and Harriman railroad lines in the Northwest finally has culminated in the presentation of the matter to the interstate commerce commission. For several months lumber dealers and manufacturers in Washington, particularly, and in the Puget sound territory generally, have complained informally to the commission that, owing to the refusal of the Hill and Harriman lines to make them through routes and joint rates they were unable to get their products east of the Cascade mountains. Finally it was suggested that they institute formal proceedings under the new rate law to compel the railroads to make such through routes and joint rates.

A formal complaint has been filed with the commission against the Northern Pacific, the Great Northern, the Union Pacific, the Oregon Short Line and fifteen other railroads, requesting the commission to issue orders providing that the railroads shall make through routes and joint rates on lumber products from points in Washington, via Portland, Ore., to points east of the Cascade mountains.

It is understood that the commission will take up the case at an early date.

THREE MEN ROASTED TO DEATH.

Port Arthur, Ont., May 2.—A Canadian Pacific freight train ran through a small bridge near here last night, carrying to their death Engineer William Fixter, Fireman Veadrey and Brakeman Villineauve. The locomotive and seven cars of flour, which crashed into the ravine, burying the three members of the crew, immediately caught fire, and the torture of the men pinned under the wreckage, which ended in their death, was frightful.

Conductor Cross, who escaped injury, was one of the first to reach the wreckage, which was partly hidden by volumes of steam. The cries of Fixter were pitiful, but all efforts of the conductor to relieve him were unavailing, and he was scalded and roasted to death.

DENIES $10,000 BRIBE.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 2. — Former Congressman S. Marshall Williams of Pittsburg yesterday refused to answer a direct question as to whether he was advanced $10,000 by Congressman Cassel in connection with contracts for the metallic furniture for the new state capitol.

He was under examination by the state investigating commission. Mr. Williams admitted receiving $10,000, but declared that it was given him for his note and that it came from New York.

It is charged that the money was given to Mr. Williams to keep after he had been refused by John H. Sanderson, general contractor, a share in the $2,000,000 electrical fixtures award.

CALL PUGILIST SLAYER.

Coroner's Jury Accuses Palmer of Manslaughter.

London, May 2. — A coroner's jury yesterday declared "Pedlar" Palmer, the English pugilist, guilty of manslaughter in causing the death of Robert Choat, a gashouse stoker of Depford. Palmer struck Choat in a railroad car coming from the Epsom races April 24 because the man refused to stop singing when requested by Palmer to do so.

HUNDRED PENNED IN BURNING BLOCK

FIFTY PERSONS ARE INJURED

WOMEN, MAD WITH FEAR, JUMP OR FALL UPON EACH OTHER IN EFFORT TO ESCAPE.

Chicago, May 2.—About 100 persons were penned in a burning building yesterday at 255 Wabash avenue and narrowly escaped with their lives. Fully fifty, however, were injured.

The building was a four-story structure, the first floor of which was occupied by the Story & Clark Piano company and the second floor by the Lotus Lunch club. The two upper stories were unoccupied. All of the injured were either patrons or employes of the lunch club.

Escape Cut Off by Fire.

The fire broke out shortly before noon and before the rush of the lunch hour had commenced. The fire started in the basement. It spread up a freight elevator shaft in the rear, and also within a few minutes cut off escape by the stairway. A passenger elevator in the front was made useless by the refusal of the machinery to operate. The only escape left to the persons who had not made their way to the street at the first alarm was through a small window at the back which opened onto a fire escape leading to the alley.

Women Fight Fircely.

About eighty of the occupants of the lunch room were caught with only this chance of safety. The great majority of these were women and they made a frantic rush for the window, fighting fiercely in their efforts to escape the smoke and flames. Those who first stepped on the fire escape were almost immediately pushed off and fell to the alley twenty feet below. Before they could get out of the way others fell or jumped upon them. The women piled upon each other in a mass, from which they were dragged as quickly as possible by men who ran from neighboring stores. Loss, $50,000.

NO CHANCE FOR LISTOE.

Consul Will Remain at Rottedam by Preference.

Washington, May 2.—Soren Listoe of St. Paul, consul general to Rotterdam, has declined the transfer arranged for him whereby he would become consul general to St. Petersburg. The appointment of Frank D. Hill of Minnesota, at present consul at Amsterdam, to the St. Petersburg post is announced.

Mr. Listoe preferred to remain in Rotterdam rather than go to the Russian capitol.

FLEES GAS; IS KILLED.

South Dakota Welldigger Falls and Breaks His Neck.

Pierre, S. D., May 2.—Arthur Cowan was killed in a well last evening. He was assisting in digging out the well and went down to clear out the material loosened by a blast, and feeling himself becoming overcome by gas, asked to be drawn out. His companions at the top had drawn him up about thirty feet when his hold gave way and he dropped, striking on his head and breaking his neck.

SHIPS AWAY INCURABLES.

Insane Hospital Sends Sixty Patients to Anoka.

Fergus Falls, Minn., May 2.—Thirty insane men and thirty-two insane women, all patients of the milder type, were sent to Anoka yesterday. These patients are considered incurable, and hospital treatment in the strict sense of the word can have no effect on them. The Anoka asylum is intended for patients of this class.

Warden Sees Duck Shot.

Anoka, Minn., May 2.—Game Warden Stevens of Anoka arrested Dolphin Bibeau of Centerville yesterday for shooting duck. Stevens, while driving, saw Bibeau shoot the duck. His duck cost Bibeau a $10 fine and costs, or $17.90.

WOMAN SWALLOWS STRYCHNINE

Webster City, Iowa, May 2.—A spectacular suicide was attempted last night by Mrs. Madge Olmstead, who swallowed a bottle of strychnine containing forty-eight grains. A physician with a stomach pump saved the woman's life.

A. L. Cole Convalescent.

Fergus Falls, Minn., May 2.—Hon. A. L. Cole, who has been seriously ill in Chicago during the winter, has arrived from that city and is the guest of his brother, Dr. A. B. Cole, here. Mr. Cole is steadily improving and is now able to be about.

Japan Building More Warships.

Tokio, May 2.—The Nichi Nichi Shimbun announces that in addition to the Stauma, Japan intends soon to have two or three other battleships built either here or in England.

TRICK TO BLOCK LEGISLATION

New York, May 2.—Formal statements from those especially interested in the inquiry into the recent election of directors of the New York Life Insurance company and which has already resulted in the arrest of George B. Scrugham, manager, and two employes of the international policyholders' committee, were made yesterday.

Mr. Scrugham declared that the charge of conspiracy against Charles F. Carrington, Charles Stirrup and himself, that they had permitted tampering with ballots, is without foundation and intimated that the accusation was inspired by those unfriendly to the committee.

Samuel Untermyer, counsel to the international policyholders' committee, said that he was unable to see wherein Mr. Scrugham had been even technically at fault and added: "The companies will have to try once more if they expect by such transparent devices to cover their own tracks and obstruct the pending legislation for a reform in the insurance election law that will do away with the frauds and forgeries.

SAY THEY WERE HELD UP.

Club and Razor Held Over Men to Get Their Money.

Billings, Mont., May 2.—Frank Tomal and Jacob Vogel reported to the police that they were robbed of $11 at an early hour yesterday morning. The men allege that while they were sleeping in the California rooming house they were held up by two desperate looking men, one of whom was armed with a razor and the other with a heavy club. No arrests have yet been made.

AERONAUTS GIVE UP TRIP.

Conditions Not Favorable for Attempt to Break Record.

Golconda, Ill., May 2.—Capt. Charles D. Chandler, United States signal service, and J. C. McCoy of New York, failed to break the long distance balloon record and win the Lahm cup. The balloon, which left St. Louis Tuesday evening, landed five miles north of Golconda yesterday afternoon. Golconda is only 130 miles from St. Louis. Changeable air currents demonstrated to the aeronauts that they could not win the cup and for that reason they made the landing near here.

100 CRAFT IN BLOCKADE.

Superior, Wis., May 2.—The blockade incidental to the arrival of the coal fleet here now has 100 boats held in the harbor, making by far the greatest congestion the harbor has ever seen. Already the loss caused by the blockade is considerable to the vessel owners, and it is estimated that before it is lifted the vesselmen will be $250,000 to the bad. The bunching of the fleet at this end of Lake Superior was caused by the extremely late opening of the Soo passage.

PILED TIES TO WRECK TRAIN.

Unsuccessful Attempt Is Made on Illinois Central in Iowa.

Charles City, Iowa, May 2.—An attempt was made to wreck the flyer on the Illinois Central between Nashua and Plainfield by unknown persons, who piled ties on the track. A northbound engine passed over the obstruction and crushed it down so that it failed to wreck the train.

Boy Falls Down Air Shaft.

La Crescent, Minn., May 2.—Willie, the three-year-old son of Frank Smith, fell down the cold air draught of the furnace at his father's residence. It was necessary to tear down the chimney to rescue him. He was not injured, but badly frightened.

Has Diphtheria Epidemic.

Fergus Falls, Minn., May 2.—An epidemic of diphtheria is reported at New York Mills, this county, and the village schools have been closed for two weeks.

Dead at Roadside.

Houghton, Mich., May 2.—Edward Kenefick, aged sixty years, was found dead beside a logging road near Stoughton, having evidently frozen to death during the recent storm.

Aged Man Killed by Train.

Lake City, Minn., May 2.—While walking on the railroad track John Hogan, about seventy years old, was run down by the work train and instantly killed.

Will Raise Mules.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., May 2.—A company of well-known Rusk county people are planning to raise mules in that county.

Woman Gets Wrong Bottle.

East Grand Forks, Minn., May 2.—Mrs. William Montgomery had a narrow escape from death by mistaking a bottle containing acid for brandy. Three doctors worked over her for several hours before she was pronounced out of danger.

A revulsion against a clean-shaven face is gradually growing in London. The gilded youth of clubland and the stock exchange grow nice little curly beards, which give them quite a poetical appearance.

SANTIAGO POLICE ATTACK SAILORS

POLICEMEN ARE SUSPENDED

BOTH PARTIES LAY BLAME ON THE OTHER—INVESTIGATION TO BE MADE.

Santiago, Cuba, May 2.—There was a conflict here Tuesday between sailors and police following an orderly banquet which was given at the Cafe Leon de Oro by a party of first-class seamen of the cruiser Tacoma. The seamen were returning to their ship at 2 o'clock in the morning, when they were attacked by a squad of police headed by Capt. Lay. The police charged the sailors with revolvers and machetes.

One Sailor May Die.

Ensign Brisbin was seriously injured and one of the sailors will probably die as a result of his wounds. Ten other members of the crew were taken to the ship's hospital suffering from machete wounds and clubbing.

Capt. Lay claims that the seamen started the trouble, and the sailors claim that Capt. Lay, without provocation, caused the disturbance.

The captain and all the police who participated in the affair have been suspended by order of the civil governor of Santiago.

All Is Now Quiet.

Havana, May 2.—In the absence of further details concerning the reported attack by the police of Santiago upon United States sailors Tuesday, the authorities here are unable to throw any light on the cause of the affray. The only report received yesterday was from Gov. Pores of Oriente and merely stated that all was quiet and that the municipal authorities, as a precaution against further disorders, had requested Commander Tappen not to allow his sailors ashore at night.

Will Be Investigated.

Gov. Magoon considers the affair as a mere brawl incident to pay day. This opinion is shared by Gen. Barry.

Mayor Mesa returned to Santiago last night for the purpose of starting an investigation into the affair. He declared that should the police be found guilty of attacking the sailors he would inflict summary punishment upon them.

TO MARRY COREY ON MAY 13.

Miss Gilman Says Members of Both Families Will Be Present.

New York, May 2.—Miss Mabel Gilman, who arrived here yesterday from Paris, said when seen concerning her reported marriage to William E. Corey, president of the United States Steel corporation: "Mr. Corey and I will be married in this city on May 13, and both Mr. Corey's family and mine will be present."

HAS HEAVY CALENDAR.

Federal Court Likely Will Try Many Criminal Cases at Term.

Fergus Falls, Minn., May 2.—The spring term of the United States court, which will convene here on May 7, promises to be one of the longest in recent years. There are eleven cases on the civil calendar. There are also eight chancery cases and the outlook is that there will be a large criminal calendar.

"ROTTEN EGGED" BY WOMAN.

Grain Buyer Who Trashed Husband Is Attacked by Indignant Wife.

Afton, Iowa, May 2.—A. L. Brown, a prominent grain buyer, was "rotten egged" by Mrs. Frances Merritt, who declared that Brown had attacked her husband because he impugned the veracity of Mrs. Brown. After administering a tongue-lashing to Brown she pelted him with the eggs. Mrs. Merritt was arrested.

OLD MAN A SUICIDE.

Cedar Falls, Iowa, May 2.—Hans Larsen, aged sixty-five, a section hand, committed suicide in the Cedar river in three feet of water. His health was broken and he was despondent. He was worth $20,000, much of which had been saved from his wages of $1.75 a day.

Cuts Throat With Razor.

Morton, Minn., May 2.—Adolph Knupple, living three miles south of here, cut his throat with a razor in a fit of despondency. He cannot recover.

Clergy Take Offense.

Orleans, May 2.—In consequence of the decision of the municipal authorities to permit Free Masons to participate in the annual Joan of Arc festival, May 8, the clergy will abstain from participation in the ceremonies, and will organize a separate celebration at the cathedral, May 12.

Death and Ruin in Track of Storm.

San Juan Batista, Campechez, May 2.—A hurricane swept this district last night, entailing great loss of property and several deaths.

It will take us some time yet to find out just what the late legislature did to us.

The railroads take the new two-cent fare law about the same as a small boy takes a dose of castor oil.

Strikes are fewer than usual on May first this year. Prices are so high that the working man cannot afford the luxury of a strike.

Navigation has opened at Duluth with a rush and one hundred steamers have already arrived for a cargo of wheat or iron ore. It is the largest fleet ever seen there at one time.

Red Wing republican: Peoyle wanting free homes should remember that 1,500 homesteads will be opened up for settlement in Northern Minnesota on July 1 and that no finer opportunities for prosperity and wealth exist, anywhere on the continent than in the northern part of this state. It is an undeveloped empire of undreamt of possibilities.

The farmer with ten or fifteen cows in his barn and a creamery within easy reach does not need to worry about the weather, a backward spring, and how he shall get his seed in the ground, subjects that often make the all-grain farmers lay awake nights. He knows that the season whether early or late is plenty long enough to grow grass and fodder for his stock, and that every day whether it be winter or summer, rain or shine, cold or warm, his cows always bring him a good income. While the all-wheat farmer is nervously waiting for spring and for a chance to get onto his fields, the dairy farmer unconcernedly milks his cows, sells his cream, feeds his calves and pockets the money. Which kind of farming do you prefer?—Warren Sheaf.

Cannon Falls Beacon: This paper stands ready to endorse the candidacy of William H. Taft for the presidency as soon as that eminent jurist and splendid representative of ideal American citizenship shall declare himself willing to accept the nomination if tendered. When Mr. Taft announces his willingness to be a candidate we shall accept it as the final declaration of Theodore Roosevelt that he will not be the candidate of his party. We believe the president has pledged his support to the utmost to Mr. Taft if he will be a candidate, and when Mr. Taft shall have announced his willingness we shall know that this is the case. We believe the President is fortunate in having such a man as Mr. Taft to centre his vast influence upon, and that the American people are fortunate in having at their call a man so unquestionably fitted to succeed the greatest president since Lincoln as is the big man, the big judge, the big administrator William H. Taft.

Lands to be Opened Up.

At 9 a.m., July 1, 1907, a large area of Minnesota lands will be opened for settlement under the homestead law. The lands are located as follows:

In the Cass Lake land district: Portions of township 145, range 25; townships 145 and 146, range 26; township 143, ranges 31 and 32; township 145, range 32, in the Chippewa of the Mississippi reservation; portions of township 149, ranges 33 and 35; township 148, ranges 34 and 35.

In the Crookston land district: Portions of township 159 and 160, ranges 34 to 38, both inclusive; township 163, range 46, in the Red Lake reservation; township 145, range 37, in the White Earth Indian reservation.

The general land office also gives notice that settling on the land prior to July 1 will not give such settlers "prior rights."

School Notes

School reopened Wednesday, and we are all eager to make up for lost time, as far as that may be possible.

The attendance at first was not very large owing to the fact that many did not know that work would be resumed then. And some, of course, will not be able able to begin for a week or two.

In order to play doubly safe, it is best for all those who have been quarantined to remain out of school a couple weeks after the quarantine is removed. This is a precaution that is reasonable enough, and although we should like to see every pupil back as soon as he can we believe the board of health is right in requiring this.

One day, as James was playing by the house, he heard a faint chirp of a bird. Listening, he heard it again, and going to the place he thot the sound came from he found a little canary in the grass. It's wing was hurt so it could not fly. James took it in his hand and went into the house with it.

His mother gave it some crumbs of bread and water and then put it in a box where it soon fell asleep and forgot all about it's wing.

It's wing gradually became well and it could soon fly around again. It became very tame and was allowed to fly out-doors among the trees and flowers and to come in the house when it pleased, as a door or window was always open and the door of its cage was never closed.

The canary was taken good care of and was praised for it's singing. Every morning it aroused the family by it's songs and James' special delight was in listening to his bird.

One spring day the canary flew away from the house to find a home for itself. Soon it came to an apple tree which shaded a nice house and was now covered with blossoms. It flew among the branches and soon found a suitable place for it's nest. Finding some thread and straw it soon had a comfortable nest and was glad to rest when night came.

A few days afterward some children, living in the house, came to gather flowers from the tree. Spying the bird one of the children caught it before it had time to get away, and put it in a basket. They kept it in a cage outdoors; but as it was not used to being shut up in a cage all the time it did not enjoy itself and soon the children were astonished to find it did not eat anything nor would it sing. They took the cage into the house after that but the canary became weaker every day from want of fresh air and was found dead in it's cage one morning.

An Extraordinary Biography.

The most extraordinary biography in existence is neither written nor printed. It is painted. It contains the life and adventures of Charles Magnes, a noble Venetian. Having been calumniated, he determined to set himself right in the eyes of his contemporaries and employed Paul Veronese to paint his biography. The volume has eighteen pages of vellum. Each has a large central picture, surrounded by ten smaller, each having its appropriate inscription, the whole recounting the most notable scenes in his life.

Returning From Canada.

Cass Lake Times: Not a few of the land-hungry who strayed off to Alberta and Saskatchewan last fall are coming back, contented to let well enough alone. Some of the prodigals are reticent and don't want to be questioned, but others, thoroughly satisfied that the new Eldorado is a fraud, are not loth to say just what they think. One of our county farmers went wild with Saskatchewan fever last fall and pulled up all his moorings and sailed for the promised land with all his household goods, cattle, hogs, dogs, cats, and children. He has returned and says he has enough of it: Snow four feet deep the middle of April and mercury going down so low that it can't be found in the morning is too strenuous for the old time Minnesotan and now that he is back his aim will be to select a new home in the forest where fuel is plentiful and mercury in the glass can be found when wanted.

Have to Pay More.

Crookston Times: Because of the fact that the railroads now charge for the exact mileage under the new 2-cent fare law, traveling men and in fact any one who used mileage before will have to pay more between this city and Thief River Falls under the new reduced rates than they did under the old law. The reason for this is that the exact mileage was not charged under the old law but the basis of charge was made on the mileage of the old St. Hilaire road which ran up through Wylie and Ives. The mileage over the old road was 36 miles which made the fare to those who had the 2-cent mileage books only 72 cents. While the difference is not very great it will mean considerable to the railroad in the course of a year.

Two-Cent Fare.

The new two-cent fare law went into effect last Wednesday, the railroads obeying literally, but special rates, excursion rates and clergyman's permits are a thing of the past and the fare is straight two cents a mile.—You can now travel from here to Thief River Falls for 16 cents instead of 22 cents; to Red Lake Falls for 21 cents, formerly 31 cents, and to Crookston for 85 cents. Formerly the fare to Crookston when going by the way of Wylie was 85 cents and afterwards it was raised to 97 cents.

To all points in the state the fare is two cents but tickets cannot be bought at that price to any point outside of the state. The fare to East Grand Forks from here is two cents a mile but to Grand Forks, one mile further, but over the state line it is three cents a mile. Another peculiarity is that tickets are not required as conductors must accept cash fares without imposing a penalty.

New Mortgage Tax Law.

What is a new and novel law and one which may have a tendency to reduce the rate of interest on real estate mortgages is the mortgage tax law which went into effect last Wednesday.

Commencing May 1st, all real estate mortgages, before being filed for record, must bear the certificate of the county treasurer showing that a tax of fifty cents for each $100 or fractional part thereof has been paid.

By this payment the mortgage is exempt from taxation and the party loaning the money need have no fear of his or her mortgage being listed for taxation.

This money, at the time of making settlement, is apportioned to the several funds of the county and state, the same as though it were a real estate tax, and each town, the state and the county receives its proportionate share of the money.

The Tinder-Box.

The tinder-box and its accompanying flint have not yet gone out of date. In spite of the cheapness of matches, the ancient fire-producers are still in such demand among travelers in out-of-the-way places—and among the natives of those places—that the English town of Brandon devotes itself entirely to the manufacture of them. To the daily user, golden grain belt beer, the ideal home beverage, brings health, strength and happiness. It is pure, wholesome and delicious. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson, Crookston.

Name the Country Schools.

Why not name the schools of the county instead of referring to them by number? It is tiresome and inconvenient to call a school "28" when it could be much better designated as the Lincoln school, Bryant school, or any name appropriate to its surroundings. So also should farms be named. If one undertakes to tell a stranger where such and such an un-named farm is located, he must refer to everything and everybody in the vicinity, including stumps and sign boards.

County Seat Petition.

K. M. Hansen and T. P. Hamre came down from Thief River Falls last Wednesday and are working in this vicinity circulating a county seat removal petition. The sentiment here seems to be about evenly divided and several warm discussions have already occurred. It is a fruitful source of trouble and bids fair to be with us for some time.

All Business is Private

A man wants to feel that his banking matters are private—that anything he may explain confidentially to his bankers will not go any further.

One of the iron-clad rules of this bank is not to divulge business of a private nature. We are very particular on this point. Our customers know that their banking is safe in our hands—that we will not disclose any part of it.

We are particular bankers for particular people. Will you not bank with us?

Notice to Clean Up.

Notice is hereby given to the residents and property owners of St. Hilaire that they must before May 20th, 1907, clean up and remove any and all garbage, manure or slops, on the premises owned or occupied by them and also on alleys or thoroughfares adjacent to said property. Said owners or occupants are also required to maintain any and all property which they own or occupy in a thoroughly sanitary condition, also that proprietors of hotels and restaurants keep sufficient barrels in the rear of their places of business, in which to deposit all offal and refuse, and contents of which shall be deposited on the dumping grounds at least once in each week.

Any person failing to comply with this order willl be promptly prosecuted according to law.

Dr. J. C. Cummings,
Health Officer.

In order that the public may be thoroughly informed, we herewith publish the following resolutions, ordered by the board of health, which will be rigidly enforced:

I.

That owners of or occupants of lots within the village limits be required to remove from their respective premises before the 20th day of May, 1907, all manure, garbage and other refuse matter, manure must also be removed at frequent intervals during the summer months.

II.

That the keeping of hogs within the village limits be prohibited except upon special permission from the board of health.

III.

That the carcases of all dead animals such as cattle, dogs, sheep, etc., must be properly buried by the owners.

That slops and kitchen refuse must not be allowed to accumulate unless suitable receptacles be provided. The board requests every family to provide suitable barrels, convenient to be gotten at by some conveyance.

V.

The board recommends that private wells be thoroughly cleansed in order to remove from them all decaying animal and vegetable matter, and it is also recommended that particular attention be given to cleaning and disinfecting all cellars as these two are the main sources of all contagious diseases prevalent in this country.

VI.

The annual inspection by the board of health will take place May 29, 1907, at which time all premises not found free from garbage, manure or other refuse, and all outhouses in an unsanitary condition will be ordered cleaned according to the provisions of the village ordinances.

VII.

Garbage and refuse should be burned or mixed with a liberal amount of quick-lime or crude carbolic acid (5 per cent) and buried in a pit or hauled to a suitable dumping ground where it is exposed to the sunlight.

VIII.

Dated April 25, 1906, by order of the board of health.

Dr. J. C. Cummings,
Health Officer.

A Case of Spring Catarrh.

Mrs. N. P. Lawler, 423½ N. Broadway, Pittsburg, Kas., writes: "Last spring I caught a severe cold, which developed into a serious case of catarrh. I felt weak and sick, and could neither eat nor sleep well.

"A member of our club who had been cured of catarrh through the use of Peruna advised me to try it, and I did so at once. I expected help, but nothing like the wonderful change for the better I observed almost as soon as I started taking it. In three days I felt much better, and within two weeks I was in fine health. Peruna is a wonderful medicine."

Noted Physician Tells How to Prevent and Cure Rheumatism, Kidney and Bladder Troubles.

If you would avoid Rheumatism and Kidney and Bladder Troubles, be moderate in the consumption of heavy, rich foods, substitute as far as possible soups, broths, fresh milk and drink water—lots of water. Take plenty of time to eat, and don't eat after you have had enough, even if it does taste good. If your work is confining take a moderate amount of exercise each day in the open air.

Of course, neither diet, water, rest nor exercise will cure these afflictions. I advise them as preventives only. For the benefit of the readers of this article who are now afflicted with Rheumatism, Kidney, Bladder or Urinary trouble, and desire to be cured quickly, I give below, complete in every detail, the famous prescription which has made me so successful in the treatment of these diseases. It is the most certain cure for these diseases that I have ever used. It is pleasant to take, it is not expensive, it can be filled by any druggist, and I believe it is the greatest prescription for Rheumatism, Kidney and Bladder Trouble ever written. It is also a valuable spring tonic and blood purifier. If you are a sufferer, save this, take it to your druggist and have it filled, or get the ingredients and mix them at home.

Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, ½ ounce.

Concentrated Barkola Compound, 1 ounce.

Fluid Extract Prickly Ash Bark, ½ drachm.

Adult dose, take one teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime; children, one-fourth to one-half teaspoonful after meals.

After you are cured follow the advice I have given you in regard to diet, exercise and water, and you will not need the services of a physician again for these ailments.

A Two Pound Fish in a Jug.

A remarkable catch of fish was made here recently. While workmen were busy cleaning out an old ditch that had been abandoned for five years they came upon an old jug. In the jug was a two-pound fish that was as lively as if just taken from the river.

It is supposed that it entered the jug when it was a minnow. The neck of the jug was much smaller than the fish.

IN WESTERN CANADA.

Delicate in the Old Home; Better Health in the New.

Churchbridge, Sask.,
December 1st, 1906.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,

I came to this country from the State of Wisconsin three years ago, and must say that I am greatly pleased with the outlook in this western country. For my own part I am entirely satisfied with the progress I have made since coming here. I have raised excellent crops of grain of all varieties. Last season my wheat averaged 23 bushels of wheat to the acre, oats 60 and barley 40.

We had a splendid garden this year, ripening successfully tomatoes, muskmelons, water melons, sweet corn and kindred sorts.

The country is well adapted to wheat growing and mixed farming, and to my mind it is the best country under the sun for a man with a family and small means, as it is possible for a man to commence farming operations with much less capital than is required in the older settled countries.

The climate is all that could be desired, being very healthy and invigorating.

My wife came out about six months ago, and although inclined to be delicate in the old home, she has enjoyed the best of health since coming here.

In short, I am more than satisfied with the land of my adoption, and I am also satisfied with the laws of the country.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) JOHN LANGDON.

His Wish.

"My daughter tells me that you are anxious to become my son-in-law?"

"No, sir."

"Why—ahem—I understood her to say you wished to marry her?"

"I do—that's just what I do wish; the fact that so doing will cause me to be your son-in-law is merely unavoidable."

BABY IN TERRIBLE STATE.

Awful Humor Eating Away Face—Body a Mass of Sores—Cuticura Cures in Two Weeks.

"My little daughter broke out all over her body with a humor, and we used everything recommended, but without results. I called in three doctors, but she continued to grow worse. Her body was a mass of sores, and her little face was being eaten away. Her ears looked as if they would drop off. Neighbors advised me to get Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and before I had used half of the cake of Soap and box of Ointment the sores had all healed, and my little one's face and body were as clear as a new-born babe's. I would not be without it again if it cost five dollars, instead of seventy-five cents. Mrs. George J. Steese, 701 Coburn St., Akron, O., Aug. 30, 1905."

DRAINAGE OF SWAMP LANDS.

Regions Now Worthless Will Be Turned Into Farms Worth $500,000,000.

If drainage of swamp lands in Minnesota continues for the next ten years at the rate which it will prevail for the coming two years, every acre of the 10,000,000 of such lands will be drained and the value raised from a purely speculative one of $50,000,00 at present to an actual worth of $500,000,000.

On the same basis, the 1,500,000 acres of swamp lands in St. Louis and Itasca counties will increase in value from $7,500,000 to $75,000,000.

This is the statement of George H. Ralph of Crookston, state engineer of the drainage commission for several years, who was re-elected to the position at a salary advanced from $1,800 to $3,000 a year.

Mr. Ralph is perhaps the best posted man to be found on the subject of drainage in view of the fact that this subject has been his to investigate for years as a business proposition.

"There is a revival started of swamp land drainage such as has never been known before," said Mr. Ralph. "This applies to state lands, to county drainage and to work for the benefit of private property. Individual counties are going into drainage as never before, with a belief that no other investment will yield such good returns. Clay county has nearly $300,000 worth of drainage work planned for the next two years. Freeborn county has contracts let for nearly $200,000 worth of ditches. Wilkin, Otter Tail, Stearns, Aitkin, Kandiyohi and other counties are arranging to drain their swamp lands on a scale heretofore unheard of in Minnesota. At a conservative estimate I would say at least $1,000,000 will be invested in drainage for each of the coming two years and practically all of it in Northern Minnesota."

State and private lands will both be benefited by the passage of the recent state drainage law. This law appropriates $100,000 for each of the coming two years. Of the annual allowance of $100,000, $50,000 is to be used for coöperation with county drainage. Much of it will doubtless be expended in enlarging natural waterways which are becoming overtaxed because of the large number of drainage ditches that feed into them.

State ditches under the new law are to be paid for out of assessments on abutting and improved swamp lands. Heretofore private corporations holding large wet tracts on speculations have gained much by state ditches indirectly draining their lands as well as state acreage. The present law assesses costs to private property for immediate payment where such property is bettered and where state lands are drained the assessments are added to the price at which the lands are to be eventually sold. Thus the state drainage appropriation to a certain extent is a revolving fund, to be used temporarily for immediate expenses of new ditches, and to be compensated by the assessments when they are paid in.

The swamp lands when drained are the richest and most fertile agricultural lands to be found. State authorities believe they will increase in value from $5 to at least $50 an acre when prepared for agricultural purposes. The swamp land soils have been analyzed under state direction and declared to be the most ideal for general agriculture of any soils in the state.

GETS TREBLE DAMAGES.

State Wins Important Lumber Suit in Duluth.

An important victory for the state has been achieved in the St. Louis county district court, according to word received by Attorney General E. T. Young. The court decided in favor of the state in one of the cases of The State vs. Shevlin Carpenter Lumber Company.

The amount involved in the suit was $29,995, and as there were stipulations with the counsel that several other suits where the same point was involved that the other suits should depend on this one, the amount is approximately $100,000 which the state will recover by this suit.

"The state claimed treble damages for timber cut on section 10-59-21 in St. Louis county during 1903 and 1904," said Mr. Young. "The company had a permit to cut timber, issued in 1900, which expired, and assuming the act under the permit, the company paid the permit price to the state after cutting. Inasmuch as all right ceased with the expiration of the permit, we sued for treble damages. The court gives treble damages and deducts the amount already paid, leaving the amount due $29,995. We had the stipulation with the counsel agreeing that several other cases should depend on this, so the amount involved is about $100,000. There are, of course, a large number of other cases that do not involve this question.

"The question has already been to the supreme court on the constitutionality of the law and will probably be taken there again, although the law was held valid."

GERMAN PRINCES IN BUSINESS.

Lippe-Detmold's Income From Butter and Eggs.

The kaiser, who inherited from one of his wealthy subjects a porcelain factory at Cardinen worth about 3,000,000 marks, is not, says the Glasgow Herald, the only royal man of business in Germany.

The prince of Lippe-Detmold makes the major part of his income from the sale of butter and eggs from his estate and bricks from his limekilns. His civil list is small and he keeps up the royal state of his little principality (he looks into three countries from his drawing room) by the revenues from his personal property.

Prince Bismarck had the monopoly of supplying the telegraph poles for the German empire and had a distillery in which he produced a particularly vivacious schnapps which is said to be a "a near thing to a torchlight procession."

Prince Guido von Henckel von Donnersmarck is not only the richest coal proprietor in the German empire, but is also a silk manufacturer.

Prince Christian Kraft von Hohenlohe, duke of Ujest, is not only a mine owner but also the owner of the Hohenlohe meal factory, the Hohenlohe cake bakery and—horrible to relate—the Hohenlohe corset factory.

Prince Max Egon von Furstenberg, the richest aristocrat in Germany and friend of the kaiser, is a brewer, and the "Furstlich Furstenbergisches bier" has more than a local reputation. It is the kaiser's favorite beer, and the prince has the exclusive privilege of supplying the beer for the whole royal household.

On entering a deserted mining tunnel about six miles north of Reno, recently, George Hensler, a mining man of that city, was surprised to find himself face to face with a huge brown bear. He grabbed a knife from his belt and made a lunge at the bear, but Mr. Bruin grabbed him, and after giving him a bone cracking hug threw him to the ground and rushed out of the tunnel.

Hensler followed the bear, but lost no time in hurrying to his horse, which was tied to a pine tree a few yards down the mountain side. He made record time to Reno, and, bleeding and with clothes torn, related the story to a number of companions.

HEALTH OF WOMEN

In this nineteenth century to keep up with the march of progress every power of woman is strained to its utmost, and the tax upon her physical system is far greater than ever.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers few drugs were used in medicines. They relied upon roots and herbs to cure weaknesses and disease, and their knowledge of roots and herbs was far greater than that of women today.

It was in this study of roots and herbs that Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., discovered and gave to the women of the world a remedy more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.

is an honest, tried and true remedy of unquestionable therapeutic value.

This medicine made from native roots and herbs contains no narcotics or other harmful drugs and today holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases of any medicine the world has ever known, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the laboratory at Lynn, Mass., which testify to its wonderful value.

Mrs. C. E. Fink, of Carnegie, Pa., writes:—Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—"I wish every suffering woman would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and write to you for advice. It has done me a world of good and what it has accomplished for me I know it will do for others."

When women are troubled with Irregularities, Displacements, Ulceration, Inflammation, Backache, Nervous Prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

THE VALUE OF PERSONAL KNOWLEDGE

Personal knowledge is the winning factor in the culminating contests of this competitive age and when of ample character it places its fortunate possessor in the front ranks of

The Well Informed of the World.

A Knowledge of Forms, Knowledge of Functions and Knowledge of Products are all of the utmost value and in questions of life and health when a true and wholesome remedy is desired it should be remembered that Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., is an ethical product which has met with the approval of the most eminent physicians and gives universal satisfaction, because it is a remedy of Known Quality, Known Excellence and Known Component Parts and has won the valuable patronage of millions of the Well Informed of the world, who know of their own personal knowledge and from actual use that it is the first and best of family laxatives, for which no extravagant or unreasonable claims are made.

This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of—Syrup of Figs—and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent family laxative. As its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well Informed of the world to be the best we have adopted the more elaborate name of—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtless it will always be called for by the shorter name of—Syrup of Figs—and to get its beneficial effects, always note, when purchasing the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package, whether you call for—Syrup of Figs—or by the full name—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna.

PLAN CIVIL WAR IN GUATEMALA

REVOLUTION AS FIRST STEP TOWARD FEDERATION OF CENTRAL AMERICA.

WAIT SIGNAL FROM MEXICO

City of Mexico, May 9. — That a revolution will break out in Guatemala within thirty days is the statement of an official who has every point of the present embroglio well in hand. Gen. Toledo, who will be commander of the movement, it is stated, is now at Managua, conferring with President Zelaya of Nicaragua. The signal for the advance will come when Mexico severs diplomatic relations with Guatemala.

Toledo Has 16,000 Men.

Gen. Toledo will cross Honduras with about 16,000 men. Arms and ammunition are already assured. At the same time a force which this same authority says will probably be led by Col. Orla will penetrate Guatemala from the Mexican border in Chiapas. It is declared that this movement will be the first step toward the federation of the Central American republics.

Would Shock the World.

According to a high Mexican official who, for obvious reasons desires that his name be withheld, this government has learned that a state of affairs exists in Guatemala which, if made known would shock the civilized world. This information was conveyed to the government by refugees who arrived yesterday.

Jails Are Filled.

As soon as the attempt on the life of Cabrera was made officers of his government indiscriminately arrested men, women and children. Most of these were from the best families of the republic and many were accounted former friends of the president. The jails are filled and temporary jails are being utilized. In some cases prisoners enter their place of incarceration and are never seen or heard from again.

Will Not Go to War.

Mexico will not go to war with Guatemala over the extradition of Gen. Jose Maria Lima, charged with complicity in the assassination here of Gen. Manuel Lisandrio Barrillas, former president of Guatemala.

This fact was officially announced by Minister of Foreign Relations Mariscal yesterday. The decision is irrevocable. Minister Mariscal modifies his statement, however, in so far as to say that any overt act or direct insult by the Cabrera government would completely change the attitude of Mexico. He added that no such contingency is expected.

FIRE SWEEPS PRAIRIE.

Dozen of Settlers' Shacks Are Destroyed by Flames.

Williston, N. D., May 9.—Five hundred homesteaders in McKenzie county fought a fierce prairie fire all day Sunday and throughout Monday. In the vicinity of Scheffer, 50,000 acres of valuable grazing land has been burned over. It is reported that dozens of settlers' shacks were destroyed in spite of the united effort made to save them. It is said to be the worst fire in the history of McKenzie county.

TWO FORFEIT BAIL.

Men's Non-appearance in Court Costs $1,000 Each Put Up.

Watertown, S. D., May 9. — Court in the Third judicial circuit convened in this city yesterday, with Judge George H. Marquis presiding. The call of the court calendar showed a smaller grist of cases than usual. Chris Filber and Myron Aylesworth, charged with a statutory offense, failed to appear and each forfeited $1,000 bail.

Minot, N. J., May 9. — Michael J. Kelly, a homesteader, was found dead on the roadside between Antler and his home. It is believed that he was accidentally killed in a runaway.

IRISH BILL AT LAST PRESENTED

CONFERS LITTLE SELF-GOVERNMENT UPON IRELAND—IRISH DISAPPOINTED.

London, May 9. — The government yesterday presented its long-awaited Irish bill to the house of commons and the country. This bill is designed to meet the demands for Irish home rule. It was presented by the chief secretary for Ireland, Mr. Birrell, to a crowed house.

Compared with the home rule bills of 1886 and 1906 this measure confers little self-government upon Ireland, merely giving to the council control of the eight departments now managed by government boards.

The council is to be appointed by the crown, and while the lord lieutenant of Ireland is given power to nullify its measures, the crown retains control of five of the eight departments, including the constabulary. The control of this branch always has been a thorn in the flesh of the Irish people.

It is natural and quite to be expected that this half way measure is wholly pleasing to no political party. The Unionists regard it as a step toward home rule. The Radicals are disappointed that the measure falls so short of actual home rule and the Irish members are even more disappointed with it.

Irish Are Diplomatic.

The Irish leaders, however, are maintaining a diplomatic attitude until they have time to study the provisions of the bill and learn the sentiment of the people.

A Nationalist convention will be held in Dublin soon to decide upon the policy of the Irish party. The laborites will support the measure because they are all home rulers.

To prevent the first reading of the bill being deferred until to-day, and while Walter Hume Long was still speaking, Mr. Birrell moved the closure. Then amid great uproar and protests and shouts of "gag" the closure was carried by 417 votes to 121, and the bill passed its first reading by 416 votes to 121.

The house then adjourned.

NINE DEAD IN TEXAS TORNADO.

Crops Are Badly Damaged and Property Loss Will Be Great.

Mount Pleasant, Tex., May 9. — Heavy damage and loss of life was wrought by the tornado which swept Northern Texas late Monday. The towns of Ridgeway and Birthright are reported practically destroyed.

All telegraphic and telephonic communication is suspended and details are lacking.

Nine persons are reported killed in the two villages and vicinity. Several persons were injured by flying debris.

Birthright, a town of 500 inhabitants, is reported to have been completely destroyed. Great damage is reported at Caney, a negro settlement, and loss of life may have occurred there.

Crops in the path of the tornado are badly damaged and fences have been destroyed.

LEAVES WEALTH TO KIN.

Will of "Silent Smith" Disposes of $25,000,000 Estate.

New York, May 9.—The will of the late James Henry Smith—"Silent Smith"—was made public in this city yesterday. The value of the estate is estimated at not more than $25,000,000.

All his near kin receive legacies and there are bequests to two local hospitals. The will provides for a direct heir, but of this it is said there is not a remote possibility.

His nephews, George Grant Mason and William Smith Mason, are the principal beneficiaries of the estate, receiving two-thirds and one-third, respectively, of the residue.

BIG LOSS TO UNDERWRITERS.

Steamship Dakota Will Cost London Companies About $3,750,000.

Liverpool, May 9.—An agent of the Liverpool Salvage association sent to Japan to make a report on the prospects of refloating the Great Northern Steamship company's transpacific line steamer Dakota, which ran ashore in the bay of Tokio March 3, cables that it is hopeless to attempt to salvage the vessel, though part of her cargo may be saved.

The Dakota is said to represent a loss to the London underwriters of $3,750,000.

DUEL IS FATAL TO BOTH.

Aspirants for Hand of Mexican Young Lady Fight Duel.

Pueblo, Mex., May 9. — Lauro Janders, millionaire owner of several haciendas, and Jose Maria Beltran, municipal director of Tlatanqui, both aspirants for the hand of the daughter of a prominent planter of this district, fought a duel with pistols in the streets, in which both were mortally wounded. Both men fell at the first fire.

Girl's Hand Is Crushed.

Prairie due Chien, Wis., May 9. — Mary Ludwig, twenty-two years old, a helper in the Disman house laundry, accidentally had her right hand crushed to the wrist in a power wringer and but for timely assistance would have lost her arm.

118 Foot Fall Is Fatal.

Minot, N. D., May 9.—Jess Skidner of Bird Island, Minn., lost his life by stepping out of a freight car and falling from a bridge 118 feet high, five miles west of the city.

LAMBERTON (MINN.) CITIZENS AT PARK "BEE."

Residents of progressive village, who excavate for walks and haul gravel for work of construction, are (from right to left): "The Kid" (helpful but unidentified by proper name), C. F. Waterman, John Frasch, Eugene Terry, C. H. Anderson, A. J. Gebhard, Ole Kaal, Charles Gammah, L. O. Clement, Young Wolfe, C. C. Walker, Wensel Lang, John Blake, P. N. Kuske, E. Clausen, Henry Mayer, E. N. Englund, George Kluegel, L. Redding, C. A. Koenig, Albert H. Enerson, Henry Gebhard, Henry Schaffran, Henry Asmus, Adolph Beyer.

The citizens of Lamberton again have displayed their loyalty to home. Last Friday, at the request of the village council, the business and professional men turned out with spade, shovel, team and wagon and spent the whole day in digging trenches for gravel walks diagonally across the village park located immediately east of "Crocus Hill." After the trenches were dug teams were called into use and gravel was hauled from a near-by gravel pit.

The force of men divided, one squad operating the spade and shovel in the park and the other loading the gravel at the pit. The above picture is taken of the crew at the park after a strenuous afternoon. Those who did not get out on the above day will be out as soon as the roads recover from last Saturday's snowstorm, and the work then will be completed.

The park in question was given to the village by a land company about ten years ago. Trees were planted in the block donated, but not until this spring has it been thought wise to open the park to the public. Preparations now are going on for the building of a band grandstand in the center, and the citizens are donating money for that purpose. While the work of beautifying the park cannot all be completed this year, as some parts of it must be leveled off more smoothly and seats and resting places built, yet it is safe to say that there will be a pleasant little resting place for citizens and visitors by the Fourth of July.

The Lamberton band has arranged to give concerts at the new bandstand on certain Sundays during the summer, and, all in all, Lamberton will be repaid for the time and money spent on this little park.

SOON MAY SERVE UNDER WEST POINTER

Standing—Maj. Ezra Colquhoun of Blooming Prairie, Minn.; Lieut. Col. Clayton H. Sterns, N. G. M., commandant of cadet forces.

The Pillsbury academy cadet corps this year has about 110 members. It is probable that a West Pointer soon will be secured to drill the battalion. At present the cadets are in charge of Clayton H. Stern, lieutenant colonel in the Minnesota national guard, and an excellent drill master. Under his direction the cadets have reached a high point of efficiency until they now are considered to be among the best drilled bodies of men in the state.

The uniform worn is the regulation cadet gray and the men are required to wear their uniform four days of each week, upon which days drill is held. The school is only semi-military in character, as both young men and women are admitted to its rolls and the sexes are about evenly divided.

With only one exception every officer whose photograph appears above played on the football team of the school, and six of the eight have won their initials.

ISANTI COUNTY WANTS SCHOOL.

Cambridge, Isanti county, is the latest candidate seeking to have the new industrial school for girls located in its neighborhood. A committee of four, headed by Senator C. J. Swenson of Anoka, appeared before the state board of control and presented the formal application of the village for the school. The members of the board of control, however, say they will not take any action until later in the summer, perhaps in August.

So far Elbow Lake is the only other place that has made formal application, althought a number of towns have made inquiries and intimated that they will enter the race. Among these are Rush City, Litchfield, Redwood Falls, Fairmont, Le Sueur, Waterville and the Chisago county villages, Lindstrom, Center City and Chisago City. New Ulm, Royalton and Pine City presented bills at the legislative session to have the school located in those towns, and they will probably come in later.

Willmar made an offer yesterday to obtain the inebriate hospital farm which was provided for by the last legislature. A site of 640 acres is to be purchased for the farm. Willmar is the first applicant.

BUTTERMAKERS COMPETE.

Mr. Slater Will Hold Six-months Scoring Contest.

A butter scoring contest similar to the one conducted last summer by the state dairy and food department will be held again this summed. There will be six scorings in as many months, the winner of the highest average to receive the grand prize.

A trip to New York with stopover privileges at Chicago will be the reward of the buttermaker who makes the best scoring.

At the meeting of the creamery experts in Commissioner E. K. Slater's office it was agreed that this would be more appreciated by the winner and would do more to promote the dairy industry of the state than giving the buttermaker the ordinary silver loving cup.

The intention is to have the buttermaker who wins the trip spend some time in New York and Chicago studying the butter markets in those places to get informed on butter handling and on what helps to bring high and low prices for Minnesota butter.

Another innovation will be to have the judges score at all six contests. Each judge will score separately and the scores will be averaged.

A dairy butter contest and a cheese contest will also be held in connection with the creamery butter contest.

The commissioner also spent some time instructing his experts in their duties under the new food laws, preparatory to starting on their summer inspection trips.

THREE NEW ROADS FOR DULUTH

WISCONSIN CENTRAL AFFAIRS ADJUSTED—OTHER ROADS BUILDING.

Duluth, May 9.—Duluth is the objective point of at least three railroads, with the possibility of a fourth. Chief among these is the Wisconsin Central road. The troubles between the city and the Central over a franchise allowing the road to cross the streets and avenues have been adjusted, the city winning out on all points. The road has filed an acceptance of the ordinance passed by the council.

The road has been forced to agree to allow the use of its terminals to other roads as long as they are not competitive, on the payment of a fair share of the expense of establishing the terminals.

This clause was insisted upon by the city, as the Wisconsin Central has acquired about the last available right of way into the city. It is expected to be made use of by the Soo road and by the proposed Twin City & Lake Superior Railway company.

A third road is the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg. When completed this road will give a direct line to Winnipeg, connecting with the Canadian Northern road at the border.

FATAL FIRE IN KANSAS CITY.

One Life Lost and Several Persons Are Missing.

Kansas City, Mo., May 9.—Fire yesterday afternoon destroyed the five-story building at Locust and Ninth streets, causing a property loss estimated at $250,000. One life was lost, six persons are missing and fifteen were more or less seriously injured. The debris is still burning and cannot be searched for some time.

The building was occupied by Montgomery Ward & Co. and by numerous artists and musicians.

AUTO HITS CARRIAGE.

Four Young Women Are Hurt, but Only One Seriously.

Grinnell, Iowa, May 9. — An automobile driven by Fred Spauling ran into a carriage containing four young women near here. Lena Frolland, seeing the collision was inevitable, leaped from the carriage and sustained serious injuries. The other three girls were thrown out by the collision but were not seriously hurt.

BRING EDITORS FROM ALL OVER.

St. Paul Is After National Convention for 1908.

St. Paul, May 9. — St. Paul has entered the field for the National Editorial association meeting in 1908, and, according to the officers of that body, stands a good chance of landing it. The convention will meet at the Jamestown exposition June 10 to 14, and so far no other city has announced its intention of inviting the editors for the next meeting. St. Paul will be represented at Jamestown by a large delegation, which will open headquarters, distribute literature and make friends with the delegates.

THREE ARE INDICTED.

Grand Jury at Fergus Falls Makes Returns.

Fergus Falls, Minn., May 9. — The grand jury in the federal court here returned its first batch of indictments yesterday. Joseph H. Newton of Roosevelt was indicted on a charge of cutting timber on government land. John Zwack, a rural mail carrier, was indicted on a charge of embezzling funds intrusted to him, and Anton Potter is accused of having failed to cancel revenue stamps on packages of liquors.

MADMAN TRAVELS NUDE.

Escapes From Fergus Falls and Goes to Home in Melrose.

Melrose, Minn., May 9. — John Ungers, an insane man who escaped from the Ferguas Falls hospital Tuesday, arrived here yesterday morning without a stitch of clothing on his body. He made his way to Melrose by stealing a ride in a box car. He was discovered by the train crew. Unger asked a brakeman the name of the town, and when told it was Melrose he jumped from the car and ran to his parents' home.

TO PUT BOYS TO WORK.

Lively Campaign Planned for Beautifying Menomonie.

Menomonie, Wis., May 9. — The Menomonie Improvement association has inaugurated a lively campaign for cleaning up and beautifying the city. Every boy and every one else who can spare the time is asked to join the "clean up" brigade, which will clean the parks, drives and lake shore on Arbor day. Competent captains have been chosen to superintend the work.

Made Dumb; Goes Mad.

Creston, Iowa, May 9. —Mrs. Rosa I. Irwin, twenty-three years old, wife of a well known farmer, was recently stricken dumb following a day's hard work. Believing that her affliction was punishment for imaginary sin, Mrs. Irwin worried so much that her mind became unbalanced and she was removed to the hospital for the insane.

Woman Dies Fighting Fire.

Minneapolis, May 9. — Mrs. Charlotte McFarland was burned to death yesterday while attempting to extinguish a small fire which broke out in a bedroom in her home. It is supposed that she was overcome by smoke. She was dead when found.

STATE WINS FIRST POINT AT BOISE

WILL BE HARD TO GET JURY

MANY WHO KNOW COMMUNITY SAY IT WILL BE IMPOSSIBLE TO GET JURY.

Boise, Idaho, May 9. — By overruling yesterday the motion of the defense for a bill of particulars setting forth what overt acts, if any, there were to connect the accused with the death of Former Governor Frank Steunenberg, Judge Fremont Wood of the district court of Ada county, cleared the way for the trial of Wm. D. Haywood, secretary of the Western Federation of Miners, which will begin this morning. Judge Wood held that the request of Haywood's counsel for a more explicit statement of the charges against the prisoners

Came Too Late.

In cases where bills of particulars are allowable, the judge declared, the motions must be made before the indictments are pleaded to and before the cases are set for trial.

Haywood is the first of the four men accused of complicity in the Steunenberg murder to be selected for trial. The others, Moyer, Pettibone and Orchard, the last of whom is said to have confessed, will be tried as circumstances dictate, following the proceedings against Haywood. The prisoner, his counsel and the attorneys specially retained to present the case are ready for the long ordeal in court.

Difficult to Get Jury.

The first and one of the great tasks is to secure a jury, and that will be commenced as soon as Sheriff Hodgin has intoned the formal cry opening the court. Estimates of the time necessary to select twelve men vary, but practically none place the time under three weeks.

Many men who know the community well and who add to their calculation the further handicap of apprehension of future violence for revenge, take the extreme view that it will be impossible to secure a jury. But the height of opinion is against this conclusion.

GIRL SWALLOWS STRYCHNINE.

Companion Sees Rash Deed and Faints, Overcome With Horror.

Shenandoah, Iowa, May 9. — Pouring into her hand several grains of strychnine, Lida Golden, a young woman living at the home of Charles Hastings at Farragut, hastily swallowed the deadly drug before Mrs. Hastings could interfere. Mrs. Hastings fainted from the horror of it, and a doctor was not summoned until she revived, when it was too late to save the young girl's life.

SIX-STORY BLOCK FALLS.

No One Injured in Crash of Wholesale Building at Omaha.

Omaha, Neb., May 9. — The six-story building at Ninth and Leavenworth streets, occupied by Parlin, Orendorff & Martin company, wholesale farm implements collapsed, the walls falling inward. The property loss, which cannot be estimated, is heavy. The employes had not reached the building and no one was injured.

MRS. EASTMAN VICTIM OF GAS.

Mother of Normal School Professor Found Dead at Cedar Falls.

Cedar Falls, Iowa, May 9. — Mrs. Caroline Eastman, aged seventy-nine, mother of Dr. Frederick C. Eastman of the normal school faculty, was found dead yesterday. She evidently arose as usual and attempted to light a gas heater. She then laid down to wait for the room to be heated and the gas asphyxiated her.

PAPER PLANT BURNED OUT.

Office of Faribault Journal Destroyed by Fire.

Faribault, Minn., May 9.—The office and plant of the Faribault Journal were destroyed by fire at 4 a. m. The loss is estimated at $10,000, with $2,000 insurance on the building, which was owned by C. M. Wall. The fire started from defective wiring in the basement.

Found Hanging in a Woodshed.

St. Paul, May 9. — Frederick C. Scherfenberg, a veteran who served with the First Minnesota regiment in the Civil war, was found dead, his body suspended from a rope in a woodshed in the rear of his home. Dr. J. M. Finnell, deputy coroner, made an investigation and decided that the man took his own life.

Winter Crop Damaged.

Menomonie, Wis., May 9. — Winter grain and clover have been largely killed out in Dunn county by the late cold weather. Alternate freezing and thawing without the protection of snow has caused the trouble.

Search for Hidden Fortune.

Marshalltown, Iowa, May 9. — A search is being made for the hidden wealth of Mrs. Honora McKnight, the aged recluse who was burned to death. It is known that she kept gold hidden about in strange places.

Saturday, May 11, 1907.

This backward spring has even had a bad effect on the base ball situation.

With this issue of THE SPECTATOR we publish the session laws passed by the late legislature, in supplement form. Look it over.

We are not the only part of the country to suffer from the cold, backward spring. Immense damages have been done in many localities.

The republicans of Ohio will present the name of William H. Taft as their favorite son for the republican nomination for president.

We begin this week a series of illustrated articles for the St. Hilaire Commercial Club. The articles tell of the many advantages of doing your business at home and building up your own town. It will pay you to read them carefully. One will appear each week.

The late lamented legislature passed a law creating a state inebriate hospital which is maintained by the saloons of the state. Hereafter cities or villages will have to pay two per cent of their liquor license money, or $10.00 for each license, to support the hospital.

To sign or not to sign, whether it is better to endure the ills we now have, or sign that county seat petition and bring upon ourselves troubles we know not of; is the question the average citizen is meditating upon these days. It is something like those roads in Texas. If you take one you will wish you had tried the other. The taxpayer will be the chief mourner—either way.

WHEAT AND ITS COST.

The following statistics were compiled on the government statistical route located at Halstad. It shows the cost of producing wheat per acre on fall plowing during the years 1902, 1903 and 1904. This wheat was grown on farms ranging from one quarter to one section, and where wheat is sown on fully one-half of the acreage. Man labor was valued at 12½c and horse labor at 7½c per hour. These figures are the result of keeping and maintaining the labor:

Seed value	81
Cleaning seed	2½
Plowing	1 06
Dragging	27
Seeding	27
Weeding	08
Cutting, with binder	33
Shocking	12
Twine	18
Stacking	44
Stack threshing, labor	20
Cash cost of threshing	34
Machinery cost	35½
Land rental	1 80
Total	$6·26

These statistics were gathered with great care by a representative of the national department of agriculture, who got the information by keeping accounts of the actual expenses of quite a number of farmers in Anthony and Halstad townships for a period of three years. In giving the figures the Review has left off the fractions of a cent, as even figures are close enough for all practical purposes.

The total given would indicate that it takes an average yield of about ten bushels per acre at the present price to pay expenses, and what can be gotten above that figure is nearly all profit, while anything less than that amount means a loss.

TEST ASSOCIATION.

You very often hear expressions to the effect that farm papers and institute workers are handing out theories that farmers can't follow. This may be the case in some instances and it is perhaps well to follow them up and help them down to practical things but it is very often shown that the one who takes in the farmers' educational meetings and read the papers for more information on farming, and then uses good judgment in selecting and digesting the brain food according to his own needs and conditions surrounding him is the one that makes the best success of his farming. The herd record and test association is at present mentioned in every dairy paper and on every institute platform and is undoubtedly one of the best things for the dairy farmer to heed for starting him thinking about his work and seek better methods in dairy farming and farming in general.

The St. Hilaire Test association has two month's records of the herds and the figures, already, show surprising results and the good part of it all is that the records are right at home under our own conditions, and comparisons are not made with records in other states where they have so much better (?) conditions than we have.

Perhaps the best record made by any of the members was that of Chas. Gustafson. From his 5 cows he got a total of 154.5 pounds of butter fat for the month of April, or an average of a little over 30 pounds per cow for the month. One of his cows was fresh in November and the others this year. The best cow, Spottie, gave 40 pounds of butter fat in the month. For comparison of results we will take another herd of 8 cows that gave 64.1 pounds, or an average of a little over 8 pounds per cow. According to these figures if this farmer should have obtained 154 pounds of butter fat in the month with the same grade of cows he would have had to increase the number to 19, and one can easily see the difference in profit in the two cases. One must, of course, take into consideration that this is only one month's record and that the year's record may change this to some extent.

The question always comes up: "What is the test association good for?" This question is difficult to answer but here is one good thing it has already done; it has pointed out to us that it is possible to get 40 pounds of butter fat from one cow in one month and 154 pounds from 5 cows in the same time here in northern Minnesota, and the next thing it has created a desire in the members of this association to come together and hear what kind of stock food or what kind of witchery Mr. Gustafson uses to produce these results. Had we not had this test association we would not have known of this nor of where our poor cows are. Let us put our efforts towards making the Test association as good as possible for there may be other things we can learn.

Below are given records of individual cows that have done well:

Cows giving over 30 lbs in April:

OWNER'S NAME	NAME OF COW	lbs FAT
Chas. Gustafson	Spottie	40.1
	Little Cow	34.7
	Flora	30.3
Swan Wiberg	Victoria	34
Cows giving over 25 lbs in April:
Chas. Gustafson	Jane	27.6
Ole Larson	Krona	25
David Haugen	Shjerva	25.6
	Reddy	25

Telephone Ordinance.

AN ORDINANCE granting G. W. Hooper, his heirs, successors and assigns, the privilege and authority to erect poles, wires and operating fixtures in the streets, alleys and public grounds of the village of St. Hilaire for the purpose of operating a local telephone system and exchange therein upon the terms and conditions herein stated.

THE VILLAGE COUNCIL OF THE VILLAGE OF ST. HILAIRE DO ORDAIN:

SECTION I.

That the privilege, permission and authority is hereby granted to G. W. Hooper, his heirs, successors and assigns, to erect and maintain in the streets and alleys and public grounds of said village, poles, wires and operating fixtures necessary and convenient for the purpose of conducting and operating a local telephone exchange in and through said village and supplying to the citizens of said village and the public suitable communication by telephone. Such right and use to be and continue for the term of twenty years from the date hereof, and upon the terms and conditions hereinafter stated.

SECTION II.

The location of the poles, wires and lines and any change therein or extension thereof shall be done under the direction of the common council of said village.

SECTION III.

The wires, poles and operating fixtures shall be placed and maintained so as not to interfere with the use and travel of said streets, alleys and public grounds, and when ordered by the council the poles on the principal streets shall be not less than thirty-five feet in length; and said G. W. Hooper shall, at all times, protect the city free and harmless from any and all damages arising by reason of his negligence or abuse in the accompanying and use of said streets, alleys and public grounds, and from any and all damages, in any manner arising out of, or by reason of the existence of said poles, wires and operating fixtures. Said poles shall be placed so as not to interrupt the flow of water in any sewer, pipe drain or gutter, and in case of bringing to grade, or change of grade of any street, alley or other public ground, said poles shall, by the said G. W. Hooper and at his expense, be reset so as to conform thereto.

This grant is made and is to be enjoyed subject to all such regulations and rights of said village as are now enforced, or may hereafter be adopted by the common council of said village.

SECTION IV.

The telephone system to be installed, under this grant, shall be modern and serviceable type and kind, and during all of the time of the continuance of this grant said G. W. Hooper, his heirs, successors or assigns shall keep and maintain in said system and exchange and all modifications and extensions thereof, in such condition as will give at all times to all its patrons first class service from eight o'clock a. m. until nine o'clock p. m. from May 1st until November 1st, the balance of the year the hours of service shall be from eight o'clock a. m. until eight o'clock p.m. and not to exceed five hours on Sunday.

Provided, however, that when the public welfare and convenience make it reasonably necessary and the volume of business may justify it, the hours of service shall be increased to twenty-four hours during week days and not to exceed ten hours on Sundays.

SECTION V.

The said G. W. Hooper, his successors or assigns shall, within eight months from the date hereof, fully construct, equip, and install said telephone system and exchange and have the same in operation, and upon failure to do so shall forfeit the sum of one hundred dollars. The construction of said telephone system shall be commenced before the 15th day of August, 1907, and if the said G. W. Hooper, his successors or assigns, fail to do so this grant may be cancelled or extended at the discretion of the common council of said village, and all rights and privileges herein granted shall be forfeited.

That, after said system and exchange shall have been constructed and installed should the said G. W. Hooper, his successors or assigns, at any time, fail to furnish the telephone service of the kind and in the manner hereinbefore stated, in such case the council of said village may, by resolution or otherwise, terminate all the rights and privileges herein granted after thirty days' notice, in writing, given to said G. W. Hooper, his heirs, successors or assigns, of intention to do so.

SECTION VI.

In consideration of the foregoing, the said G. W. Hooper hereby agrees to allow the said village to attach at any time to any of the poles, the city fire alarm, or police wires, and said poles are hereby made a municipal instrumentality for that purpose. Provided, that the said attachments and the use incident thereto shall not interfere with the said telephone business, and said attachment shall be made and maintained under the direction of the said G. W. Hooper, his successors or assigns.

SECTION VII.

The said G. W. Hooper shall, without charge to the said village, furnish it with two telephones to be placed as directed by the council. The said G. W. Hooper shall make no greater charge than $1.75 per month for business phones and one dollar per month for residence phones, until one hundred telephones have been installed on said system, when the rate may be raised, at the option of said G. W. Hooper, to two dollars per month for business phones and $1.25 per month for residence phones.

SECTION VIII.

The said G. W. Hooper shall build rural telephone lines into the rural districts tributary to the said village of St. Hilaire whenever two boni-fide subscribers can be secured per mile at a rental not to exceed eighteen dollars per annum.

SECTION IX.

This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage, approval and publication as provided by law, and upon the acceptance thereof by the said G. W. Hooper filed with the clerk of said village within thirty days after the passage thereof.

Passed, sixth day of May, 1907.

A. S. WILSON,
President of the Village Council,
of the Village of St. Hilaire.

Attested:
CARL JOHNSON,
Village Clerk.

Accepted this 7th day of May, 1907.

Notice to Clean Up.

Notice is hereby given to the residents and property owners of St. Hilaire that they must before May 20th, 1907, clean up and remove any and all garbage, manure or slops, on the premises owned or occupied by them and also on alleys or thoroughfares adjacent to said property. Said owners or occupants are also required to maintain any and all property which they own or occupy in a thoroughly sanitary condition, also that proprietors of hotels and restaurants keep sufficient barrels in the rear of their places of business in which to deposit all offal and refuse, and contents of which shall be deposited on the dumping grounds at least once in each week.

Any person failing to comply with this order willl be promptly prosecuted according to law.

DR. J. C. CUMMINGS,
Health Officer.

In order that the public may be thoroughly informed, we herewith publish the following resolutions, ordered by the board of health, which will be rigidly enforced:

I.

That owners of or occupants of lots within the village limits be required to remove from their respective premises before the 20th day of May, 1907, all manure, garbage and other refuse matter, manure must also be removed at frequent intervals during the summer months.

II.

That the keeping of hogs within the village limits be prohibited except upon special permission from the board of health.

III.

That the carcases of all dead animals such as cattle, dogs, sheep, etc., must be properly buried by the owners.

That slops and kitchen refuse must not be allowed to accumulate unless suitable receptacles be provided. The board requests every family to provide suitable barrels, convenient to be gotten at by some conveyance.

V.

The board recommends that private wells be thoroughly cleansed in order to remove from them all decaying animal and vegetable matter; and it is also recommended that particular attention be given to cleaning and disinfecting all cellars as these two are the main sources of all contagious diseases prevalent in this country.

VI.

The annual inspection by the board of health will take place May 20, 1907, at which time all premises not found free from garbage, manure or other refuse, and all outhouses in an unsanitary condition will be ordered cleaned according to the provisions of the village ordinances.

VII.

Garbage and refuse should be burned or mixed with a liberal amount of quick-lime or crude carbolic acid (5 per cent) and buried in a pit or hauled to a suitable dumping ground where it is exposed to the sunlight.

VIII.

Dated April 25, 1906, by order of the board of health.

DR. J. C. CUMMINGS,
Health Officer.

SUMMER SCHOOL.

Red Lake Falls Gazette: A four weeks' session of the summer training school will be held in this city commencing Monday, July 1st and ending Saturday, July 27th, word to that effect having been received by County Superintendent McAnulty from State Superintendent J. W. Olsen last week.

A summer training school is of inestimable value to the teachers of the county and Supt. McAnulty is to be congratulated on the culminate of his efforts on their behalf this year.

The corps of instructors is composed of C. S. Yeager, of Fosston; Marie Ring, of Glenwood; A. M. Dunton, of McIntosh, and Mary Gardner, of Duluth.

State examinations will be held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, July 29, 30 and 31. Supt. McAnulty requests us to announce that parties holding county certificates at this time can not be granted another after the state examinations held the last of July.

TELEPHONE FRANCHISE.

G. W. Hooper came up from Crookston last Monday and met with the village council the same evening and the council granted him a twenty-year telephone franchise as had been previously agreed upon. The ordinance granting the franchise is published in another column and it is a very liberal one for the village. Mr. Hooper has deposited a draft of one hundred dollars as a forfeit and has already accepted the franchise, so we are assured of a telephone exchange before the end of this year. It is the intention of Mr. Hooper to move here and take charge of the work and he informs us that he will build lines into the country at any time sufficient number of patrons can be secured. Telephones for farmers are beginning to be a necessity and we predict that the progressive farmers in this vicinity will soon have phone connections with the outside world.

WILL KILL WEEDS.

A farmer in Marshall, Minn., has succeeded in exterminating the troublesome weeds along the roadside and gives the following directions by which any farmer or pathmaster can do the same thing. Many of the streets of our village could be improved in looks by this method.

"Take 50 cents' worth of white clover seed, 10 cents' worth of timothy seed and 20 cent's worth of blue grass seed, mix thoroughly and sow on both sides of the road. Let every farmer do this and sow the highways surrounding his land and in two or three years the results will surprise anyone. This grass mixture will spread and kill all weeds. Only fifty cent's worth of seed will sow a mile of highway. The same process will clean the weeds out of city lots."

Don't You Like This Town?

MAIL ORDER CATALOG
FARMER

You live here. Your business interests are here. Your home is here.

You are reading a Mail Order Catalogue. That indicates that you are not spending your money in this town. You are spending it with strangers in a big city. That city has no use for this town except to get your money.

This town has use for your money. If spent here, your money will help to build up the town. It will help to build up your own business.

In the long run more of your money will come back to you if you spend it at home than if you send it to Chicago or some other large city. You spend a dollar with Smith, up the street. Smith spends it with Brown, around the corner. Brown is just as likely to spend it with you as with anybody else. Did you ever think of that?

All of us have to spend money. There is an art in spending it where it will do the most good. If spent so that it will circulate around this town and community, it will help this town and community. You belong to this town and community. Therefore it will help you. Isn't that good logic?

Suppose you think it over next time you pick up the Mail Order Catalogue.

All Business is Private

A man wants to feel that his banking matters are private—that anything he may explain confidentially to his bankers will not go any further.

One of the iron-clad rules of this bank is not to divulge business of a private nature. We are very particular on this point. Our customers know that their banking is safe in our hands—that we will not disclose any part of it.

We are particular bankers for particular people. Will you not bank with us?

MISS ADELAIDE NICHOLS

PERIODS OF PAIN

While no woman is entirely free from periodic suffering, it does not seem to be the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely. Irregularities and pain are positive evidence that something is wrong which should be set right or it will lead to serious derangement of the feminine organism.

Thousands of women, have found relief from all periodic suffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from native roots and herbs, as it is the most thorough female regulator known to medical science.

It cures the condition which causes so much discomfort and robs that period of its terrors. Women who are troubled with painful or irregular functions should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences and be restored to health and strength by taking

Miss Adelaide Nichols of 324 West 22nd Street, New York City, writes:—Dear Mrs, Pinkham:—"If women who suffer would only rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound their troubles would be quickly alleviated. I feel greatly indebted for the relief and health which has been brought to me by your inestimable remedy."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cures Female Complaints such as Falling and Displacements, and Organic Diseases. Headache, General Debility, Indigestion, and invigorates the whole feminine system. For the derangements of the Kidneys of either sex Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is excellent.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. From the symptoms given, the trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised.

"My wife had eczema for five or six years. It was on her face and would come and go. We thought we would give the Cuticura Remedies a trial. We did so and she has never had a sign of eczema for four years. I myself used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment some time ago for falling hair. I now have a very heavy head of hair. We used Cuticura Remedies for our baby, who was nearly bald when young. She has very nice hair now. She is very fleshy, and we had so much trouble with heat that we would bathe her with Cuticura Soap and then apply Cuticura Ointment, it would dry the heat up so much quicker than anything else. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

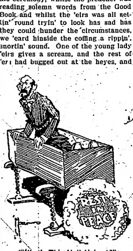
Incident That Drove Old Man Webb Out of the Business—Provided Funeral for Man Very Much Alive.

"Yes, sirs, gents, I 'ave been in a good many businesses in my lifetime, I 'ave," said Webb, the rubber in the Turkish bathhouse, as he sighed reminiscently. "I was born in hold Hengland, many's the year ago, and since that day I 'ave been a good many things in my lifetime, I 'ave. I 'ave been a clerk in a gents' furnishing store, I 'ave been a bartender, I 'ave been a waiter in a cheap-John restaurant, and once I was a hundertaker.

"Yes, gents," said Webb, as he sighed again, "I 'ave been a hundertaker. And whilst I was hengaged in that business I 'ad han hexperience that I 'opes as won't 'appen to none of you; for, gents, it cost me dear.

"It was on an hoccasion we'en I was 'ired to bury a hepilectic of 66 years. Hold man Gormley 'e was; a rich hold codger, and mean and stingy as hever lived, and I 'ave seen many a mean and stingy man in my time. There was once a man as give me a five-cent tip for serving 'im an heighty-five cent dinner, and, blarst me, the nickel 'ad a 'ole in it. But hold man Gormley died at last, and 'is 'eirs 'ad 'igh 'opes. But they give 'im a decent funeral; I will say that for 'em, and the money as was spent for givin' 'im a good send-off run well hup into the 'undreds. They 'hordered the best I 'ad in the shop, and I was hexpecting a right decent profit on the 'ole.

"Well, gents, right in the middle of the ceremony, whilst the preacher was reading solemn words from the Good Book and whilst the 'eirs was all settin' round tryin' to look has sad has they could hunder the circumstances, we 'eard hinside the coffing a rippin', snortin' sound. One of the young lady 'eirs gives a scream, and the rest of 'er had bugged out at the heyes, and



"What's This Hall Habout?"

I badmit that I felt some creepy hinside myself. The ceremony come to a full stop.

"I hopened it, and up riz the dead man, mad as a 'ornet and hall blowin' and snortin'.

"'Beggin' your pardon, sir,' says I, steppin' forward, 'but we was just habout to bury you, beggin' your pardon, sir.'

"'Just habout to bury me!' he screams. 'Get hout of this house, you hold vulture!' 'e says.

"And so I gathers up my stuff and goes, leavin' the 'eirs to pacify 'im. But arter a few days I sends in my bill, me 'aving been put to a good deal of hexpense, and, so 'elp me, what do you s'pose 'e said? Said 'e 'adn't hordered no funeral, and, blarst me, 'e wouldn't pay for none!

"Well, I 'ad to 'ave my money from some one, so I went to the 'eirs, who was awful sore at being disappointed. They was pore, they said, and their huncle was rich. It wasn't for them to pay.

"Well, I 'ad to 'ave my money somehow, and so I went to law. I sued the dead man what had come back to life. And so 'elp me, the judge said it wasn't 'is funeral and 'e—hold man Gormley, that is—didn't 'ave to pay!

"Well, there it was. It wasn't no use suing the 'eirs, bein' as they 'ad nothin' to pay with. I thought of suing the doctor, but him and me 'ad been in the 'abit of throwin' a good deal in one hanother's way, professionally, you know, and I couldn't afford to lose 'is trade. And so it was. I 'ad rendered services, but who was I to charge them to? That was enough for me. I quit the hundertaking business soon after."—New York Press.

Recluse's Library in a Cave.

"The Devil's Grotto," a cave near Beauvior en Royans, France, has been held in superstitious awe by the residents of the neighborhood, who lately have been frightened by reports of mysterious lights seen in the cave after nightfall.

A magistrate and several policemen visited the cave, and on penetrating to the interior found a man with long matted hair and beard, who said his name was Andre Foure. The cave contained an electric generator and was brilliantly illuminated. Faure was fitting up shelves to accommodate some thousands of volumes which were stacked in the cave.

In the West Somerset (England) country recently a fox was hunted right down to the seashore, and to the surprise of every one he swam boldly out to sea.

SEEDING COMMENCED IN WESTERN CANADA.

St. Paul, April 24, 1907.—Word has been received at the office of the Canadian Government in St. Paul that seeding has commenced at various points throughout Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

The heavy snowfall during the past winter has left the ground in splendid shape for successful seeding operations. The fine weather of the past few days has taken much of the frost out of the ground and during next week there will scarcely be a district in which the seeder is not being operated. The most optimistic conditions exist and in all districts the farmers are busy getting things in shape. There will be a very large acreage sown in spring wheat, oats and barley. At many points throughout the three provinces the newcomers are busy unloading their stock and effects, working night and day in order to get on their farms and become active agencies in the effort to make the year 1907 the banner year in grain producing in Western Canada. As compared with districts many hundred miles further south than this, it will be seen that Western Canada ranks amongst the first in the line of seeding operations for the present year. It is safe to say that farmers who get in their crop before the 20th or 24th of May, will receive magnificent returns. A number of those coming in this spring, who had not their land prepared last fall, will break up enough land to get in a crop of oats and barley and probably some flax. This, together with the vegetables they will plant, will give them ample food for themselves and stock during the coming summer and winter. These early seeding operations are not confined to one district, but are spread over a country 900 miles long by 400 miles in width.

The agents of the Canadian Government, located at different points throughout the United States, are busy giving information regarding the many new districts that are being made available for settlers. Low railway rates, information and literature are given on application to the agent, whose name appears in advertisement elsewhere in this paper.

LONDON CLUB LIFE.

The Tendency in Regard to Conviviality and Gambling.

In London club life on the whole there is a tendency toward a more moderate conviviality, while a chastened effect is to be observed in regard to gambling. Yet clubland has not lost altogether its old time characteristics, says a writer in the Fortnightly Review.

There are cakes and ale still, even if we become virtuous; bohemian clubs still prosper and greatly increase in favor. Some remain true to the conditions under which they were created and are still ragged but jovial, as unspoiled as the potatoes in their jackets that flank the smoking chops and foaming flagons, the buck rabbits, the cold pork and port wine that are among their favorite viands.

Others have taken to dress suits and the entertainment of persons of the nicest consideration. We can never forget one old haunt of roystering character nor the story of the demure country parson who, arriving by a night train, appeared seeking breakfast and was told by a sleepy waiter that no suppers were served after 6 a. m.

It is of the same club that another story is told of a member who dropped a £5 note on the floor in the writing room and hurrying back when he discovered his loss found a waiter had picked it up and restored it, remarking sententiously: "Lucky one of the members did not see it."

Strikes Killing Ireland.

Strikes have had an unfortunate effect on Ireland. Dublin was at one time a thriving shipbuilding center and was celebrated for its timber trade, its iron manufactures and its steam printing; Limerick was renowned for its gloves; Kilkenny was noted for its blankets; while Bandon was celebrated for its woolen and linen manufactures. But most of these trades were driven away through strikes.

FRIENDS HELP

St. Paul Park Incident.

"After drinking coffee for breakfast I always felt languid and dull, having no ambition to get to my morning duties. Then in about an hour or so a weak, nervous derangement of the heart and stomach would come over me with such force I would frequently have to lie down.

"At other times I had severe headaches; stomach finally became affected and digestion so impaired that I had serious chronic dyspepsia and constipation. A lady, for many years State President of the W. C. T. U., told me she had been greatly benefited by quitting coffee and using Postum Food Coffee; she was troubled for years with asthma. She said it was no cross to quit coffee when she found she could have as delicious an article as Postum.

"Another lady, who had been troubled with chronic dyspepsia for years, found immediate relief on ceasing coffee and beginning Postum twice a day. She was wholly cured. Still, another friend told me that Postum Food Coffee was a Godsend to her, her heart trouble having been relieved after leaving off coffee and taking Postum.

"So many such cases came to my notice that I concluded coffee was the cause of my trouble and I quit and took up Postum. I am more than pleased to say that my days of trouble have disappeared. I am well and happy." "There's a Reason." Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

OF THE FIFTEENTH CENTURY.

The celebrated statue of the Divine Infant was carved in Jerusalem from the wood of the olive trees of Gethsemane in the Fifteenth century by a member of the Franciscan order, who bought it to the Capitoline hill, Rome, and placed it for veneration in the church of the Friars Minor in Ara Coeli, where it is now known, visited and honored by the whole Catholic world, owing to the innumerable favors the Infant is said to bestow upon those who venerate it. It was solemnly crowned by the vatican chapter on the 2d of May, 1897. It is adorned with $1,000,000 worth of jewels given as votive offerings.

GEESE ALARMED THE TOWN.

Wild Fowl, Driven to Earth, Astonished Sleepy Burghers.

One of those peculiar freaks of the elements that occur only at long intervals took place the other night, causing what many believed for a time was a shower of wild fowl, says a Lewiston correspondent of the Philadelphia Press. A steady snowstorm prevailed during the day, followed late at night by a heavy electrical storm. Amid the heavy downpour of rain there was a drop of 20 degrees in temperature and a large flock of geese driven to earth by the currents in the air and attracted by the lights of the city alighted in the streets or went hissing, quacking and cackling about as if bedlam had broken loose.

Many of the residents who were suddenly awakened by the unearthly noise were driven almost to the verge of panic and are no longer sceptical when they hear the story of the cackling of geese awakening the sleeping residents of Rome and saving the city. The wildfowl were quietly swimming about the little ponds in the adjacent fields and on the bosom of the Juniata river next morning.

GOOSE 72 YEARS OF AGE.

It Is Still as Lively as a Much Younger Bird.

William Yours Strong, a farmer near Caldwell, N. J., owns a goose which is 72 years old, he says, according to the New York World.

"William Yours, the man I was named after, gave me this goose in 1871," said Strong. "Yours was going back to the old country, and he said: 'Bill, I've owned this goose for 36 years. I would take her with me, but I fear she cannot stand the voyage. So I give her to you. Cherish her, Bill; be kind to her in her old age, for she is almost like a sister to me.'

"Yours kissed the goose good-by," Mr. Strong added. "Look at her; she is as active as a gosling."

This was affectionate exaggeration. It is true the goose was waddling around Mr. Strong's farmyard, but her carriage better compared to an aged and dignified bird than a giddy fledgling.

Wild Ostriches Grow Tame.

A group of six wild ostriches were seen on the commonage on Saturday afternoon. The huge birds were disporting themselves on an ant heap only a few yards from the road. The little group seems to have made the east end of the commonage and the government reserve their home, and are often to be met with.

So tame are they that on a person approaching they simply get up from the road, where they are often lying, and walk a few yards on to the veldt and gaze composedly at the passer by.—Rhodesia Herald.

Third Set of Teeth.

J. R. Truett, an operator of the Western Maryland railroad at Brandon, near Chambersburg, Pa., is elated over the fact that a third set of teeth is growing in his mouth.

Some of the new teeth have partially developed and the fortunate man has discarded his false ones.

Bini women carry their trays to market on their heads. The body of the tray is made of pieces of the midrib of the raphia palm and the sides composed of stout pieces of calamus. The sides are movable and can be turned down flat on top.

Careless French Surgeons.

A narrow escape from a shocking tragedy has aroused the charities commissioner of Paris, to admonish hospital surgeons sharply as to their duties and responsibilities. A woman recently "died" in a hospital under circumstances that inspired suspicion as to the cause of death and an autopsy was ordered. When the doctors were ready to begin, the woman, to their consternation, regained her senses.

FEDERATION OF CENTRAL AMERICA

THE PRESENT DIFFICULTIES IN GUATEMALA MAY BRING IT ABOUT.

START WITH A REVOLUTION

BELIEVED THAT MEXICO AND UNITED STATES WILL APPROVE OUTCOME.

Mexico City, May 16.—As forecasted in these dispatches May 8, there is now further reason to believe that the present difficulties in Guatemala may lead to the greatest even in the annals of Central American history, namely, the federation of all the republics of Central America. There is also reason to believe that such an outcome would not be unacceptable to either Mexico or the United States.

The first step to this end will be a revolution against President Cabrera of Guatemala, headed by Gen. Toledo and backed actively by President Zelaya of Nicaragua and the chief executives of Honduras and Salvador.

Toledo Will Be Chief.

It is expected that Cabrera will be driven from the presidency of Guatemala within the next ninety days. Gen. Toledo probably will be the new president of the republic, but he will act only long enough to have the country agree formally to enter the federation. Honduras and Salvador will thereupon follow suit. Zelaya is to be the president of the four republics upon giving pledge to Mexico and the United States that he will call a general election shortly after the scheme is perfected.

Costa Rica and Panama Also.

The republics of Costa Rica and Panama will be invited to join the federation and it is believed that expediency will result in the acceptance of the invitation.

President Cabrera, foreseeing his danger, has endeavored to make concessions to the Mexican government. He has offered to surrender Col. Onofre Bone, a witness in the Barrillas assassination case, and to try Gen. Lima, who is implicated in the recent murder of Former President Barrillas of Guatemala. Mexico received these proposals coldly and replied that the case is now closed, so far as this government is concerned.

FORTUNES MADE IN WHEAT.

Speculators Quietly Unload at High Prices on Chicago Board.

Chicago, May 16.—Many men took small fortunes from the board of trade yesterday morning by quietly unloading wheat at the high prices made possible by Monday's extraordinary bull movement. The pit, however, was less spectacular than it was Monday, and the gallery, crowded to its utmost capacity by visitors of both sexes, waited in vain for a burst of pandemonium like that which existed for hours Monday.

December wheat touched a dollar for a single sale at the opening, but promptly retreated from this conspicuous position. The profit-taking movement carried July down to 93 3-4 cents and December to 97 cents.

Supply and Demand.

London, May 15. — The European wheat situation, according to the generally accepted view here, has resolved itself into questions of supply and demand. It is explained that it is not speculation alone which has brought about the present high prices. From all Europe, France excepted, the advices are unfavorable. The Russian crops are not only bad, but the political uncertainty of that country is also having a depressing effect on trade.

TWO ARE ELECTROCUTED.

Man Who Attempted to Rescue Comrade Is Also Killed.

Chicago, May 16.—In an attempt to rescue Frank Slevic, a laborer employed by the Metropolitan Elevated Railway company, who had been instantly killed last night by falling across the third rail of the company's tracks, Ura Mattha, a fellow employe of the dead man, came in contact with the heavy charge of electricity and before he could loosen his grasp on the body was also electrocuted.

Bridge Trust Indicted.

Lima, Ohio, May 16. — The grand jury here yesterday returned thirty-nine indictments against individuals and corporations alleged to be parties to the so-called bridge trust. They are charged with conspiracy in restraint of trade and in violation of the Valentine anti-trust law.

One Killed on Scaffolding.

Detroit, Mich., May 16.—One man was killed, two were seriously injured and a third had a remarkably narrow escape from death when a scaffolding gave way.

Ended His Trouble by Shooting.

Marquette, May 16. — His mind unbalanced, the result of brooding over the loss of a hand crushed in machinery a year ago, Charles Larson, pumpman in the employ of the Newport Mining company, put an end to his life by shooting himself in the temple.

SIXTY FIREMEN ARE OVERCOME

NEW YORK FIREMEN FACE ONE OF THE HARDEST FIGHTS THEY EVER HAD.

New York, May 16.—Sixty firemen, practically every man in seven fire companies, were overcome by smoke in fighting a fire in the Remington typewriter building yesterday. More than a score of men were taken to hospitals, where sixteen of them still remain.

It was one of the hardest fights New York firemen have had, and never was there more bravery shown. The fire was in the sub-basement of the building, and for more than two hours the men fought desperately. But for the heroism shown many would have lost their lives.

Face Fearful Odds.

The fire originated in an unexplained way in the sub-basement, which was filled with desks packed in excelsior, oil and carbon paper. These threw off great masses of choking smoke, which made it impossible for the men to reach the seat of the fire. By companies the men attempted to descend into the basement, only to be overcome by the smoke, and the next detachment was compelled to carry the unconscious men up to the sidewalks.

Scores Are Overcome.

Men, half conscious themselves, groped in the smoke-choked cellar by the light of lanterns, found their comrades and struggled with them up the ladders to the sidewalk, only to fall swooning, but ready to return to the fight after they had got a breath of fresh air.

Scores of the firemen were overcome time and time again, each one rushing back into the building as soon as he recovered consciousness. Nothing could stop them until hospital doctors bundled them into ambulances and hurried them away to the hospitals. Among those in the hospitals several are in a serious condition, although it is thought all will recover.

MANY HURT BY FLYING STONES.

San Francisco's Streets Are Again the Scene of Mob Violence.

San Francisco, May 16.—Yesterday was the worst day of violence in the street car strike since the Turk street battle. The forenoon passed with little disturbance, but throughout the hours of the afternoon from 12 o'clock until 7, stones flew on Mission street from Fifth street to Twentieth, a distance of about three miles.

Though nearly 100 policemen, few of them mounted, were stationed along Mission street, violence was not prevented and comparative few arrests were made.

Several passengers were assaulted by the crowds, numerous strikebreakers were struck and panes of glass were smashed and persons alighting from cars were chased and in some instances knocked down and beaten.

Mayor Schmitz and the committee of fifty have spent the day in persistent efforts to formulate some definite plan that will make for industrial peace and the restoration of normal commercial activity, but without success.

Gov. Gillett decided yesterday to make his headquarters in this city indefinitely for the purpose of giving the situation his personal observation.

ALL IN THE FAMILY.

Triplets, One a Doctor, One an Undertaker and Another a Preacher.

Appleton, Wis., May 16.—One of the strangest examples of "all being in the family" ever noted in this district occurred this week when three sons, triplets, of James Brogan filled the principal capacities during the illness and subsequent death and burial of their father. Louis Brogan is a doctor and attended his father during his illness, while Lawrence is an undertaker and laid out the body after the demise. Eldor, the third of the triplets, is a divine, and preached the funeral sermon at the home in this city. In addition to this the triplets, with three other sons acted as pallbearers of the casket.

IS SON-IN-LAW'S SLAYER.

Aged Wisconsin Man Admits Crime in Third Degree.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., May 16.—Ira Stewart, charged with murdering his son-in-law, Fred Miller, at Stanley Jan. 29, 1901, and whose second trial was set for this term of court yesterday before Judge Vinje pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the third degree, District Attorney Connor having changed the charge to this form. Difficulty in getting witnesses and Stewart's age of sixty-eight were factors in making the charge lenient. Stewart, in a fit of jealousy and insanity shot Miller while they were eating dinner.

Stray Ball Hits Girl.

Neenah, Wis., May 16.—While gathering flowers in Riverside Park Helen Ulrich, eight years old, was struck by a stray bullet and seriously if not fatally wounded.

Manslaughter Charged.

Elkhorn, Wis., May 16.—Henry Roe, a Wisconsin Central engineer, charged with falling asleep on duty March 25, resulting in a wreck, causing the death of Brakeman Jordan at Beulah station, was bound over.

Babe Cremated.

Leon, Iowa, May 16.—The infant son of Dwight Freeman, aged fifteen months, overturned a lamb connected with an incubator and was burned to death. The body was burned to a crisp, the flesh falling from the bones.

BOSS RUEF ENTERS PLEA OF GUILTY

THE FRISCO DICTATOR, CHARGED WITH EXTORTION, ASTONISHES PROSECUTION.

WEEPS AS HE MAKES PLEA

CONFESSES CONNIVANCE, BUT DENIES GUILT OF CRIME OF EXTORTION.

San Francisco, May 16.— Abraham Ruef, better known as Abe Ruef, the acknowledged adviser of Mayor Schmitz and once the recognized dictator of municipal affairs in San Francisco, pleaded guilty to the charge of extortion in the superior court yesterday. Sentence will be pronounced upon him two weeks hence.

After a private conference with his four attorneys in Judge Dunne's chambers yesterday afternoon, and after they had withdrawn from his case because of the resolution he had taken to change his plea and avoid trial, Ruef, to the

of the prosecution, arose in court and announced in a dramatic address that after long and earnest consideration he had determined to withdraw his plea of not guilty and enter a plea of guilty. He asked that the jury be dismissed and the trial be abandoned.

Ruef showed in his voice, in the expression on his face, in his quiet and gestureless attitude and by the tears that again and again overflowed his eyes, the great emotion and utter humiliation that he suffered.

Scene Was Pathetic.

The pathos of the scene was communicated to the crowd that thronged the court room. Tears sprang to the eyes of veteran newspaper men who have been lifelong acquaintances of Ruef and whose papers have conducted against him and his political associates a long and bitter campaign for the purification of municipal affairs. The accused man was several times all but overcome by emotion. As he concluded his address he fell back into his chair, almost fainting, and the tears coursing down his cheeks.

Guilty of Connivance Only.

Though Abraham Ruef has formally declared himself to be guilty of the charge on which he was about to be tried, he nevertheless proclaims his innocence. He confesses that he is guilty of having connived in the corruption in municipal affairs, but he denies that he is guilty of the crime of extortion charged against him. He declares that his sole motive in accusing himself in open court was to save the lives of those who are dearest to him, his aged father and mother, his maiden sister and a niece.

HUMMEL MUST SERVE.

Must Put in a Year for Conspiracy in the Dodge-Morse Divorce Case.

New York, May 16.—Under the decision of Chief Justice Cullen of the New York state court of appeals, rendered yesterday, Abraham H. Hummel, the lawyer, will have to begin on Sundty to serve his sentence of one year in prison for conspiracy in the Dodge-Morse divorce case. A certificate of reasonable doubt, which would have acted as a stay of the execution of the sentence pending an appeal, was denied by Justice Cullen.

RELIEF WORKER HONORED.

Editor of Christian Herald Decorated by the Mikado's Order.

New York, May 16.—The decoration of the Order of the Rising Sun was conferred upon Dr. Louis Klopsch, editor of the Christian Herald, yesterday by Baron Tokewo Ozawa, personal envoy of the Japanses emperor, in recognition of the work done by him in relieving famine sufferers in Japan last year. More than a quarter of a million dollars was raised by the Christian Herald for this purpose.

$28,000 BURNED UP.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 16.—A story has reached here of the accidental burning of a stage coach in Death Valley, near Ash Meadows, in which $15,000 in bank bills and $13,000 in registered mail were consumed. The stage is supposed to have caught fire from a cigar which the driver, Ed Love, was smoking.

Passenger in Collision.

Redding, Cal., May 16.—North-bound Portland Passenger Train No. 12 on the Southern Pacific was run into by two light engines at Copley last night. William Jones of Sacramento, a brakeman, was killed. No other was injured.

Pillager's School Closed.

Pillager, Minn., May 16.—An epidemic of measles prevails in Pillager, and there are also several cases of diphtheria in and near town, Two families have been quarantined and school has been temporarily closed.

Barn and Stock Burn.

Milbank, S. D., May 16. — A large barn belonging to C. C. Morton, eight miles south of Milbank, was burned last night. Eight horses, fifty sheep and some cattle were burned. The loss is $4,000.

DUBIOUS FOR WHEAT CROP

ACREAGE WILL BE SMALLER THAN LAST YEAR, OWING TO BAD WEATHER.

St. Paul, May 16.—Advices received from North and South Dakota points show that no more than 50 per cent of the acreage set out for wheat has been planted to that grain, and the indications are that no more than 75 per cent of the acreage will be planted this season. In some counties in North Dakota not more than one-fourth of the wheat has been planted. Along the Red River valley oats, barley and flax will be substituted for wheat, as the season is getting too late for the latter grain. In the central and western part of the state other grains will also be substituted for wheat on the unplanted ground. It is noted that while a large amount of new ground was plowed last fall the actual wheat acreage will be much smaller than last season. Weather continues cold, seed planted some time ago making no progress. With warm, growing weather from this time on, with every day favorable to its growth, the indications are for about 75 per cent of a wheat crop in the Northwestern states—Minnesota and the Dakotas. With favorable weather other grains will make up in a measure for this shortage to the farmer, but the wheat yield will fall far short.

Reports form Manitoba indicate that not more than 50 per cent of a wheat crop is in prospect. No seeding has been done there, owing to the cold weather and late snows.

KILLS SELF IN HOSPITAL.

Duluth Patient Breaks Glass and Cuts Throat.

Duluth, May 16.—Joseph Richards, forty years old, of Culver, Minn., committed suicide in St. Mary's hospital. Richards was taken to the hospital a week ago suffering from a general breakdown. The nurse that attended him brought him a glass of eggnogg and left the glass with him. Richards broke the glass and cut his throat with the sharp, ragged edge of one of the pieces. The patient was found bleeding to death and it was too late to save him.

ORGANIZE FOR FAIR.

Beltrami County Agricultural Society Ballots.

Bemidji, Minn., May 16. — The Beltrami County Agricultural association has elected the following officers: President, Wes Wright; first vice president, John D. Lunn; second vice president, L. G. Townsend; secretary, George Kirk; treasurer, W. Roberts. By vote it was decided to hold a directors' meeting on May 28, at which time the dates for holding the county fair will be decided upon, as well as the adoption of a new set of by-laws.

THINK DEPUTY SLAIN.

Montana People Lay Disappearance to Kid Curry Gang.

Helena, Mont., May 16.—All efforts to locate J. M. Wilcox, a Teton county deputy sheriff who left Shelby on May 1 in quest of certain criminals, have proved unavailing and the belief is current that he has been made a victim of cattle thieves and robbers and his body buried. His wife and children are almost distracted over his disappearance, which is attributed by many to the actions of members of the notorious Kid Curry gang.

DE LAITTE LAW CASE.

Increase of $25,000 in Assessment Is Fought in Court.

Aitkin, Minn., May 16.—The spring term of court opened here yesterday, Judge McClennahan presiding. There are about forty civil cases on the docket, the most interesting one being the De Laitte tax case. The board of county commissioners, acting as county board of review, raised his assessment $25,000 over the assessor's figures.

KILL; PUT BODY ON RAILS.

Perry, Iowa, May 16.—The body of an unidentified man was found in the ditch alongside the Milwaukee tracks near here. The man's head was gashed and the body gave evidence of having been hit by a train. Other wounds on the body, however, indicate that the man may have been foully dealt with and the body placed on the track to conceal the crime.

PREJUDICE AGAINST ORCHARD.

Uncovered in Examination of Talesmen—Lively Tilt.

Boise, Idaho, May 16. — The unexpected uncovering of a vein of prejudice against Harry Orchard and his testimony during further examination of talesmen in the Steunenberg murder case yesterday led to the first sharp wrangle between counsel and involved the name of President Roosevelt in acrimonious discussion. Little progress was made yesterday.

Wrecked in South Dakota.

Milbank, S. D., May 16.—The evening train going north on the Sisseton branch of the Milwaukee railroad was wrecke da mile north of Milbank last night. Three cars were ditched. The passengers escaped injury.

Tot Killed at Party.

Kenosha, Wis., May 16.—During a children's party given on the lawn of her parent's home, Mabel Lajen, two years old, was burned to death. Her clothes caught fire from burning grass.

News of the Northwest

BID FOR CONVENTION.

Twin Cities Work Together to Get Democratic Convention.

St. Paul, May 15.—The Twin Cities have joined hands in the effort to secure the Democratic national convention next year, letters having been sent out yesterday signed by the presidents of the commercial clubs and the mayors of both cities. The letters were sent to the chairman, secretary and members of the Democratic national committee, notifying them that St. Paul is in the field for the convention.

The commercial clubs of both cities have appointed general committees to take charge of the active canvass for securing the convention. The committees will organize in a few days and plan their work.

JURY'S VERDICT SURPRISES.

Trolley Company Directed to Pay $125,000 for Two Acres.

Kenosha, Wis., May 15.—The Chicago & Milwaukee Electric Railway company must pay Thomas B. Jeffrey of this city $125,000 for two and one-third acres of land, for after a week of trial the jury which heard the evidence brought in that verdict. It is thought this is the highest price ever paid by a railway company for land in Wisconsin. The railway company will appeal.

PEACEMAKER SENT UP.

Brother Slugs Sister's Spouse Whom He Says Beat Her.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., May 15.—Because it is alleged he attempted to promote the domestic felicity of his sister and her husband by knocking down the latter with a stick of wood because his brother-in-law was beating the sister, Jim Swallows, a Dells dam Indian, is spending sixty days in jail, where he was sent by Judge O'Neill.

AIDS WIFE; BREAKS RIBS.

Man Who Sweeps Off Porch Slips and Has Bad Fall.

Sioux Falls, S. D., May 15.—Joseph Martin, a business man of Tripp, in an effort to lighten the household work of his wife, took a broom and began to sweep off the porch of his home. He had worked only a minute or two when he slipped and fell and broke one of his ribs.

GUILTY OF LAND FRAUD.

Conviction of Wealthy Butte Merchant Is Sustained.

Helena, Mont., May 15.—Word was received here that the United States circuit court of appeals had affirmed the conviction and sentence of J. T. Carroll, the wealthy Butte merchant who was indicted on a charge of violating the public domain law at Woodville, between Helena and Butte.

MURDERED FOR MONEY.

Farmer and Wife Are Slain — Hired Man Has Disappeared.

Sioux City, Iowa, May 15.—Walter F. Copple and wife were murdered last night on their farm near Rosalie, Neb., and the woman was thrown into the hog pen. The animals devoured her head. Bert Phillips, the hired man, is missing. Copple is supposed to have had $1,000 at home.

RUSH CITY FIRE LOSS.

S. C. Johnson & Son Principal Sufferers by the Blaze.

Rush City, Minn., May 15.—The fire at Rush City was confined exclusively to the warehouses of S. C. Johnson & Son, with some resultant damages to adjoining buildings. The total loss is about $10,000. The fire was under control in forty minutes from the time the alarm was given.

TWO BURNED TO DEATH.

Tornado Overturns House and Starts Fire.

Parker, S. D., May 15. —A tornado overturned a farmhouse south of here last night. A lamp which was burning set fire to the bed clothes and burned to death the wife and young son of Ole Sangstead. The husband and father were seriously injured.

No Change in Deadlock.

Madison, Wis., May 15. —The Republican senatorial caucus last night, after two ballots, demonstrated that the members had sustained no change in sentiment over Sunday, and adjournment wa staken. There were seventeen absentees. The vote was: Esch 18, Hatten 20, Stephenson 26, McGregor 20, scattered 2.

Blow Safe, Get $200.

Knapp, Wis., May 15.—Robbers entered the store of the J. A Anderberg company last night, and blew the small safe, securing $200 in cash and a number of checks.

Shops Are Being Equipped

Kaukauna, Wis., May 15.—In keeping with the improvements promised by the North-Western Railway company at its Kaukauna shops early in the spring, considerable new machinery is now arriving and is being placed in position as rapidly as possible.

Blows Top of Head Off.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 15.—John Faule, a farmer residing nine miles from Lankin, shot the top of his head off yesterday with a shotgun. He was temporarily insane.

PRAIRIE FIRE RAGES.

Two Men Badly Burned While Fighting Flames.

Steele, N. D., May 16. — A prairie fire was started about eighteen miles northwest of here, being set by sparks from the stovepipe of Ole Oleson's shack. A great gale was blowing and the fire soon had assumed alarming proportions. The grass was dry and the fire burned up to the fireguard, about two miles out of town.

George Johnson, living about eight miles from town, also was burned while fire fighting.

JURY FOR MRS. CRAMER.

Box Is Filled and Woman's Murder Trial Will Go On.

Fargo, N. D., May 16.—The jury in the Cramer murder case was finally decided upon just before the evening adjournment. No testimony was taken, but the work of the second trial will be resumed immediately on the opening of court in the morning. The sixteen-year-old son of Mrs. Laura Cramer, who shot his father at her command, was exonerated at the last term of court and will not be placed on trial.

BUY ORE LANDS.

Prospectors Will Develop Tracts Near Deerwood, Minn.

St. Cloud, Minn., May 16. — Two deals have been closed on ore lands in the Rabbit Lake country, north of Deerwood, and it is said that development work will be begun at once. One forty-acre tract on which drilling has shown a good body of ore sold for $40,000, while another tract nearby, on which no exploration work had been done, but which had surface indications of iron, brought $14,000.

BAD BILLS PASSED.

Two Men Arrested, Charged With Passing Old Georgia Notes.

Redfield, S. D., May 16. — Charles Decker and James Morris have been arrested here on the charge of securing money under false pretenses. The crime alleged consisted in the passing of old bills issued and guaranteed by the State of Georgia before and during the Civil war.

MAN SLOWLY COOKED.

Engineer Pinioned in Wreck Coolly Directs His Rescuers.

Bemidji, Minn., Ma. 16.—While the flesh slowly was being cooked from his body by steam as he lay pinioned between the derailed car and tender of his engine, Engineer Ed Garrigan coolly directed the work of his release. Fully ten minutes were consumed in extricating the man. Garrigan is in a critical condition.

BOY SMOTHERS IN SAND.

Lads Tunnel in Bank and Cave-in Buries One.

Guthrie Center, Iowa, May 16. — A number of boys were engaged in digging a tunnel into a sand bank when the earth caved in and buried Richard Ellis, aged eighteen years. The other boys made frantic efforts to dig their comrade out, and finally succeeded, but not until he had been smothered.

LIGHTNING BURNS BARN.

Animals, Grain and Farm Machinery Lost in the Flames.

Fergus Falls, Minn., May 16. — A barn on the farm of Swen Helquist, near Parkers Prairie, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. Three horses, four cows and a number of hogs were cremated, and farm machinery and grain were destroyed.

Receives Free Scholarship.

Montgomern, Minn., May 16.—Miss Irene O'Malley, of this city, has received a certificate from the Hamline university entitling her to one year's free tuition in that institution. Miss O'Malley is a graduate of the class of 1907 in the Montgomery high school, having carried off the highest honors of the class.

Buys Four Elevators.

Madelia, Minn., May 16.—The C. S. Christiansen company of this place has added four more elevators to its line, making seven in all. It has purchased the Peavey elevators at James, Lake Crystal, Vernon Center and Winnebago.

Hold-up Men Get 15 Cents.

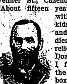
Hastings, Minn., May 16.—A daring hold-up took place in the railway yards at East Hastings last night. A stranger named Thomas Mahoney was assaulted by a negro and white man and robbed of 15 cents, all the money he carried.

Tot Drowned in Tank.

Atlantic, Iowa, May 16.—While its mother was busy with her household affairs the eighteen-month-old son of Clyde Smiley wandered into the barnyard and fell into a tank used for watering the stock and was drowned.

Smallpox in New Ulm.

New Ulm, Minn., May 16.—Quite a commotion was created yesterday by the announcement that two smallpox cases had developed in the city and that there was a case in each of the towns of Cottonwood and Sigel.



DOES YOUR BACK ACHE?

Profit by the Experience of One Who Has Found Relief.

James R. Keeler, retired farmer, of Fenner St., Cazenovia, N. Y., says: "About fifteen years ago I suffered with my back and kidneys. I doctored and used many remedies without getting relief. Beginning with Doan's Kidney Pills, I found relief from the first box, and two boxes restored me to good, sound condition. My wife and many of my friends have used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results and I can earnestly recommend them."

A FITTING PUNISHMENT.

Served Him Right for Coming Home Late.

The bills which advertised his lecture said so, and everyone knows advertisements never lie.

Follow her advice, and happiness was yours for the asking; ignore it, and misery had you in its grasp forever.

"I try to enter into my husband's amusements and pastimes," she cried. "If he comes home at 3 in the morning, do I scowl and nag at him? No, I throw my arms about his neck and kiss him—"

"And serve him jolly well right, too!" said a cynical villain at the back of the room.

Whereupon "uproar" ensued.

You cannot give a man much light by throwing knowledge at him in such a way that he sees stars.

BABY'S ECZEMA GREW WORSE.

Hospitals and Doctors Could Not Relieve Him—But Cuticura Remedies a Speedy, Permanent Cure.

"Eczema appeared when our baby was three months old. We applied to several doctors and hospitals, each of which gave us something different every time, but nothing brought relief. At last, one of our friends recommended to us Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. A few days afterwards improvement could be noted. Since then we have used nothing but Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, and now the baby is six months old and is quite cured. All that we used was one cake of Cuticura Soap and two boxes Cuticura Ointment, costing in all $1.25. C. F. Kara, 343 East 65th Street, New York, March 30, 1906."

HE TOOK HIS AT THE BAR.

A student of human nature who is also a lover of music and has been attending the performance of the grand opera now being given here has been getting considerable entertainment out of the audiences. The other evening he says he observed a fashionable-looking woman accompanied by a man who might have been her country cousin, and as he sat close to them he heard some of their conversation, which tended to confirm that impression. When the curtain fell at the end of the first act the woman turned to her companion and said:

"Wouldn't you have time to go out and get a libretto?"

The man looked puzzled for a moment, but finally the light seemed to break and smiling in a gratified way he said:

"Oh, yes."

Then he went out.

"Where is the libretto?" asked the woman when he returned.

"Oh, did you want one, too?" he said, looking puzzled once more.

"No, of course not," was the reply; "yours will do for both of us. Where is it?"

"Why," stammered the man, "I drank mine at the bar."—Philadelphia Record.

CHANGE IN FOOD

Works Wonders in Health.

It is worth knowing that a change in food can cure dyspepsia. "I deem it my duty to let you know how Grape-Nuts food has cured me of indigestion.

"I had been troubled with it for years, until last year my doctor recommended Grape-Nuts food to be used every morning. I followed instructions and now I am entirely well.

"The whole family like Grape-Nuts, we use four packages a week. You are welcome to use this testimonial as you see fit."

The reason this lady was helped by the use of Grape-Nuts food, is that it is predigested by natural processes and therefore does not tax the stomach as the food she had been using; it also contains the elements required for building up the nervous system. If that part of the human body is in perfect working order, there can be no dyspepsia, for nervous energy represents the steam that drives the engine.

When the nervous system is run down, the machinery of the body works badly. Grape-Nuts food can be used by small children as well as adults. It is perfectly cooked and ready for instant use.

Dollar wheat sounds good and farmers will probably sow a little more than they figured on at the start.

Red Lake Falls is making big preparations for entertaining the Northern Minnesota firemen on June 18, 19, 20, 21.

The time is near at hand when that back yard should be cleaned of all rubbish. Public health demands it. See that it is well done.

The State of Minnesota will soon hava an even thousand creameries doing business in the state and the business is only fairly started.

Five thousand emigrants landed at New York last Saturday, mainly from southern Europe. Very few of them were destined for the farming communities.

The price of wheat has been fluctuating rapidly the past week but the trend is towards higher prices on account of the bad weather and damage to winter wheat.

The Thief River Falls News claims that the county seat promoters already have secured more than enough names on their petition. Now watch the lawyers get busy.

An excellent idea, but it don't seem to take well at the Falls, either Thief River or Red Lake. However we are willing.

Roseau Region: It is, by some well posted politicians, considered far from improbable that R. C. Dunn will be pitted against John A. Johnson next year, and thus a second battle between these men will be waged for the chief executive's chair. It is easy to see how the present situation might develop into such a contest. Altho the governor declares emphatically that he is thru running for office, his democratic officeholders—and some republican ones too—may insist that he shall. Very often too, a few stout denials of intention precede a vigorous scrap later.

Teachers' Meeting.

Courier: The Red Lake County Teachers' association will hold their next regular meeting at St. Hilaire Friday and Saturday, June 21 and 22, and President Moller and the other members of the committee are working hard to make this meeting one of the most successful ever held.

The chief event at this meeting will be a spelling contest between the teachers, and this feature promises to be one of great interest both to the school workers and the public. Aside from the spelling contest there will be a varied program, consisting of musical numbers, papers, discussions, etc.

The program committee is endeavoring to secure several outside speakers for the occasion and if the plans do not miscarry they will have more than one prominent educator with them on these dates.

The Red Lake county association is one of the live ones of the Valley, and is of great help to the teachers.

BIDS WANTED.

INSTRUCTIONS ISSUED

Government Has Issued Official Instructions for Land Opening.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Official instructions to registers and receivers of the Minnesota land offices for the last big opening of public lands to homestead entry were issued today from the government printing office.

The opening will take place at Cass Lake, Crookston and Duluth on July 1 at 9 o'clock, when 229,297 acres of agricultural lands will be thrown open to the homestead settlement. The lands are in Itasca, Beltrami, Cass, Hubbard and Red Lake counties. They are not subject to provisions of the free homes act, known as the Eddy bill of 1900, for the reason that the tracts were not opened or surveyed prior to passage of said act, hence each settler is required to pay $1.25 for each acre in five equal installments, to be paid at the end of the first, second, third, fourth and fifth years respectively from date of entry.

Under the act of March 1, 1907, entrymen were also required to pay in addition to the fees and charges a pro rata charge for examination and investigation of swampy and overflowed character of land, as provided in the act of June 21, 1906, and for drainage and reclamation of said lands. The amount of these charges cannot now be determined. As soon as the charges are fixed officers will be fully advised in regard thereto and also instructed in regard to the issuance of receipts upon payment thereof.

All persons who go upon any of the lands from which timber has been cut and removed are, under the act of June 27, 1902, some of which are described in the schedule of lands to be opened, or upon any of the other ceded Chippewa lands described in the schedule with a view to settlement thereon prior to the hour the lands are formally opened to settlement and entry as above set out will be considered and dealt with as trespassers.

School Notes

Next Wednesday evening, May 22, beginning at 8 o'clock, the school entertainment will be given. The proceeds will go to help build up the library. It will be given at Imperial Hall. Admission, 25 cents; children, 15 cents; and reserved seats, 35 cents.

The principal features on the program are: "Flag Drill," by the "littlest" children; "May-pole Drill"—something new and pretty; "Reminding the Hen"—little boys do that; "Cinderella," dramatized; and "The Deestric' School at Blueberry Corners." There are other features mixed in throut, such as recitations and songs, etc. Among the songs is one with a whistling chorus—and you know "farmer boys" can whistle. We plan on giving you two full hours of real enjoyment. If you are addicted to laughing very heartily and long it may be well to see to your girth in case something should be said or done to make you "let yourself go."

The Final Report of the Geological Survey of Minnesota, seven volumes, —three-fourth leather binding—has been added to our books of reference. This is a very fine as well as extremely valuable set of books and the school is very fortunate in coming in possession of it at the price paid, $1.10, the express on them. They are books that would cost $5 or more per volume should they be bought. The following facts were gleaned by dipping into them just for a moment: The altitude of St. Hilaire above sea level is 1050 ft., Thief River Falls, 1100 ft.; Red Lake Falls, 1000 ft.; Crookston, about 875 ft. Going east from St. Hilaire the country rises 50 feet in about 9 miles. The soil thruout Red Lake county except a little spot at Red Lake Falls, is made up of boulder-clay or what is commonly known as till. This till varies in thickness from a foot or so to twenty or thirty yards. It is unstratified and contains stones scattered confusedly thru its mass, varying in size to fair-sized boulders. Many of them are blunted and show on one or more sides that smoothed and striated appearance which is characteristic of glacial action. The till—soil—here is simply the bottom-moraine or ground-moraine of an extinct glacier, which formerly covered all this northern section of the United States.

MORTGAGES GROW LESS

Wadena Pioneer-Journal: The dairy business is doing wonders for the farmers in every locality where the farmers are engaging in it. There is money in dairying. The progress of the dairying sections everywhere proves it.

In the township of Leaf River the number of mortgages has steadily decreased since the creameries started up in Wadena. Practically all the cream from Leaf River is marketed in this city. H. Sawtella, town clerk of Leaf River, informed us that three years ago there were 127 mortgages filed in Leaf River township. The following year the number was decreased to 87 and in the past year there has only been 47. He believes that the fact that the farmers are doing so well in dairying is responsible for this falling off in the number of mortgages made out.

Telephone Ordinance.

AN ORDINANCE granting G. W. Hooper, his heirs, successors, and assigns the privilege and authority to erect poles, wires and operating fixtures in the streets, alleys and public grounds of the village of St. Hilaire for the purpose of operating a local telephone system and exchange therein upon the terms and conditions herein stated.

THE VILLAGE COUNCIL OF THE VILLAGE OF ST. HILAIRE DO ORDAIN:

SECTION I.

That the privilege, permission and authority is hereby granted to G. W. Hooper, his heirs, successors and assigns, to erect and maintain in the streets and alleys and public grounds of said village, poles, wires and operating fixtures necessary and convenient for the purpose of conducting and operating a local telephone exchange in and through said village and supplying to the citizens of said village and the public suitable communication by telephone. Such right and use to be and continue for the term of twenty years from the date hereof, and upon the terms and conditions hereinafter stated.

SECTION II.

The location of the poles, wires and lines and any change therein or extension thereof shall be done under the direction of the common council of said village.

SECTION III.

The wires, poles and operating fixtures shall be placed and maintained so as not to interfere with the use and travel of said streets, alleys and public grounds, and when ordered by the council the poles on the principal streets shall be not less than thirty-five feet in length; and said G. W. Hooper shall, at all times, protect the city free and harmless from any and all damages arising by reason of his negligence or abuse in the accompanying and use of said streets, alleys and public grounds, and from any and all damages, in any manner arising out of, or by reason of the existence of said poles, wires and operating fixtures. Said poles shall be placed so as not to interrupt the flow of water in any sewer, pipe drain or gutter, and in case of bringing to grade, or change of grade of any street, alley or other public ground, said poles shall, by the said G. W. Hooper and at his expense, be reset so as to conform thereto.

This grant is made and is to be enjoyed subject to all such regulations and rights of said village as are now enforced, or may hereafter be adopted by the common council of said village.

SECTION IV.

The telephone system to be installed, under this grant, shall be modern and serviceable type and kind, and during all of the time of the continuance of this grant said G. W. Hooper, his heirs, successors or assigns shall keep and maintain in said system and exchange and all modifications and extensions thereof, in such condition as will give at all times to all its patrons first class service from eight o'clock a. m. until nine o'clock p. m. from May 1st until November 1st, the balance of the year the hours of service shall be from eight o'clock a. m. until eight o'clock p.m. and not to exceed five hours on Sunday.

Provided, however, that when the public welfare and convenience make it reasonably necessary and the volume of business may justify it, the hours of service shall be increased to twenty-four hours during week days and not to exceed ten hours on Sundays.

SECTION V.

The said G. W. Hooper, his successors or assigns shall, within eight months from the date hereof, fully construct, equip, and install said telephone system and exchange and have the same in operation, and upon failure to do so shall forfeit the sum of one hundred dollars. The construction of said telephone system shall be commenced before the 15th day of August, 1907, and if the said G. W. Hooper, his successors or assigns, fail to do so this grant may be cancelled or extended at the discretion of the common council of said village, and all rights and privileges herein granted shall be forfeited.

That, after said system and exchange shall have been constructed and installed should the said G. W. Hooper, his successors or assigns, at any time, fail to furnish the telephone service of the kind and in the manner hereinbefore stated. In such case the council of said village may, by resolution or otherwise, terminate all the rights and privileges herein granted after thirty days' notice, in writing, given to said G. W. Hooper, his heirs, successors or assigns, of intention to do so.

SECTION VI.

In consideration of the foregoing, the said G. W. Hooper hereby agrees to allow the said village to attach at any time to any of the poles, the city fire alarm, or police wires, and said poles are hereby made a municipal instrumentality for that purpose. Provided, that the said attachments and the use incident thereto shall not interfere with the said telephone business, and said attachment shall be made and maintained under the direction of the said G. W. Hooper, his successors or assigns.

SECTION VII.

The said G. W. Hooper shall, without charge to the said village, furnish it with two telephones to be placed as directed by the council. The said G. W. Hooper shall make no greater charge than $1.75 per month for business phones and one dollar per month for residence phones, until one hundred telephones have been installed on said system, when the rate may be raised, at the option of said G. W. Hooper, to two dollars per month for business phones and $1.25 per month for residence phones,

SECTION VIII.

The said G. W. Hooper shall build rural telephone lines into the rural districts tributary to the said village of St. Hilaire whenever two bona-fide subscribers can be secured per mile at a rental not to exceed eighteen dollars per annum.

SECTION IX.

This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage, approval and publication as provided by law, and upon the acceptance thereof by the said G. W. Hooper filed with the clerk of said village within thirty days after the passage thereof.

Passed, sixth day of May, 1907.

A. S. WILSON,
President of the Village Council,
of the Village of St. Hilaire.

Attested:
CARL JOHNSON,
Village Clerk.

Thief River News: Joseph Juneau has made application for a license to sell liquor in Northern Hotel building. This license, if granted, will make seventeen saloons in Thief River Falls and the council has limited the number to sixteen. Just how the council is going to dispose of the matter is a question not easily decided. It would appear that Mr. Juneau had as much right to secure a liquor license as any of the other sixteen, and the city always needs the $1000 license fee.

SHOT IN THE HEAD

Son of Walter McAndress Accidentally Shoots His Brother.

Thief River News: Leonard, the nine year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter McAndress, of Highlanding, on Sunday accidentally shot his younger brother, Charles. The bullet of a twenty-two caliber rifle entered the unfortunate boy's forehead just above the eye and caused death a few hours later.

Just how the accident happened, Leonard does not know. In company with Charles he was shooting at a mark in the Red Lake river. He suddenly turned around to speak to his brother and the gun discharged with the disastrous results above stated. Mr. McAndress saw the boys shooting with the rifle and was on his way to tell them to take the gun back to the house as he never allowed the younger boy to accompany the older when he had the gun. He stopped on his way to pick up a board that was on the ground and before he reached them the accident happened.

The body was brought to this city Monday and on Tuesday was buried in St. Bernard's cemetery beside a little nine months' old baby that Mr. and Mrs. McAndress buried last August.

In this, their second sad bereavement within a year Mr. and Mrs. McAndress have the sympathy of all residents of Red Lake county.

Annual Tax Sale.

Gazette: Monday of this week County Auditor O'Brien held the annual sale of property on which taxes remain delinquent for the year 1905.

About 1500 descriptions were offered for sale and about 450 were sold, mostly all farm property, amounting in all to about $5000.

The bidding was quite spirited, and besides the local capitalists several bidders were present for foreign parties. Following were the buyers present: F. H. Welcome and G. Vandertook of Thief River Falls, J. A. Duffy, A. P. Toupin, P. B. Gauss, Theo. Garceau, L. C. Simons and M. O. Sortedahl of this city.

The sale was highly satisfactory to the auditor and demonstrated that Red Lake county property is still in big demand.

The ladies of the M. E. church have decided to hold a rummage sale commencing on Wednesday, June 5th and have rented the Hall store building for that purpose. They will tell you more about it later.

A New Aid Fable.

Once there was a Geezer, who sat around and cut Kindling too small for Cook Stove purposes. He Whittled against Time and Flabbergasted against his Town. The town was No Good, he said—strictly on the Blink. Yes, it was N. G. Why, hadn't he lived Here since '84 and found that the Place was Punky? Sure, Mike!

Look at that town over in the next County. Grown like Jonah's Gourd. Must be a Jonah here. We've grown some, but I don't see that we're knocking any particularly Big Persimmons. That's the way this Gazaboo knocked his town.

One day a Sarcastic Stranger blowed into the Town that was Knocked from the burg that had Blossomed like Jonah's Gourd. He Heard some of the Flabbergasting and Dropped to the situation.

"Look here, you," he remarked to the citizen who was Handing Out the Knocks. "What do you do for this town? Are you doing your part to put this Burg on the Upgrade? What's that hefty Bunch of literature sticking out of your Clothes?"

"So I thought," said the Impertinent Arrival. "Now let me hand you out a nice little Wad of common sense. For the past ten years you have been sending your money to the Chicago Mail Order houses instead of spending it among your home merchants. What would have happened to Chicago fifty years ago if all the First Settlers had shipped their Loose Coin to New York on catalogue inducements? Why, you'd have to use a sand dredger now to find the Original Site of Chicago Now, in the Burg from which I have just Blown in we got over all this Bum Business years ago. We passed Resolutions that we would trade at home and help our own town to Spread out so that you could Sight it on the map without using Opera Glasses. But you and a Bunch of other folks in this town have wasted your Substance in Riotous Expenditures in Chicago by mail and let the sheriff hang out the 'Nothing Doing' sign in front of some of your own town's mercantile Emporiums. Look at our Town and then look at yours. What makes the Difference?"

Whereupon the Whittling Gazaboo threw a few well chosen Thoughts into his mental makeup and went down to the village store to Annex a linen collar in place of the Paper Circles which he had bought from Chicago at Two Bits a Box.

MORAL: If you want your town to grow, patronize home enterprises.

STOMACH ON STRIKE

SUCCESSFUL TONIC TREATMENT FOR INDIGESTION.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Cured This Woman and Have Cured Many Hundreds of Other Cases of Common Ailments

Loss of appetite, coated tongue, bad taste in the mouth, heavy dull headache and a dull, sluggish feeling—these are the symptoms of stomach trouble. They indicate that the stomach is on a strike; that it is no longer furnishing to the blood the full quota of nourishment that the body demands, hence every organ suffers.

There are two methods of treatment, the old one by which the stomach is humored by the use of predigested foods and artificial ferments, and the new one by which the stomach is toned up to do the work which nature intended of it. A recent cure by the tonic treatment is that of Mrs. Mary Stackpole, of 81 Liberty street, Lowell, Mass. She says:

"I suffered constantly for years from stomach trouble and terrible backaches and was confined to my bed the greater part of three years. I was under the care of our family physician most of the time, but did not seem to get better.

"I was completely run-down and was not able to do my work about the house. My blood was impure and my complexion pale. I suffered from flashes of heat, followed suddenly by chills. I had awful headaches, which lasted from three to four days. I could get but little rest at night, as my sleep was broken and fitful. As a result I lost several pounds in weight and became very nervous.

"I was in a wretched condition when I heard about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I started to take the pills at once and began to gain in weight and health. I was encouraged by this to keep on until I was cured. My friends and neighbors often remark what a changed woman I am and I owe it all to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

These wonderful pills are useful in a wide range of diseases such as anæmia, rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, nervous headaches, and even locomotor ataxia and partial paralysis.

The great value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills lies in the fact that they actually make new blood and this carries health and strength to every portion of the body. The stomach is toned up, the nerves are strengthened, every organ is stimulated to do its work.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

The State Day by Day

COUNTIES MAY BE PENALIZED.

Cannot Delay Tax Settlement With the State.

The counties will have to pay the state a penalty when they do not make their tax settlements on time, in the opinion of E. S. Pettyjohn, deputy state treasurer. Chapter 82 of the General Laws of 1907 provides that a penalty of 1 per cent per month shall be paid on all delinquent taxes on which no penalty is provided by the present state law.

The law was intended to apply especially to telephone companies, for which there was no penalty prescribed prior to 1907 if they had failed to pay their taxes on time. But it is thought that the law is broad enough in its terms so that counties that do not make their settlements of state taxes on time will have to pay the penalty. The law says:

"Whenever any sum becomes due to the State of Minnesota as a tax of any kind whatsoever, and shall remain unpaid for a period of thirty days, it shall draw interest at the rate of 12 per cent per annum from the expiration of said period of thirty days, said interest to be paid and collected with and in like manner as the principal sum.

"Any and all sums now due to the state as taxes and remaining unpaid for thirty days after the passage hereof shall draw interest thereafter as provided in section 1 hereof.

"This act shall not apply to any sum or sums due or to become due to the state as taxes upon which interest or penalties are imposed after they become due or delinquent by any law now in force in this state."

A penalty for delay in the payment of railroad gross earnings taxes and several other special taxes has been provided by law for some time, so the law will not apply to them. But some corporations have no penalty provided, and they have found that by delaying payment of their taxes they have had the use of the money and were profiting by the amount of interest it earned.

The counties must make settlements of state taxes three times a year, and each time some of the county auditors delay making their settlements several weeks.

NEW ROAD LAWS EFFECTIVE 1908

Overseers Elected Will Stay In This Year.

A pamphlet calling attention to changes in the road laws will be soon issued by the state highway commission. The most important road legislation adopted this year was the law abolishing town supervisors and substituting therefor town inspectors of highways. The act is made effective at once, but the overseers elected for this year will have to serve out their terms, so the law actually will not go into effect until next year. Then the town boards will have to elect a man to supervise the work and supersede the six or eight men who are annually elected at the town meeting to have charge of the road work.

"The office of town road overseer is herewith abolished, and in place thereof the town board shall appoint a competent road builder as road inspector, who shall have charge under the direction of the county superintendent of highways of the construction and maintenance of all roads and bridges in the town. He shall hold office during the pleasure of the town board. He may appoint one or more competent assistant, subject to the approval of the town board. The compensation of road inspector and assistants shall be fixed by the town board. Before entering upon his duties he shall give bond to the town, approved by the town board, in the sum of $100, conditioned for the faithful discharge of his duties."

The other section of the law relates to the county supervisor, but this was amended so that it is only a shadow of what the highway commission wanted. The commission had intended to do away with the county surveyor entirely and compel county commissioners to elect a county superintendent of highways. As the law stands the county boards "may" elect such a supervisor, who may also be the county surveyor.

SEIZED AS UNDER WEIGHT.

Coffee and Spices Shipped From Chicago Are in Hock.

Preston, Minn., May 11.—Inspector Fowler of the state dairy and food commission confiscated all the coffee and spices included in a car of groceries shipped here by Hitchcock, Hill & Co., of Chicago. It is alleged that the packages were short in weight from two ounces to two pounds.

Train Kills Laborer.

Minneapolis, May 11.—An unidentified laborer was yesterday morning found dead under the Northern Pacific bridge near Washington avenue. It is believed he was struck by a train during the night as he was crossing the bridge.

Crookston, Minn., May 11. — The largest class ever graduated from the Crookston high school will receive their diplomas on May 30 of this year. There are thirty in the class.

Elk River, Minn., May 11. — New England capitalists are about to let the contract for building a flour mill at the dam on the Elk River, where the old mill burned four years ago.

Geneva, Minn., May 11.—The infant child of J. Jensen was found dead when the parents awoke in the morning. The supposition is that the child was accidently smothered.

Melrose, Minn., May 11. — Robbers blew a safe at New Munich last night and got away with $500 worth of checks.

TANGLE IN NEW GAME LAW.

Blind Wording May Render Enactment Invalid.

Bad English that may cause some worry for the state game and fish commission has been found in the general game and fish bill which passed the legislature the last night of the session.

Section 34, referring to the hunter's license, says: "Every resident of this state over twenty-one years of age is prohibited from hunting, taking or killing any game bird or game animal, unless he shall have first procured a license therfor from the county auditor of the county in which he is a resident. Provided, however, that this shall not apply to any resident of said county."

Literally construed, the last sentence would nullify the license requirement, as every man is supposed to be a resident of the county in which he resides. The sentence was added the last night of the session and was intended to restore the provision of the 1905 law, which required a license of every person hunting outside of his own county. The bill passed both houses with the clause requiring a license of every person who wanted to hunt, whether it be on his own farm or in the opposite end of the state. Then the house recalled the bill and inserted the blind clause.

The game and fish commission will go ahead collecting license money and prosecuting those that hunt outside of their home county without a license, on the assumption that this is the law, and if any one wants to try the question he will have a chance to do so. The intent of the legislature was clear and it is the general practice of the courts to construe laws according to their intent when the intent is clear and the wording is not.

GETTING READY FOR BIG FAIR.

Many Improvements Are Now Going Forward.

The officers and board of managers of the state fair have approved plans for the sewer system and the new poultry and dairy buildings for the fair grounds. As soon as the complete plans and specifications are prepared bids will be advertised for and the work will commence without delay in order that all may be ready for the opening of the fair next September.

The board had requested A. R. Starkey, assistant commissioner of public works of St. Paul, to prepare working plans for the sewer system, which were submitted to the system and approved. Mr. Starkey agreed to prepare detailed plans and specifications for the sewer system and have them ready in about a week. Bids will be opened and acted upon at the next meeting of the board. The legislature at its recent session appropriated $50,000 for this improvement.

Preliminary plans for the new dairy and poultry buildings were submitted by Thori, Alban & Fisher of St. Paul and approved by the board. The firm was authorized to prepare the drawings and specifications. Appropriations of $25,000 for each of these building were made by the legislature, and both will be ready next fall.

The forty acres of additional ground for which the legislature made provision have been secured north of the machinery section at the east end of the race track, and at the request of the board Frederick Nussbaumner, superintendent of the St. Paul park system, has agreed to lay out and plan the streets and building sites on this ground. This land is well adapted for the purposes of the fair, being level, so that little or no grade will be necessary.

BIG DAM FOR POWER.

Project Under Way in Western Minnesota.

The largest dam in Western Minnesota is about to be constructed just west of Fergus Falls, in what is known as Dayton hollow, where the Otter Tail river, up to that point a rapid, turbulent stream, receives the waters of the Pelican and passes between two hills and out on the flats of Wilkin county. The dam will be put in by Vernon A. Wrght, whose father was the original townsite proprietor here, and F. G. Barrows, a well known capitalist. It will have a head of approximately forty feet and will develop 2,000 horse power. The cost will be about $100,000, and electric transmission lines will be run into Fergus Falls to furnish power for factory purposes, while other lines will be run westward to furnish both light and power to a number of villages, and possibly to Wahpeton and Breckenridge, although this is not definitely decided.

Fergus Falls has five dams at the present time, and the city is planning to build a new one to supply the municipal electric light plant with power.

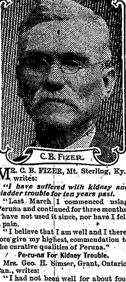
The state board of investment has fixed the minimum of interest on all state loans at 4 per cent. Loans aggregating $278,000 were approved. They include—for irrigation and drainage work in Norman county, $19,000; Swift county, $25,000; Lac qui Parle county, $35,000; Clay county, $12,000. For a new court house in Jackson county a loan of $65,000 was authorized, and for schools in Austin $30,000, St. Peter $8,000, Little Falls $20,000, North Branch $16,000, Aitken $30,000, Otter Tail $15,000, Carleton $20,000.

The State of Minnesota has received from the Cloquet Lumber company the remainder of the $105,000 for the cut on one section of land, amounting to 12,000,000 feet, for which the state got $8.75 per thousand. This is the largest amount ever paid the state for any one cut, and the highest price per thousand.

Mrs. Mary Hurley, aged eighty-six years, once prominent in Winona society, but for several years a recluse, was found dead in her home. Heart failure apparently caused death.

KIDNEY TROUBLE

Suffered Two Years—Relieved In Three Months.



C. B. FIZER

MR. C. B. FIZER, Mt. Sterling, Ky., writes:

"I have suffered with kidney and bladder trouble for ten years past.

"Last March I commenced using Peruna and continued for three months. I have not used it since, nor have I felt a pain.

"I believe that I am well and I therefore give my highest commendation to the curative qualities of Peruna."

Pe-ru-na For Kidney Trouble.

Mrs. Geo. H. Simser, Grant, Ontario, Can., writes:

"I had not been well for about four years. I had kidney trouble, and, in fact, felt badly nearly all the time.

"This summer I got so very bad I thought I would try Peruna, so I wrote to you and began at once to take Peruna and Manalin.

"I took only two bottles of Peruna and one of Manalin, and now I feel better than I have for some time.

"I feel that Peruna and Manalin cured me and made a different woman of me altogether. I bless the day I picked up the little book and read of your Peruna."

It is the business of the kidneys to remove from the blood all poisonous materials. They must be active all the time, else the system suffers. There are times when they need a little assistance.

Peruna is exactly this sort of a remedy. It has saved many people from disaster by rendering the kidneys service at a time when they were not able to bear their own burdens.

State News of the Week Briefly Told

Mrs. Anna Schmid, eighty-nine years old and bedridden, was suffocated by a fire at Springfield, which broke out in the house while she was its only occupant.

Seeding is again under way around Warren. Less wheat will be sown this year than usual, due to the lateness of the season. Flax and barley will take its place.

The Mahlum hotel, in Southeast Brainerd, owned by A. Mahlum, was damaged by fire. The entire roof and third story were destroyed. Loss, $2,000; insurance, $1,500.

Harry C. Burdette, chief lineman of the St. Paul police alarm and signal system, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head. No motive for the deeds is known.

Fire which for a time threatened destruction to the plants of two companies did $25,000 damage to the stock and building of the Harrison & Smith Printing company in Minneapolis.

Thomas J. French, a switchman in the employ of the Minnesota Transfer Railway company, was run over by a car in the transfer yards at St. Paul, and he will lose his right leg.

The imperial council of the Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine has selected St. Paul as the place for holding the next annual meeting. The date was fixed for July, 1908.

Frederick C. Scherfenberg, a veteran who served with the First Minnesota regiment in the Civil war, was found dead, his body suspended from a rope in a woodshed in the rear of his home in St. Paul.

Prof. George Sverdrup, president of Augsburg seminary, for more than thirty years, died suddenly at his home in Minneapolis. He had been complaining for a day or two, but it was not thought his illness was serious.

Hans Lund, sixty-four years old, a well-known farmer, has been found dead in a swamp near Aitkin. It is supposed that in returning to his home he got off the road, wandered into the swamp and died from exposure.

The office and plant of the Faribault Journal were destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at $10,000, with $2,000 insurance on the building, which was owned by C. M. Wall. The fire started from defective wiring in the basement.

Mrs. Charlotte McFarland was burned to death in Minneapolis while attempting to extinguish a small fire which broke out in a bedroom in her home. It is supposed that she was overcome by smoke. She was dead when found.

A six-year-old son of Lucius Giese of Sherburn, fell from a tree and was picked up unconscious. No bones were broken, but it is feared he has received spinal or internal injuries. He recognizes those around him, but cannot talk.

Deputy Game Warden H. P. Felgate has arrested Frank Cisewski and Frank Modrzejewski for using a hoop net in a fishway at Winona. He also found another net containing seventy pounds of bass, and is on the trail of the owner.

The grand jury in the federal court at Fergus Falls returned its first batch of indictments. Joseph H. Newton of Roosevelt was indicted on a charge of cutting timber on government land. John Zwack, a rural mail carrier, was indicted on a charge of embezzling funds intrusted to him, and Anton Potter is accused of having failed to cancel revenue stamps on packages of liquors.

John Ungers, an insane man who escaped from the Fergus Falls hospital, arrived at Melrose without a stitch of clothing on his body. He made his way to Melrose by stealing a ride in a box car. He was discovered by the train crew. Unger asked a brakeman the name of the town, and when told it was Melrose he jumped from the car and ran to his parents' home.

Charles Ruppert, a retired farmer, formerly residing in the Waumandee valley in Wisconsin, but who makes his home in Winona and is reputed to be worth $100,000, was swindled out of $2,610 on the old three-card monte game. He won all right, but the other fellows got the money. He won his bet, but in place of the money he supposed he would receive he secured only a tin box filled with paper and a brick.

A teamster named Samuel Ibsen, aged thirty years and single, was shot and instantly killed while dancing in a resort near the Holman mine, two miles from Bovey, Itasca county. A man named Toney Talerubes is accused of the shooting. It has not yet developed what the motive was. Talerubes escaped, and the authorities of Itasca county are seeking him. It is believed that Tulerubes fled toward Grand Rapids.

Judge Lovely of Albert Lea continues to improve somewhat, and is able to be about the city and in his office. He looks after his private business to some extent, but has not taken up any work of the law firm of Lovely & Dunn.

A fire at midnight burned a Milwaukee car partly loaded with hay, and also partly burned a new coal shed owned by the Rosemount Lumber company at Rosemount. The heroic efforts of the citizens saved the old coal shed, containing about eighty tons of coal.

Fire in the Brannon hotel in Northome, at an early hour in the morning, damaged the hotel building to the etxent of $1,500. Many of the occupants of the rooms had hairbreadth escapes from being burned to death.

Austin W. Loud, a lumber inspector, dropped dead while dining with four others in a cafe at Duluth. He had just finished telling a story of a fishing trip that he had taken, when he fell sideways to the floor before his astonished companions could reach out a hand to help him.

Perfect Womanhood

The greatest menace to woman's permanent happiness in life is the suffering that comes from some derangement of the feminine organs.

Many thousands of women have realized this too late to save their health, barely in time to save their lives.

To be a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband, should be a woman's constant study.

If a woman finds that her energies are flagging, that she gets easily tired, dark shadows appear under her eyes, she has backache, headache, bearing-down sensations, nervousness, irregularities or the "blues," she should start at once to build up her system by a tonic with specific powers, such as

It cures Female Complaints, such as Dragging Sensations, Weak Back, Falling and Displacements, Inflammation and Ulceration, and all Organic Diseases, and is invaluable in the Change of Life. It dissolves and Expels Tumors at an early stage. Subdues Faintness, Nervous Prostration; Exhaustion, and strengthens and tones the Stomach. Cures Headache, General Debility, Indigestion, and invigorates the whole female sysem. It is an excellent remedy for derangements of the Kidneys in either sex.

MEXICAN TROOPS MOVE TO BORDER

LOOKS LIKE THREATENING MOVE AGAINST GUATEMALA—GREAT SECRECY.

TROUBLE IN SAN SALVADOR

A FORMIDABLE REVOLUTION AGAINST PRESIDENT FIGUEROA IS IMMINENT.

City of Mexico, May 22. — Mexican troops are being moved to the Guatemalan frontier. This information reached the capital yesterday in a private telegram. The troops are being conveyed over the Pan-American railroad. In what numbers or for what purpose these soldiers are being moved southward is not known outside of official circles.

It is said that the transfer of these troops may simply be the carrying out of previous orders issued by the war department in pursuance of a plan of mobilization that carries with it no special significance.

San Salvador in Turmoil.

At the state department nothing could be learned of the situation. Meanwhile it has been learned that the scene of greatest activity has been shifted, or, more properly speaking, divided between Guatemala City and San Salvador.

An American business man now in the city, who arrived from San Salvador a few days ago, says it is only a question of time when President Figueroa of Salvador will be confronted with a formidable revolution. An authority says conditions in the latter republic are rapidly approaching the chaotic state now existing in Guatemala.

Open War in Honduras.

These developments have for the time being checked the plans of the men who are organizing the revolution against Estrada Cabrera. They depend absolutely on the air of President Zelaya of Nicaragua. The revolutionary general, Toledo, is now in Managua, the capital of Nicaragua. As soon as President Zelaya believes the time ripe, it is reported he will lend soldiers and equipment to Gen. Toledo for the attack on Cabrera. Open war is on in Honduras among political factions, each led by a presidential aspirant.

SCRUGHAM IS HELD.

Manager of Policyholders' Committee Must Stand Trial.

New York, May 22. — Magistrate House yesterday held George R. Scrugham, manager of the international policyholders' committee; Charles E. Stirrip and C. F. Carrington, as assistants to Scruham for trial in the court of general sessions on a charge of violating that section of the penal code that makes it conspiracy "to obstruct the due process of the law."

In a lengthy opinion, Magistrate House says he believes the three defendants conspired to obstruct the due process of the law by changing ballots cast in the recent election for officers of the New York and Mutual Life Insurance companies.

ASKS CHANGE OF VENUE.

Mrs. Kaufmann's Attorneys Claim She Can't Get Fair Trial at Sioux Falls.

Sioux Falls, S. D., May 22—The case of Mrs. Emma Kaufmann, wife of Moses Kaufmann, a wealthy brewer, charged with the murder of Miss Agnes Polreis, her young domestic, was called for trial before Judge E. G. Smith of Yankton in the state circuit court yesterday afternoon. Judge Frank H. Aikens of the attorneys for the defendant filed application for a change of venue, alleging that because of the state of the public mind in Minnehaha county the defendant would be unable to secure a fair trial here.

The evidence in support of the application was not all in when court adjourned for the day.

FIVE MINERS FIND DEATH IN PIT.

Flames Suddenly Spread and Hem the Ill-Fated Men In.

Trinidad, Colo., May 22.—Five miners, including Supt. Alexander Jacobs, were burned or suffocated Sunday night in the Engleville mine at Engleville, Colo.

The bodies were recovered during the day. The men went to work Sunday night and when they did not come out yesterday morning an investigation was started. It was discovered that fire, which broke out in the mine a year ago and was still burning in some sections, had suddenly spread and swept across the incline tunnel, preventing the men from reaching the outside.

MELVILLE IS ARRAIGNED.

Montana Man Who Killed Friend Pleads Not Guilty.

Helena, Mont., May 22. — George Melville, who recently stabbed Winfield Guthrie in the back and caused his death, and who claims that the act was committed while he was in the heat of passion, owing to the abuses the victim heaped upon his wife, was arraigned in the district court yesterday and entered a plea of not guilty to the charge of murder in the first degree.

FIVE BURNED ON LAKE STEAMER

ONE PASSENGER AND FOUR COAL PASSERS LOSE LIVES ON MICHIGAN.

Grand Haven, Mich., May 23.—Five lives were lost and about seventy-five people had a perilously close escape from death when the passenger and freight steamer Naomi burned early yesterday in the middle of Lake Michigan.

Four of the victims were coal passers, penned down in the forecastle by the flames, where many of the rescued passengers from the decks of the freighter Kerr and the steamer Kansas saw them at the portholes vainly imploring for help.

Was Terribly Burned.

J. M. Rhoades of Detroit, a passenger, was the fifth victim. He was terribly burned in his berth and died soon after reaching a hospital at Grand Rapids, Mich.

The steamer was burned to the water's edge and has been towed into this harbor, where she lies a smoldering hulk.

The fire broke out about 1:30 o'clock between decks in the forward end of the steamer. It spread with tremendous rapidity and it was apparent almost from the first that it was vain for the crew to fight the flames. They immediately turned their attention to arousing the passengers and getting them on deck.

Worked Like Heroes.

Headed by Stewart Philip Rossbach and Purser William Hanrahan, the members of the crew worked like heroes to save the sleeping men, women and children.

Capt. Traill sent up signals for help and in a few moments three steamers whose lights could be seen a few miles away came to the rescue. They were the steel freighter Kerr, the Kansas, a sister ship of the Naomi, and the Saxonia.

The Kansas took on board the half clad and terribly shocked and frightened passengers and brought them to this port. All of them were loud in their praise of the Naomi's crew and their bravery and coolness.

CREMATED BY MOLTEN METAL.

Pittsburg, May 23.—Two Americans well known mill men, and three foreigners were cremated and four foreigners were seriously burned last night when an explosion occurred at the Eliza furance of the Jones & Laughlin Steel company, limited, in the Hazelwood district of the city. Of a crew of ten men at the furnace when the accident happened only one, a foreigner, escaped uninjured.

The men were about ready to draw off the molten metal when the ore slipped, falling to the bottom of the furnace. The heavy weight of the ore forced the gas with terrific pressure through the first dust catcher, which was unable to stand the strain and burst, and before the men could escape they were caught by the flames.

SIX WHITE MINERS KILLED.

Heavily Loaded Freight Cars Crash Into Cars Carrying Miners.

Dayton, Tenn., May 23.—While returning to their homes in Dayton from the mines of the Dayton Coal and Iron company, six white miners met death yesterday afternoon and several others were injured.

About 200 men were in coke cars on the short line of the company. Two heavily loaded freight cars that a yardman had been switching got beyond his control and plunged down a thirty-five foot grade into the rear end of the train carrying the miners.

Miners in the rear coke cars saw the runaway cars coming and endeavored to signal the engineer, but he did not understand whether he was wanted to stop or go ahead. At last, noticing the frantic signals of the men behind him, he came to a stop, just as the heavy cars struck his train.

HEGEMAN IS INDICTED.

Grand Jury Finds Ten Bills Against President of Metropolitan.

New York, May 23. — The special grand that has concerned itself with the conduct of the insurance business in New York county has concluded its investigation of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, and yesterday returned ten indictments against the company's president, John R. Hegeman. Seven of the indictments charge forgery in the third degree, while the other three charge perjury.

WAR IN SALVADOR.

Meager Reports Received of Breaking Out of Revolution.

New Orleans, La., May 23.—A cablegram from President Zelaya of Nicaragua stating that a revolution yesterday broke out in Salvador was received here by the Nicaraguan consul. The cable said that Prudencio Alfara leads the revolution. It contained no further information.

Mixed Poison Kills.

Charles City, Iowa, May 23.—Fearing that he was about to lose his santy, Herbert Sanders, a wealthy retired farmer living near here, yesterday committed suicide by taking carbolic acid and paris green.

Pays Heavy Ransom.

Smyrna, Asia Minor, May 23.—Baron von Heemstran, a member of a well known Dutch family, who was captured outside this city May 13, has been released on the payment of a heavy ransom.

TWO ARE LYNCHED; FOUR ARE KILLED

NET RESULT OF ATTEMPTED CRIMINAL ASSAULT ON WHITE WOMAN.

REAL BRUTE MAKES ESCAPE

EFFORTS OF POSSE TO CAPTURE HIM RESULTS IN BLOODSHED.

Reidsville, Ga., May 23. — Two negroes lynched and four other persons dead and six injured is the net result of an attempted criminal assault made last night on Mrs. Laura Moore, white, widow, six miles from here, by Flem Padgett, a negro. Two members of the Padgett family are the ones lynched and the death or injury of the others followed the efforts of a posse to capture Padgett.

News of the attempted assault aroused the citizens, who immediately went to the home of the negro's father. He assured the crowd that his son was not in the house and invited the posse to search for themselves.

Four Are Killed.

As they approached the house Flem Padgett fired on the crowd, killing a white man named Hare and wounding four others. The crowd fired a volley into the house, killing the old negro Padgett and two of his daughters and wounding two of his sons, one of whom was Flem Padget, the man wanted.

After the cooler heads had left the scene of the killing, the hot-headed element employed a young man to take Padgett's wife and one of the Padgett boys, who was shot through the lungs, to the Reidsville jail, but later the party followed, took the prisoners from the young man and riddled them with buckshot.

Mob Would Force Jail.

It is stated that a crowd of about 300 started for Reidsville to force the jail and lynch the other Padgett boy, who had been taken there by the deputy sheriff.

It is not believed that this will be accomplished, as Reidsville has a substantial jail and the citizens will not permit such an act. Those involved in the affair are influential citizens. Further trouble is feared.

Flem Padgett, who attempted the assault, and for whom the posse went in pursuit, escaped. He was slightly wounded. One of his brothers was brought here and placed in jail.

REPUDIATE THE IRISH BILL.

Home Rule or Nothing Sentiment of Convention at Dublin.

Dublin, May 23.—The largest, most representative and most harmonious convention which ever assembled in Ireland yesterday repudiated the plan for a limited Irish council, which was all the Liberal government had to offer in fulfillment of its campaign promises. This action killed the hope of any home rule legislation by the pressent parliament, created a serious split in the government's forces and may have far-reaching results.

The temper of the convention was plain from the beginning. No one had a word to offer in behalf of the bill. Home rule or nothing was the unanimous sentiment, and the resolution rejecting the measure proposed by John E. Redmond commanded every vote.

The Irish parliamentarians had been deluged with resolutions from town councils and all sorts of official and unofficial bodies since they arrived in Dublin, all denouncing the bill. The country spoke in an unmistakable voice, and the Irish members of parliament cheerfully acquiesced in its will.

ALL LEADING CEREALS GO UP.

Alarming Reports Concerning Crops Send Prices Skyward.

Chicago, May 23.—The price of all leading cereals advanced sharply on the board of trade because of alarming reports concerning alleged serious damage to the growing crop by drouth, "green bugs" and cold weather. All deliveries of wheat, with the exception of the July option, touched new high record marks. At the close July wheat was up 3 3-4@3 7-8c, September showed a net gain of 4 1-8c and December a gain of 3 7-8c. July closed 1 1-4c higher. Oats were up 1-8c and provisions 15@17 1-2c to 25c higher.

The wheat market opened excited and strong, with prices ranging from 1-4@5-8c to 1 1-8c higher than Monday's final quotations. As trading progressed prices continued to mount higher until all deliveries excepting the July option had sold at a higher price than previously recorded this season.

COAL MAN GOES SCOT FREE.

State Fails to Prove Deliberate Short Weight Sales.

Black River Falls, Wis., May 23. — Much interest was felt here over the trial of B. W. Hicks, charged with selling coal at short weight. Judge O'Neill ruled that the state must prove that Hicks not only gave short weight, but that he knew he was selling at light weight. The state failed to satisfy the jury and Hicks was acquitted.

WHEAT CONTINUES SKYWARD

UPROAR OF BULLISH ENTHUSIASM AT CHICAGO—NEW RECORD IN MINNEAPOLIS.

Chicago, May 23. — Amid an uproar of bullish enthusiasm wheat prices on the board of trade yesterday continued their record breaking tactics, all deliveries touching new record marks for the season. The July option sold at $1.03, September at $1.04 1-2 and December at $1.05 3-8. The market closed nervous, with prices showing only slight changes compared with Tuesday's final quotations, the July and December deliveries being up 1-8c, while September was down 1-8c. July corn and oats each closed at a net loss of 1-2c. Provisions were down 15@17 1-2c to 27 1-2c.

Trading was again of enormous proportions and prices fluctuated within a range of 2c. There was a big general demand with the more prominent commission houses leading in the buying. Heavy realizing sales kept the market in a highly excited condition and caused rapid fluctuatons in prices. The main features in the news gossip of the day were the continued absence of rain in Kansas and the strength of European markets, especially those at Liverpool and Budapest. Reports of damage to the crop were again numerous.

Minneapolis, May 23. — New high prices were reached in the wheat pit yesterday, with sales of July wheat at $1.04 1-2 and of September at $1.04 7-8. No. 1 hard wheat sold for cash as high as $1.07 3-8 and No. 1 Northern as high as $1.06 3-8.

GIRL OUTRAGED AND MURDERED.

New York, May 23. — Amelia Staffeldt, fifteen years of age, was outraged and murdered on the outskirts of her father's farm in Elmhurst, L. I., yesterday afternoon. The crime was committed in a lonely spot, where the girl had wandered in search of dandelions.

Word of the outrage spread quickly through the farming section where the girl's father, William Staffeldt, a well-to-do farmer, lives. Later, united in a determined posse, 200 neighbors searched for the murderer but without avail.

WRECKERS THROW TRAIN OFF BRIDGE

TWO KILLED; SCORE INJURED

A REWARD OF $10,000 ENLISTS ARMY TO SEARCH FOR THE MISCREANTS.

Los Angeles, May 23. — Private detectives employed by the Southern Pacific and deputies of the sheriff's office in this city joined in the search for the men who are believed to have caused yesterday morning's disastrous wreck on the coast line when five cars on the coast line limited plunged over the edge of a trestle near West Glendale ten miles north of this city. The list of dead is believed to be complete with the finding of the bodies of James Victor, of whose antecedents nothing is known, and T. J. McMahon, a Santa Barbara electrician, who was crushed beneath the baggage car while stealing a ride.

Score Injured.

Victor is believed to have met death under the same conditions, but his body was not discovered until the car was partially raised from the dry bed of the Arroyo Seco. The injured numbered a score.

Physicians in charge of the dozen or more persons who sustained serious injuries report that all the injured will eventually recover.

A reward of $10,000 offered by the Southern Pacific company for the conviction of the person or persons responsible for the wreck has enlisted many officers and detectives in the search for the miscreants.

Devilish Ingenuity.

In accomplishing the wreck of the train, a devilish ingenuity was exercised. At a point on a trestle over the Arroyo Seco the fishplates and bolts of two connecting rails on the southbound track were removed and in the apertures whence the bolts were taken strands of heavy wire were fasteened at the end of each rail. From the appearance of the track it was apparent that some person on a hillside had pulled the wire as the train approached and spread the rails. The train was traveling at a rate between thirty-five and forty miles an hour.

BELIEVE SOLDIERS ARE GUILTY

MAJORITY OF SENATE COMMITTEE OPPOSED TO TRIP TO TEXAS.

Washington, May 23. — The senate committee on military affairs which is investigating the Brownsville affray held an executive session at the close of the hearing yesterday to determine whether the committee shall go to Texas to take testimony and personally inquire int othe shooting from the Brownsville point of view. No agreement was reached.

A majority of the members of the committee argued that the testimony taken already proves conclusively that the negro troops did the shooting and that nothing would be gained by taking the trip. Likewise it was intimated by several senators that there was no occasion to call any more witnesses.

Senator Foraker took exception to this position and he was supported by the threee or four senators who have sided with him in the defense of the negroes.

It was decided to summon several more witnesses from Brownsville that are deemed important and to examine the experts at the Springfield arsenal.

WILL BE NO LET UP ON HARRIMAN

COMMISSION WILL NOT WAIT FOR COURT'S ACTION IN HIS CASE.

TO BEGIN ACTION THIS MONTH

HIGHEST COURT MAY HAVE TO DECIDE IF HE MUST ANSWER QUESTIONS.

Washington, May 23.—It is not the intention of the interstate commerce commission to await the result of the proceedings to be instituted against E. R. Harriman to compel him to answer certain inquiries that were put to him in the New York investigation before taking action on the general subject of the investigation. In the opinion of members of the commission, it may be a year or even more before a final decision can be reached regarding the efforts of the commission to compel Mr. Harriman to answer its questions.

Will Take Action Soon.

The proceedings to that end will be instituted in the courts of the southern district of New York the latter part of this month or the first of next month. They will be for the purpose of obtaining an order from the court to compel Mr. Harriman to respond to the inquiries. It is expected that if the court should issue such an order Mr. Harriman may carry the case to higher courts and eventually to the supreme court of the United States.

Go to Highest Court.

Should the lower court's decision be adverse to the commission it is probable that it will carry the matter to the highest tribunal, inasmuch as the question involves a right of the commission which it believes it ought to exercise in an untrammeled way.

The case would have been brought in the New York courts earlier than this, but the attorneys of the commission have been engaged on other important work.

Now is the time to work those split-log drags. If the roads are rounded up and the ruts taken out before the rains come we will have good roads all summer. A little work now will pay big.

The creamery statement for April published this week shows that the first four months of 1907 have exceeded the output of 1906 by about sixty per cent. This is a good healthy increase and we hope it will keep up throughout the year.

The Muck-Raker of the Grocery Store.

"The muck-raker of the grocery store—the novelist who will tell the hungry public the horrors of the open box—has not arrived," writes the editor in the June Woman's Home Companion.

"So far we have heard only of corporate plunder. What we need is a humbler genius who will stoop to small things, who will show us that in the ill-kept grocery store are the breeding places of those germs of the air that are more deadly than the beasts of the jungle.

"'Our Own Page' cannot do justice to an expose of the uncleanly grocers—the 'germ trust' we might call them. There are a few things, however, that every woman who reads these words can do to make conditions radically better.

"Don't buy out of the open box or half-filled barrel.

"Refuse to accept without through investigation any goods of brands that are unknown to you.

"Always give the preference to goods that are in the original package—these, in almost every case, have been prepared and packed under thorough inspection.

"Where there are two grocers in your neighborhood or town, patronize the man that keeps the cleanest store and gives you the goods you know about and want.

"From time to time I shall have more to say about why these courses of action are the wise ones, why they must inevitably produce the same salutary effect on this vital every-day business, as we have seen result from the more spectacular crusades of men like President Roosevelt and Governors Hughes and Folk. For the time being I simply give you these maxims: Think about them; talk them over with your friends; see if they do not, after all simply apply the standards of your own housekeeping common sense to the treatment of the things you eat before they enter your own house.

"And remember one thing—an unimpeachable kitchen floor and a sweet-smelling ice chest do not prove you a good housekeeper, if your grocery store isn't what it should be."

Public Weather Towers in Vienna.

In several of the beautiful parks of the city of Vienna very interesting weather towers or booths in the shape of a pagoda can be seen. In the Maria Josefa Park, just opened, is one which is distinguished from most others by the number of its meteorological instruments, and by very full data and indications of general interest. Another fact of interest is that the daily use of golden grain belt beer will strengthen and invigorate the entire system. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson, Crookston.

TO CREATE MARKET

In another column of this paper will be found a notice calling a special meeting of the St. Hilaire Creamery stockholders to consider the advisability of joining the Minnesota Co-operative Dairy association, and the following article will give the stockholders an idea what the new association intends to do in the future:

Directors of the recently organized association of co-operative creameries, which is to handle the product of Minnesota's butter factories, met at St. Paul last week and formulated articles of incorporation and by-laws which have been sent to the creameries in the state. They will be asked to act upon them and elect delegates to a general meeting for the purpose of completing the organization. This meeting will be held in St. Paul June 12. If enough creameries get into the association they will start up at once and get ready for business.

The last legislature passed a bill which authorized the formution of such an association. The object is to have the association handle the product os the Minnesota creameries in the Eastern markets. A central butter exchange will be established, either in St. Paul or Chicago, from which they will ship their product. The association will be a stock company and the creameries will be asked to take shares.

After the exchange becomes established it is proposed to establish a brand of "Minnesota Standard" butter. The official in charge of the central station will examine all the butter and if it is of good quality it will be marked with the brand of quality. Under the 1905 code butter of a certain standard may be marked "Minnesota Pure Creamery Butter." It is expected that on account of the fact that Minnesota almost always carries off all the butter prizes at the shows and that the state is well known all over the world for the quality of its butter, there will be a demand for this Minnesota butter and it will bring a better price than it has been bringing.

A year ago Dairy and Food Commissioner E. K. Slater made a trip to New York to see if he could not arrange with the dealers to handle butter with the Minnesota brand, but they would not do it. He found that if the butter was branded here they would probably scrape off the brands and mix it with butter from other states and sell it at the common price. Now that the New York dealers refuse to give Minnesota dairymen the benefit of the reputation they have established, the dairymen themselves propose to go into the market with Minnesota brand butter.

The agent of the association probably will be commissioned as an inspector of the dairy and food department and his butter grades will be official. By putting the brand only on first class butter they hope by and by to establish a demand for this product that will mean much to them in dollars and cents. They hope ultimately to sell their product to the retailers and consumers in New York without the help of the commission man.

Notice to Stallion Owners.

The legislature, at its recent session, passed a law regulating the public service of stallions. Owners of stallions used for public service are now required to have the name enrolled and the pedigree examined by the Stallion Registration Board, at the Agricultural College, St. Anthony Park, St. Paul, and to secure from the Board a license certificate. The law is operative at once and stallion owners should secure a license certificate at the earliest possible date.

Full information and a copy of the law can be obtained by addressing the secretary of the board, Prof. Andrew Boss, St. Anthony Park, St. Paul, Minn.

HANGS HIMSELF IN BARN

Well Known Thief River Falls Citizen Commits Suicide.

News: The residents of Thief River Falls were shocked last Friday evening upon learning that Joseph H. Werstlein had committed suicide by hanging himself in the hay loft of his barn. The body was discovered by his youngest son, Joe, at about 6:30 in the evening and he was last seen about four o'clock that afternoon.

That Mr. Werstlein was mentally unbalanced appears to be a positive fact. About a year ago owing to worry over business matters caused by his taking a homestead on the eleven towns, he suffered a mental collapse, and at that time it was feared that he would commit some rash act of this kind. He recovered his health, however and was apparently alright until about three weeks ago. Then he refused to leave his home for days at a time and did not like it if the children had their small companions about the house to play with them.

Mr. Werstlein came to this city from Grand Forks about six years ago and for a number of years was one of the successful butchers of this city. Besides a wife he leaves seven children. The funeral services were held Monday morning.

Hallock News: Where are your children in the evenings? Do you know? Judging from the large number of boys and girls who are seen on the streets of Hallock by themselves these mild evenings, frequently till long after dark, there must be many careless and thotless parents in this place. The evils of permitting little folks to run about the streets after dark are too thoroughly apparent to need emphases and the parent who fails to recognize this fact and act accordingly by keeping their children under the parental roof in the evenings are grossly negligent in their duty to their offspring. They may find cause in their lives to deeply regret their recklessness. Keep your children at home in the evenings and off the streets,

Many of our readers will recall a picturesque character by name of A. J. Monkman of Roseau. Ever since Roseau county was set off by itself he has not visited Kittson county, but before that time he was a frequent visitor at the county seat. Nearly thirty years ago this same Monkman took a prominent part in the Reid rebellion against the Canadian government, in fact, he was second in command to Reid himself. For years Mr. Monkman steered clear of Canadian territory, because he knew there was a reward offered for his capture, but recently he ventured into Winnipeg, thinking the old racket was forgotten. In this he was mistaken for he was taken prisoner and now languishes in a Canadian jail.

Warren Sheaf: Chris Sormoe, from the eastern part of the county, near Sandridge, is in the county jail charged with assault with a dangerous weapon, the complaining witness being his son-in-law, John Knutson. It is said that Sormoe is in the habit of acquiring good sized jags of whiskey, and that while under the influence of the liquor recently he armed himself with a gun and cartridges besides a liberal supply of wet ammunition, and going to an empty house he barricaded himself there, and fired at anyone who dared approach. Sheriff Forsberg finally had to go out to capture the whiskey-crazed man.

PAYS $4,420.73 FOR APRIL

The St. Hilaire Creamery Continues Its Increasing Business.

The creamery pays 29½c per pound for butter in April. The total amount paid out is $4,420.73, exceeding the same month last year by $1,612.60, when the sum of $2,808.13 was paid out. So if we take the difference in conditions between this and last spring into consideration we must acknowledge that the patrons of this creamery are getting to be masters of the dairy problem as it does not make much difference whether the grass makes its appearance in the usual time or not.

Chas. Seeger	$94 54
Gust Konikson	74 57
H. Haupt	74 47
N. A. Nelson	71 01
Claus Hendricks	62 86
O. L. Larson	61 90
L. M. Rolland	58 21
C. A. Melin	57 82
Andrew Mortenson	53 63

If the 185 patrons would average as much as the ten named above the amount would be over $12,000 for April, and there is no reason for not doing so.

Attorney F. A. Grady, of Red Lake Falls, was here on Wednesday and Thursday of this week on legal business.

Auditor Smith of the Great Northern was here several days the first part of the week checking up Agent McFarland.

Mrs. P. E. Pirath, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. H. E. Ives, returned to her home at Red Lake Falls on Thursday.

Mrs. Paul Shank, of New Solum, who was formerly Miss Mary Cuno, has been visiting relatives in River Falls the past week.

President C. L. Hansen, of the Merchants State Bank, left last evening for Fergus Falls, where he will attend the bankers' convention.

The warmer weather we have had for several days past has caused the fish in the river to wake up and fishermen have been taking fairly good strings of fish lately.

The first ball game of the season in Red Lake county occurred last Sunday at Thief River Falls when the home team was defeated by the White Earth Indians. Score, 7 to 6.

If you enjoy a hearty laugh, good singing and dancing and a funny Swede play, see "Ole Olson in Spiritland" at Imperial Hall next Tuesday evening. Ay tank she bane gude faller.

There will be a ball game next Sunday at Red Lake Falls between their home team and the Thief River Falls team. Considering how our neighbors love one another the game ought to prove interesting.

R. C. Workman and G. W. Fisher, of Howard Lake, Minn., arrived here on Thursday with a couple of cars of stock and personal effects and will move onto some River Falls land which they will break up this season.

C. A. Brink came down from Thief River Falls last Tuesday and spent the day visiting with friends and attending to some business matters. He left the same evening to attend his brother Oscar's wedding at Breckenridge.

The ladies of the M. E. church will start their rummage sale at the Hall building on Wednesday, June 5-6-7-8. All kinds of goods for sale; Shoes, clothing, hats, caps, crockery, tinware, house plants; all kinds of bargains. Don't miss it.

Henry Olson completed a deal the first of this week whereby he became the owner of the P. G. Paradis residence on south Broadway and moved his family there on Thursday. Mr. Olson has secured a fine piece of property at a big bargain.

John J. Soll came down from his Marshall county farm near Strandquist last Tuesday and spent a couple of days renewing old acquaintances. This is Mr. Soll's first visit since he became a farmer about a year ago. He left on Wednesday for a short trip to Cass Lake and Bemidji.

Government land to be acquired by homesteads is evidently in demand at Cass Lake. Two lines of men have already been formed; one for the opening on June 12 and another for the opening on July 1. The men in line have blankets and provisions and intend to stick for a free homestead.

The board of county commissioners will meet in special session at Red Lake Falls next Monday afternoon. Besides the allowing of several bills, they will act on six school petitions, four of which are asking to be set off and two to be organized. The petitions for new districts come from out on the reservation. They will probably be in session about a day.

When the assessor comes around be good to him. Take him in and show him all your property, including your bank book and bills receivable. He will appreciate little courtesies of this kind and your standing in the community will be higher. Try him once and see how you like it. Be careful how you start in, however, as the assessor may have heart trouble.

Died.

Mary, the ten year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis de Cathelineau, died yesterday morning at 6:30 of brain fever. The little one has been making a heroic battle for life for the past six weeks. She was the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. de Cathelineau and their many friends will unite in extending their sympathy in their bereavement. The funeral date is not yet fixed but will be on either Sunday or Monday.

SCHOOL ENTERTAINMENT

A Grand Success.—Hall Packed to Its Farthest Corner.

The entertainment given by the school last Wednesday evening was a grand success.

It was a success from the standpoint of the pupils and those who had worked with them, everything going off without delays or breaks; it was a success from the standpoint of the listeners, everyone finding something in the program to laugh over and something to arouse their keen appreciation; and it was also a success financially, netting some forty dollars to be expended for library books.

The curtain was raised at 8 o'clock promptly. The hall was packed to the stairs, there being upward of three hundred present to witness the performances of the children.

Each number on the program had its particular merits and deserves mention; but space allows room for only a few. "The May-pole Drill" with its whirl of moving figures and gay colors was interesting and pretty, as was also the "Flag Drill" in its way.

"Reminding the Hen" was—well, it didn't quite kill anyone but next thing to it.

In "Cinderilla" the characters were all well taken, even down to the "town crier;" the quarrelling, selfish daughters were shown up well in voice and action; and Cinderilla, the sweet and true minded, trying to get used to and be satisfied with her hard lot was well impersonated indeed. "The Raven" needs mention as a fine production thruout, the reciter bringing out with wonderful power the varying moods that come and go while that dark bird sits there above the chamber door with its one answer, "Never More."

"The Deestric' School at Blueberry Corners," in three acts, was the last on the program, save a song with whistling chorus, "The Merry Farmer Boy." The two together was a fitting "windup" of the evening's entertainment. The "Deestric' School" abounded in witticisms and good acting. All the songs and other parts were well rendered, and in short everything was done in a highly creditable manner.

Oscar Brink Married.

Crookston Journal, Wednesday: This afternoon at 3 o'clock Mr. Oscar Brink, the well known fireman on the Great Northern running between Crookston and Barnesville, was united in marriage to Miss Martha Keehn at Breckenridge. The groom has been a resident of this city for the past few years and was in business here for over a year, and was formerly a resident of St. Hilaire. He is popular throughout this section and enjoys the full confidence of the G. N. officials. The bride is well known, popular and accomplished young lady of Breckenridge and taught school there for a number of years. The bride and groom will make Crookston their future home and a hearty welcome will be given them by the people of Crookston. Emil Brink, a brother of the groom, left last evening to be present at the ceremony.

Will Own the Farm.

A farmer in a neighboring township in a generous mood, gave his daughter two chickens and bade her "run away and be a good girl." He promised if she would look after them he would feed the increase for four years. The girl, as it were, planted those two chickens and the results, according to the father's report, is astounding. He says she has $64 in the bank and has 200 chickens which he had to feed last winter. According to the farmer's best calculations, his daughter will own the farm at the end of four years, and will be charging him rent for living on it.—Fertile Journal.

Seeding Nearly Finished.

Seeding in this vicinity is about finished. There will be some barley and flax put in after this week but all of the wheat and oats is already in the ground and doing fine. The season is late but it has been several years since the seed has gone into the ground in as good shape as it has this year. The grain is already sprouting and in many fields it is up. Rain would help but the fields do not need it nearly as badly as the meadows. Unless rain comes soon the grass crop will be very light.

Notice of a Special Meeting.

To the Stockholders of the St. Hilaire Creamery Ass'n:—

You are hereby notified to meet in St. Hilaire on Monday forenoon, June 3, 1907, to decide whether or not the St. Hilaire Creamery Ass'n shall become a member of the Minnesota Co-operative Dairy Association.

How Much Could You Get For Your Farm?

You are a farmer. You live near this town. You own land. Let us say that you own more than you need and would like to sell a hundred acres.

How much could you get per acre?

Land values have risen lately. But has the value of your land risen as you think it should?

Your land is good land. You think it is worth considerably more than anybody has offered you. Well, let us see.

A man buying farm land naturally prefers to locate near a thriving, up to date town. He wants good home markets for his crops. He wants good schools.

Let us say your land is three miles from town. A farm that looks very much like yours is three miles from a town twice as big and twice as prosperous as this town.

If you were going to buy a farm for your own occupancy, wouldn't you pay a whole lot more for land near the town that is twice as large and twice as lively?

Now, what makes a town big and bustling? Money. Money in circulation. Not in circulation in Chicago, for instance, but right in the town that wants to grow.

How much money have you sent to the big Mail Order houses in the city the past ten years? How much have your neighbors sent? How much have all of you together put out of circulation here at home?

It is probably beyond calculation. If all that money had been spent in your own home town, isn't it reasonable to assume that the town would have grown more than it has grown?

Wouldn't this town be a bigger and better town?

Wouldn't it have more stores to buy your produce?

Wouldn't it have more public improvements to make it more attractive to outsiders who might come here to live, to go into business, or buy your surplus land at a good figure?

WORN TO A SKELETON.

A Wonderful Restoration Caused a Sensation in a Pennsylvania Town.

Mrs. Charles N. Preston, of Elkland, Pa., says: "Three years ago I found that my housework was becoming a burden. I tired easily, had no ambition and was fading fast. My complexion got yellow and I lost over 50 pounds. My thirst was terrible, and there was sugar in the kidney secretions. My doctor kept me on a strict diet, but as his medicine was not helping me, I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They helped me at once, and soon all traces of sugar disappeared. I have regained my former weight and am perfectly well."

What Would Be Missed.

The dishonest gardner newly invested with the Order of the Sack eyed his late master gloomily, and shook his head at him.

"You will miss me, sir," he said, with sad relish. "You will miss me before I be gone 'alf an 'our."

"That," replied his master, nastily, "I shall bear with fortitude, so long as I do not miss anything else."

LIVES THE TROLLEY COSTS.

Slaughter Much Greater in This Country Than in European Cities.

If along every mile of street railway track in the United States a headstone were raised for every death by accident the routes we daily travel would resemble one long-drawn-out cemetery.

Within the limits of Greater New York the total number killed last year rose to 227. For every person killed a number are injured, some of them crippled for life. That this slaughter and maiming is criminally needless is sufficiently attested by a single fact:

In all London in the last year of record (1903) the total number killed was ten.

According to the royal traffic commission the tram cars of London for 1903 carried 405,079,203 passengers. The total traffic of Greater New York last year was a little over 1,100,000,000 passengers carried. These figures, however, include subway and elevated traffic, while the records of London do not. But even on the basis of a comparison of traffic the number killed in London is equivalent to about twenty-seven, against about 227 for Greater New York. And this is no exceptional instance.

What is true of New York is true of almost every large city in America. What is true of London is true of almost every other large city in Europe.—Everybody's Magazine.

Room for the Friend.

"You'll have to excuse the disorder here," said the flat dweller, "all these bundles are our summer clothes that we had to take out of the hall closet——"

"Surely, you don't need summer clothes this weather," said his friend.

"No," but we had to put up a cot in the closet for a friend who spent last night with us."

Tired Nervous Women Make Unhappy Homes

MRS. NELLIE MAKHAM — MRS. GEO. A. JAMES

A nervous irritable woman, often on the verge of hysterics, is a source of misery to everyone who comes under her influence, and unhappy and miserable herself.

Such women not only drive husbands from home but are wholly unfit to govern children.

The ills of women act like a fire brand upon the nerves, consequently seven-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous despondency, the "blues", sleeplessness, and nervous irritability of women arise from some organic derangement.

Do you experience fits of depression with restlessness alternating with extreme irritability? Do you suffer from pains in the abdominal region, backache, bearing-down pains, nervous dyspepsia, sleeplessness, and almost continually cross and snappy? If so, your nerves are in a shattered condition and you are threatened with nervous prostration.

Proof is monumental that nothing in the world is better for nervous troubles of women than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs. Thousands and thousands of women can testify to this fact.

Mrs. Nellie Makham, of 151 Morgan St., Buffalo, N. Y., writes:—

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I was a wreck from nervous prostration. I suffered so I did not care what became of me, and my family despaired of my recovery. Physicians failed to help me. I was urged to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I want to tell you that it has entirely cured me. I think it is the finest medicine on earth and I am recommending it to all my friends and acquaintances."

Mrs. Geo. A. James, a life long resident of Fredonia, N. Y., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I was in a terribly run down condition and had nervous prostration caused by female trouble, in fact I had not been well since my children were born. This condition worked on my nerves and I was irritable and miserable. I had tried many remedies without getting much help but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought me back to health and strength. It has also carried me safely through the Change of Life. I cannot too strongly recommend your medicine."

Mrs. Pinkham's Invitation to Women.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to communicate promptly with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. From the symptoms given, the trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised. Out of her vast volume of experience in treating female ills Mrs. Pinkham probably has the very knowledge that will help your case. Her advice is free and always helpful.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs and today holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases of any medicine the world has ever known, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the laboratory at Lynn, Mass., which testify to its wonderful value.

RUTH HOLCOMB
of Akeley, who is winner in recitation of serious selection in Cass Lake declamation contest.

ROXIE UTLEY
of Cass Lake, who takes first place in recitation of humorous selection in high school contest at Cass Lake.

The declamatory contest between the Grand Rapids, Akeley, Bemidji and Cass Lake high schools took place in the Methodist church at Cass Lake. Each school was represented by two contestants, one of whom recited a serious selection, the other something humorous.

Ruth Holcomb of Akeley secured first place among those who recited serious selections, with Corwin Myers of Park Rapids second. Of those who recited humorous selections, Roxie Utley of Cass Lake received first mention. Frieda Rice of Park Rapids was second.

The judges were W. D. Haradon of Park Rapids, R. F. Pray of Akeley, Prof. L. C. Hefron of Nymore and Rev. H. F. Parshall and H. L. Hartley of Cass Lake. It took them a long time to decide the contest.

Park Rapids, by winning two places won the declamatory banner of North Central Minnesota, and will keep it until in the future some other school succeeds in winning it away by superior work.

A large number of persons from out of town attended the contest. It is likely that the meeting next year will be held at Park Rapids.

The selections recited by the winners of the first and second places were as follows: "Uncle Ben" (Anon), Ruth Holcomb; "Harve Riel" (Browning), Corwin Myers; "A Bear Story" (Riley), Roxie Utley; "Dickey at the Dancing School," Frieda Rice.

CANNOT ESCAPE REGISTRY TAX.

Insurance Companies Are Not Exempt by New Law.

Insurance companies will not escape paying the registy tax on mortgages on real estate in this state. The attorney general's department gives the opinion that the provision which was supposed to exempt insurance companies from paying the tax cannot be construed in that way, but holds that the insurance companies will have to pay the tax when filing mortgages. The law exempts mortgages taken by persons or corporations which pay a commuted tax in lieu of all other taxes, but as the 2 per cent tax which the insurance companies pay is not in lieu of all other taxes the provision does not apply to them.

Royal A. Stone, assistant attorney general, who writes the opinion, says in a letter addressed to the public examiner:

"I have before me three inquiries from as many county attorneys as to the operation of the mortgage registry tax law (chapter 328, General Laws, 1907) upon mortgages executed on or after May 1, and running either to domestic or foreign insurance companies. Inasmuch as this question is continually arising and is one of importance, I take the liberty of addressing this letter to you so that the question may be settled so far as the state officials are concerned, and in so far as this office can settle it.

"If mortgages running to insurance companies are exempted from the tax it is by virtue of the concluding provision of section 3 of the act, which is as follows:

"'Provided, that this act shall not apply to mortgages taken in good faith by the persons or corporations whose personal property is expressly exempted from taxation by the law, or is taxed upon the basis of gross earnings, or other methods of commutation in lieu of all other taxes.'

"Inasmuch as the personal property of insurance companies is not exempted from taxation by law, and because such companies are not taxed by any commuted method 'in lieu of other taxes,' they are not exempted from the registry tax by the above provision.

"Section 1625, Revised Laws of 1905, does not provide for an exemption of the personal property of insurance companies from taxation. It does, however, impose a 2 per cent premium tax, which, in the case of domestic companies, is in lieu of taxes on personal property. That is, the personal property only of the domestic companies is taxed upon the commuted basis. Both the real and the personal property of foreign companies is subject to taxation in the ordinary manner.

"There is, therefore, neither an exemption of their personal property from taxation nor a commuted system of taxation 'in lieu of all other taxes' which can exempt mortgages running to insurance companies from the registry tax."

FARMERS IN TROUBLE.

Homestead Lands May Be Taken by Eviction Proceedings.

Itasca county is about to bring to the attention of the state authorities the plight of about thirty or more settlers who are in danger of losing their homes because of threatening eviction.

These settlers took up claims under the government homestead law and improved them, but now face ejectment as a result of a claim by the State of Minnesata that they are swamp lands, and are therefore set aside for the benefit of the school fund. The national government, it is understood, is about ready to acknowledge its mistake, and as a result the settlers will lose their holdings.

Some of the claims were taken up years ago and those on them have made rather extensive improvements. One farmer is said to have erected buildings that represent an investment of nearly $5,000.

DE LAITTE LAW CASE.

Increase of $25,000 in Assessment Is Fought in Court.

Aitkin, Minn., May 17. — The spring term of court opened here yesterday, Judge McClennahan presiding. There are about forty civil cases on the docket, the most interesting one being the De Laitte tax case. The board of county commissioners, acting as county board of review, raised his assessment $25,000 over the assessor's figures.

KILL; PUT BODY ON RAILS.

Perry, Iowa, May 17.—The body of an unidentified man was found in the ditch alongside the Milwaukee tracks near here. The man's head was gashed and the body gave evidence of having been hit by a train. Other wounds on the body, however, indicate that the man may have been foully dealt with and the body placed on the track to conceal the crime.

When You Want Pure White Lead, Get It

Probably there is no other article of commerce subjected to so much adulteration and misrepresentation as White Lead.

Out of 18 brands of "White Lead" recently analyzed by the Government Agricultural Experiment Station of North Dakota, 5 contained absolutely no White Lead, 5 less than 15% of White Lead, and only 3 over 90% of White Lead.

There is, however, a way to be certain of the purity and genuineness of the White Lead you buy, and that is to see that the keg you buy bears the Dutch Boy trade mark. This trade mark is a positive guarantee of absolutely Pure White Lead made by the Old Dutch Process.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and A FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician know of what it is composed. DEATH COMES TO MRS. M'KINLEY

WIDOW OF MARTYRED PRESIDENT PASSES AWAY PEACEFULLY.

TO BE LAID BESIDE HUSBAND

ROOSEVELT AND FAIRBANKS WILL ATTEND FUNERAL CEREMONIES.

Canton, Ohio, May 28. — Mrs. William McKinley died yesterday afternoon at 1:05. The transition from life to death was so peaceful and gradual that it was with difficulty that the attending physicians noted when dissolution came.

There was no struggle—no pain. Mrs. McKinley never knew of the efforts made for days to prolong her life, nor of the solicitous hope against hope of her sister and other relatives for her recovery.

At the McKinley home when death came there were present Mr. Cortelyou, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Barber, Mrs. Sarah Duncan, Mrs. Luther Day, Justice and Mrs. William R. Day, Drs. Portmann and Rixey and the nurses.

Vitality Was Wonderful.

"Mrs. McKinley lived hours longer than we expected," said the secretary.

"Her vitality was wonderful," said Dr. Portmann. It was by Secretary Cortelyou that the announcement of the demise was given to the public. As this was flashed over the land, William McKinley post and George D. Harter post, G. A. R., were forming in line, and to the strains of "The March Religiosa" went to the First Methodist Episcopal church to listen to the annual memorial address, which was given by Dr. Buxton, Mrs. McKinley's pastor.

Dr. Buxton will have charge of the funeral services, which are to be simple. They will be held at the McKinley home at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

President Will Attend.

Secretary Cortelyou is directing the arrangements and will remain here until after the funeral. It was announced last night that President Roosevelt and Secretary Loeb would arrive in Canton Wednesday morning to attend the funeral. Vice President Fairbanks, who had often been a guest of the McKinleys, is expected to reach here to attend the service.

The body of Mrs. McKinley will be placed in the vault in West Lawn cemetery, which holds the body of her husband, until the completion of the national mausoleum on Monument hill, when both caskets will be transferred to receptacles in that tomb.

WIDOW OF PREIDENT M'KINLEY, DIED SUNDAY AT CANTON OHIO.

Condolences Pour In.

From numerous friends of the deceased, Mrs. Barber last evening received telegrams of condolence on the death of her sister. Among them were telegrams from President Roosevelt and Vice President Fairbanks.

Mrs. McKinley's life of almost sixty years had been made familiar to the nation by the fact that for over thirty years she was an invalid.

BODY FOUND IN TRUNK.

New York, May 28. — Three weeks ago Mrs. Annie Sherer rented one of her rooms to two unknown men. When last Wednesday the rent was not forthcoming, the lodgers, both Greeks, told her that she was amply secured by their well filled trunk. The following morning the men disappeared, and yesterday the trunk was broken open. To the horror of Mrs. Sherer it was found to contain the badly decomposed body of a man believed to have been a priest of the Greek church.

Later the body was identified as that of Rev. Father Kaspar of the Armenian Apostolic church of Hoboken, N. J.

The police think it possible that the body was shipped here from Chicago by express, and the authorities of that city have been asked to follow one clue, based on a meal ticket also found in the trunk. Because of the condition of the body, the manner of death was not immediately apparent. Following an autopsy at the morgue two men were arrested on suspicion.

Death Due to Suffocation.

The autopsy developed that the neck had been broken, as had one arm. Coroner's Physician Lehane declared, however, that death was due to suffocation. The internal organs were congested, and Dr. Lehane gave it as his opinion that the man was thrust into the trunk while alive and the cover of the trunk held down until death ensued. The condition of the organs was found to be similar to those in cases of asphyxiation.

WRECKERS ARE FOILED.

Motorman Sees Rock on Track and Flags Train.

Booone, Iowa, May 28.—An attempt was made to wreck a fast train on the North-Western road near here. A rock weighing half a ton had been loosened from a bluff and thrown directly across the tracks. An interurban line runs parallel with the tracks at this point, and Charles Cheney, a motorman, discovered the obstacle. He flagged the train in time to prevent a disastrous collision.

TEXAS HAS TORNADO.

Storm Causes Much Destruction of Property and Crops.

Fort Worth, Tex., May 28.—A tornado swept a portion of Texas yesterday, killing twelve persons and injuring scores. Many buildings were wrecked and great damage was done to crops.

At Wills Point the tornado cut a path 200 yards in width through the entire town. Three persons were killed and six seriously injured. The tornado came from the southwest, carrying with it portions of buildings and other debris as if it were whirling leaves. Dead horses, cattle and fowls are scattered through the path of the storm

Devastates Wide Section.

At Gibble Springs twenty or thirty houses were wrecked. Two persons were killed and a score injured, three of them fatally. The tornado devastated a section of growing land about two miles wide.

At Emory four persons were killed and many were injured and crippled, some of whom will die. A large number of negroes were hurt. The corn and cotton crops in the path of the storm were completely pulled up.

One of the most severe rain and electrical storms for many years swept over North Texas, causing much damage to property. Three persons were killed by lightning and several were injured, some of them fatally.

Run Down in the Yards.

Winona, Minn., May 28. — Andrew Gazell was run down while picking up coal droppings near the depot of the St. Paul railroad. One foot was badly crushed and cut. Amputation of the foot at the ankle may be necessary.

Three Killed on a Bridge.

Morristown, Ind., May 28. — Three men were caught on a railroad bridge over Blue river and killed. They were sitting on the bridge, looking down into the stream when a fast passenger train bore down on them.

Iowa Farmer Killed.

Iowa City, Iowa, May 28. — Elmer Pratt, a prominent young farmer of Johnson county, shot and killed W. F. Connell, also a farmer, whose land adjoins the Pratt farm. The murder is the result of an old feud.

THE NET IS CAST TO LAND BIG ONES

EXTENSIVE SECRET SERVICE WORK POINTS TO IMPORTANT INDICTMENTS.

BIG SENSATION EXPECTED

SOME OF THE LARGEST CORPORATIONS IN AMERICA ARE INVOLVED.

Denver, May 29.—That the federal inquisition now in progress in Denver involves some of the largest corporations in American and that indictments will be returned against men who are rated as multimillionaires and captains of industry known as well in Wall street as in Colorado, is the latest development in connection with the probing by the grand jury.

No less than twenty secret service men now make their headquarters in Denver, this small army of government sleuths having rented a large portion of the fifth floor of an office building, from where they are spreading the net that is tightening about victims in high places. L. C. Wheeler, in the service of the department of justice at Washington, is in charge of the secret service men, and he expresses the belief that there will be some startling revelations in the near future.

Officials Report Success.

Washington, May 29. — Inquiry among government officials here elicits the information that Judge Burch, special assistant to the attorney general, has been in Colorado more or less during the last two or three years in connection with the investigation of land fraud cases.

The latest information received here is that a large volume of testimony is being presented against persons alleged to be guilty of fraud in connection with the public lands. Department of justice officials here have no information as to the character of the evidence submitted or what is being done by Judge Burch and his assistants beyond the general statement that they have been quite successful in running down frauds. The names of those who are involved are not known.

RUN TRAINS BY JANUARY.

President Earling Talks of Milwaukee's Extensions.

Milwaukee, May 29.—President A. J. Earling and a party of other officials of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company arrived in Milwaukee yesterday from a trip of inspection in automobiles over the route of the Pacific coast extension of that system. President Earling denies that there will be any cessation in the building of the big system.

Trains will be running between the Missouri river and Butte by Jan. 1, 1908, Mr. Earling says.

KILLS TO SAVE HUSBAND.

Woman Shoots Two Men Who Were Fighting With Her Husband.

Rawlins, Wyo., May 29. — Believing that her husband was about to be killed by his two infuriated partners, with whom he was engaged in a desperate battle with knives, beer glasses and other missiles, Mrs. Matty Ringwood yesterday shot and killed one of the men, A. Davis, and fatally wounded Zeb Stone, the second. The shooting occurred in a saloon here.

SHEEP CAMP RAIDED.

Herders Bound and Beaten by Masked Men.

Billings, Mont., May 29.—News has been received here of another raid on a sheep camp in the range country west of Casper, Wyo. The sheep and camp equipage were not seriously damaged, but the herders were tied up and assaulted.

The raid was made by fourteen masked men, armed and mounted.

DEAD IN CISTERN.

Woman Missing Fifteen Months Is Found in Hotel Reservoir.

Linwood, N. D., May 29.—The body of Mrs. Wallin, who disappeared Nov. 30, 1906, was found yesterday in a cistern at the Merchants hotel by Miss Ada Keeley. Miss Keeley came here from Minneapolis Oct. 1, 1906. Mrs. Wallin lived twelve miles southwest of Lidgerwood.

Jury Gives Him $7,750.

Winona, Minn., May 29. — In the United States court the jury returned a verdict of $7,750 in the suit of John Moore against the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway for broken limbs caused by the breaking of a derrick on a car on which he was working.

Lake Sailor Drowned.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., May 29. — The steamer Mahanna, which passed the locks early yesterday reports that while in the storm on Lake Huron Seaman Bert Cable was washed overboard and drowned.

Got Away From Trouble.

Mason City, Iowa, May 29. — Mrs. Joe Navrital hanged herself to the rafters in a barn last night at her home near Plymouth. She left a letter stating that she wanted to get away from trouble.

MEXICO IS GETTING READY

EIGHT THOUSAND MEN ON WAR FOOTING ON GUATEMALAN FRONTIER.

City of Mexico, May 29.—Mexico has 8,000 men fully equipped and on a war footing now on the Guatemalan frontier.

Distributed at strategic points on the south of this capital are 8,000 additional troops, which bodies of soldiers can be transported to the border on twenty-four hours' notice.

While there is a disposition in official circles to modify the height of the tension existing between President Cabrera and the Mexican government, it is admitted on all sides that should Cabrera carry out his intention of executing the nineteen men accused of complicity in the alleged attempt to assassinate him Mexico would be forced to intervene.

Washington Is Alert.

Washington, May 29.—The state department officials are watching with interest developments in Guatemala, where great confusion exists as a result of the recent attacks upon the life of President Cabrera.

A wild panic seems to have seized upon the government of that country and many arrests have been made of persons suspected of complicity in the attempted assassination.

CHINESE ARE IN REBELLION.

Civil and Military Officials Assassinated—Mission Is Razed.

Swatow, China, May 29.—A rebellion has broken out a Wongkong, in the Uping district of the Chinchu prefecture. All the civil and military officers at Wongkong have been assassinated and their yamens burned.

The local revolutionists, who were joined by the natives of the neighboring provinces, concentrated for their attack on the officials without being molested by the populace.

The military commander here has mustered the station guards and started for the scene of the outbreak.

Berlin, May 28. — According to dispatches received here from Shanghai and Hongkong, native rioters have destroyed the German mission station at Lienchow, near Pakhoi. The missionaries escaped. The German gunboat Iltis, reinforced by twenty marines from the gunboat Tsingtau, has left Hongkong for Pakhoi, and it is expected that a British gunboat will also be sent to that port.

According to advices received by the German cable company from Shanghai, disturbances have also broken out at Pakhoi and the situation there, as at Lienchow, is apparently serious.

NOTABLES AT FUNERAL.

Obsequies of Mrs. McKinley Will Take Form of Ceremony of State.

Canton, Ohio, May 29.—Although it is not intended that the funeral of Mrs. McKinley shall take on the form of a ceremony of state, yet the coming of the president and members of his cabinet, the vice president, the governor of Ohio and many other people of note will make it such, in a degree at least. Late yesterday afternoon it was determined to change the arrangements for the funeral so as to allow the remains to be viewed by Canton friends of the deceased. The time fixed for this is from 3 to 5 o'clock to-day.

DELMAS GRAFT DEFENSE.

Thaw's Lawyer Appears for Glass and Halsey in California.

San Francisco, May 29.—Delphin M. Delmas has been engaged to defend Louis Glass and T. P. Halsey, two officials of the Pacific States Telephone and Telegraph company, indicted for bribery. He made his first appearance in court yesterday morning.

BOY KILLED BY TRAIN.

Father Attempting to Rescue Son Is Fatally Injured.

Philadelphia, May 29—In a futile effort to save the life of his eight-year-old son who was ground to pieces under the wheels of a locomotive at Fort Richmond, William Johnson was so severely injured that physicians say he cannot recover.

GERMANY HIT BY FLOODS.

Dams of Danube Break and Hundreds of Houses Collapse.

Budapest, Hungary, May 29. — The bursting of the dams on the Danube have caused disastrous floods in the neighborhood of Rudolsgnad. In Ternol county 260 houses have collapsed. Troops are succoring the distressed inhabitants.

BUYS 6,619 ACRES.

Heavy Purchase of Cut-over Lands Is Made in Beltrami County.

Bemidji, Minn., May 29.—Six thousand six hundred and nineteen acres of Beltrami county cut-over lands were sold and transferred this week, the total consideration for the land being between $45,000 and $50,000.

DOG CAUSES FATALITY.

Snaps at Horse's Heels, which Throws Rider, Death Resulting.

Helena, Mont., May 29. — Davis Blackey, a well known mining man of Garnet, has been killed as the result of a somewhat singular accident. He had just purchased a horse and was riding it for the first time when a dog dashed into the roadway and snapped at the animal's heels, causing it to become unmanageable. Blackey was thrown violently to the ground and died soon afterward.

IN MEMORY OF HEROS OF WAR

Minnesota Monument on Vicksburg Battlefield Is Dedicated.

The handsome obelisk that stands as Minnesota's memorial in the National Park at Vicksburg was dedicated Friday in the presence of Gov. John A. Johnson of Minnesota and Gov. James Vardaman of Mississippi, representatives of the national government and officials of various states. Weather conditions were perfect, and a large assemblage witnessed the ceremonies.

STATUE OF "PEACE" AT BASE OF SHAFT.

Addresses were made by Governors Johnson and Vardaman, Gen. A. E. Carman, who represented the secretary of war, and Gen. Lucius F. Hubbard, former governor of Minnesota.

The bronze figure of "Peace" at the foot of the monument was unveiled by Mrs. John A. Johnson, wife of the governor of Minnesota, and Miss Aletha Vardaman, daughter of Gov. Vardaman. Patriotic songs were sung by the school children of Vicksburg, and a national salute was fired by the Warden light artillery of Vicksburg when the monument was unveiled. The monument is of Southern granite, erected at a cost of $25,000. It is the conception of William Couper of New York.

Gov. Johnson's Address.

Accepting the memorial for the state, Gov. Johnson said:

"We are gathered here to-day to dedicate this memorial to the memory of the sons of Minnesota who participated in the siege of Vicksburg, and who were preferred from among their comrades to offer up their lives as a sacrifice upon the altar of our country. I appreciate that nothing we can say or do will add to the luster of their achievements; that what transpires on this occasion will go unnoticed by them, and yet, little as it is, the state we represent could not do less than to erect a shaft to the memory of our heroic dead.

"It is not my purpose to review and revive the incidents of the sanguinary conflict of a half century ago; it is not my intention to discuss the issues which led up to the greatest civil war which the world has ever seen; it is not my desire to boast of victory which may have come to one side or to exult in defeat which fell to those less fortunate. We come as American citizens, bringing garlands of love and affection to the departed sons of our own great state.

"Here they sleep with those agains whom they contended. They, at least, are in perfect peace. The cause over which they struggled is at an end. It needs no champion, it needs no defense, it invites no controversy; the war of the Rebellion is long since at an end. All who participated in it were Americans. The valor of the one was equal to that of the other. The conscience of the one was as the conscience of the other. Right or wrong, the struggle was by brave men.

Glories and Responsibilities.

"Out of it came the present America, the greatest country which the world has ever known. Out of it grew great responsibilities which rest upon those who enjoy its blessings and its privileges to-day. Mighty and glorious, America sheds its ray of light upon millions of happy freemen. The nation offers its protection and its opportunity to all who seek to enjoy its institutions. In these blessing we cannot participate unless we are willing also to share the responsibilities.

"Our country, east, west, north and south, has enjoyed a development during the past half century unparalleled in the history of nations. The future growth and advancement of our citizenship and of our material resources rest entirely with the population itself. As Americans, we must act in concert for all which tends to promote the development of our institutions. We may differ as to theories and methods, but we muse be agreed in the one idea that America must reach her perfect grandeur through the patriotism of her people—a patriotism not necessarily the result of conflict, but of patience and self-sacrifice; of earnest endeavor, of conscientious effort, of honesty of purpose.

"American has had its first and last great civil conflict. The monument erected here on this field is not to perpetuate and keep alive the spirit of war, but is a monument to the peaceful relation which must exist in the future between all our people.

THE OBELISK.

An Emblem of Peace.

"As the tinted rainbow is a sign that the floods shall never again overcome the earth, so this shaft is an emblem of peace and a declaration that henceforth and forevermore Americans shall never again oppose each other by force of arms, but only in a spirit of rivalry for the uplift of all humanity.

"It will ever stand to tell the passerby that brave men did not falter in their duty, and to admonish future generations that duty well and bravely done becomes the true American citizen. It will also tell the story of our gratitude to virtue and to sacrifice and teach men that the people who comprise states and nations are not ungrateful; that heroes are thus remembered for their contribution to the wonderful fabric of that independence which quickens national life."

THEY WERE QUITE CORRECT.

Equipment of the Family Easily Proved It.

A Washington correspondent told the other night a story that he claimed to have heard from President Roosevelt at Gridiron Club dinner.

"Two women," he said, "were discussing some new neighbors who had moved into one of the most sumptuous houses in their city.

"'They seem to be very rich,' said the first.

"'Oh, they are,' said the second.

"'Shall you call?'

"'Decidedly.'

"'You are sure, are you, that they are—er—quite correct, quite—er—good form?'

"'Oh, my dear, I'm positive,' said the second woman. 'They have thirty servants, eighteen horses, twelve dogs, eleven automobiles, and one child.'"

THE NEW INSURANCE AGENT.

He Comes in With the New Law—Paul Morton on His Opportunity.

The new insurance law of the State of New York has opened up a promising field for both men and women with brains and energy in the sale of life insurance. The law now provides standard forms of policies, each of which practically bears the hall mark of the State of New York, and this new order of things has established the sale of life insurance on a correct basis.

The prohibition against rebating and extravagant allowances to agents has driven out of the business the old type of insurance agent, who in many cases virtually bought business, with large rebates, instead of selling it. His place is being taken by professors, lawyers, school teachers of both sexes, and others, who find that being a life insurance agent under the new system offers greater reward than their previous vocations. The law has reduced commissions but all of the commission now goes to the agent. Life insurance is something that everyone needs and under the present system its sale is being conducted with becoming dignity and propriety.

Paul Morton, president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, has taken the lead in building up an agency organization that is in keeping with the demands of public sentiment, and the standard he has set for his company. He says: "We want new agents, both men and women, but none except energetic, able and truthful people need apply. For such there is a splendid opportunity."

Mr. Morton's policy of injecting new and vigorous blood into the agency force of the Society is meeting with success in all parts of the country.

Furnish King Alfonso His Wine.

The Gordon's are said to have the right to all eternity to supply wine to the royal house of Spain. This family has been in Spain as wine growers more than 100 years, although they still own the ancestral estate of Wardhouse, in Aberdeenshire, says the London Chronicle.

They have contracted aristocratic marriages, and the present representative of the family, Rafael Gordon, who lives in Madrid, has named his first born after King Alfonso, while his mother, the Countess de Mirasol, is lady-in-waiting to Queen Christina. King Alfonso, who visited Mr. Gordon's aunt, during his stay in the North, did not hesitate to play the part of wine merchant himself in praising the virtues of sherry.

Doubly a Record.

The country station master was walking up and down the platform with an air of a director.

"Wonderful floods," he exclaimed as he lifted his hat to an extra jaunty angle. "Beat the records in two ways."

"In two ways?" queried a dripping passenger.

"Washed out the level crossing for the first time in living memory for one, and made the seven-sixteen late for another," came the explanation.

"That's only one way," growled the passenger. "Nobody ever remembers the seven-sixteen to have been prompt."

"Very likely," agreed the proud official, resuming his strut; "but this is the first time we've been able to find a decent excuse."

DR. TALKS OF FOOD

Pres. of Board of Health.

"What shall I eat?" is the daily inquiry the physician is met with. I do not hesitate to say that in my judgment, a large percentage of disease is caused by poorly selected and improperly prepared food. My personal experience with the fully-cooked food, known as Grape-Nuts, enables me to speak freely of its merits.

"From overwork, I suffered several years with malnutrition, palpitation of the heart, and loss of sleep. Last summer I was led to experiment personally with the new food, which I used in conjunction with good rich cow's milk. In a short time after I commenced its use, the disagreeable symptoms disappeared, my heart's action became steady and normal, the functions of the stomach were properly carried out and I again slept as soundly and as well as in my youth.

"I look upon Grape-Nuts as a perfect food, and no one can gainsay but that it has a most prominent place in a rational, scientific system of feeding. Any one who uses this food will soon be convinced of the soundness of the principle upon which it is manufactured and may thereby know the facts as to its true worth." The Indians will observe the thirty-ninth anniversary of the settlement of White Earth by having a big celebration on June 14-15.

The Norwegian Americans of Minnesota have started a movement to raise one million dollars to be presented to the mother country as a birthday present.

When people tell you of the prosperity of some other locality don't let it worry you. There isn't a country on earth where the average prosperity is higher than in northern Minnesota.—International Falls Press.

Stranger things might happen than to have that democratic nomination for president come to our own Governor Johnson. Besides there is Secretary Frank Day who can make a political machine run as smooth as a ball bearing wheel.

Duluth Herald: The St. Hilaire Spectator says that in the state of Washington there is a Minnesota club with 15,000 members. That's nothing. There's a Minnesota club in this state with 2,000,000 members, and John A. Johnson is its president.

And there are many Minnesotans in that unproductive country who would gladly pay six times four hundred dollars could they be reinstated upon the farms which they sold at a sacrifice in this state. But they are "busted."—Princeton Union.

A Famous Newspaper Man.

William E. Curtis, the famous correspondent of The Chicago Record Herald, writes a two-column letter for his paper every day in the year without intermission. His powers of sustained work are as great a marvel as his faculty of always making his matter interesting.

Probably no other newspaper correspondent in the country is read so regularly and eagerly by so many thousands of men and women as Mr. Curtis. Mr. Curtis has traveled several times around the world, visiting every country under the sun, and writing a larger number of brilliant and interesting letters of travel than were ever before produced by a single hand. Many of these have later been reprinted in book form. One of his latest expeditions for The Record-Herald was through Mexico, resulting in a series of letters as entertaining as those he wrote a few years ago from India, Turkey and the Holy Land. His forthcoming letters from Ireland, Russia and Germany will rival in importance and interest any of his previous contributions.

Beginning his career in Chicago as a reporter in 1872, Mr. Curtis rapidly rose to be managing editor. He resigned that position to accept a government appointment as secretary of the South American commission. So brilliantly did he perform the duties of this office that James G. Blaine, Secretary of State, placed him at the head of the Bureau of American Republics. At the world's fair in Chicago he distinguished himself as the executive head of the Latin-American department. He is a member of almost every learned society in Washington and of many in Europe. It is not strange that The Record-Herald prints Mr. Curtis' letter every day in the first column of the front page, and that nothing but a california earthquake can displace it from that station of honor.

Telescope on a Walking-Stick.

Colonel Baden-Powell has contrived a simple method of using a single lens, of about six feet focus, as a substitute for a telescope, or opera glass of low power. A screw enables one to fix the lens at the end of a walking stick, and by holding it in line with the eye and a distant object, a magnified view of the latter may be obtained. Take a glass of golden grain belt beer before each meal and you will not have to deprive yourself of the things you like to eat. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex. Thompson, Crookston.

School Notes

Vacation is here. So is good weather—that is, we've had a few days of good weather; to say more would be to predict, and it takes a large amount of reckless courage to do that now. Man's memory is short, but there is such a thing.

The total receipts at the school entertainment was $54.60. The expenses came to $14.40, leaving the net proceeds at $40.20. Ten dollars state aid brings it up to $50.20, and it may be that we will be able to get ten dollars more from the state, which will then foot the amount up to $60.20, a very satisfactory haul indeed. This will bring in about a hundred volumes to the library, which will go a good way towards placing the library where it ought to be. A good library is one of the first needs of any school, and to keep it good, new books must be added.

This is examination week in real earnest. The state examinations are on, and will continue thru Saturday, owing to the fact that no examinations could be given on Thursday, Memorial Day. These are not tests covering a month's work merely but reach back over the whole year's work. They make each pupil go deep down into his "thinker" and see what he has laid by from day to day thruout the entire year. Some, it is clear to see, have been "Johnny on the spot" ready to deliver the goods, have been there with wide awake minds and a purpose to profit by every opportunity, and in these final tests they offer positive evidence that their thinking gear has not become clogged with dust and rust from disuse. When in a class of eight all papers stand over 70, seven of them over 80, and five over 90, there's conclusive proof that some clear, logical thinking has been done from first to last of the school year.

These have been neither absent nor tardy during the school year: Elesa Hendrickson, Oscar Gigstad and Olga Fricker.

"A Narrow Escape."

In a small ditch by the roadside, all alone by himself, was a small speckled trout who went by the name of Pokey. Pokey, who had received his name by always wishing to know and discover everything and who had often got into serious trouble on this account, had never been in such a plight before.

Not an hour before he had been quietly playing at a game of tag with some of his companions but had come upon an outlet, which, in order to satisfy his inquisitive little nature, he must explore. After he had been there a while and had satisfied his curiosity he started home. But where was he? When he rose to the surface he could see nothing but land and a small stream of water in which he was swimming. But after looking around a while he espied a bridge where he thought, if he should swim to it, he would soon find his way out. So he swam towards the bridge all the while looking around in order to find something to eat as he was very hungry. As he came nearer to the bridge his anxiety soon went away for he noticed that the stream broadened, but not so with his hunger for that gradually increased and became almost unendurable. When, Oh joy! What did he see? Was it not a large, fat angleworm he saw? Yes, indeed! He swam as fast as he could for fear it would get away and soon came up to it. But this time he was not so curious but gulped it into his mouth only to screech out with pain, for, as you all know, he had been tricked onto the fish hook. In vain he tried to get rid of it but could not. The more he tried the tighter was its hold until he could hardly bear it. Greater still was his fright when he felt himself being pulled upward to the surface. But all of a sudden the fish line stopped with a jerk and the fish hook, which had not been fastened so very securely in his mouth but tight enough to cause him pain, released its hold and as he uttered a cry of joy it slid out of his mouth.

He remained motionless for a moment but soon recollected what had happened and in his joy he vowed he would never be curious again and he swam on and soon reached his companions, to whom he told his thrilling adventure.

—Nellie G. Palmgren.

Wife a Witch.

Thief River News: Mrs. John Crapa, wife of a settler living in the town of Star, one of the newly organized towns on the reservation about 30 miles east of Thief River Falls, arrived in the city Tuesday, having walked the entire distance. She is a German woman and can talk no English, and therefore could not communicate with anyone until she reached Thief River Falls as she did not meet any Germans. According to her story her husband has been insane for some time and recently has become very violent and she fears that if she longer lived with him that she would be killed. He imagines that his wife is a witch and that if he asks her for money she can produce the same in any amount. As the Crapas are now entirely without funds, Mr. Crapa has been mading his demands very freely of late and Mrs. Crapa had no way in which to satisfy his wants. He threatened to kill her as a last resort and while he was going after the axe she left for town.

The man will be brought in and examined as to his sanity.

There are a bunch of boys in this town that are working up some trouble for themselves. They seem to have nothing to do but go around town with sling shots and break windows. The first one caught at it will be liable to lose a good part of his summer vacation.

H. A. Johnson returned from Bemidji last Monday and reports that he and J. J. Soll have purchased a saloon in that city. Mr. Soll who went over last week is now in charge and it is Mr. Johnson's intention to join him after the first of July. Both men are well known and popular and they should do well in their new location.

The base ball game last Sunday at Red Lake Falls was won by the home team, Thief River Falls getting the worst of it by a score of 6 to 5. Both towns have fairly good teams but the weather last Sunday was bad, the wind blowing a gale and coming straight from Canada. A return game will be played next Sunday at Thief River Falls.

A man whose name we need not mention, who recently came to St. Hilaire, is authority for the statement that there are a prime lot of knockers of both the town and country in this vicinity. He is of the opinion however that those who are knocking the hardest are people who have never been far from here and are totally unacquainted with conditions in other places and are also dissatisfied souls who will not be content this side of the world to come. He was also of the opinion that there were more real bargains in farm lands and village property here than at any point he ever struck.

Synod Church Meeting.

The annual district meeting of the Norwegian Lutheran church was held here last Tuesday and Wednesday. These meetings are held each year and are composed of the pastors and laymen directors of the church in this district. Only business pertaining to the church in this section is taken up.

A. A. Odegaard, St. Hilaire.
H. Spoonheim, G. O. Gulingsrud, K. Engebretson, Thief River Falls.

You can't tell a woman's age after she takes Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea. Her complexion is fine. She is round, plump and handsome; in fact she is young again. 35 cents, tea or tablets. Imperial Drug Co.

LEWIS NOLAN ARRESTED

Former St. Hilaire Man Arrested at Spooner for Bigamy.

Bemidji Pioneer: Sheriff Thomas Bailey has returned from Spooner, bringing with him Lewis Nolan of Spooner, who is charged with bigamy.

It appears that Nolan lived for some time at International Falls and was married at that place last fall. He afterwards moved to Spooner, and was at one time village marshal of Spooner.

The charge now made against Nolan is that he has a wife living elsewhere, and he will be compelled to answer to the offense of bigamy.

Nolan was arraigned yesterday afternoon before Justice M. G. Slocum, and his preliminary hearing was adjourned for one week.

The above refers to L. N. Nolan, as he was known here several years ago. He lived here with his wife and family for a couple of years having charge of the lath mill for the lumber company. He also worked at Thief River Falls and Red Lake Falls in the same capacity.

He was prominent in social and lodge circles and his wife was very well thought of, although he was inclined to be sporty. While here he became a member of the local lodge of M. W. A., and his wife has been paying for his life insurance up to within a month when she found that he had married another woman, thereby voiding his policy by committing a criminal act. Nolan was mixed up in a scandal while here and was considered a bad lot, but Mrs. Nolan has the sympathy of all her old time friends.

DO YOUR COWS PAY?

The average butter production from cows in Minnesota is 128 pounds each per year. It is not profitable to keep such a cow because her owner will get nothing in return for his labor nor interest upon his money invested.

A cow properly fed and cared for must produce about 135 pounds of butter per year to pay for her keeping in most localities. If she produces 136 pounds, it is a clear profit of about 22 cents. A cow that produces 140 pounds makes five times the profit of the former. There are dairymen who make $5 profit from some cows and $60 from others. Would you not rather keep one of the latter for the same profit instead of milking and caring for twelve of the former kind of cows?

Many dairymen have one or more cows in their herd that net them $60 a year or more, and that kind of cows they should breed up a herd from. The several classes of cows I mention are no doubt in your neighborhood; one that is only worth her weight in beef, and the others worth about $20 to $40 and $180 respectively for dairy purposes.

There are cows which produce 600 to 900 pounds of butter, worth from $300 to $2,000. Some of the European countries are dairying on land worth from $500 to $1000 per acre, and shipping their feed from the United States and selling their butter on the English market for from 5 to 10 cents less than Minnesota butter brings on the New York market. But the average from each cow in Denmark is nearly 300 pounds, while ours is less than 130 pounds.—Ex.

Estray Notice.

The following described personal property came to the premises of the undersigned on May 28. The owner can have same by paying charges and for this notice:

One three-year-old bay mare with cowbell on neck; one two-year-old black horse colt; one one-year-old gray mare colt; one one-year-old sorrel horse colt.

County Seat Petition.

Thief River News: The county seat petition was not filed this week. There is still some territory in the northern part of the county to cover, but none of those who are circulating the petition have done any work. Very few names have been added since last week and the petition now has about 2,300 names. This could be increased if any attempt was made.

Isn't This Town A Pretty Good Town? If Not, Why Not?

How do you like the town you live in?

Pretty fair sort of place, isn't it? Otherwise you'd move to some other town, wouldn't you?

But you don't think much of this town, you say? Well, what's the matter with this town? If there's anything wrong, let's all get together and right it.

LIBRARY
MAIL ORDER CATALOGUE

All of us live here, and we ought to pull together. Nobody living in New York or Chicago or St. Louis or San Francisco is going to do any pulling FOR us.

On the contrary, some of those cities are doing a lot of pulling FROM us. They not only pull away some of our best young men as the boys grow up, but they pull away many of our good American dollars, which ought to be spent right here, where they would do the most good.

What is your favorite book? The Mail Order Catalogue? Ah, so we thought!

Now suppose, just for a change, you read your local paper carefully, watch the advertisements, and if you don't see what you want ask the home merchant for it. Suppose all of us trade at home a little more regularly. That ought to help make this a better town.

And maybe if we'd keep more of our money at home to build up the town we'd keep more of our boys at home.

Nothing I Ate Agreed With Me.

MRS. LENORA BODENHAMER.

Mrs. Lenora Bodenhamer, R. F. D. 1. Box 99, Kernersville, N. C., writes:

"I suffered with stomach trouble and indigestion for some time, and nothing that I ate agreed with me. I was very nervous and experienced a continual feeling of uneasiness and fear. I took medicine from the doctor, but it did me no good.

"I found in one of your Peruna books a description of my symptoms. I then wrote to Dr. Hartman for advice. He said I had catarrh of the stomach. I took Peruna and Manalin and followed his directions and can now say that I feel as well as I ever did.

"I hope that all who are afflicted with the same symptoms will take Peruna, as it has certainly cured me."

The above is only one of hundreds who have written similar letters to Dr. Hartman. Just one such case as this entitles Peruna to the candid consideration of every one similarly afflicted. If this be true of the testimony of one person what ought to be the testimony of hundreds, yes thousands, of honest, sincere people. We have in our files a great many other testimonials.

PHRASEOLOGY.

Trouble Post Office Officials Had with Phrase for Postal Cards.

It's odd, isn't it," says a post office official, "how numerous are the ways in which some thought may be expressed by different people?

"Some years ago the post office department people at Washington found themselves put to a deal of trouble to prescribe the proper sentence to be used on the face of a postal card to the end that the user thereof might be admonished that he should place nothing but the address on that side. Seven attempts were made before the present phrase was adopted.

"One of the earliest cards was made to bear the legend, 'Nothing but the address can be written on this side,' which was, of course, untrue, as many persons could write more if they so desired, despite the regulation. Shortly afterward this was changed to say, 'Nothing but the address is to be placed on this side,' a sensible enough expression, but clumsy, and in a way amusing. So it was soon discarded.

"The next issue of the cards was inscribed, 'The address only to be written on this side,' which it was speedily observed might be construed to bar the use of the typewriter. The same objection was raised to 'Write only the address on this side.'

"Finally the post office people became almost hysterical about the matter. The next issue of the cards informed the user that he could 'Write only the address on this side, the message on the other,' which was not only clumsy, but ambiguous and conveying a wrong meaning, for, as a matter of fact, the post office officials really had no objection to a person writing the address on both sides.

"Later the word 'only' was dropped, but without much improvement. Finally it was decided that there was no use trying to be original, so the officials fashioned the phrase that is now in use after the one used upon the postal cards issued by the British. Our English cousins say: 'The space below is for the address only,' and Uncle Sam has 'This side for the address only.'"

THE CURFEW BELL HAD RUNG.

That Explained Why the Small Boy Wanted an Escort.

A resident of this city had a surprising experience a few nights ago while passing along one of the principal streets of Newport News, Va. He was on his way to the shipyards, and the figure of a boy suddenly appeared before him.

"Say, mister," said the almost breathless boy, "do you care if I walk down the street with you?"

"Certainly not," was the man's response, "I always like to have company."

"I only want to go a short distance with you," the boy said. "You know," he added, "the first bell has already rung."

"The first bell?" inquired the man from Washington. "What bell are you talking about?"

"The curfew bell," he answered. "Don't you know what that is?"

It was admitted by the Washingtonian that he had heard of it, but never before had he been in a city where such a law was in force. When the boy had made the explanation the man was more than willing to accompany him. The pair walked along until they reached the entrance to the ship yard.

"Never mind about going all the way home with me," said the little fellow, "I can run the rest of the way and get there before the second bell rings, and if I can't I can keep in the shadows and watch for the police."

Wouldn't Accept Tips.

The honesty of John Chinaman is attested by a remarkable occurrence of recent date, the scene of which was one of the best Chinese restaurants of this city, says the Washington Star. The observer of this example of honesty had refreshed himself by sipping some of the finest brand of tea the house afforded, and had tasted, with feelings of uncertainty, some of the delicacies of Shinese concoction. He finally asked the amount of his bill and paid it. He was curious to see just how a Chinaman would accept a tip, and wanted to make sure just what he would do with such a perquisite. For that reason he waited until the man carried the money to the cashier's desk, and then, waiting his opportunity, beckoned the celestial to his side and placed a dime in his hand. The celestial countenance was illumined by a broad smile, and the man, expressing his thanks turned on his heel and made straightway for the till, where he deposited the tip along with the money that belonged to the house.

Since that time the erstwhile patron of celestial food has had a high regard for Chinese honesty, but he has not yet fully recovered his astonishment over the characteristics of the bland and patient waiter who was the subject of his experiment.

Lovers of Outdoor Life.

C. C. Arosemena, first secretary of the Panama legation, formerly a Cornell football player, rides and plays golf, and Sr. Felipe Pardo, the Peruvian minister, is one of the most enthusiastic horsemen of the city. He has a wide reputation as a hunter of big game. He made a trip to the wilds of Canada last summer. Sr. Sylvino do Amaral, first secretary of the Brazilian legation, is another hunter of big game of note. He has trophies of the chase from the forests of the Amazon, and has hunted a great deal in Argentina.

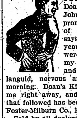
Dick Turpin's Oak.

In lopping off a branch of the old oak known as "Turpin's Oak," which stands at the corner of a lane leading into the Great North Road nearly opposite the gates of Finchley Cemetery, several pistol bullets were found embedded in the wood.

In the records of Dick Turnip's trial at York it is mentioned that it was at this spot that he with Tom King, robbed the Royal Mail in 1724 of £300.

BACKACHE IS KIDNEYACHE.

Cure the Kidneys and the Pain Will Never Return.



Only one way to cure an aching back. Cure the cause, the kidneys. Thousands tell of cures made by Doan's Kidney Pills. John C. Coleman, a prominent merchant of Swainsboro, Ga., says: "For several years my kidneys were affected, and my back ached day and night. I was languid, nervous and lame in the morning. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me right away, and the great relief that followed has been permanent." Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box.

Might Have Been Higher.

"That was rather slighting," said Senator Beveridge of a certain speech. "It was like the speech of the old Adams butler.

"When I was a boy in Adams county, Judge Blank was taken very ill. The doctor called regularly, but the judge kept getting worse, and finally the crisis came.

"The morning after the crisis, the doctor rang the judge's bell at sunrise.

"'I hope your master's temperature is lower than it was last evening?' he said to the butler anxiously.

"'I'm not so sure about that,' the man answered. 'He died, sir, in the night.'"

PALE, WEAK PEOPLE

MADE STRONG AND ENERGETIC BY DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS.

General Breakdown Caused by Deficient Blood Quickly Corrected by This Tonic Remedy.

A feeling of general weakness, poor appetite, loss of breath after the slightest exercise and broken sleep are some of the symptoms of general debility. You may think that they have no relation to each other and that you will worry along, hoping all the time to feel better soon. This is a mistake, for every one of the symptoms is caused by bad blood, which must be made pure and new before health will be restored again. A tonic treatment is necessary and for this purpose there is no better remedy than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Mr. J. G. Havey, of 95 Willow St., Chelsea, Mass., says: "I was sick for a number of years from general debility and indigestion. I was never free from stomach trouble and my nerves were so shattered that the least excitement unfitted me for any serious work. My sleep was restless on account of terrible pains in the small of my back. These pains would sometimes last for a month or two. My sight grew weak, there seeming to be a blur constantly before my eyes. I couldn't concentrate my mind on my work, and the attempt to do so completely exhausted me.

"I was finally forced to give up a position I had held for twenty-eight years. After trying several medicines without help, I read of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and gave them a trial. They made me feel so much better and so much stronger that I started in business for myself here in Chelsea. I have never had a return of my former sickness and cheerfully recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as an excellent nerve and blood tonic."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have long been recognized as an excellent tonic remedy in cases of indigestion and general debility, where the stomach and other organs of the body are weakened and disordered simply through lack of proper nourishment. They have also been especially successful in curing anæmia, rheumatism, after-effects of the grip and fevers.

A pamphlet on "Diseases of the Blood" and a copy of our diet book will be sent free on request to anyone interested.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

POTATO LOOKS LIKE ANIMAL.

Vegetable Dug Up In Iowa Is Exhibited at Highland Park.

A potato of odd shape is being exhibited in Highland Park, Chicago, by F. B. Williams. The vegetable freak was sent to him by his brother, Frank M. Williams, of Dubuque, Iowa. The potato was dug up on a farm in western Iowa. It has the eyes, nostril and mouth of a beast roused to anger and the "branch" potatoes grow out on each side in almost perfect relation to resemble ears. Mr. Williams intends to treat the potato with preservatives and present it to the local high school.

TESTATOR'S LAST WISHES.

Strange Request Regarding the Arrangement of Funerals.

Sir James Colquhoun's desire to be buried in full evening costume recalls, says the London Evening Standard, curious last wishes of other testators.

George Herring directed that his remains should lie beneath a sundial at the Haven of Rest, Maidenhead; Queen Victoria planned the entire programme for her funeral, even choosing the music to be played and the anthems to be sung.

A couple of months ago a young lady who died at Reigate on the eve of her wedding was buried in her bridal dress, the friends who were to have been her bridesmaids attending the funeral in gowns which they should have worn at the wedding, and carrying in place of wreaths the wedding bouquets.

More singular was the funeral of Maj. Gen. Algernon Stewart at Hascombe, Surrey, 18 months ago. The coffin was drawn to the grave by the dead man's horse. The mourners walked, and the bearers wore old-fashioned smocks, each with its collar adorned with a text. The same men appeared in their mourning garments at the church service on the following Sunday.

POKER HOSIERY ON DECK.

All the Card Suits Embroidered on Men's Sox.

The sporting fraternity is being catered to in recent introductions of half-hose which bear embroidered reproductions of the whole suit in playing cards. Even the piker will not be satisfied unless his wardrobe boasts full pack representation, his interpretation of the square deal calling for sox illustrated with clubs, diamonds, hearts and spades.

These novelties had their origin in the brain of a New York importer, who conceived the idea while visiting Monte Carlo. Naturally, the cheap sport will confine his transactions to popular-priced printed lisle goods, while the affluent sitter-in will favor expensive lines made of silk. The donning of poker half-hose aboard transatlantic liners is translated to mean that the wearer is ready and willing to take a hand at the gaming table.

An Old Factory.

A buried manufactory of the Roman or early Christian epoch has been accidentally discovered 15 meters beneath the soil at Sarno in the Campania, Italy. The place has not yet been thoroughly explored, but the remains of a marble pavement and of shelves, vases, and mural and ceiling paintings of Pompeiian type in good state of preservation are noted among the finds.

Parrots Give Fire Alarm.

Five hundred parrots on the second floor of a Broadway, N. Y., bird store gave the first alarm of fire, which was raging on the first floor one evening recently, and brought firemen in time to save their lives and to check the blaze before much damage resulted. Their cries of alarm sounded so nearly like human being in distress that it was at first supposed persons were being burned or smothered in the building. "Fire! fire! Oh, Lordy!" were samples of the screams heard on the street. They aroused the janitor, who got a waiter in a nearby place to turn in an alarm.

Deer Hid Its Head.

Last winter some of the Berlin Mills company's men caught a deer and fed it in an abandoned camp for a few days. The way the deer was caught was rather peculiar.

They chased him in the snow and the foolish deer, instead of running away, ran to a trainload of logs and stood with his head sticking under the logs between two cars. Like the ostrich he probably thought that as he couldn't see he couldn't be seen.

BABY ITCHED TERRIBLY.

Face and Neck Covered with Inflamed Skin—Doctors No Avail—Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

"My baby's face and neck were covered with itching skin similar to eczema, and she suffered terribly for over a year. I took her to a number of doctors, and also to different colleges, to no avail. Then Cuticura Remedies were recommended to me by Miss G— I did not use it at first, as I had tried so many other remedies without any favorable results. At last I tried Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Resolvent Pills, and to my surprise noticed an improvement. After using three boxes of the Cuticura Ointment, together with the Soap and Pills, I am pleased to say she is altogether a different child and the picture of health. Mrs. A. C. Brestlin, 171 N. WOMEN SUFFER

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have immediate assistance.

How many women do you know who are perfectly well and strong?

The cause may be easily traced to some feminine derangement which manifests itself in depression of spirits, reluctance to go anywhere or do anything, backache, dragging sensations, flatulency, nervousness, and sleeplessness.

These symptoms are but warnings that there is danger ahead, and unless heeded, a life of suffering or a serious operation is the inevitable result. The best remedy for all these symptoms is made from native roots and herbs. No other medicine in the country has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female ills.

Miss J. F. Walsh, of 328 W. 36th St., New York City, writes:—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been of inestimable value in restoring my health. I suffered from female illness which caused dreadful headaches, dizziness, and dull pains in my back, but your medicine soon brought about a change in my general condition, built me up and made me perfectly well."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cures Female Complaints, such as Backache, Falling and Displacements, Inflammation and Ulceration, and organic diseases. It is invaluable in preparing for child-birth and during the Change of Life. It cures Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility, and invigorates the whole system.

JURY SELECTED TO TRY HAYWOOD

MINER'S LIFE IS AT STAKE

Boise, Idaho, June 5.—After fifteen days of tedious work, during which 156 talesmen were examined, a jury has been selected to try William D. Haywood for his life on the charge that he murdered Gov. Frank Steunenberg.

The wearisome work of jury selection ended quickly and unexpectedly yesterday morning. The jurors then took the oath binding them to deal justice between state and prisoner. It was an impressive scene, and there came another two hours later when, after the midday recess, Haywood listened to the reading of the indictment against himself. Moyer, Pettibone and Simpkins.

Crime Charged to Haywood.

Haywood is charged with conspiring with Moyer, Pettibone and Simpkins and others of the alleged "inner circle" of the Western Federation of Miners in a campaign of terrorism that had for its double purpose the removal by assassination of those opposed to the organization and the retention and increase of control and power within the organization. It is alleged that the explosion at the Vindicator mine, the blowing up of the Independence depot, the murder of Light Gregory, a detective of Denver; the murder of Arthur Collins of Telluride, the alleged blowing up of Fred Bradley of San Francisco and the alleged attempts on the lives of Former Governor Peabody and Judge Gabbart and Goddard of Colorado, were all acts in a single conspiracy to which the murder of Gov. Steunenberg was incidental.

Haywood the Master Mind.

It is charged that Haywood was the genius behind the great plot, and that Steunenberg was added to the list because of his part during the labor troubles in North Idaho.

It is alleged that Haywood and his associates planned the long list of crimes and sent Harry Orchard and Steve Adams forth as hired executioners.

Case Against Haywood Opened.

Boise, June 6. — Through James Hawley, senior of the group of prosecutors, Idaho yesterday made the opening statement against William D. Haywood, whom it charges with the murder of Frank Steunenberg, and then began the presentation of testimony.

The opening statement was a sweeping arraignment of the leaders of the Federation of Miners, who were charged with plotting wholesale murder and with hiring assassins in a giant conspiracy to destroy opposition by terrorism, to control the political destinies of the communities covered by their organization and to perpetuate their own power within the organization.

It is charged a widespread conspiracy dating from the North Idaho disturbances fifteen years ago and reaching down to the murder of Frank Steunenberg. Hawley declared that whenever, in the mining sections of the coast states the federation had been in control it had left a trail of blood to mark its operations. Of the hired assassins he cried: "To them murder became a trade and assassination a means of living."

Counsel for the defense opened fire before the statement had proceeded ten minutes, and the repetition of objections from them led to three or four sharp exchanges.

Dot Records With Exceptions.

They dotted the records with exceptions to overruled objections and finally got an agreement whereby they could protect their rights as to the entire opening statement. Judge Wood permitted the wide scope in the opening statement on the assurance of Mr. Hawley that the state later could show the existence of the conspiracy that it charged.

Eight witnesses were examined. They were all from Caldwell, and those who did not tell of the crime itself were called to tell of who went to the town as Thomas Hogan, at various hotels and around the Steunenberg home, and to show that two months before the crime John L. Simpkins, a member of the executive board of the Western Federation of Miners, had joined Orchard and had lived with him for several days in the same room.

The defense objected to practically all the day's testimony, except that relating to the death of Steunenberg, on the ground that it was immaterial and in no way connected with the defendant.

Freight Wreck Takes Fire.

Erie, Pa., June 6.—A broken brake beam on a fast freight train ditched the train at Harbor Creek. The train was made up of several cars of merchandise and four cars naphtha. The wreck took fire and the naphtha exploded, but without doing any damage. There were no fatalities.

WAS HIRED FOR BLOODY WORK

CROWD SICKENED AND WEARY OF DISGUSTING DETAILS OF BRUTAL CRIMES.

Boise, Idaho, June 6.—Alfred Horsley, alias Harry Orchard, the actual assassin of Frank Steunenberg, went on the stand yesterday as a witness against William D. Haywood and confessed a long chain of brutal, revolting crimes, done, he said, at the instigation and for the pay of the leaders of the Western Federation of Miners.

Orchard confessed that as a member of the mob that wrecked the Bunker Hill and Sullivan mill in the Coeur d'Alenes he lighted one of the fuses that carried fire to the explosion; confessed that he

in the Vindicator mine at Cripple Creek that blew out the lives of Supt. McCormick and Foreman Beck; confessed that because he had not been paid for his first attempt at violence in the Vindicator mine he had been treacherous to his associates by warning the managers of the Florence & Cripple Creek railway that there was a plot to blow up their trains; confessed that he fired three charges of buckshot into the body of Detective Lyte Gregory of Denver, killing him instantly; confessed that for days he stalked Gov. Peabody about Denver, waiting a chance to kill him; confessed that he and Steve Adams set and under the depot at Independence that killed fourteen men, and confessed that, failing in an attempt to poison Fred Bradley of San Francisco, he blew him and his house up with a bomb of gelatin.

And the has more brutal crimes to tell that will bring his bloody career down to its end at Caldwell, where, with a great bomb, he killed Gov. Steunenberg. These will come to-day.

The story was told to a tense-nerved, rigid crowd that watched with staring eyes for every move and word of the confessing witness; a crowd that was sickened and weary of its disgusting details long before James H. Hawley, pleading illness of himself, at 3 o'clock secured adjournment for the day.

WHIRLED TO DEATH.

Man Is Caught in Belt of Engine and Neck Is Broken.

Devils Lake, June 6.—William Carter, fifteen years old, son of Frank Carter, a farmer living about eleven miles northwest of here, was instantly killed while operating a gasoline engine. He was caught in the belt and drawn to the pulley wheel, where his arm was jerked off above the elbow. He was then whirled heavily to the ground, breaking his neck. He was dead when picked up.

FIND FIREMAN'S BODY.

Corpse of Victim of Steamer Monarch Wreck Is Recovered.

Duluth, Minn., June 6.—After having been frozen in the ice at Isle Royale all winter and afterward washed up on the beach, the body of James Jacques, fireman of the steamer Monarch, has been found, about two miles from the scene of the wreck, by a party of prospectors. The Monarch was wrecked Dec. 7 last.

CORNER-STONE OF CATHEDRAL LAID

MOST ELABORATE RELIGIOUS CEREMONY EVER SEEN IN NORTHWEST.

ST. PAUL MECCA OF CATHOLICS

WHOLE NORTHWEST REPRESENTED IN GRAND PARADE—30,000 PEOPLE IN LINE.

St. Paul, June 4.—The corner-stone of the new Catholic cathedral was laid yesterday afternoon. No more impressive event has marked the history of the Northwest; neither has any event been fraught with greater significance, both religious and civic, for yesterday's ceremonies have a distinctive importance which cannot be measured in the doings of a day, nor in the lifetime of the magnificent edifice which is building on the brow of the hill overlooking a wide and busy valley.

A Notable Gathering.

In the presence of thirty bishops, five of whom were archbishops; in the presence of priests from scores of parishes scattered throughout the Northwest; in the presence of tens of thousands of spectators, both Catholic and non-Catholic, the corner-stone was laid with the most elaborate religious ceremonies ever witnessed in the Northwest.

The corner-stone was laid by Bishop McGoirick of Duluth, the senior bishop of the province. He was assisted in the chants by 100 seminarians from the seminary of St. Paul. Archbishop Ireland delivered the sermon, and never has that distinguished prelate been more eloquent. Addresses were also delivered by Senator Clapp, Gov. Johnson, Mayor Smith and Judge W. L. Kelly.

The Grand Parade.

The great feature of the day was the parade, probably the greatest of its kind ever witnessed in the Northwest. Thirty thousand men marched under the banners of the Catholic church and an endless line of flags, banners and faces filed past the reviewing stand. Every town and city in the state was represented. Old men, whose early lives had been spent in the service of the church and state marched side by side with boys in their teens. Business men and sturdy farmers kept step with each other; the wealthy and less fortunate formed ranks together. All lines and barriers were cast aside, and like a vast army of invasion the laity of the Catholic church of the Northwest passed through the streets of St. Paul to do homage to their church.

Old Guard Is Present.

Fully an hour and a half was consumed in passing the reviewing stand. An impressive feature of the parade was the appearance of the old guard, men who arrived in St. Paul when it was a garden spot in the vast northern wilderness. Prominent among them were A. L. Larpenteur, who came to the trading post which is now St. Paul in 1847, and Isaac Bissonniere, who built the framework of the log cabin, which, as the Chapel of St. Paul, gave the city its name.

60,000 Visitors.

It is estimated that the event brought more than 60,000 people to the city, including the visitors from Minneapolis. More than 100,000 persons were gathered about the site of the new cathedral to witness the ceremonies, and it would be impossible to estimate the number that witnessed the parade.

Considering the sultry, humid condition of the weather, the thousands of strangers in the city and the corresponding dangers of accident and sudden illness, the entire program was carried out with little or no unpleasant interruption.

The New Cathedral.

The cathedral will be one of the finest and most imposing buildings of its kind in the country. The site could not have been improved upon, and when the $2,000,000 structure is completed it will stand as a fitting monument to the work of the Catholic church in the uplifting of the Northwest.

The building will be in the form of a cross, and as in the cathedrals of the Old World the ambulatories between the main bodies and the surrounding chapels, with all their religious symbolisms have been retained. The main entrance is to be under a monumental arch which frames the rose window and the three front entrances leading to the vestibule located under the organ gallery.

The great dome is to be 96 feet in diameter and 175 feet in its interior elevation. The sanctuary will occupy the entire space, the dimensions being 60 feet in width and 65 feet in length. The seating capacity is to be 3,000 in pews and 4,000 by the addition of removable chairs.

CHEYENNE ON RAMPAGE.

Houses Carried Away and Large Numbers of Cattle Drowned.

Pierre, S. D., June 4.—Reports from along the Cheyenne river indicate that the flood in that stream a few days ago was above any known record. At Leslie the stores of James Benthine and Edward Spurling were flooded and the owners compelled to take to the hills. At Lindshy several houses were flooded. Along the north shore of the river the Indian houses which have stood for years were in many cases flooded, and in some instances carried away.

While no loss of life is reported, this is on account of the flood coming in daylight hours. But the loss of cattle must have been heavy, as a large number of carcasses floated past the city at the height of the flood.

JOLT FROM RUT FATAL.

Man Thrown From Wagon Says His Neck Is Broken; Soon Dies.

Mantorville, Minn., June 4. — While driving a heavily loaded wagon along the road Noah Randall, seventy years old, was suddenly thrown from his seat by one of the wheels dropping into a rut. A passerby witnessed the accident and ran to the old man's assistance. He was conscious and remarked that his neck was broken. He was taken into a nearby house and lived only a short time.

Found Hanging in Cell.

St. Paul, June 4.—Sam Cohen was found hanging in a cell in the Ducas street police station almost strangled to death. When he had been revived he declared that he did not know what he was doing when he attempted to kill himself. He was arrested Saturday night on suspicion of attempted robbery.

FOUND WITH THROAT CUT.

Note in Girl's Pocket Says "This is What Love Leads To."

Hampton, Iowa, June 4.—With her throat cut from ear to ear and a bloody razor lying nearby, the dead body of Maggie Hermes was found in a cow pasture a mile and a half northeast of here. There was no evidence of a struggle.

A note found in her pocket said among other things: "This is what love leads to." She was thirty years old.

Walk on Track Fatal.

Winona, Minn., June 4.—The body of an unidentified man was found beside the Chicago & North-Western railway track between St. Charles and Dover. He had been walking along the track and had been struck by a train.

NEVER CAME TO SURFACE.

Man Falls From Fifty-foot Trestle Into River.

Sheboygan, Wis., June 4. — August Radloff, an employe of a coal company, fell from a fifty-foot trestle yesterday, striking against the dock and rolling into the river. Workmen who witnessed the accident rushed to the water's edge in the hope of catching him as he arose, but the man did not appear. It is believed that he was killed or stunned by striking the dock.

Man and Wowman Assaulted.

Griswold, Iowa, June 4. — While Christina Thulin and Lorens Saestrom were returning home about 10 o'clock last night they were set upon by three men, who beat them severely. The young woman was rendered unconscious and it is feared that she was seriously injured.

THE NEW CATHEDRAL.

BURIED BY CAVE-IN.

Workman Is Rescued, but He May Not Recover.

Sioux Falls, S. D., June 4.—Henry Harms, a resident of Bon Homme county, was buried alive, but by strenuous work only he was rescued alive. He was at work at a gravel pit when an overhanging bank caved upon him. He was struck on the back with a large rock, paralyzing his legs. It is feared he was injured internally and may not recover.

KILLED BY HANDCAR.

Boy Falls Off Vehicle and Beneath Its Wheels.

Oskaloosa, Iowa, June 4. — While pumping a handcar with two others Hiram Weaver, seventeen years old, employed as a section hand, lost his balance and fell in front of the car, which passed over him. Weaver was still alive when picked up, but died fifteen minutes later.

THE BEGINNING.
St. Paul chapel, erected by Father Gaultier in 1841, the first step toward the Cathedral of St. Paul.

STATES MAY UNITE TO FIGHT ROADS

ATTORNEY GENERAL MAY ASK OTHER STATES TO CO-OPERATE.

STATE RIGHTS ARE ATTACKED

IMPORTANT QUESTIONS INVOLVED — SPECIAL SESSION OF LEGISLATURE.

St. Paul, June 5.—The importance of the suits commenced in the federal court last week by the railroads to prevent the state from enforcing the provisions of the commodity rate law and questioning the right of the state to regulate rates, in the opinion of Attorney General Young, is shown by the fact that he is considering the advisability of calling upon other states to take a hand in the matter.

Other States Interested.

The reason for calling the officials of other states together to confer on this question is that they are as much interested in the determination of the questions involved as is Minnesota, although this is the only state in which the power of the state to regulate rates has been attacked. The cases in question have been brought in the United States court and ultimately will go to the United States supreme court and a decision adverse to the state would put an end to all rate regulation by the states. In view of this fact the interests of the other states are such that the attorney general may decide to invite them to a conference on the question.

Special Session Discussed.

The question of calling the legislature in special session as a result of the bringing of these suits has been a much mooted question around the capital since the suits were brought, but it seems probable that no such action will be taken, not at present at least.

When asked as to the probability of calling an extra session, Gov. Johnson stated that he did not know whether an extra session will be necessary, as he was not sufficiently informed as to the exact nature of the suit.

PLENTY HELP FOR GEN. YOUNG.

Several Attorneys Volunteer Services in the Rate Case.

St. Paul, June 6.—Attorney General E. T. Young apparently will have no trouble in securing lawyers to help him in the cases which stockholders of the railroads have brought to prevent the enforcement of the 2-cent passenger fare law and the commodity rate law. Several attorneys throughout the state have offered him their services.

Gov. Johnson stated yesterday that he will not call a special session of the legislature at present.

Offer Their Services.

One of the offers received was from Senator F. H. Peterson of Moorhead, the author of the 2-cent and anti-pass bills and an advocate of the commodity rate bill during the recent session of the legislature. Senator Peterson has assured Mr. Young that if he can be of any assistance he will devote as much of his time to the case as is necessary, whether there is any money in it or not. T. D. O'Brien, insurance commissioner, who was selected by Mr. Young as one of the special attorneys to fight the rate cases under the law appropriating $50,000 for this purpose, is also among the list of those who are willing to render any assistance in their power if needed.

May Ask Continuance.

The first step in the proceedings will be the hearing on June 12 on the order to show cause why the injunction should not be issued as prayed for in the complaints. This involves the right of an individual to enjoin a state from enforcing its laws, and in this first stage of the proceedings the legal department of the state will not need help, although Mr. Young said yesterday that a continuance probably will be asked for, as the time to prepare for the hearing is short. If any additional counsel are to be engaged it will be after this stage has been passed.

No action has been taken as yet by Mr. Young on his intimation that he might call a conference of the attorney generals of the various states on the questions involved in the suits and it it probable that none will be taken until after the hearing on the question of the granting of an injunction against the state.

Saturday June 8, 1907.

Now if the weather will only be decent we will have a properous year.

The month of May just passed was the coldest on record by a good large majority.

The county seat muddle is getting worse and it looks like a fine fat field for the lawyers.

The prospects seem better each day for the nomination of Taft for president by the republican party.

The prospects for a sharp advance in Minnesota farm lands are bright. Few states will average up any better.

No one this spring seems to want to move to Canada to find out where the north wind comes from. Its cold enough here.

The railroads advise users of coal to get their orders in early as there will probably be another car shortage next fall and winter.

It don't pay to put a written message in a package you mail at package postage. Several have found out lately that it costs about ten dollars a package.

Has Governor Johnson already organized a press bureau to boom him for the democratic nomination for president? It looks as if some one was blowing on the fire.

An Event in Sunday Journalism.

The people of the middle West are rapidly discovering that the Sunday Magazine of The Chicago Record-Herald is not only a real magazine but also one of the greatest in this age of magazines. Its recent display of enterprise in paying $25,000 for the exclusive serial rights of Conan Doyle's new romance, "Sir Nigel," compelled even the editors of the famous monthlies to acknowledge the presence of a new and powerful rival.

When this was followed by Anthony Hope's new Zenda romance, "Sophy of Kravonia," the reading world needed no further proof that the Sunday Magazine of The Record-Herald was able to capture the finest and most costly new fiction offered in England and America. Its illustrations and cover designs in color have from the beginning been of unsurpassed beauty and artistic grace. Its short stories, descriptive articles, humor, poetry and sketches of all kinds are the choicest that the literary market affords, many of them being written by the most popular authors and magazine contributors in the United States. In short, it is an entertaining, high-class magazine that will bear comparison with the best independent weeklies or monthlies, whatever the price.

There is nothing else like it in American journalism.

Council Proceedings.

Regular meeting of the village council of St. Hilaire held at village hall June 3, 1907, at 8 o'clock.

Members present: Wilson, Hoff, Nelson and Martz.

On motion K. O. Gigstad was appointed clerk of the meeting.

Minutes of previous meeting read and on motion accepted as read.

Motion made and carried that the president appoint a committee of two to investigate the number of feet of fire hose needed and to correspond with the different companies as to price and to report at next meeting.

Hoff and Nelson were appointed on said committee, together with the president.

Motion made and carried that the president be instructed to re-insure the village hall and contents.

The following bills were allowed:

White Mfg Co, lamp supplies..	$45	45
D Patterson, work and draying.	38	45
Wm Eickhoff, marshal salary..	50	00
Nels Lindahl, work..........	21	52

Beggars and Weather.

"What weather is best for our business? Why, winter weather," said the beggar. "Sure, winter makes people generous to the poor. In summer people have an idea that everybody can get along somehow. It's warm then, you know, and they think the poor won't suffer anyway. But the colder the weather the warmer it makes people's hearts, and the more they give then in some ways. The one drawback to my particular line of business in winter is that in cold weather everybody goes about in the streets with gloves on and overcoat buttoned up, and men that would put down their names for a good sum on a subscription list indoors, where they could give it in comfort, are not so ready to drag off their gloves and drag open their coats and go down in their jeans for a nickel out of doors. Even with this drawback, and it's a big one, I do better in winter than in summer. But if it wasn't for that in winter I'd get rich."—New York Sun.

Long Distance Skee Races.

As a test of skill, strength and endurance it would be difficult to beat the long distance skee races in Norway and Sweden. Of these contests the most severe is undoubtedly the twelve mile race over the mountains which opens the great annual "Snow Derby" at Holmenkollen, about four miles from Christiania. In this race, which begins with a steep ascent of 400 to 500 feet, the skee lobner has to jump clefts and ravines, to hop over fallen tree trunks and overcome every kind of obstacle that man can devise: to rush down steep declivities and to make his devious way through mountain forests until he reaches the goal, triumphant, but utterly exhausted. Considering the arduous nature of these contests, some of the performances are remarkable. Thus the winner of an international speed competition held at Stockholm covered the course of forty miles at an average speed of eight and one-half miles an hour.

Sunflower Most Deceitful of Plants.

"The sunflower," said a naturalist, "is the most deceitful of all plants, for it has fooled six nations. Six nations believe that the sunflower turns toward the sun, and so thoroughly are they deluded that they call it by a name which bears witness to their error. Thus, the French call the sunflower tournesol; the Spanish call it girasol; the Italians call it girasole: the Hungarians call it naptaforgo. Each of these words means 'turn to the sun.' The English and Americans don't go quite that far in admitting themselves to be the plant's dupes. They only call it sunflower. They mean by that name, though, quite as much as the other names imply. The belief is general among six nations that the sunflower turns with the sun and always faces the luminary. As a matter of fact, there is only one flower that turns or keeps with the sun—namely, the sun spurge."

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of $16.70 which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Pierre Colomb and Lucie Colomb, his wife, mortgagors, to Wheeler-Misner Loan Co., a corporation, mortgagee, dated December 28th, 1904, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Red Lake, state of Minnesota, in book 33 of Mortgages on pages 605, 607 and 608, having been filed for such record January 9th, A. D. 1905, at 4 o'clock p. m.

Which said mortgage provides that if the mortgagors fail to pay interest on a prior mortgage therein mentioned for the principal sum of $1600.00 on the premises hereinafter described at the time the same shall become due under the conditions of said prior mortgage and the note secured thereby, then and in that event said mortgagee may pay such interest and have an additional claim and lien upon said premises therefor with interest on the amount so paid at the rate of 10 per cent per annum under the first above mentioned mortgage. That said mortgagors have failed to pay interest on said prior mortgage in the amount of $96.00 which became due December 28th, 1906, and the said mortgagee has paid said sum of $96.00 interest on said prior mortgage. That said first above mentioned mortgage also provides that in event the mortgagors shall fail to pay the taxes assessed against said premises before they become delinquent the mortgagee, in said mortgage might pay such taxes and claim an additional lien for the amount so paid with interest thereon at 10 per cent per annum under said mortgage. That said mortgagors in said first above mentioned mortgage failed to pay taxes assesed against said premises before the same became delinquent for the year 1904, and the said taxes amounting to the sum of $26.21 have been paid by the mortgagee in said first above mentioned mortgage, and said first above mentioned mortgage further provides that in event of the default on the part of the mortgagors therein in any of the terms or conditions thereof the whole sum secured thereby shall become due and payable at once. That the whole sum secured by said mortgage is the sum of $64.70 and said mortgagees have elected to and do hereby declare said sum to be due and in addition thereto said sum of $96.00 interest on said prior mortgage and interest thereon amounting to $2.50, and said sum of $26.21 taxes and interest thereon amounting to the sum of $3.40, in all amounting to the sum of $192.81; and no action or proceeding has been instituted at law, or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

That the premises described in and conveyed by said first above mentioned mortgage is the southwest quarter (SW¼) and the southeast quarter (SE¼) of the northwest quarter (NW¼) of section fourteen (14), in township one hundred fifty-one (151) north of range forty-five (45) west of the 5th P. M. in the county of Red Lake and state of Minnesota; subject to said prior mortgage of $1600.00.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said first above mentioned mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed thereby subject to said prior mortgage, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county at the front door of the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the 30th day of July, 1907, at the hour of 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt of $192.81 and interest and taxes on said premises and $25.00 attorney's fees, as stipulated in said mortgage, and the disbursements allowed by law in case of foreclosure of said mortgage; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Last week Friday was another big day at the creamery, and the creameries in northern Minnesota that are going to set the pace for the St. Hilaire creamery will have to hurry to keep in the game. On that day they received 9,893 pounds of cream, the average test was 25, and it made 2,993 pounds of butter. Yesterday was another big day but we cannot give at this writing the exact figures.

SUCCESSFUL CREAMERY.

Interesting Account of the Growth of St. Hilaire Creamery.

Wheelock's Weekly, Fergus Falls:—George L. Austin, who was here from St. Hilaire last week was full of information and enthusiasm about the practical workings of co-operative creameries. He is the manager of the St. Hilaire co-operative creamery, which has been a pronounced success from its start, and which is still growing rapidly. Mr. Austin says the results to the farmers of that creamery have been so much better than most of them expected, that the growth of the institution has simply been a question of the time it would take its patrons to increase their herds of milch cows. The St. Hilaire creamery paid to its patrons $51,000 last year, and this year's increase will make it doubtless the largest co-operative creamery in the state. Mr. Austin said:

"We have not paid less than 30c per pound for butter fat for the past six months, and have paid part of the time as high as 33c. There are three other creameries in our territory—that is, within 14 miles of us—but on the other side we pull for many miles toward the Dakota line. This year will show an increase in money paid to patrons of over 50 per cent above last year's payments."

Mr. Austin was asked as to the method of collecting cream.

"That is one of the important points of the co operative system," said he. "The former method of sending a man around has been discarded. We now establish stations at suitable distances, and the group of farmers who haul to that station take turns to haul the load to the creamery. The man who conducts the station gets a certain amount per month, depending on the size of the station.

"We have five stations, from 4 or 5 miles to 15 miles from the creamery. From 10 to 20 patrons are tributary to each. The same man weighs the cream constantly. At the end of each month he brings in the samples, and all are tested at the creamery. A sample is taken from each patron's cans each morning and the same man's samples go into a single jar during the month, there being a suitable preservative to keep the cream in condition till it is tested. Thus, you see, each man's sample jar presents an average of his month's product of butter fat. The conductor of the station receives from $5 to $10 per month for his work. The farmers who take turns to bring in the cream do that work for each other, and without any cash payment. The haul is made from each station three times a week.

"Our creamery has about 185 patrons; but when I say patrons, I mean, for the most part, Patrons with a large P. That is, the average of cows per patron is large. We have 2,000 cows tributary to the creamery now, from the 185 patrons, and in the height of the season that number will increase to 3500. We are receiving about 16,000 pounds of butter fat per week now, and later on it will run from 20,000 to 25,000 pounds each week.

"The farmers around St. Hilaire feel that the co-operative creamery has passed the experimental stage for them. They are all making money at the business, and are growing in comfort and prosperity."

Fisherman Arrested.

Game Warden Wm. Munch, of Crookston, dropped off on the wrong side of the south bound train Tuesday evening and after supper went down to the river to see if there was any illegal fishing.

It was a bad evening and he only found one person using a dip net, the unfortunate one being Christ Bangan, of Thief River Falls, who is at present working on the section. He was arrested and taken before Justice Nelson where he plead guilty and was fined twenty-five dollars and costs.

Mr. Bangan only fished a short time and did not catch any fish. He was willing to pay his fine only he did not have the price. The county attorney has taken charge of the matter and it may be settled.

Fishing with nets in the future is going to be rather risky business as the new law gives anyone who furnishes the information $10 for each conviction secured.

A search warrant for a couple of farmers near town was also taken out but nothing was found so the matter was dropped. It may be slower with a hook but it is by far the safest way to take fish.

Rivaling the Nile Dam.

The government of New South Wales is about to begin the construction of a dam at Carien Jack, on the Murrumbidgee river, which will form a reservoir 40 miles in length, and containing more than 33,000,000,000 cubic feet of water, or 50 percent more than Sydney harbor contains. This immense artificial lake which will be but little inferior in capacity to that created by the great new dam on the river Nile, is to be used for irrigation. It is a well known fact that the daily use of golden grain belt beer, the ideal home beverage, will nourish your nerves, enrich your blood and invigorate your muscles. BANK CHANGE.

The First State Bank of St. Hilaire Changes Hands.

HANSEN IN PLACE OF HANNAY

May Mean a Consolidation of Both Banks in the Future.

On last Tuesday a deal was concluded whereby a majority of the stock of the First State Bank of St. Hilaire was purchased from J. K. Hannay by C. L. Hansen, who was elected president of the bank the same day by the board of directors.

What is now the First State Bank was started by J. K. Hannay as a private bank in the fall of 1898. The business was a successful one and in 1901 it was incorporated as a state bank. At present the bank has a paid-in capital of $10,000 and a surplus of $2,000. It has $15,460.20 on deposit subject to check, $1,207.10 subject to demand and $36,208.47 on time deposit, making a total deposit of $52,875.81. The bank is in a very prosperous condition and the only reason, we understand, for the sale is that Mr. Hannay wishes to join his family in Washington where they have located permanently.

Mr. Hannay for the past nine years has been closely connected with the business affairs of the village as a banker and attorney and a large number will be sorry to learn that he is about to leave. He has been successful here in his business affairs and still has large property interests here.

The new president, C. L. Hansen, who is also president of the Merchants State Bank, located here last July having purchased from L. C. Simons a controlling interest in the Merchants State Bank. Mr. Hansen was not, however, a stranger, as he had been in the country since 1900 and had an extensive acquaintance with the people of Red Lake county. Since taking charge of the Merchants State Bank, Mr. Hansen has showed marked ability, and the increased deposits and business of the bank during the past year show that he has the confidence of the people and plenty of business ability. Mr. Hansen also has strong financial backing so that he will be able at any time to finance any deal that might come up in the business affairs of this community. The stockholders and depositors are also assured that under his management the affairs of both banks will be so run as to render their interest absolutely safe and secure.

B. E. Burkee, the present cashier of the First State Bank, will continue in his position as cashier, while K. O. Gigstad will continue to officiate as cashier at the Merchants State Bank.

It is possible that in the future the two banks may be consolidated, into one stronger and larger institution but that remains for the future to decide. For the present THE SPECTATOR wishes to join with its readers in wishing Mr. Hanson and both banks a decided success.

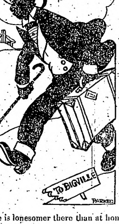
Why Do Country Boys Flock to Big Cities?



Most small towns are short of young men. As a rule there, are plenty of agreeable girls who would not object to matrimony; there are plenty of old people and enough babies to go around. But the boy—oh, where is he?

The boy, the young man, has gone to the city, where he imagines there are opportunities. To him the old home town is dull and stupid. He sees no future for himself there. Both for social and financial considerations he rushes off to the great city. Very frequently he finds that he is lonesomer there than at home—nearly always so; and even more frequently he finds that riches do not grow on ten story walls.

BUT STILL HE GOES TO THE CITY.

In going there the boy simply follows his daddy's dollars. For years his daddy and his mother and his big sister and his Aunt Mary Ann have been mailing their money to the big city for Mail Order bargains.

Result: Home merchants don't thrive, grass grows in the streets, no jobs are to be had, no opening for a new business, and the young man goes to the city because it is a place where people have traded at home and built up their own community and provided opportunities for outsiders as well as for themselves.

IF YOU WANT TO KEEP YOUR BOY AT HOME BUILD UP YOUR TOWN SO THAT HE CAN BUILD UP HIS CAREER AMONG HIS HOME FOLKS.

WILL BE BETTER THAN A CIRCUS.

Fine Amusement Program at the Next State Fair.

C. M. Griggs of the state fair board, who is chairman of the committee on amusements, is home from a trip to Chicago and other points, where he has been in touch with the best things now obtainable for amusement features, and is ready to announce practically the complete program of specialties for the fair of 1907.

Mr. Griggs has engaged, in addition to the standard racing program, the ladies' relay riding race, the airship and balloon ascensions each day and evening and the Jericho spectacle each evening. So many first-class things have been secured that it is probable that two platforms will be used and two performances will be going on simultaneously in front of the grand stand most of the time afternoon and evening.

One of the great specialties secured is a troupe of eight Bedouin Arabs who are expert acrobats. These are genuine Arabs, wearing the costume of the desert. Accompanying the Arabs will be Shields and Rogers, expert horseback riders, who will do a thrilling lassooing act. The Jackson family will put on a high class bicycle act.

A very good act will be presented by Willis and Hassan, equilibrists. Their specialty is head balancing with ladders. Some fine work in the contortion line will be presented by La Carmontella, an Italian contortionist, and "Norman the Frog Man," so-called because of his ability to assume the most grotesque shapes and positions. More acrobatic work will be given by the Glinserrattis, a very strong company. The Salviggis, a band of five people, will do some clever dancing.

Comedy will be represented by Fink's mules; Marzella and Mallay, who do a comedy bar act and a comedy wrestling match, and the Johnny Jones Country circus, a laughable enterprise, in which goats, pigs, geese, dogs, cats, donkeys and other domestic animals take a prominent part.

Something above the average in trained animal show will be seen in Howard's dogs and ponies. They put on an act in which a man and a woman and four dogs and four ponies participate.

Several fine acts will be of the aerial class. The Zamora family is regarded as the finest trapeze troupe, and the Weitzmans are the premiers of the high wire. Diavolo, the high diver, will descend from an immense height and disappear in a lake of fire. As a matter of fact Diavolo passes through the fire into a great basin of water, but as the water is not very deep it adds rather than subtracts from the danger of the leap.

Most sensational of all the acts, however, is the marvelous automobile which not only leaps a great gap after descending a steep incline at high speed, but turns a complete somersault in the air before reaching the ground. The chauffeur remains in his place during the thrilling descent and reaches the earth in perfect safety, seated comfortably in the front seat of the machine.

REMEMBERS ROYALTY.

Secretary of State Sends Blue Books to Europe.

A novel method of demonstrating to the monarchs of Norway, Sweden and Germany that their former subjects are prospering and taking a hand in the government of their adopted land has been adopted by the secretary of state and his predecessor in that office, Peter E. Hanson of Litchfield. They have sent to the monarchs of these countries copies of the 1907 blue books, bound in Turkish morocco, gold inlaid and with the names of the monarch on the covers also inlaid in gold. One was sent to Emperor William of Germany, another to King Haakon of Norway and the third to King Oscar of Sweden.

The books contain the names of the state officers and members of the legislature for the last and all previous sessions, as well as the state officials since the organization of the state, and these lists contain the name of many men whose place of birth or that of their parents was in one of those countries. While the fact that many of their former subjects and their posterity have become prominent in this country and particularly in the Northwest is of course a matter of general knowledge in those countries, it was thought that the information contained in the handsomely bound blue books would be a pleasant reminder of this fact. The pictures contained in the book of the new capitol and the buildings comprising the various state institutions will also serve to increase the value of the gifts.

SEEKS UNIFORM LABELS.

Dairy and Food Commissioner Home from Washington.

E. K. Slater of the dairy and food department has returned from Washington and the East, where he conferred with the national food department and the manufacturers of foods regarding the use of labels. His idea was to secure the adoption of a label that would be uniform and at the same time conform to both the national and the state law.

Mr. Slater brought back with him many samples of labels, and these are now being examined as to their possible use in this state. Mr. Slater's desire is to cause the manufacturers as little expense and trouble as possible in the observance of the laws. A uniform label will go far to bring this about. At Washington Mr. Slater saw Dr. Wiley and a lengthy conference was had on the label question.

It may take one or two months before the regulations regarding the use of labels are ready for distribution.

STATE DEBT DWINDLES.

Another Block of $50,000 Will Be Retired, Reducing Balance to $600,000.

Another $50,000 worth of Minnesota funding bonds have been selected for payment, reducing the total amount of bonded debt outstanding to $600,000, which will undoubtedly all be paid in four years, so that on Jan. 1, 1911, the state will be free of all bonded indebtedness.

The bonds to be paid were selected by lot, the numbers of the outstanding bonds being written on slips of paper and placed in a hat. In the presence of State Treasurer C. C. Dinehart and the state auditor, Frank A. Day, representing Gov. Johnson, drew the numbers from the hat, and the owners of the bonds corresponding in numbers to the numbers drawn will be notified to present them for redemption. The bonds are owned mostly by Eastern savings banks, although some of them are held by the state trust funds.

The law provides that the bonds may be redeemed at the rate of $150,000 a year, and in order to make this possible a tax of two-tenths of a mill is levied, the money derived from this tax being credited to the funding tax fund. When the money on hand in this fund becomes sufficient to redeem the bonds in blocks of $50,000 the drawing takes place and the bonds selected are called in and paid. In his last annual report the state auditor stated that on Jan. 1, 1911, the last of the state bonded debt, which grew out of the railroad bond issue of 1858, will have been extinguished.

BUTTER CROP WILL BE SHORT.

Shipments Are 40 Per Cent Less Than Last Year.

The butter movement in the Eastern market at present through St. Paul is about 40 per cent less than it was a year ago. This is usually the heavy period of the butter traffic, but owing to the late season there is a big slump in the product and the prospects are that the butter output in Minnesota and other Northwestern states will be short this year.

It is stated that some of the farmers in the northern part of the state have cut down their herds. There has been no grass for the cattle and the farmers have been compelled to buy feed. In order to do this and have fewer heads to feed the farmers have been shipping their cattle to the slaughter houses.

It is stated that it will be the latter part of June before the flush of the making season, which will be fully a month later than usual. The herds, it is stated, will not be able to pick up before the chilly season sets in, which will mean that the season's output will be comparatively small.

As an indication of the decreased output creameries that usually turn out seventy-five tubs are now shipping out only forty tubs.

There has been an enormously large crop of eggs this season, but little of the commodity is shipped to the Eastern market. The storage capacity in the Twin Cities has been greatly increased and local dealers are holding the product until Eastern market conditions are more favorable.

FARMERS MUST PAY TAXES.

Elevator Company Not Liable for Grain in Storage.

An elevator company is not subject to taxation on grain stored by it for farmers, as the grain belongs to the farmers and not the elevator, according to a decision handed down in the supreme court in the case of the Northwestern Elevator Company vs. The State of Minnesota. The Northwestern Elevator company operates an elevator at the Minnesota Transfer, in which there were 30,000 bushels of wheat May 1, 1905. An attempt was made to collect from the company a personal property tax of nearly $1,000, based on its ownership of the wheat. The company claimed it did not own the wheat, but was holding it in store for the owners. The judgment obtained by the state in the lower court was modified to $250, personal property taxes on the office furniture, fixtures, etc.

LAND IS IN DEMAND.

School Tract Sale at Bemidji Promises to Be Big.

The opening sale of state and school lands which is to be held at Bemidji on June 18 promises to be the best sale ever held in the county. About 20,000 acres of choice lands will be sold at that time. The state auditor writes that he is daily receiving inquiries as to Beltrami county lands, and that a number of outside buyers are looking forward to this sale. The experiment made by Mankato men in the raising of sheep in this vicinity has attracted much attention and it is expected a number of farmers in Beltrami and Clearwater counties will take up this branch of farming.

IS STATE ORGANIZATION.

The horseshoers and wagonmakers of the southern part of the state to the number of 100, at a meeting in Mankato, decided to change from a Southern Minnesota to a state organization, and the name accordingly was changed.

Twenty-five new members were taken in, bringing the membership up to 225. Addresses were made by Jesse Gregg of St. Paul, Harry Gregg of Minneapolis and Fred W. Dutch of Sioux City.

The new schedule of prices announced six or eight weeks ago took effect Saturday. The raises have been made necessary because of the increase in the cost of labor and material.

SORES AS BIG AS PENNIES.

Whole Head and Neck Covered—Hair All Came Out—Cured in Three Weeks by Cuticura.

"After having the measles my whole head and neck were covered with scaly sores about as large as a penny. They were just as thick as they could be. My hair all came out. I let the trouble run along, taking the doctor's blood remedies and rubbing on salve, but it did not seem to get any better. It stayed that way for about six months; then I got a set of the Cuticura Remedies, and in about a week I noticed a big difference, and in three weeks it was well entirely and I have not had the trouble any more, and as this was seven years ago, I consider myself cured. Mrs. Henry Porter, Albion, Neb., Aug. 25, 1906."

The Valuable Thumb.

"Solomon says thumbs up," because the thumb is said to be worth fully one third the entire value of the hand. The different fingers are far from having all the same value before the eyes of the law.

Much the most important among them is the thumb; for without it the hand no longer is a pincers, but merely a claw. The French court allows in damages 15 to 35 per cent value for the right and 10 to 15 per cent for the left thumb. The Austrian schedule gives from 15 per cent for the left to 35 per cent for the right. In Germany 20 to 28 per cent, and even as high as 33.3 per cent has been awarded.

The percentage is based on 100 as the total value of the hand, industrially speaking, before the accident.

Largest Leather Belt.

In the equipment of the Dempsey Lumber company's new sawmill at Tacoma, Wash., is the largest single leather belt in the world. It is eighty-four inches in width, three-ply in thickness and weighs 2,300 pounds.

The belt is 114 feet long. It took the centers of the hides of 225 steers to make it, and each piece of this leather was separately stretched before being placed in the belt. In putting the belt together no pegs, rivets or fastenings of any kind were used except cement of the best quality, and the plies were cemented together under a hydraulic pressure of 250 tons.—Woodcraft.

CHILDREN SHOWED IT

Effect of Their Warm Drink in the Morning.

"A year ago I was a wreck from coffee drinking and was on the point of giving up my position in the school room because of nervousness.

"I was telling a friend about it and she said, 'We drink nothing at meal time but Postum Food Coffee, and it is such a comfort to have something we can enjoy drinking with the children.'

"I was astonished that she would allow the children to drink any kind of coffee, but she said Postum was the most healthful drink in the world for children as well as for older ones, and that the condition of both the children and adults showed that to be a fact.

"My first trial was a failure. The cook boiled it four or five minutes and it tasted so flat that I was in despair but determined to give it one more trial. This time we followed the directions and boiled it fifteen minutes after the boiling began. It was a decided success and I was completely won by its rich delicious flavour. In a short time I noticed a decided improvement in my condition and kept growing better and better month after month, until now I am perfectly healthy, and do my work in the school room with ease and pleasure. I would not return to the nerve-destroying regular coffee for any money."

ODD MUSEUM FREAKS

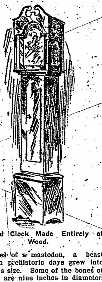
In the Kansas City museum are the skull bones of an unknown beast that was 400 feet long and 60 or 80 feet high. The skull in the museum weighs 440 pounds, is seven and a half feet in diameter, and from the tip of the nasal bone to the top of the head the distance is 12 feet. The eye sockets are four feet across. The brain cavity will hold half a bushel. A portion of a rib of this animal found near the skull is 14 feet long. From this a section seven feet long had been broken. Perhaps the rib was even longer when it was intact.

"Naturalists have been unable to name this animal," an attendant at the museum said. "They say that, judging from proportions, it must have been 350 or 400 feet long and 60 or 80 feet high. Think of an animal more than a block long and as high as some four-story business buildings. The skull of this beast was found on Little Bear creek in the Cherokee strip in September, 1893. R. H. Phelps of Wichita, Kan., found a part of the rib protruding from a sandbar. An excavation was made and the remainder of the animal was exhumed."

In another section of the museum are several teeth from the head of a mammoth. These bits of bone are a foot tall and about two feet wide. One of them will weigh more than 50 pounds. They were found in Oklahoma.

And then there are "samples" of another animal, a smaller one. These are bones of a mastodon, a beast which in prehistoric days grew into enormous size. Some of the bones of its body are nine inches in diameter. One of its teeth is as large as the crown of a man's hat. These bones were found in an excavation at Second street and Lydia avenue June 27, 1900.



The Old Clock Made Entirely of Wood.

But the bones of animals are only one of the fascinating displays at the museum. There are oriental collections, Egyptian relics, Indian pieces. There are birds, beasts, insects, fossils—curios in endless numbers. It would take a person a week to examine the Indian curios alone. The arrow-heads, tomahawks, pipes, beadwork moccasins, are there in hundred lots. One little beaded belt, made by a Crow Indian woman, is said to be the finest piece of work ever seen in the west. The belt is about two inches wide, the body of buckskin. It is covered with thousands of colored beads, worked in so that they show a series of American Beauty roses.

There are arrow heads in the museum, collected all the way from New York to San Francisco. There is one large display of them, gathered in and around Kansas City. They were made many years ago by the Wyandotte, Shawnee and Creek tribes. Some old mortars and pestles, used by the Indians around this section of the west for preparing food, are also on display in the museum. They seem so odd and crude.

"One old relic of which we are very proud," said the custodian of the museum, "is this old Seth Thomas clock, made in Plymouth. It is one of the old grandfather's' variety, a clock made entirely of wood. Its cogwheels are of wood, its regulator of wood. With the exception of the hands and a few wires used as pins there is no steel or iron in it. There are few of these clocks in existence."

One of the rarest collections in the museum is the property of Mrs. Clark Salmon, obtained from the orient. Carved ivory and mahogany images, trinkets in endless variety are in it. One rosary in the collection was blessed by Pope Leo XIII.

Belonged to Him.

"She was my woman. I had a right to kill her." Morose and sullen, Max Kredich declared this in the Butler (Pa.) county jail the other day while he was awaiting trial for the murder of his wife. "I go free," protested the wife slayer, when the prospect of his trial was suggested. "It's none of their business." When he struck down his wife in their home at Lyndora last December, half a dozen boarders in his house strove to restrain him from abusing the little woman for an hour before he broke her neck with a blow of his bulky fist. Then he went at them with a butcher knife, shouting, "It is nobody's business if I kill her."

A Big Sturgeon.

The largest sturgeon which has ever been landed at Aberdeen, was exposed for sale recently, at the fish market. The fish was caught by a local trawler, at the northern fishing grounds, and when weighed at Aberdeen turned the scale at 560 pounds. It was nine feet three inches in length, by about five feet in girth, and was sold by auction. Bidding was keen, and at £9 5s the sturgeon was knocked down.

MOTHERHOOD

The first requisite of a good mother is good health, and the experience of maternity should not be approached without careful physical preparation, as a woman who is in good physical condition transmits to her children the blessings of a good constitution.

Preparation for healthy maternity is accomplished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from native roots and herbs, more successfully than by any other medicine because it gives tone and strength to the entire feminine organism, curing displacements, ulceration and inflammation, and the result is less suffering and more children healthy at birth. For more than thirty years has been the standby of American mothers in preparing for childbirth.

MRS. JAMES CHESTER

Note what Mrs. James Chester, of 427 W. 35th St., New York says in this letter:—Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—"I wish every expectant mother knew about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. A neighbor who had learned of its great value at this trying period of a woman's life urged me to try it and I did so, and I cannot say enough in regard to the good it did me. I recovered quickly and am in the best of health now."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is certainly a successful remedy for the peculiar weaknesses and ailments of women.

It has cured almost every form of Female Complaints, Dragging Sensations, Weak Back, Falling and Displacements, Inflammation, Ulcerations and Organic Diseases of Women and is invaluable in preparing for Childbirth and during the Change of Life.

STILL ATTACKING ORCHARD'S STORY

DEFENSE ATTEMPTS TO DISCREDIT TESTIMONY OF ASSASSIN.

FIENDISH PLOT REVEALED

ORCHARD PLANNED TO BLOW UP BOARDING HOUSE WITH 150 INMATES.

Boise, Idaho, June 8. — Harry Orchard crowned his admissions of grave crimes yesterday when continuing his case against William D. Haywood he made an explicitly detailed confession of the murder of Frank Steunenberg by an infernal machine. This confession opens the way for his own conviction and execution for the offense. He swore that the assassination of Steunenberg was first suggested by Haywood, was jointly plotted by Haywood, Moyer, Pettibone and himself, was financed by Haywood and was executed by himself after the failure of an attempt in which Jack Simpkins had participated.

Victims Number Eighteen.

Orchard increased the total of his own murdered victims to eighteen, detailed the circumstances under which he tried to murder Former Governor Peabody, Judge Goddard, Judge Gabbert, Gen. Sherman Bell, Dave Moffat and Frank Herne. Incidentally he confessed to a plot to kidnap the child of one of his former associates. Then under cross-examination by the defense Orchard confessed to the guilt of sordid social crimes, of deserting his young child and wife in Ontario, fleeing to British Columbia with Hattie Simpson, the wife of another man, and committing bigamy by marrying a third woman at Cripple Creek.

Orchart Given Hard Grilling.

Boise, Idaho, June 9. — Counsel for William D. Haywood continued their attack on the testimony of Harry Orchard at both sessions of the trial yesterday. To the extent that traffic with "the other side" in the war of labor and capital in Colorado was discreditable, they succeeded in discrediting the witness.

Employed by Detective.

Taking up the admission that Orcard made on direct examination that he has been treacherous to his comrades in Cripple Creek by tipping off a train wrecking plot, they developed the fact that Orchard had entered the employ of D. C. Scott, who had charge of the railway detectives. He said that he had agreed to report to Scott, but that he was lying to him, never intending to make reports to him and never did make reports.

The defense also tried to show that because he stood in with the other side Orchard was never molested by the militia in Cripple Creek during the strike.

More Crimes Admitted.

Orchard admitted that Scott had told him that if the militia interfered with him he was to send for him, and that the militia never did interfere with him or search his house.

More crimes, great and small, were admitted by Orchard yesterday. The Cripple Creek woman with whom he committed bigamy had three sons; Orchard stole high grade ore from a messmate; he stole two cases of powder from the Vindicator mine; he stole powder to make one of the bombs thrown into the Vindicator coal pile and he told a lie.

Orchard stood the test and strain well and held tenaciously to the story he related yesterday and the day before.

Say Orchard Had Motive.

Boise, Idaho, June 11.—Harry Orchard made four admissions Saturday on the stand fo rthe prosecution in the trial of W. D. Haywood for the murder of Gov. Steunenberg, of Idaho, in which the defense claims to have thrown light on his motive for killing Steunenberg and of his relations with the mine owners as opposed to the Western Federation of Miners. The defense intimates that Orchard was a spy of the mine owners, committing crimes to throw the federation into disrepute.

Harry Orchard admitted that since his imprisonment he has been writing a story of his life.

Admitted by Orchard.

The defense claims it is from this embellished story, not from his simple recollection of facts, that he is testifying.

Orchard admitted that he has secured money since his incarceration in prison. The defense intimates it has come from the mine owners, who were interested in his deeds.

Orchard admitted he would have been a rich mine owner if Gov. Steunenberg had not driven him from Idaho. In this the defense sees a motive for his act in killing the governor.

Orchard added the crime of arson to his long list of admitted acts of outlawry.

Defense Is Satisfied.

When court adjourned Harry Orchard, the chief witness for the prosecution, heaved a sigh of relief that seemed to come from the bottom of his soul. For four days he has been on the witness stand relating a story of crime unparalleled in the court history of the country. The last two days he has been under the merciless cross-examination of attorneys for the defense, and though he has borne up wonderfully and his story in the main remained unshaken the ordeal was more than any human being could have withstood unmoved.

The defense professes to be satisfied.

Counter Plot of Mine Owners.

Boise, June 12—Into the cross-examination of Harry Orchard yesterday, the counsel for Haywood repeatedly threw the suggestion of a great counter-conspiracy formulated and carried out by the enemies of the Western Federation of Miners, and indicated a determination to construct their main line of defense on that line.

They carried Orchard by slow steps and through the minutest details from the dynamiting of the Independence station down to the attempt on the life of Fred Bradley and his family, and in addition to a series of

on the credibility of the witness and the general probability of his stories, and preparing the way for their own testimony in rebuttal they sought to show that Orchard has a mania for boasting of the commission of crimes non-existant except in his own mind, and that he is testifying under the control and suggestion of Detective McParland.

They began yesterday by making it clear that as far as Orchard knew of his own knowledge Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone had nothing to do with the inspiration, planning and execution of the Vindicator explosion, and that Haywood and Moyer had nothing to do with the planning of the murder of Detective Gregory. Into stronger relief than had been the direct-examination they threw the utter depravity of the witness.

Denied by Orchard.

Orchard denied that mine owners or railway men had any part in the Independence station outrage; denied that he had a mania for confessing uncommitted crimes and denied that he is under the influence of McParland.

Two more crimes were brought home to Orchard yesterday. He confessed that he burned a cheese factory at Ontario to get $800 insurance and he confessed that he began his life of crime by selling cheese at short weight.

Still Attacking Orchard's Story.

Boise, June 13.—The attack of the Haywood defense on the testimony of Harry Orchard goes on unremittingly, and the witness will probably be continued on the stand for two full days more.

Yesterday began with the story of the dynamiting of Fred Bradley in San Francisco, and the defense made a long and determined effort to expose several features of it to doubt and improbability.

Orchard Stole Sheep.

Then the play went back to Denver for the winter of 1904-1905 and the spring that followed, and there was an extended effort to show that Orchard had practically no communication with the leaders of the federation; that he received no pay for the Bradley crime or anything else, and that with Steve Adams, in a period of extreme poverty extending over several months, he was reduced to the necessity of stealing a sheep from the Globeville stock yards that he might have food.

Orchard, to a laughing court room, seriously confessed that he stole the sheep, but stoutly denied that it was from necessity.

Money Came Regularly.

He insisted that all through that winter and spring he continued to draw money from Petttibone through Adams, and explained that if he did not see the federation leaders often it was because he was lying low to avoid capture for previous crimes.

This Globeville inquiry developed a more shocking crime. At this Denver suburb there was a diabolical plot—Orchard swore it was inspired by Max Mahalich; the defense claimed that Orchard was its author—to dynamite a boarding house where 150 non-union men lived.

Stole 600 Pounds of Dynamite.

In preparation for the murder en bloc, Orchard, Adams and a man named Joe Mahalich stole 600 pounds of dynamite. The crime was abandoned, Orchard said, because Haywood intervened and forbade him to have anything to do with it. Orchard, who confessed that he hesitated at no crime and took a hundred desperate chances in those he committed, made an interesting contribution to the psychological study of his personality when he called himself a coward. He said he was too cowardly openly to kill Judge Gabbert and said that he regarded all his acts as cowardly.

KILLED IN CAR WRECK.

Switching Brakeman Is Hurled Beneath Wheels of Train.

Watertown, S. D., June 8. — Bert Clements, aged twenty years, was instantly killed in the switching yards of the Minneapolis & St. Louis road. He was employed as a switching brakeman. The head car on which Clements was riding left the track and the lurch threw him between the two head cars, the second of which passed across the body, killing him instantly.

PEABODY IS THREATENED.

Former Governor of Colorado Gets Anonymous Letters.

Kansas City, June 9.—James H. Peabody, former governor of Colorado, who is here on business, said last night in an interview that since the Haywood trial in Boise began he had received several anonymous letters threatening his life. He said he had paid no attention to the letters, because they evidently did not come from responsible sources.

TRY TO DISCREDIT ORCHARD'S STORY

DEFENSE ATTEMPTS TO SHOW REVENGE WAS MOTIVE FOR CRIME.

MANY MEAN CRIMES SHOWN

Boise, June 13.—The defense yesterday carried the cross-examination of Harry Orchard down to the actual crime charged against William D. Hoywood—the murder of Frank Steunenberg—and assailed the testimony and the theory of the state resting upon it. The Steunenberg crime was reached at midday, and counsel for the defense directed the efforts to an attempt to cloud the earlier purposes and movements of Orchard with uncertainty and indefiniteness.

Kidnapping Plot.

The witness was carried over his long journey into North Idaho and his crimes there, including the plot to kidnap and hold for ransom the Paulson children. Orchard swore that David Coates, former lieutenant governor of Colorado, first suggested the kidnapping to Pettitbone and himself at Denver. Coates, who was in court, was asked to stand up for identification, and facing him, Orchard said he was the man.

Series of Mean Crimes.

Then the defense showed the witness in the commission of a series of mean crimes and reduced to poverty, in which he had to resort to pawnshop borrowing and theft to live for a long period.

Summoning it up, the defense wanted to know why, if he were in Idaho on a mission of murder for Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone, and with unlimited credit from them, he did not send to them for more money, instead of borrowing and stealing. Orchard replied that he was temporarily off the Steunenberg errand, and he did not want to send for more money until he could show that he was back to work.

Try to Show Motive for Revenge.

Lastly there came a showing that Orchard had borrowed $300 from Paulson, whose children he had gone north to steal, and that this was the money that actually paid his expenses when he went back to Caldwell on the final mission of murder. Swiftly reviewing his meetings with his old partners, who had meantime become rich, the defense asked the witness if, disappointed and angered at his own hard luck in selling out the Hercules mine when Steunenberg sent troops into North Idaho, he had not suddenly decided to get money from Paulson to take him to Caldwell, where he would murder the man whom he blamed for his misfortune. Orchard strenuously denied that this was his motive.

FIND NO TRACE OF UNKE.

Young Homesteader Believed to Have Gone Into Forest to Die.

Spooner, Wis., June 13.—Searching parties still are out penetrating the dense black spruce forest and swamps for Henry Unke, who disappeared from his claim shanty on the Rapid river about three weeks ago. William Unke has not given up hope of solving the mystery of his brother's death. Having repeatedly said that if he could not secure relief from tuberculosis it would be the best course to go into the black spruce, lie down and die, it is believed the missing man has acted upon this idea and that his body is in the forest.

BOAR ATTACKS FARMER.

Animal Rips Leg That Man Puts Over Fence of Pen.

Buffalo, Minn., June 13. — Frank Brown, a young farmer, was viciously attacked by a boar while climbing into the pen. He had thrown one leg over the fence when the boar rushed at him, ripping his limb badly. The flesh near the knee was penetrated about two inches in one place and several other bad wounds were sustained.

Mother Not a Murderer.

St. Paul, June 13. — Mrs. Minnie Galles, who was on trial in the district court for more than a week on the charge of killing her baby shortly after its birth, walked out of court last evening a free woman, the jury having returned a verdict of "not guilty."

Cannot Ride Free.

Hudson, Wis., June 13.—The North-Western Railway company has decided that its car shop employes here cannot legally have their friends accompany them on their annual excursion, June 15, unless full fare is paid to the company.

Former Police Gambler.

New York, June 13.—James Cannon, a former captain of police, who recently was dismissed from the force on charges of failure to close gambling houses in his district, is a fugitive from justice himself, charged with maintaining a gambling establishment.

Hit in Neck by Ball.

Racine, Wis., June 13.—William Sorenson, seventeen years old, is in a critical condition with small hopes of recovery, as the result of being hit in the back of the neck with a baseball.

RANDALL IS ELECTED DEAN

STATE FAIR SECRETARY SUCCEEDS LIGGETT, WHO RESIGNS.

Minneapolis, June 13.—W. M. Liggett resigned as dean of the agricultural college of the university at the meeting of the state board of regents yesterday and E. W. Randall, a member of the board and secretary of the Minnesota State Fair association, was elected as his successor.

Dean Liggett gave ill health as the cause of his resignation. The regents accepted the resignation, but appointed him superintendent of the experiment station at Grand Rapids, Minn. Supt. McGuire of the Grand Rapids station was transferred to the experiment station at St. Anthony Park as assistant in agriculture.

Following his appointment to the position of dean, E. W. Randall resigned from the board of regents.

Mr. Randall also announced that at the meeting of the state fair association this afternoon he will resign as secretary. He said that in order to do justice to his new position he must drop the work of the secretaryship of the association, which he has held for the last twelve years.

The chair of political science and economics at the university, made vacant by the resignation of Dr. W. W. Folwell, who is to receive a Carnegie pension, was filled by the appointment of Prof. J. H. Gray of the political science department of Northwestern university.

Dr. Edward Van Dyke Robinson, principal of the St. Paul Central high school was elected professor of economics. He will resign as principal of the St. Paul high school.

G. A. R. IN SESSION.

Forty-first Annual Encampment Is Opened in St. Paul.

St. Paul, June 13. — The forty-first annual encampment of the Minnesota department of the Grand Army of the Republic was opened in this city yesterday. The morning session was taken up with addresses and patriotic songs. Reports of the officers and committees took up the afternoon. The adjutant general's report showed that the Minnesota department made a net gain of 202 members and one new post during the year. The total loss from deaths and other causes amounted to 576. The total membership on Dec. 31, 1906, was 5,725.

The Women's Relief corps was also in session. Mrs. Martha Gordon of St. Paul was elected president.

FORK PIERCES CHILD'S EYE.

Son of Thomas Landers of Grand Chute, Wis., May Become Blind.

Appleton, Wis., June 13.—The four-year-old son of Thomas Landers of Grand Chute may become totally blind as the result of trying to untie a knot in his shoestring with a common table fork. The fork slipped and one of the tines pierced his right eye. A cataract formed and he has lost the sight of that eye, and the left eye has also become affected.

WIDOW ELOPES WITH ACTOR.

Wealthy Davenport Woman of 67 Marries Young Man of 27.

Davenport, Iowa, June 13.—A sensation has been created by the elopement of Mrs. Koch, a wealthy widow, sixty-seven years of age, with Constantin Muth Ackerman, twenty-seven years old, who has been playing leading roles with the German stock company here.

Dynamite House Burned.

Washburn, Wis., June 13. — The "dope house" at the plant of the Eastern Dynamite company, four miles from this city, was destroyed by fire, the fire being caused by combustion. The house was used for the mixing of sulphur, soda and pulp wood, which is used in the munufacture of dynamite.

Man Hit by Locomotives.

St. Paul, June 13. — August Hendrickson was probably fatally injured yesterday by being struck by two locomotives. He just left the roundhouse when he was struck by a passenger engine. He had scarcely time to recover when he was hit by a switch engine. His injuries are thought to be fatal.

Beveridge Principal Speaker.

Minneapolis, June 13.—The national conference of Charities and Corrections opened its session here last evening at the Minneapolis Auditorium. Senator Albert J. Beveridge was the principal speaker. The conference is one of the largest in the history of the organization.

Traced by His Trunk.

Prarie du Chien, Wis., June 13. — Betrayed by a peculiar mark on his trunk, James Beebe of Scott's Bluff, Neb., was arrested on a farm fourteen miles from Blue River, Wis., on a charge of kidnapping the thirteen-year-old girl whom he declared to be his wife.

Five Fishermen Drowned.

Seattle, Wash., June 13.—Five fishermen were drowned in a sudden squall yesterday, near Point Possession, twenty miles from Seattle. The men were caught in a sudden squall and their boats capsized.

Accused of Saloon Burglary.

Prairie du Chien, Wis., June 13. — Lawrence King was arrested at Postville, Iowa, by Marshal Lindner on a charge of burglary. He and an accomplice are said to have robbed a saloon in this city.

INVADERS DRIVEN OUT OF COUNTRY

SALVADOREAN ARMY DEFEATS FORCE THAT CAPTURED ACAJUTLA.

AMERICAN LEADER CAPTURED

INVADERS RANSACK AND LOOT TOWN BEFORE BEING DRIVEN OUT.

City of Mexico, June 13.—According to a cablegram received late yesterday afternoon the Salvadorean army has defeated the invading force which captured Acajutla Tuesday and has driven it back to the coast. One of the leaders of the invading army was John Moisant, a former resident of San Francisco and an American citizen. He is reported to have been captured. The cablegram follows:

"Revolutionary forces under Rivas defeated in an attack on Sonsonata to-day, and driven back to Acajutla. Juan Moisant reported among the captured. —Figuerea."

It is reported on good authority that troops are ready to invade Salvador from three sides.

News Reaches Washington.

Washington, June 13.—The Salvadorean minister here, Senor Meja, received a cablegram from President Figuerea, dated yesterday at San Salvador, as follows:

"Government troops met the revolutionists at Sonsonata, a town forty miles from Acajutla, and routed them, driving them back to Acajutla, where they are now trying to embark."

The gunboat Yorktown is expected to arrive at Acajutla to-day.

At 11 o'clock last night Minister Mejia received a second cablegram from President Figuerea announcing that the revolutionists had ransacked the town of Sonsonata before they were driven from the village by the government troops.

Believes Loss Is Heavy.

The soldiers entered the custom houses, several governmental offices, the branch offices of the Occidental and Salvadorean banks and many private residences.

After being routed they fled to Acajutla, where the government offices and banks were also ransacked, and boarded a Nicaraguan steamer. Minister Mejia believes that many of the revolutionists were killed in the battle at Sonsonata.

METCALF IS SAFE.

Missing Secretary Reported Safe by Admiral Evans.

Washington, June 13.—After a night of conflicting reports regarding the whereabouts of Secretary of the Navy Metcalf and party, Rear Admiral Evans stated that Secretary Metcalf had returned to the Dolphin yesterday and that the Dolphin, with the secretary and party aboard, will leave for Washington Thursday morning.

Secretary Metcalf and party left Norfolk on the lighthouse tender Maple Tuesday to go to Jamestown island, and their failure to reach that place caused considerable anxiety.

PUTS BAN ON ALL SPORT.

Injunction Against Sunday Ball Extended and Made Permanent.

Albert Lea, Minn., June 13.—There will be no more Sunday ball playing on the fair grounds just outside the city, as Judge Kingsley has made permanent the injunction secured a fortnight ago. The court held that it is clearly unlawful to play ball anywhere on Sunday, and the decision also makes hunting, fishing, running launches, etc. offenses under the Sunday observation statute.

FIND CHILD DEAD IN PIT.

Girl Is Suppoaed to Have Fallen From Load of Sand.

Yankton, S. D., June 13.—The six-year-old daughter of Barney Hecker has been found dead in a sandpit, with a gash in the head. It is supposed the child fell from a load of sand that was being hauled by a hired man, as a few minutes before a number of children met the load and climbed upon it.

EXPLOSION INJURES THREE.

Air Tank Explodes in Plant of Stillwater Thresher Factory.

Stillwater, Minn., June 13.—The explosion of an air compressing supply tank at the thresher company caused the injury of three men. The main floor of the machinery building was blown upward by the force of the explosion. The flying boards struck several men.

Explorer Killed by Fire.

Berne, Switzerland, June 13. — The government has received information of the murder in the Hinterland of Liberia of Walter Volz, a Swiss explorer. He was captured by natives, fettered and imprisoned in a hut, in which he was burned alive.

Powder Mill Blows Up.

Fort Smith, Ark., June 13. — The Corning mill of the Equitable Powder plant, five miles from Fort Smith, exploded yesterday. One man was killed. The loss is estimated at $50,000.

SUMMER CAPITOL IS OPENED

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT IS NOW LOCATED AT HIS SUMMER HOME.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 13.—President Roosevelt and his family are now at Sagamore Hill. The trip from Washington, which was begun yesterday morning in a drizzling rain, ended in sunshine at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. At Jersey City and Long Island City crowds surrounded the car, shouting greetings to the president, and when the train drew in here the station platform was thronged with neighbors.

After the president and Mrs. Roosevelt had shaken hands with every one, the family was driven to Sagamore Hill.

The only official announcement of the day is that the president has come to Oyster Bay to spend the three and a half months of his vacation in quiet and rest, as near as may be. The president will not be accessible to callers who have not previously made appointments.

Before dark last night the executive offices were equipped with telegraphic and telephonic connections, and the summer capital may be said to be fully established.

68, BUT PERFECTLY WELL.

The Happy Experience of a New Castle, Pa., Woman.

Mrs. John Mansell, 614 So. Jefferson St., New Castle, Pa., says: "For years I was running down with kidney trouble without knowing what it was, and finally got so bad I was given up. The urinary passages were painful, sometimes scanty and again very profuse. My limbs, feet and ankles bloated dreadfully, and sometimes my whole body. My heart palpitated and I had smothering spells. A week's treatment with Doan's Kidney Pills helped me and a few boxes cured me. At 68 I am strong and well."

Test of an Egg.

His Honor Judge Addison, who died this week, had once to deal with the problem "When does an egg become stale?"

The plaintiff suggested that in summer eggs became stale "about a week after they came to market," but the judge declared that the real test of an egg's staleness was the moment it became fit for use at a contested election.

A Good Way.

"Ladies," said the male speaker at the suffrage convention, "there is a way out of all your troubles. There is an easy method by which the foot of tyrant man may be lifted from you."

There was a murmur of applause and then breathless interest.

"Just move to Colorado," continued the speaker.

Then they remembered that the West had agents out to drum up population.

ECZEMA COVERED BABY.

Worst Case Doctors Ever Saw—Suffered Untold Misery—Perfect Cure by Cuticura Remedies.

"My son, who is now twenty-two years of age, when four months old began to have eczema on his face, spreading quite rapidly until he was nearly covered. The eczema was something terrible, and the doctors said it was the worst case they ever saw. At times his whole body and face were covered, all but his feet. I used many kinds of patent medicines, to no avail. A friend teased me to try Cuticura. At last I decided to try Cuticura, when my boy was three years and four months old, having had eczema all that time and suffering untold misery. I began to use all three of the Cuticura Remedies. He was better in two months; in six months he was well. Mrs. R. L. Risley, Piermont, N. H., Oct. 24, 1905."

ARE MOMENTS OF ANXIETY.

Those Following Winning of Derby and Reasons Why.

The anxiety of owners of race horses competing in the Derby do not immediately end as the horses pass the judges. The fatal "objection" may snatch the laurels from the victor. The possibility discovered itself over Caractacus' race. The owner had striven in vain to get a jockey of repute.

His offer of a life annuity of £100 a year to Gostley in case of success had been declined. A stable boy named Parsons had eventually to be trusted and, to the surprise of the learned, he got the horse home, winning by a neck.

Going to the scale, the lad could not draw the weight. In breathless silence the bridle was sent for and that just enabled him to balance the scale. But now Lord Stamford appeared to object that only his own horse and two others had gone the full course.

The winner and the rest were already past the starting post when the flag fell. Admiral Rous looked at his watch. "Twenty minutes," he said. "An objection to hold good must be lodged within a quarter of an hour."

And so the stable boy's win passed into the records, but the owner of Caractacus declared that not for £1,000 a moment would he again endure the agony of that short period following the race.

AN OLD EDITOR

Found $2000 Worth of Food.

The editor of a paper out in Okla., said: "Yes, it is true when I got hold of Grape-Nuts food, it was worth more than a $2000 doctor bill to me, for it made me a well man. I have gained 25 pounds in weight, my strength has returned tenfold, my brain power has been given back to me, and that is an absolute essential, for I am an editor and have been for 35 years.

"My pen shall always be ready to speak a good word for this powerful nutritive food, I had of course often read the advertisements regarding Grape-Nuts, but never thought to apply the food to my own use, until, in my extremity and sickness the thought came to me that it might fit my case. The statements in regard to the food are absolutely correct, as I have proven in my own case. One very fortunate thing about the food is that while it is the most scientifically made and highly nourishing, concentrated food I have ever known, it has so delicious a taste that it wins and holds friends." Saturday June 15, 1907.

Yesterday, June 14th, was Flag Day, the 130th anniversary of the birth of the stars and stripes.

The crop prospects at present in Red Lake county are good—much better than an average at this time of the year.

Twenty-three hundred and odd names on the county seat removal petition would indicate that means a "skidoo" for one side or the other.

The new steel plant which will be built at Duluth have filed articles of incorporation. Its capital will be ten million and the filing fees amounted to over five thousand dollars.

By the way the railroads have been acting lately it is evident that they did not get all they had coming and it will require another legislature and some diastic legislation to bring them to their senses.

Attorney General Young is said to have invented a new lid which can be worn by any city or village in the state and is warranted to be moisture proof. This new lid is said to work, even at St. Paul.

An Adventurous Correspondent.

Few newspapers in the United States are able to command the services of as brilliant a corps of correspondents as The Chicago Record-Herald. Its choice of Walter Wellman to represent it at Washington is a good illustration of its wise policy of getting the best there is to be had. Mr. Wellman has won a national reputation as a magnetic and resourceful news writer. And now he is preparing to clinch his reputation for originality and daring by trying to reach the north pole in an airship.

Whatever may be the results of Mr. Wellman's daring attempt to reach the pole this summer in an airship and send the news of the voyage at once to The Record-Herald by wireless telegraphy, the Wellman-Record-Herald expedition is sure to be conducted by Mr. Wellman with the same cool courage and wholesouled enthusiasm that have made him an ideal newspaper correspondent.

Mr. Wellman was born in Mentor, Ohio, in 1858. At 14 he began his newspaper experience, establishing at that age a weekly paper in the little town of Sutton, Neb. In 1884 he became the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Herald, for which paper he visited the West Indies in 1892 and located the landing place of Columbus marking the spot with a huge stone monument. In 1894 he made his first dash for the pole, reaching the latitude of 81 degrees northeast of Spitzbergen. In 1898 he tried the same fascinating quest again, penetrating as far as Franz Josef Land. On both trips he had wonderful success in discovering new islands and securing new scientific data which have been of great value to the American Geographical Society. His voluminous writings for scientific periodicals and popular magazines have shown the same incisive thought and keen insight that have marked his journalistic work.

Nabs Another Fisherman.

Crookston Times: Deputy Game Warden Wm. Munch, of this city, nabbed another man who was illegally fishing and he was fined $10 and costs of the case at Twin Valley yesterday. D. Heiberg was arrested by Mr. Munch charged with fishing within 400 feet of a fish runway which is in the river at that place and he was tried before Justice Mason yesterday and fined $10 and costs of the case.

Not since this district has had a special game warden has there been less poaching and fewer cases of game law breaking than since Mr. Munch has had charge and he is the terror of the habitual game law breakers of the northwestern part of the state. He deserves a great deal of credit for the way he is handling his office.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of $16.70 which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Pierre Colomb and Lucie Colomb, his wife, mortgagors, to Wheeler-Misner Loan Co., a corporation, mortgagee, dated December 28th, 1904, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Red Lake, state of Minnesota, in book 33 of Mortgages on pages 606, 607 and 608, having been filed for such record January 9th, A. D. 1905, at 4 o'clock p. m.

Which said mortgage provides that if the mortgagors fail to pay interest on a prior mortgage therein mentioned for the principal sum of $1600.00 on the premises hereinafter described at the time the same shall become due under the conditions of said prior mortgage and the note secured thereby, then and in that event said mortgagee may pay such interest and have an additional claim and lien upon said premises therefor with interest on the amount so paid at the rate of 10 per cent per annum under the first above mentioned mortgage. That said mortgagors have failed to pay interest on said prior mortgage in the amount of $96.00 which became due December 28th, 1906, and the said mortgagee has paid said sum of $96.00 interest on said prior mortgage. That said first above mentioned mortgage also provides that in event the mortgagors shall fail to pay the taxes assessed against said premises before they become delinquent the mortgagee, in said mortgage might pay such taxes and claim an additional lien for the amount so paid with interest thereon at 10 per cent per annum under said mortgage. That said mortgagors in said first above mentioned mortgage failed to pay taxes assesed against said premises before the same became delinquent for the year 1904, and the said taxes amounting to the sum of $26.21 have been paid by the mortgagee in said first above mentioned mortgage, and said first above mentioned mortgage further provides that in event of the default on the part of the mortgagors therein in any of the terms or conditions thereof the whole sum secured thereby shall become due and payable at once. That the whole sum secured by said mortgage is the sum of $64.70 and said mortgagees have elected to and do hereby declare said sum to be due and in addition thereto said sum of $96.00 interest on said prior mortgage and interest thereon amounting to $2.50, and said sum of $26.21 taxes and interest thereon amounting to the sum of $3.40, in all amounting to the sum of $192.81; and no action or proceeding has been instituted at law, or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

That the premises described in and conveyed by said first above mentioned mortgage is the southwest quarter (SW¼) and the southeast quarter (SE¼) of the northwest quarter (NW¼) of section fourteen (14), in township one hundred fifty-one (151) north of range forty-five (45) west of the 5th P. M., in the county of Red Lake and state of Minnesota, subject to said prior mortgage of $1600.00.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said first above mentioned mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed thereby subject to said prior mortgage, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county at the front door of the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls, in said county and state, on the 30th day of July, 1907, at the hour of 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt of $192.81 and interest and taxes on said premises and $25.00 attorney's fees, as stipulated in said mortgage, and the disbursements allowed by law in case of foreclosure of said mortgage; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

PREMIUM BUTTER.

New York, June 11, '07.
Geo. L. Austin,
St. Hilaire, Minn.:
Shipment received. Ship full make regularly. Cent and three-quarters. Letter to follow.
W. I. Young & Co.

All of which means that a responsible New York firm will take the entire output of the creamery at one-and-three-quarters of a cent premium over the market price. This is an advance of one-half a cent over present prices and means about $150.00 a month increase on present output. The butter is now selling at top price and the credit is due Mr. Austin and also the patrons who bring in their cream in a first class condition.

GERVAIS.

Oscar Thyren, the cedar inspector and buyer for Page, Hill & Co. at Kelliher, arrived home last Saturday. He will spend about two weeks at home but will take up his work with the company on his return to that city Sept. 1.

Teacher's Meeting Postponed.

Owing to the conflict between the date set for the next meeting of the Teacher's Protective association and the date for the fire tournament at Red Lake Falls, and in view of the fact that the summer school begins only a week from that date, making it rather doubtful whether a good attendance could be secured, it is considered best to postpone the meeting until a later date.

The teachers attending the summer school can then decide as to what time would be most suitable for the meeting.

It is sincerely hoped that this arrangement will meet with the approval of the members of the association.

Noiseless Loom.

The loom whose busy shuttle is proverbial, is to become silent. A mechanism has been invented which propels the shuttle noiselessly across the shed, obviating the picking motion that makes the whirring sound. The new device works on much the same principle as does an orange seed shot out from between thumb and finger by pressure. The superior qualities of golden grain belt beer make it the ideal home beverage. It is pure, delicious and nourishing. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson, Crookston.

Petition Filed.

The petition for the removal of the county seat from Red Lake Falls to Thief River Falls was filed with County Auditor O'Brien at Red Lake Falls on Tuesday, June 11th. The petition contains 2342 names, or over five hundred more than the 60 per cent required by law. Auditor O'Brien acted upon the petition the same day and called the county board to meet on July 1st to consider the petition. Red Lake Falls has until that time to secure withdrawals.

Saw Mill Sold.

The saw mill building has been sold to the Red Lake Falls Milling company and will be taken down. Foreman Norman came up from Crookston on Tuesday and with a crew of ten men started at work tearing the building down. The planing mill or other buildings are not, we understand, included in the deal.

Broke Her Arm.

Miss Hilda Carlson, a deaf and dumb girl living on the west side of the track, fell Thursday morning while putting out clothes and broke her left arm between the elbow and wrist. Dr. Nelson was called and found a very bad fracture which he set and she is doing as well as can be expected.

HINT TO FLAX GROWERS

Within the past five years flax growing has been given an impetus which promises to make use of the fiber of the plant (a very much neglected feature in this country) as well as the seed: Thousands of dollars have annually passed into the farmers' hands for flax seed. For the most part this seed has been grown on new areas of our western prairies. During this entire period of reclamation however, there was hardly a thought given to the value of the fiber. The straw was considered a menace to the grain grower, and was burned. The manufacturer has luckily recognized the fact that twine and good linen cloth as well as other products such as insulating material etc., can profitably be made from the flax straw just as it is grown by the farmer. It is true that these manufactured products are not perfect, but the industries are sure to succeed and thereby create an enhanced interest in flax culture.

The part that the farmer is to play in the future flax industry in Minnesota is an important one and one not without grave dangers. Flax is subject to a disease known as Flax Wilt. This disease has been the cause of a loss of millions of dollars to the farmers of the world and has been exceedingly hard to combat. It is carried with the seed and is held in the soil for a number of years. It attacks the plants during all stages of growth and kills out a field in proportion to the degrees of infection. In the younger stages of the flax plant's growth the diseased plants wilt, die, turn brown and crumble in a very short time. In the latter stages of maturity the plants turn brown near the base of the stem, the initial point of infection, but do not wilt or necessarily succumb to the ravages of disease.

Until recently there was no known preventive for flax wilt, but Prof. Bolley of the North Dakota Experiment station, after several years of study, discovered that a formaldehyde treatment of the seed would prevent the disease if the soil upon which the treated seed is sown is free from the wilt. It is recommended therefore, that all flax seed be treated for the disease before sowing. The treatment is similar to the treatment of wheat for smut and is as follows:

1. Mix one pint of formaline with 45 gallons of water.
2. Thoroughly clean the seed with a good fanning mill.
3. Spread the seed upon a tight floor about five bushels at a time.
4. A sprinkling pot with a fine spray nozzle may be used to apply the solution. Use not more than ½ gallon of the solution to one bushel of grain.
5. While one man sprays the flax another man with an inverted hand rake should stir it rapidly to insure perfect contact of all seeds with the solution. Do not get the seed too wet or it will stick together.
6. After the seed is moist do not allow it to stand in a pile but spread out and stir rapidly until practically dry.

Extreme care must be taken to insure a perfect treatment. It takes but a slight amount of wilt to ultimately do much damage. If flax is to remain a success in Minnesota, the wilt must be held in check or prevented.

IMMUNE FLAX.

Many excellent areas have been given up, so far as flax culture is concerned, simply because of the wilt. It is to be hoped that the many sections in Minnesota in which flax may be profitably cultivated will not be compelled to give up flax growing on account of wilt. But the farmers will have to guard their movements carefully if the wilt is to be successfully combatted:

There are ways of holding off the evil day for a long period of years if not successfully preventing the attacks of wilt. Seed treatment, rotation of crops and the production of varieties immune to the wilt will accomplish this purpose. The first two can be put into practice at once but unfortunately there are no known varieties that are entirely immune, and it will take a long time to secure them by breeding. The Minnesota Number 25 Flax, distributed by the Minnesota Experiment Station in 1904 has shown some resistant qualities, but it is not what may be exactly called immune. This station has had attention called to some seed firms advertising this flax as an immune variety. This is a mistake and it is the main purpose of this article to correct this mistake. It is true that to a limited degree Minnesota Number 25 has stood up against wilt in some instances where other varieties have succumbed, but we have no assurance that it will consistently do so and are therefore not prepared to say that it is immune. Farmers who have bought this flax thinking it wilt-proof will perhaps be disappointed. If they get the pure Minnesota Number 25 flax seed they will do well to retain it in preference to any other variety. With trials on forty-eight farms in various parts of Minnesota, it has proved its worth and yielded an average of 3.1 bushels more per acre, or 25 per cent more than varieties commonly grown.

Farmers of Minnesota will do well to give greater care to the culture of flax for fiber: There is much in store for those who will study the local conditions with a view of producing what the market demands. With the development of the fiber industries and a ready market for flax seed at good prices, farmers should make use of the dual demand for the crop.

Georgia Minstrels.

Equipped with all the accessories of a first class organization, the Richards & Pringle's Famous Georgia Minstrels have "caught on" in the most emphatic fashion. The theaters are being literally tested to their capacity nightly. Although twenty-eight years have elapsed since this company was first organized, nothing which they have offered has given such satisfaction as the program they present this season. Visitors find so much entertainment that after two and a half hours of continuous fun they are loth to go.

A complete new show is offered this season which is full of ginger from start to finish.

Saturday, June 22, at the opera house is the date of their appearance in St. Hilaire.

The usual parade will be given at 11:30 a. m.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

Is acknowledged to be the most successful remedy in the country for those painful ailments peculiar to women.

For more than 30 years it has been curing Female Complaints, such as Inflammation, and Ulceration, Falling and Displacements, and consequent Spinal Weakness, Backache, and is peculiarly adapted to the Change of Life.

Records show that it has cured more cases of Female Ills than any other one remedy known.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound dissolves and expels Tumors at an early stage of development. Dragging Sensations causing pain, weight, and headache are relieved and permanently cured by its use.

It corrects Irregularities or Painful Functions, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility; also, Dizziness, Faintness Extreme Lassitude, "Don't care and want to be left alone" feeling, Irritability, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Flatulency, Melancholia or the "Blues." These are sure indications of female weakness or some organic derangement.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. for advice. She is the Mrs. Pinkham who has been advising sick women free of charge for more than twenty years, and before that she assisted her mother-in-law Lydia E. Pinkham in advising. Thus she is well qualified to guide sick women back to health. Her advice is free and always helpful.

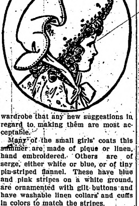
PURELY FEMININE

THE GIRL'S BONNET

IT HAS TAKEN THE PLACE OF THE LACE HAT.

Made of Linen and Pique and May Be Easily Laundered. Pretty Coats for the Daughters.

More than one mother will welcome the knowledge that the day of the befrilled, befurbelowed lace hat is over, and that its place has been taken by the simple and pretty linen and pique bonnets and hats, such as are pictured here. The fact that they may be often and easily laundered certainly adds to their attractiveness, and they are as dainty as they are practical.



In our changeable climate coats play so important a part in a child's wardrobe that any new suggestions in regard to making them are most acceptable.

Many of the small girls' coats this summer are made of pique or linen, hand embroidered. Others are of serge, either white or blue, or of tiny pin-striped flannel. These have blue and pink stripes on a white ground, are ornamented with gilt buttons and have washable linen collars and cuffs in colors to match the stripes.

Very smart also are the lingerie coats of sheer handkerchief linen, made on a white silk foundation, or pink. As these are not very practical for the mother of ordinary means, to whom laundry bills, much more those for dry cleaning, are an expense not lightly to be incurred, none has been drawn. The little coat in the center of the picture could, however, be easily made in sheer linen, embroidered in a floral design, and worn over a silk slip. These slips are only tacked to the outside and can readily be removed when the lingerie part is to be washed.

The season's bonnets are unusually charming and quaint. Most of them are in poke effects, trimmed with tight little bunches of garden flowers and ribbons. Others are in the cloche or mushroom shape, trimmed with a simple scarf and loop, while through the knot is stuck a tiny bunch of rosebuds. These little bonnets could be easily copied by a mother with even slight aspirations to millinery.

Fascinating bonnets are also shown of soft, open straw, bent in poke shape. The lingerie hat has by no means lost prestige, and many dainty embroidered or flounced ones are shown for the little tots; also very cunning sunbonnets of pique and linen.

Another model is of heavy but fine linen, with a novel motif in embroidery running down the front and across the bottom. These coats are expensive, even in Paris, where they cost 40 francs, but can easily be copied by a woman who embroiders, and at very little cost. The under collar has just the button-holed scallops. The quaint little hat is of the new cloche shape, in a pale yellow chip, trimmed with a white bow and a bunch of pink rosebuds.

Slashed Skirt Is in Vogue.

An original way of treating a skirt of cloth consists of slashing the cloth vertically above the hem all around the skirt in the form of numbers of narrow bands, two or three inches wide, the foundation of taffeta showing between the interstices.

Whether the lining is of the same color as the frock or not, the result is equally successful, chiefly when the cape collar or the bretelles boast of a similar ornamentation.

On the latest models of afternoon and evening frocks the waist line still remains noticeably high at the back, a fact which is somewhat unwelcome to the majority of women, as the empire cut, chiefly in its modified form, requires the master hand of the skilled couturier and the corsetiere, if the grace peculiar to it is to be preserved.

A garniture much in favor with dressmakers just now is the "rouleaute," a heavy, narrow roll of velvet, satin or cloth, yards of which are used upon numbers of afternoon and also evening gowns, to form large, fanciful designs, among which the key pattern ranks foremost.

Many of the costumes of striped material for midseason wear present a very becoming feature, eminently flattering to women of generous proportions. The two sides of the coat from under the arms downward are cut with the stripes disposed slantingly, thus accentuating the curve of the waist line, an illusion further enhanced by the disposition of the rest of the material, with the stripes placed contrastingly in a vertical fashion.

SKIRTS ARE LESS ORNATE.

Over-Trimmed Skirt of Early Spring Has Lost Its Vogue.

All walking skirts, whether in cotton cloth or silk, clear the ground by at least two inches and for these the plaited skirt in 7, 9 or 15 gores is preferred. The nine gore skirt seems to give best results. The circular skirt is used only for dressy costumes, which rest on the ground front and sides and have a slight train. The effort to force flounced skirts has failed. They are the privilege of the very slender tall young girl only. Also, the over-trimmed skirt, so much seen at the first opening of spring, has gone the way of the undesirable. Bias bands or folds of the same material; flat, demure looking ruchings on soft fabrics like net, chiffon, etc.; pipings or laces dyed to match the exact tone of the fabric; these alone are seen on skirts, and then laid very flat and on long, vertical lines.

For slender women a pretty skirt in linen, lawn or other wash material shows the gores separated by heavy insertion. Some panel effects are retained, notably lace panels dyed to match the fabric for front gores of princess gown. Fillet and Cluny lace are preferred for these panels to combine with voiles, crepes, silks and nets. Embroidery serves the same purpose for princess gowns of linen, batiste and other tub fabrics.

USE OF RIBBON.

Long Trains in Vogue.

Long trains on room gowns are again in evidence. For a time, like the street frock, the negligee, no matter how elegant it was, appeared with a clipped train which robbed it of the majestic influence over other robes of less importance. Graceful lines are obtained in graduated flounces that widen toward the back and form a fan-like train. As much elaboration in the way of lace frills, ruchings and the like as one desires may be introduced in the trimming of the long trained gown.

Make Old White Skirts Good.

If the bottom of the skirt is worn out cut off the frayed portion, all around, turn in a seam and stitch around the bottom. This will be the work of a few moments, comparatively. Only shrunk cotton should be used.

If this cutting off and turning in will make the skirt shorter than desirable, the next step will be to put on a lace edge. The lace need only be one of those excellent cotton imitations, but it should be of the firm variety and less than a two-inch width will not be pretty. Or, if lace is not desired on the edge insertion may be put in just above the hem. Or a ruffle of embroidery may be used instead of lace. Shrink it first.

A Useful Short Coat.

Very useful is a short coat, when developed in white or dark blue serge or in one of the fashionable pin-stripes. The collars and cuffs are of blue linen, heavily braided. As they are basted, they may be easily taken off and washed. Big brass buttons are used in the double-breasted front.

No small girl can afford to be without a useful and stylish sunbonnet, especially if it be attractive. It is of pale pink linen, with a scalloped edge and big coin dots, hand-embroidered in white. The crown is stitched, but may also be scalloped around the edge. It should also have buttons and buttonholes, so that it can be removed when laundered. The ties are of soft white mull.

Adjusting the Veil.

The adjustment of the veil is quite other than formerly. Now that the weight of the hat is all toward the back and downward drooping it gives a contrary line if we continue to draw the tulle tightly under the chin and up over the back of the head to knot at the crown. Instead the veil must be drawn across the front of the hat and downward, knotting at the base of the brain. The lower edge of the veil in front comes just to the base of the chin and hangs straight from the hat and quite away from the profile, not shooting out, but not touching the face. This lifts easily and tucks over the hat brim when tea hour comes aro

AFRAID OF PARALYSIS

A NERVOUS SUFFERER CURED BY DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS.

The Medicine That Makes Rich, Red Blood and Performs Wonders as a Tonic for the Nerves.

Why are nervous people invariably pale people?

The answer to that question explains why a remedy that acts on the blood can cure nervous troubles.

It explains why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are also for nervous people.

It is because of the intimate relation between the red corpuscles in the blood and the health of the nerves. The nervous system receives its nourishment through the blood. Let the blood become thin, weak and colorless and the nerves are starved—the victim is started on the road that leads to nervous wreck. Nervous people are pale people—but the pallor comes first. Enrich the blood and the nerves are stimulated and toned up to do their part of the work of the body. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make red blood and transform nervous, irritable, ailing people into strong, energetic, forceful men and women.

Mrs. Harriet E. Porter, of 20 Liberty avenue, South Medford, Mass., says:

"I had never been well from childhood and a few years ago I began to have dizzy spells. At such times I could not walk straight. I was afraid of paralysis and was on the verge of nervous prostration. Then neuralgia set in and affected the side of my face. The pains in my forehead were excruciating and my heart pained me so that my doctor feared neuralgia of the heart. I tried several different kinds of treatment but they did me no good.

"One day my son brought me some of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I found that they strengthened my nerves. I took several boxes and felt better in every way. There were no more dizzy attacks, the neuralgia left me and I have been a well woman ever since."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are invaluable in anæmia, rheumatism, after-effects of the grip and fevers and in sick headaches, nervousness, neuralgia, and even partial paralysis and locomotor ataxia.

NO SUCH RECORD OF TALK.

Fifty-ninth Congress the Most Talkative in the Country's History.

Completed records made by clerks of the senate and house show that the last congress — the Fifty-ninth—did more talking than any other in the history of the country. Their researches go back fourteen years, or to the Fifty-second congress. The latter congress filled 2,620 pages of the Congressional Record with its talk, as against 4,810 for the Fifty-ninth.

In the Fifty-second congress 10,323 bills were introduced, but the Fifty-ninth set a new figure with 25,897. The Fifty-second congress was in session 340 legislative days and passed 398 public and 324 private bills. The Fifty-ninth was in session 227 legislative days and passed 692 public and 6,248 private acts. Most of the measures known as private acts are for the correction of military records or the grant of pensions.

No congress ever passed the number of bills that were made into law as the Fifty-ninth. It appears that such a thing as a dishonorable discharge from the army or navy, uncorrected by legislative act will soon be a positive curiosity. Congress is not only generous to the national's fighting men in the matter of pensions, but it is also charitable in the matter of expunging from the records anything set down against their conduct.

STRONG EVIDENCE AGAINST HAYWOOD

STATE GETS IN LETTERS SHOWING PLAN TO DECEIVE MRS. ORCHARD.

DEFENSE FIGHTS DESPERATELY

TRIES TO SHOW THAT ORCHARD HAD VOWED HE WOULD KILL STEUNENBERG.

Boise, Idaho, June 15. — The men who are battling to save the life of William D. Haywood and the good name of the Western Federation of Miners made their greatest assault upon Harry Orchard yesterday, when, parrying the review by cross-examination of his life of crime down to his confession, they bitterly assailed his guiding motives. Six days they spent in stripping him before the jury of every shred of morality, and then, suddenly turning upon him in a final, fierce attack, they fought with every means known to the legal craft to convince the jury that Orchard was committing a crime away the lives of innocent men in the hope of saving his own. The carried their attack to the very language with which the witness answered their questions, and everywhere they alleged by forceful implication that it was put into his mouth by men controlling him.

In Falsely Swearing

Orchard broke down when the attorneys recited to him the tale of David and Uriah that Detective McParland related to him when he came seeking a confession.

He defended his motives by saying that he finally experienced conversion and had resolved to make all possible reparation by fully confessing all.

Hammered by Richardson.

He said that McParland said he was doing a great service for the state and that states were kind to men who served them. There was no other promise.

"You knew that if you confessed to the Steunenberg murder the state would put you out of the way?" hammered Attorney Richardson.

"Yes, sir."

"But somewhere along the line the thought came to you that you could get out of it by laying it on to somebody else?"

"No, sir; that was not the thought at all."

Was Afraid to Die.

And here it was that Orchard gave a remarkable explanation of the motives that impelled him to confess.

"I thought," he said, "of putting myself out of the way, but I thought over my past life. I did not believe in a hereafter at all; but I was afraid to die, and I thought at times that I had been such an unnatural monster—my crimes had been so great—that I would not be forgiven—"

"Who told you that?"

"No one."

"Who wrote that out for you?"

Inspiration From Bible.

"No one; but after I had been sent a Bible and had read it some I came to the conclusion that I would be forgiven if I made confession of everything."

"So you thought you would make your peace with the future by having somebody else hung, did you?"

"No, sir. I think any man can make his peace with the future if he wants to. I believe it was my duty to tell the truth. I did not see any other way, regardless of the consequences to myself or anybody else. I owed it to society, I owed it to God and to myself."

Immediately Orchard left the stand the state put on three witnesses from San Francisco to corroborate the Bradley poisoning story.

Adams Brought Into Court.

Boise, Idaho, June 16.—The prosecution in the Steunenberg murder trial yesterday, entering in earnest upon the substantiation and corroboration of Harry Orchard's testimony, showed a continuous thread of evidence connecting George Pettibone's store in Denver with Orchard at San Francisco engaged on the Bradley murder plot, partly developed another direct line by which it is hoped to show that Haywood engaged and paid Steve Adams for the same desperate work, and added special touches of confirmation to Orchard's general story.

Officials of the postoffices at San Francisco and Denver produced original records showing that in August, 1904, a registered letter was sent under the name of "J. Wolf" from the address of Pettibone's store in Denver to "J. Dempsey," at the Golden West hotel in San Francisco. Orchard swore that he stayed at the Golden West hotel under an alias that was either "Dempsey" or "Hogan;" that Pettibone used the aliases of "Wolf" and "Pat Bone," and that under the name of "Wolf" Pettibone, in the month mentioned, sent him a registered letter containing $100 to pay his expenses while engaged on the Bradley murder.

Tell of Arrest at Ogden.

Police officials of Ogden established the arrest there in June, 1903, of Steve Adams and A. T. Williams. When released through the influence of a detective they went straight to the office of the Western Union and sent a telegram to Haywood in Denver.

The defense headed off an attempt to get the contents of the telegram before the jury, but the state indicated that it would return to the charge later and further develop the incident when it has broadened its foundation.

Adams Identified.

The state got an order from the court directing the Western Union to produce its records showing that Haywood sent money to Adams at Ogden. When the Ogden testimony was introduced Steve Adams was brought into court under guard to be identified.

Besides its work on the Pettibone Orchard and Haywood-Adams line, the state produced several witnesses who confirmed features of Orchard's story as to the Bradley affair, the first descent into the Vindicator mine with the object the final success of the Vindicator plot, and the circumstances under which Detective Lyte Gregory was killed. Aside from its fight against the admission of all the evidence offered by the state on the general ground that it was in no way connected with the accused, the defense contented itself with showing that all of the witnesses had been located and interviewed by Pinkerton detectives, and that they had been given advances of expense money through Pinkerton agencies.

Of Doing Violence,

Strong Evidence Against Haywood.

Boise, Idaho, June 20.—The prosecution in the Steunenberg murder trial offered one of its most important pieces of evidence against William D. Haywood yesterday, when, recalling Harry Orchard for re-direct examination, it introduced and secured the admission of four letters tending to show that Haywood during the fall of 1905, when Orchard swears he was engaged on various crimes for the federation leaders, had participated in a plan to deceive Mrs. Orchard, the second, of Cripple Creek, as to the whereabouts of her husband.

Letters Falsely Dated.

Over a variety of protests from the defense Orchard was allowed to testify that early in the summer of 1905 Haywood told him that Mrs. Orchard was writing him for information as to Orchard's whereabouts. Orchard swore that he proposed that he should write his wife a series of letters that were to be falsely dated and delivered to Mrs. Orchard by agents of the federation.

The letters written by Orchard were commonplace and contained practically nothing bearing on the case or Orchard's testimony, except references to the arrangement which Orchard says he made with the federation officials for the care of his wife while he was absent.

To Show Conspiracy.

The state developed its contention that, as tending to show a conspiracy and knowledge of the Steunenberg crime, Orchard was, without any request from him, furnished with counsel within a few days after his arrest.

The defense examined Orchard on this subject and largely devoted itself to showing that the Western Federation of Miners always provided counsel for its members wherever and whenever they got into trouble.

To combat the theory that Orchard killed Steunenberg in revenge for his loss of a Valuable Interest

in the Hercules mine, the state on redirect examination obtained from Orchard a declaration that he sold his interest in the Hercules in 1897, two years before the strike and troops came.

There was a long contest over an unsuccessful effort by the state to show that the confession of Steve Adams had been voluntary.

At the opening of the morning session the defense asked Orchard a series of impeaching questions. They all dealt with conversations in which it was alleged Orchard recited his private grudge against Frank Steunenberg and vowed that he would kill him if he hanged for it. Orchard denies every query, both specifically and generally.

Bryce Is Called.

Ed Bryce, once president of the Western Federation of Miners, and now one of the owners of the rich Hercules mine, came after Orchard and was still on the stand when the court rose for the day. He was called to identify the Miners' Magazine as the official organ of the federation and to pave the way for the use as evidence of a great number of articles from the magazine.

JUMP FIRES GUN.

Boy Who Is Shot Loses Arm and May Not Survive.

Black River Falls, Wis., June 16. — Joseph Woldrick, sixteen years old, lost an arm and may lose his life as a result of the accidental discharge of a firearm. The boy was passing through the lumber yard at Millston, near here, and while jumping over a pile of boards the shotgun which he was carrying was discharged, the entire load passing through his arm.

LOST IN SPECULATION.

Banker Admits Misappropriation of $40,000.

Seymour, Wis., June 16.—A defalcation to the extent of $40,000, caused by the allurements of the Chicago wheat pit, is responsible for the arrest of Thomas C. Coghill, cashier of the First National bank of this city, who was taken into custody by a federal officer and removed to Milwaukee yesterday. Coghill has made a full breast of his misappropriation.

TELLS OF FINDING GODDARD BOMB

JUSTICE GODDARD OF COLORADO TESTIFIES IN THE HAYWOOD CASE.

ANOTHER TOUCH OF DRAMATIC

STATE OFFERS FURTHER CORROBORATION OF ORCHARD TESTIMONY.

Boise, Idaho, June 20. — The state yesterday made dramatic production and proof of the Goddard bomb, and besides offering further corroboration of the testimony of Harry Orchard against William D. Haywood, secured a ruling under which a number of denunciatory articles published in the Miners' Magazine, official organ of the Western Federation of Miners will be admitted in evidence.

To Justice Luther M. Goddard himself fell the task of telling the story of the finding and preservation for use as evidence of the bomb with which Orchard tried to kill him.

Adds Another Thrill.

His appearance on the stand added another to the many dramatic scenes that have characterized the trial, and his testimony was clear and minutely circumstantial. The veteran Colorado jurist testified that the first information that he received about the bomb came to him from Orchard's confession, which was shown to him at Denver on Feb. 13, 1906, by Detective McParland. He at once returned to his home and in his gate discovered the screw eyes which Orchard said he placed there.

Bomb Is Preserved.

The bomb was dug up the next day by Gen. Bulkely Wells, and with its attachment was taken to the office of the Pinkerton detective agency and carefully sealed in wrappers and envelopes that were signed by half a dozen witnesses, including Justice Goddard, and after that they were placed in a vault, to the door of which seals, including that of a notary public, were attached.

Senator Borah produced the several packets as they were originally sealed ~~and passed them to Justice Goddard,~~ who broke the seals and identified the who borke the seals and identified the articles.

Rules Against Defense.

The defense objected to all the evidence and all the exhibits, and moved to strike out everything, but the court ruled against them.

Mrs. Soward, at whose house in San Francisco Harry Orchard lived during part of the time he was conducting his operations against Fred Bradley, gave testimony strongly corroborative of Orchard's account of his acts and experiences in San Francisco.

2,000 APPLY FOR LAND.

Homeseekers Pour Into Billings to Share in Huntley Project.

Billings, Mont., June 20.—Although the influx of homeseekers into the city to register for lands in the Huntley project is not so great as the Crow Indian lands drawing attracted last year, yet many homeseekers are arriving daily and a big rush is anticipated next week.

Already approximately 2,000 persons have had their names placed in the big tin box at the registration office, and the officers in charge believe that when the office closes on the evening of June 15 the number will have reached 10,000 or 12,000. Letters of inquiry still are pouring into the registration office.

POLITICIAN IS ARRESTED.

Illinois Man Faces Charges of Criminal Libel, Extortion and Bribery.

Rock Island, Ill., June 20.—John Looney, politician, newspaper owner and lawyer, was arrested on thirty-four indictments containing charges of criminal libel, extortion, bribery, conspiracy to extort and to indict. With Looney are indicted Charles W. Neal of Davenport, Iowa, an attorney, and William H. Dilworth, editor of Looney's paper, the Rock Island News.

Boiler Explodes; Three Dead.

Florence, Colo., June 20.—The boiler of a Rio Grande locomotive blew up one mile east of Florence yesterday, killing Engineer Thomas Ewing, Fireman O'Brien and Brakeman Gooch, all of Pueblo. The train was wrecked and the track torn up for several hundred feet.

Wreck Near Spokane.

Spokane, June 20.—A wreck occurred yesterday on the Spokane & International railway near the Spokane bridge, in which many passengers were injured, several probably fatally.

Steal $400 in Goods.

Bowbells, N. D., June 20.—Burglars early Wednesday morning entered the Pioneer store in this city and succeeded in getting away with goods to the value of $400. They escaped without leaving a clue as to their identity.

Kills Wife and Self.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 20.—Frank Tallchiff, a carpenter on the Cattarugus reservation, last night shot and killed his wife while she was riding with John Twoguns and then committed suicide.

A BOOTBLACK COMPOSER.

He Dedicates a March to Philadelphia's Mayor.

"His Honor, the Mayor" is the title of a new march written by Frank, the Italian bootblack in the Philadelphia city hall, and dedicated to Mayor Reyburn.

Frank intends to whistle it for him while the mayor is on his way to his office. It is said that the tune is something like "Hark! Hark! the Dogs Do Bark."

Those who have heard the march say that it is a splendid compilation of themes—a sort of tone poem of the Reyburn administration to date. The only criticism of it is that the tempo of the opening bars, which are in the major key, is a little too swift for the mayor's pace.

Getting back into the major key after some minors once more, the march closes with an adaptation of the celebrated "Laughing Song," the words of which are:

Oh, I could not keep from laughing,
Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha!

PURIFIED LIFE INSURANCE.

Benefits from New Law, Which Remains Substantially Unchanged.

Through the influence of Gov. Hughes, the New York Legislature decided to make no radical changes in the new insurance law. It was pointed out by Gov. Hughes that the New York law has already accomplished widespread reforms, with proportionate benefits to policyholders, and that it should be given a thorough trial before any amendments were seriously considered. It is estimated that the cost of the mismanagement of the past did not average more than 20 cents to each policyholder, while the benefits to present and future policyholders will amount to many times more and be cumulative besides. The speed craze of the big companies and the excessive cost of securing new business was the most extravagant evil of the old managements. Under the new regime the cost of new business has already been greatly reduced, along with other economies.

The showing made by the Equitable Life Assurance Society in its report for 1906 was a strong argument against meddling with the new law. In the Equitable alone there was a saving of over $2,000,000 in expenses, besides an increase in the income from the Society's assets amounting to as much more. The ratios of the Equitable's total expenses to its total income was 19.42% in 1904, 17.38% in 1905, and only 14.48% in 1906. The dividends paid to Equitable policyholders in 1906 amounted to $7,289,734, which was an increase of more than 9% over 1905.

While the Equitable made a better showing than any other big company, all reported radical economies and under such conditions the Legislature wisely decided to leave the law substantially as it stands.

CHARACTER IN HANDCLASPS.

A Few Notes Taken by the Observant Person.

Those people who clasp their hands with two fingers between the thumb and finger instead of the usual one are probably very deceitful. To lay the left hand flat in the lap and clasp the right firmly over is a sign of obstinacy. Business capacity is shown if the left fingers are curved inward. To clasp the hands together very tightly, running the fingers down as far as they will go, shows, it is said, that the character is sincere, but if the left thumb be uppermost and the right little finger concealed in the left palm, a secretive nature, though not one necessarily untruthful, is denoted.

Thoughtfulness and consideration for the feelings of others are shown if when the elbows are placed on a desk or table the thumb and first fingers are clasped tightly. A keen intellect and great self-confidence are possessed by the man who interlaces his fingers and then places his hands, palm downward, flatly on his knees. To clasp the hands in the ordinary way, with the right thumb uppermost, shows that one is born to rule. If the left thumb comes uppermost, the owner is born to be ruled, says Woman's Life. When the hands are allowed to lie loosely on the knee, with each set of fingers joined and barely touching each other, it shows weakness of character and indecision.

WENT TO TEA

And It Wound Her Bobbin.

Tea drinking frequently affects people as badly as coffee. A lady in Salisbury, Md., says that she was compelled to abandon the use of coffee a good many years ago, because it threatened to ruin her health and that she went over to tea drinking, but finally, she had dyspepsia so bad that she had lost twenty-five pounds and no food seemed to agree with her.

She further says: "At this time I was induced to take up the famous food drink, Postum, and was so much pleased with the results that I have never been without it since. I commenced to improve at once, regained my twenty-five pounds of flesh and went some beyond my usual weight.

"I know Postum to be good, pure, and healthful, and there never was an article, and never will be, I believe, that does so surely take the place of coffee, as Postum Food Coffee. The beauty of it all is that it is satisfying and wonderfully nourishing. I feel as if I could not sing its praises too loud." Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

DEFENSE RESTS IN KAUFMANN CASE

MRS. KAUFMANN IS NOT CALLED UPON TO TESTIFY IN HER OWN BEHALF.

REOPENING IS FOUGHT HARD

Flandreau, S. D., June 15.—"We deny everything; there is our defense," were the opening words of Judge Frank R. Aikens, counsel for Mrs. Emma Kaufmann of Sioux Falls, when the trial was resumed yesterday morning. The words were the opening of the argument preceding the introduction of testimony for the defense, and were the first intimation given of the line which would be followed.

Prosecuting Attorney Egan announced that the only further testimony the state would introduce would be in the way of rebuttal, and Judge Aikens followed this with his opening.

Family Physician Called.

The first witness called for the defense was Dr. W. A. Germain of Sioux Falls, Mrs. Kaufmann's family physician. He testified that he was called to the house on the morning of June 1 of last year to attend Agnes Polreis, and that he found her to be suffering from diabetes-milletus, and that her body had many spots on it which resembled bruises, and that her feet and hands were also marked. Also that some of her fingers had become disjointed through the action of the disease. He said that he ordered her taken to the hospital, and that the girl opposed this and begged to remain with Mrs. Kaufmann. His testimony was supported by Dr. Olney, also of Sioux Falls, who participated in the examination of the body at Parkston at the time it was exhumed. The doctors said that blood clots on the brain also were due to the disease and that there was no evidence of wounds from external causes.

Rigidly Cross-examined.

Attorney Egan put Dr. Germain through a rigid cross-examination and also had begun to cross-examine Dr. Olney when court adjourned, close to 6 o'clock. The state claims to have shattered all the testimony introduced by the defense, though Judge Aikens declared that his case has been all but won by the events of the day.

The court room was crowded yesterday afternoon, most of the spectators being women. Only one demonstration took place, and this was against the defendant. Judge Smith quickly silenced this, however, and announced that any further such action by the spectators would be followed by an order to keep the court room cleared during the remainder of the trial.

Mrs. Kaufmann seemed as little moved as ever yesterday, though she very plainly listened with the closest attention to all the questions and answers, both in direct and cross-examination.

Doctor Changes His Testimony.

Flandreau, S. D., June 16. — The cross-examination of Dr. S. Olney, witness for the defense in the trial of Mrs. Emma Kaufmann for murder, was concluded immediately before an adjournment was taken for the noon recess.

Shows Discrepancies.

The record, most of which was offered in evidence in the trial of this case, showed many discrepancies between the testimony of Dr. Olney a year ago and the testimony given by him yesterday, particularly with regard to the causes of the death of Agnes Polreis. A year ago, when Dr. Olney was asked by Mrs. Kaufmann's attorney if the wound found upon the head, body and limbs of the girl, as the result of the post-mortem showed, could have been self-inflicted, he replied:

"I can't catch onto the idea how they (the wounds) could be self-inflicted."

He stated in his testimony at the present trial that the wounds might have been self-inflicted.

Dr. Olney held to the theory of the defense that the death of the girl resulted from diabetes.

Expert for Defense.

When the court reconvened at 1:30 Dr. F. A. Spafford of Flandreau, a member of the state board of regents of education, was called to the stand by the defense to give expert medical testimony.

Dr. Spafford supported the claim of the defense that the death of the girl resulted from diabetes mellitus to the extent of saying that it might have caused her death.

The cross-examination of Dr. Spafford was quite extended.

BODIES ARE FOUND.

Grappling Party Locates Launch and Dead Sailors.

Norfolk, Va., June 16.—After many hours of weary dragging of the waters of Hampton Roads in a systematic search by the navy for the bodies of the eleven victims of the sinking of the battleship Minnesota's launch on Monday night, a grappling party last night located the launch and bodies of the men in eight fathoms of water off the rip-raps.

Mr. Kaufmann on the Stand.

Flandreau, S. D., June 18.—The feature of the Kaufmann trial Saturday was the appearance upon the witness stand of Moses Kaufmann, husband of the accused woman, who told a dramatic story of the amicable relations existing between Mrs. Kaufmann and Agnes Polreis and of the incidents immediately preceding the removal of the girl to the hospital, where she died.

Mr. Kaufmann was subjected to a gruelling cross-examination, but he withstood the strain in a manner pleasing to the attorneys for the defense, and did not contradict himself upon any material or important matter.

The first witness called after the noon recess was John Krust of Sioux Falls, who testified in behalf of the defense. Previous to July 16 of last year he had been employed by the Sioux Falls Brewing and Malting company, with which Mr. Kaufmann has been connected during the last twenty years as an officer and stockholder. On the date stated Krust left the employ of the company.

The most important part of his testimony related to Peter Erickson, the star witness for the prosecution and former hired man of the Kaufmanns. Erickson, he said, went to him at the brewery one day and asked him to see Mr. Kaufmann and induce him to give him (Erickson) $500 if he would by his testimony aid the cause of the defense in the case against Mrs. Kaufmann.

Asked about what Mr. Kaufman said when informed by him of the alleged proposition of Erickson, witness replied:

"Mr. Kaufmann said to tell him he wouldn't give him a cent; for him to tell everything he knew."

On cross-examination the witness stuck to his story.

Defense Rests in Kaufmann Case.

Flandreau, S. D., June 19.—Without placing the defendant on the stand, the defense rested yesterday in the trial of Mrs. Emma Kaufmann of Sioux Falls on the charge of murdering Agnes Polreis, her young house servant.

Witness and Lawyer Spar.

Joe Kirby, an attorney of Sioux Falls, was the first witness called to the stand by the defense when the trial was resumed yesterday morning.

At the preliminary examination of Mrs. Kaufmann in June of last year Mr. Kirby aided State's Attorney Orr in prosecuting the case. His testimony related principally to a contradiction of the statement made by Peter Erickson to the effect that shortly before the preliminary examination Kirby told Erickson to omit from his testimony certain facts concerning the relations between Mrs. Kaufmann and Agnes Polreis.

Kirby's cross-examination by Attorney Egan was decidedly spirited. Asked a point blank question as to how much of Kaufmann's money he had received Kirby replied: "Not one cent." He said he told Erickson to tell all of the facts as they existed.

Took Girl Driving.

Joseph Schwarz, an architect, who planned the Kaufmann house, testified to the location of radiators, projections and other objects in the parts of the house where the girl's duties took her.

Judge Frank Aikens, attorney for Mrs. Kaufmann, took the stand and denied telling Peter Erickson that if he would use Mr. Kaufmann right "Mr. Kaufmann would use him right."

G. C. Bray, a Sioux Falls liveryman, testified to having on several occasions known of Mrs. Kaufmann taking Agnes Polreis driving with her. At the conclusion of the cross-examination of Bray the defense rested.

Case Nearing End.

Flandreau, S. D., June 20.—The summing up arguments in the Kaufmann murder case had not been concluded last evening when court took an adjournment until 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. George Rice of counsel for the defense, who followed State's Attorney Orr of Minnehaha county and State's Attorney Blewitt of Moody county, had not concluded when court adjourned for the day, and will complete his remarks this morning. It is understood he will be followed by Judge Frank R. Aikens for the defense and that George B. Egan will then make the closing argument for the state.

There is a possibility that the case may reach the jury at 3 or 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

"Common Every-day Liar."

Throughout yesterday afternoon's session hundreds of people crowded their way into the court room to listen to the arguments. The attorneys are going over the testimony very thoroughly, and are bitterly attacking the testimony of the principal witnesses, especially the star witnesses on each side, Peter Erickson for the state and Dr. W. A. Germain for the defense.

Extraordinary precautions are being taken with the jury. Under the instructions of Judge Smith, they are not permitted to even discuss the case among themselves pending the turning over of the case to them for final adjustment.

KILLED BY RUNAWAY.

Driver Is Thrown From Seat and Is Kicked by Horse.

Manchester, Iowa, June 15.—While driving down a steep hill the animals which Edward Powers was driving became unmanageable because of the breaking of the tugs on the harness. They started down the steep grade at a terrific clip and Powers was thrown from the seat and kicked by one of the horses. He lived only a short time.

PLEADS FOR MRS. KAUFMANN

ELOQUENCE OF DEFENDANT'S ATTORNEY MOVES SPECTATORS TO TEARS.

Flandreau, S. D., June 20.—Contrary to expectations, the Kaufmann murder case did not go to the jury yesterday and indications now are that it will be well toward the close of the Thursday afternoon session before arguments are concluded.

Judge Frank R. Aikens of the defendant's counsel, who commenced making the closing argument for the defense shortly before 10 o'clock, did not conclude his argument until 4:45 yesterday afternoon, at which time an adjournment was taken.

Before the attorney closed the defendant and scores of spectators were weeping.

Judge Aikens made much of the failure of the prosecution to show a motive why Mrs. Kaufmann should have deliberately killed Agnes Polreis by inches. He defended Dr. W. A. Germain, the family physician of the Kaufmanns, for his action regarding the girl's sufferings, stating that everything that was done by Dr. Germain, chiefly the sending of the sick girl to a public hospital, was done in broad daylight and in an open and public manner.

A great deal of his argument was devoted to Peter Erickson, whom he denounced in scathing terms as a coward for not going to the assistance of the girl or procuring assistance for her, if his testimony was true.

He also dwelt upon the improbability of the girl's submitting to such treatment and not endeavoring to make her escape, with the nearest house only sixty feet away and with other houses nearby, and streets and alleys passing the Kaufmann home which were traveled night and day.

George B. Egan of Logan, Iowa, who was engaged by the people of Parkston to prosecute the case against Mrs. Kaufmann, will make the closing argument for the prosecution to-day.

PURSUED BY LIGHTNING.

Farmer's Wife Is Killed by Bolt as She Runs Toward Home.

Willmar, Minn., June 20.—News has been received here of the death of Mrs. Ole Skaalerud of Norway Lake, this county, who was struck by lightning and instantly killed in the severe storm that passed over the greater part of the county yesterday.

While crossing a barb wire fence Mrs. Skaalerud lifted the top strand for her husband to crawl under. A flash of lightning struck the fence and burned her hands terribly.

She ran toward home and another flash struck her in the temple, killing her instantly.

BREWER MAYOR FITS LID.

Orders Saloons Closed in Village of Perham.

Fergus Falls, Minn., June 20.—The village of Perham, which has been considered the "wettest" village in this county, has applied the lid. Mayor Schroeder, who has been at the head of the village government for a number of years, is the leading brewer of the county, and the town always has been regarded as emphatically wide open as far as liquor selling was concerned. Orders finally have been given to enforce the law, and the saloons closed Sunday for the first time.

TO SHARE WITH CITY.

Water Works Company Proposes to Turn Over Quarter of Proceeds.

Brainerd, Minn., June 20.—The Minnesota water works company has presented a proposition to the city council which it is hoped will settle the vexed water works question. It includes the rebuilding of the present water works plant, the erection of a big power plant on the Crow Wing river, the city to have an option to buy after five years and to receive 25 per cent of the net proceeds of the plants, the value and the rates for water to be settled by arbitration.

FORK PIERCES BODY.

Falling Hay Implement's Tines Cause Fatal Injury.

Rolla, N. D., June 20.—Anton Tofte McKay, son of a prominent farmer living in Oxford township, met death in a horrible manner. He was in the barn and was climbing a rope to the hayloft when a hay fork fell and ran entirely through the boy's body. Medical assistance was summoned, but the boy died after terrible suffering.

ROBBERS BURN A TOWN.

Lovilia (Iowa) Prey of Flames Started by Dynamite Explosion.

Des Moines, June 20. — Robbers in dynamiting the postoffice safe at Lovilia last night started a fire which practically destroyed the business section of the town and resulted in the loss of $150,000. The United Brethren parsonage was burned and the minister and his family narrowly escaped death.

Boy Stabbed in Fight.

Adel, Iowa, June 20.—Arthur Erby, seventeen years old, is under arrest on a charge of stabbing Thomas Harsh, a lad of about the same age. Harsh was badly cut in the back and hip and is in a serious condition. The stabbing was done during a fight.

Fatally Hurt in a Runaway.

St. Paul, June 20.—Carl Brings, a gardener living in the vicinity of Little Canada, received probably fatal injuries last evening in a runaway accident.

The late grand jury of Polk county evidently thought that the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce game was about like that of the slot machine and the roulette wheel and that it could go out of business for the public good.

Commencing the first of next year there will be no quarantine in Minnesota for small-pox, the state board of health considering it not a dangerous disease if a person has been vaccinated.

Now that Governor Johnson has been made a doctor of laws, why not make Secretary Frank Day a "doctor of politics."

People in the cities have commenced to die of the heat, so we can consider summer at hand.

All the Sporting News.

The steady reliability with which The Chicago Record-Herald presents the sporting news of the whole country each day has made it an authority in this field. It has a large staff of editors and reporters to handle the telegraphic matter and gather the local news in this important department alone. In The Sunday Record-Herald this department has a separate supplement of four full pages—a newspaper in itself—in which all the latest sporting news is presented with numerous illustrations. All that is of interest in baseball, football, racing, athletics, automobiling, yachting, golf, tennis, pugilism, aquatics, and other sports can always be found here, along with many special articles by experts of national reputation. The Record-Herald is a favorite among lovers of sport because its sporting columns are written by "men who know."

Surveyors at Work.

Thief River News: Three government surveying crews started out from Thief River Falls Tuesday morning and will continue the work of making a survey of the Red Lake Indian ceded lands for the purpose of establishing ditches to drain this land which the government intends to build in the near future.  Two parties in charge of Civil Engineers Meade and Graff start work at Caspeson in Roseau county and from that point will work east into the country north of the Red lake in Beltrami county where they will spend most of the time until it freezes up next fall. These two crews will work together most of the time, but late in the summer will divide, and the party under Mr. Graff will make a survey of the country between the Clearwater and Red Lake rivers in Red Lake county.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of $15.70 which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Pierre Colomb and Lucie Colomb his wife, mortgagors, to Wheeler-Misner Loan Co., a corporation, mortgagee, dated December 28th, 1904, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Red Lake, state of Minnesota, in book 33 of Mortgages on pages 606, 607 and 608, having been filed for such record January 9th, A. D. 1905, at 4 o'clock p. m.

Which said mortgage provides that if the mortgagors fail to pay interest on a prior mortgage therein mentioned for the principal sum of $1600.00 on the premises hereinafter described at the time the same shall become due under the conditions of said prior mortgage and the note secured thereby, then and in that event said mortgagee may pay such interest and have an additional claim and lien upon said premises therefor with interest on the amount so paid at the rate of 10 per cent per annum under the first above mentioned mortgage. That said mortgagors have failed to pay interest on said prior mortgage in the amount of $96.00 which became due December 28th, 1906, and the said mortgagee has paid said sum of $96.00 interest on said prior mortgage. That said first above mentioned mortgage also provides that in event the mortgagors shall fail to pay the taxes assessed against said premises before they become delinquent the mortgagee, in said mortgage might pay such taxes and claim an additional lien for the amount so paid with interest thereon at 10 per cent per annum under said mortgage. That said mortgagors in said first above mentioned mortgage failed to pay taxes, assesed against said premises before the same became delinquent for the year 1904, and the said taxes amounting to the sum of $26.21 have been paid by the mortgagee in said first above mentioned mortgage, and said first above mentioned mortgage further provides that in event of the default on the part of the mortgagors therein in any of the terms or conditions thereof the whole sum secured thereby shall become due and payable at once. That the whole sum secured by said mortgage is the sum of $64.70 and said mortgagees have elected to and do hereby declare said sum to be due and in addition thereto said sum of $96.00 interest on said prior mortgage and interest thereon amounting to $2.50, and said sum of $26.21 taxes and interest thereon amounting to the sum of $3.40, in all amounting to the sum of $192.81; and no action or proceeding has been instituted at law, or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

That the premises described in and conveyed by said first above mentioned mortgage is the southwest quarter (SW¼) and the southeast quarter (SE¼) of the northwest quarter (NW¼) of section fourteen (14), in township one hundred fifty-one (151) north of range forty-five (45) west of the 5th P. M., in the county of Red Lake and state of Minnesota, subject to said prior mortgage of $1600.00.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said first above mentioned mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed thereby subject to said prior mortgage, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county at the front door of the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the 30th day of July, 1907, at the hour of 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt of $192.81 and interest and taxes on said premises and $25.00 attorney's fees, as stipulated in said mortgage, and the disbursements allowed by law in case of foreclosure of said mortgage; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

TWO CENTS PREMIUM.

St. Hilaire Creamery Sell Entire Output at Two Cents Over Market.

The creamery has been selling nearly all of their butter to Fitch, Cornell & Co., of New York, but recently was offered a higher price from another firm. Secretary Nelson wrote the firm last week offering them the entire output, except local consumption, if they would pay a two-cent premium over the market which is a quarter of a cent more than they are now receiving. The following telegram accepting the offer was received yesterday:

"New York City, June 20, 1907.
N. A. Nelson, St. Hilaire, Minn.:
We will handle your butter at premium named. Begin shipping at once. See letter.
Fitch, Cornell & Co."

This is the highest price ever paid in the state for hand separator butter and the officials of the St. Hilaire creamery are entitled to a great deal of credit. Now let every patron get at work and help turn out more butter.

R. and P. Minstrels.

The number of people who really live is small compared with the vast number that really exist. Some people seem to think if they go to one minstrel show that they have seen them all and stop right there. Those are the people that just exist, nothing more.

In the larger cities it is common to meet the heads of families who in figuring on their daily, weekly or monthly expenses, figure that the theater is a necessary expense and a visit each week must be figured on. These people really live and it is a noticeable fact that the same habit is spreading into the interior.

Go and see them all if you can afford it; if not, pick out those that have the mark of age in their favor, those that have been before the public long enough to know just what you are getting. Richards & Pringle's Famous Georgia Minstrels that come to the St. Hilaire opera house on Saturday, June 22 will come near filling your expectations.

New Physician.

Dr. C. Swanson came up from Minneapolis last Tuesday and after looking over the field decided to form a copartnership with Dr. J. C. Cummings. Dr. Swanson came here highly recommended by the leading physicians of St. Paul and Minneapolis. He is a graduate of the North Side High school of Minneapolis, the Gustavus Adolphus college at St. Peter, and of the medical department of the University of Minnesota.

The partnership of Dr. Cummings and Dr. Swanson will be a decided benefit to the people of St. Hilaire and vicinity as they will not only have the benefit of one but of two American and Scandinavian physicians. They will have an office that is equipped with a better line of appliances than any other in this part of the state and equalled by few in the cities. Dr. Swanson would be pleased to have Scandinavians call and get acquainted.

St. Hilaire Creamery Report.

24½c per pound is the price paid at the creamery for the May butter, about ½c over New York market and a very good price for this time of the year. The output per week amounts to $1600 at present. This looks good to us and we may wonder what will happen when all the clover seeded this spring be turned over to the "bossies."

In May, 1906, the payment was $3750.70, and the price paid was 19½c per pound, which shows a substantial gain.

The following list of patrons received over $50 each for last month:

R. C. Workman Writes to His Howard Lake Friends.

DEAR FRIEND:—I promised to let you hear from me regarding this new home. Will say that it would be impossible for me to give you so favorable an impression of this country by writing as if you could see it. It is simply grander than any pen can describe. We enjoy it very much. All is needed to make this one of the best counties of Minnesota is simply more farmers. Nature has done every thing that could be asked for here. All it lacks is dressing up by hand of man. I only wish that I might take you for a drive through this country at the present stage of vegetation. It is simply something grand. We have prospects of excellent crops.

St. Hilaire has a great dairy community. Last Monday we broke the state record in number of pounds of cream delivered to any one creamery in one day.

Red Lake river is one of the most beautiful streams I have ever seen. The scenery along its banks is simply grand. Pike fishing is great. Would like to have you make me a visit; I am sure that you would go back saying that you were well paid for your outing. I have two houses in town. I got one for myself and one for my wife but to keep down expenses we are both going to try and stay in one house for some time at least.

A. R. Klopfleisch and G. B. Fleming have visited me. They seem very much taken up with the country. G. B. bought a fine farm and A. R. has not been able to get home yet as he sent me word that he was coming back to see me today. I only hope that more of my Howard Lake friends will have the same spirit and come and see me. They will all want to stay if they see this section of country.

We have a great water power here and it promises to be the center of some manufacturing industry some day. Could write you more but for lack of time will close for this time. Hoping you may extend my best regards to friends, I am sincerely your friend,

R. C. WORKMAN,
—Howard Lake Herald.

Singing Kettles.

The Japanese, who know so well how to add little unexpected attractions to everyday life, manufacture, in a great variety of forms, iron teakettles which break into song when the kettle boils. The song may not be a perfect melody, but it is perhaps as agreeable as the notes produced by some of the insects which the Japanese also treasure for their music. A trial will convince you that golden grain belt beer is not only the purest of all beverages but also the most beneficial to body and mind. NOLAN GETS TWO YEARS

Sentenced Last Week at Bemidji for Having Two Wives.

Bemidji Pioneer: Louis N. Nolan of Spooner, was yesterday sentenced to serve a term of two years in the penitentiary at Stillwater, on the charge of bigamy, to which he was allowed to plead guilty before M. A. Spooner, judge of the district court for Beltrami county.

Nolan was arrested at Spooner May 23rd, County Attorney Funkley having issued a warrant, charging Nolan with bigamy. Nolan was given a preliminary hearing and bound over to await the action of the next grand jury, at the fall term of court, in November.

Nolan, a few days ago, requested to be allowed to plead guilty to the charge. Under the law adopted 1905, whenever the county attorney will file the necessary information relative to a case, and the prisoner consents to plead guilty to the charge, he may make his plea at any time before the judge of the district court and receive his sentence, doing away with the tedious wait for the action of the grand jury. Nolan was allowed to plead guilty to the charge of bigamy, yesterday afternoon, and and Judge Spooner sentenced him to serve a term of two years in the penitentiary.

According to the information in the possession of the county officials, Nolan lived at Thief River Falls with a woman whom he married, and who bore him several children. The family lived at Thief River until five years ago, when there was a mutual separation.

Nolan went from Thief River Falls to International Falls. Last fall he married another woman, at International Falls, the license being issued from that place. The couple made their home in Spooner until this spring when the attention of the authorities was called to the alleged fact that Nolan had committed bigamy, as he had another wife living and had not secured a divorce from Mrs. Nolan No. 1 before marrying Mrs. Nolan No. 2. His arrest followed

Sheriff Bailey took Nolan to Stillwater this morning and he will tomorrow begin the twenty-four month's sentence.

WORKING WOMEN, WHAT THEY SHOULD KNOW

MRS. SADIE ABBOTT MRS. PREE McKITRICK

Women for the most part spend their lives at home, and it is these women who are willing and ambitious that their homes shall be kept neat and pretty, their children well dressed and tidy, who do their own cooking, sweeping, dusting and often washing, ironing and sewing for the entire family, who call for our sympathy.

Truly the work of such a woman is "never done" and is it any wonder that she breaks down at the end of a few years, the back begins to ache, there is a displacement; inflammation or ulceration of the abdominal organs, a female weakness is brought on, and the struggle of that wife and mother to continue her duties is pitiful.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, is the exact medicine a woman needs whose strength is overtaxed. It keeps the feminine organs in a strong and healthy condition. In preparing for childbirth and recuperating therefrom it is most efficient. It carries a woman safely through the change of life and in making her strong and well assists her to be a good wife and mother.

Mrs. Sadie Abbott, of Jeannette, Pa., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham—

"I suffered severely with pain every month and also a pain in my left side. My doctor prescribed for me but did me no good; a friend advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I wrote you in regard to my condition. I followed your advice and am a perfectly well woman. The pains have all disappeared and I cannot recommend your medicine too highly."

Mrs. Pree McKitrick, of La Farge, Wis., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"For six years I suffered from female weakness. I was so irregular that I would go from three weeks to six months, so I thought I would give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

"Now I am once more well and can do my work without a pain. Any one who wishes, can write to me and I will answer all letters gladly."

Women should remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound holds the record for the greatest number of actual cures of female ills. Every suffering woman in the United States is asked to accept the following invitation. It is free, will bring you health and may save your life.

Mrs. Pinkham's Invitation to Women.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. From the symptoms given, the trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised. Out of her vast volume of experience in treating female ills Mrs. Pinkham probably has the very knowledge that will help your case. Her advice is free and always helpful.

"And let us also be thankful," he suggested, "that most of Archibald is able to be present!"

BLACK, ITCHING SPOTS ON FACE.

Physician Called It Eczema in Worst Form—Patient Despaired of Cure—Cuticura Remedies Cured Her.

"About four years ago I was afflicted with black splotches all over my face and a few covering my body, which produced a severe itching irritation, and which caused me a great deal of suffering, to such an extent that I was forced to call in two of the leading physicians of ——. After a thorough examination of the dreaded complaint they announced it to be skin eczema in the worst form. Their treatment did me no good. Finally I became despondent and decided to discontinue their services. My husband purchased a single set of the Cuticura Remedies, which entirely stopped the breaking out. I continued the use of the Cuticura Remedies for six months, and after that every splotch was entirely gone. I have not felt a symptom of the eczema since, which was three years ago. Mrs. Lizzie E. THEY GOT THEIR DUE

TWO GOOD STORIES OF JUST RETRIBUTION.

Chauffeur of Senator Lost His Job and the Merchant Found the Despised Clerk Got Back at Him.

A distinguished senator recently had an experience with the chauffeur which resulted in the man finding another place and caused the senator to take a reef in his regulations regarding the control of his automobile. The senator left town with his family, and during his absence his secretary alone was to have use of the auto.

He was not away long before the secretary wanted to use the machine, but he was told that for sundry reasons it could not be taken out. The auto developed various acute troubles, which arose without a moment's notice, and when one difficulty was overcome another appeared. He seldom was able to make any use of the machine, which was one of the big fellows that no one except an experienced chauffeur ever runs. The weeks passed by, and as, according to report, the machine was out of order, he practically gave up all attempts to go out in it.

Then a revelation came to him. He was in the habit of taking his luncheon at one of the leading hotels, in front of which there is always a long line of autos for hire. He had never noticed them particularly, but there one day he saw the familiar face of the chauffeur as he steered the machine to the curb with a party of five tourists whom he afterward learned had hired the auto at five dollars an hour. Making an investigation, he discovered that it had been the man's practice to go to the hotel daily and hold the machine for hire by the hour. In that way it was an easy matter for the chauffeur to make from $10 to $25 a day. His thriving business was brought to a close, and now the senator's auto is driven by another man.

He was a government clerk about six or seven years ago, and in those days of salary chasing and watching the clock he once betook himself into the establishment of a man who caters in his line to the "best people" of Washington. According to the story he told to a number of his friends the other evening, the owner of the establishment came in about the time he was examining some goods, and with a toss of his head let him know that he was not a "big enough man" to deal at his store. The clerk left the place rather warm, and the proprietor behind the counter felt somewhat elated to think that he had informed a government clerk that the time he was taking up was much more valuable than any purchase he might be able to make. Fortune smiled upon the employe of the government, and about two years ago he found himself with a large income and an ideal abode. He had become affiliated with two of the well-known clubs of the city. One afternoon he happened to be at one of the clubs and saw the name of the merchant proposed for membership. In his own words, "I said something choice." Then he gathered himself together and "began lining 'em up." The former clerk gained "converts" so fast that the man who proposed the merchant hastened away and told that gentleman in a few words that if his name went in for confirmation it would surely be blackballed. When he asked who was making the fight he was informed that it was the former clerk. "In other words," said the relator, "I just gave him all that was coming to him, and a little bit more for good measure."

What Bryce Would Reform.

Mr. James Bryce, the new ambassador to the United States from Great Britain, is not a reformer, but he says that should he, at any time be inclined to embark upon a reform movement it would be in the direction of a revision of names for American and Canadian cities. He especially abhors duplications for the reason that they lead to confusion in the mails and telegraph. As an illustration he said that while in Canada recently he had occasion to write a number of dispatches to his government, and addressed them "London." The dispatches went to London, Ontario, Canada. Now he is convinced that there should be but one London in the world. Likewise he believes there should be but one Washington, and he was surprised to learn that there are a dozen states in this country that have Washingtons. A lover of Indian names, the ambassador is of the opinion that there is no occasion for duplication in the United States and Canada, for the Indians have provided an unlimited supply of rippling musical names that may be given to cities, rivers and other geographical points. The wisest thing the people of Toronto, Canada, ever did, said Mr. Bryce, was to adopt the present name of the city of York, by which the settlement was first called.

Many Washington Smiths.

There are 13 pages of "Smiths" in the city directory, and Mr. William R. Smith, the genial superintendent of the government botanic gardens, in looking over that volume, discovered that there are just eight men who wear the cognomen of "William R. Smith." This sometimes results in a mixup of the mails and other things, but Mr. Smith of botanical fame maintains that the name "Smith" is an eminently respectable one. He says it frequently happens that men when placed under arrest by the police and taken to the station house give the fictitious name of Smith instead of giving their real "handle."

"They do this," added Superintendent Smith of the botanic gardens "to gain a respectability they did not possess before, for mind you the name of Smith is an honorable one."

Poor Fellow!

Tea time at the club. "My husband," said a little thing with golden postiches—postiches are those new sausage-shaped curls—"my husband is a self-made man." "Mine—" And the speaker's grim lips relaxed in a smile—"mine was made to order." Above the tinkle of the tea things sounded the heartiest applause.

SUFFERED TORTURES.

Racked with Pain, Day and Night, for Years.

Wm. H. Walter, engineer, of Chatsworth, Ills., writes: "Kidney disease was lurking in my system for years. I had torturing pain in the side and back and the urine was dark and full of sediment. I was racked with pain day and night, could not sleep or eat well, and finally became crippled and bent over with rheumatism. Doan's Kidney Pills brought quick relief, and in time, cured me. Though I lost 40 pounds, I now weigh 200, more than ever before."

Apples Preserved in Ice.

J. C. Braunbeck of Wallis Run, Lycoming county, adopted a unique method of preserving his apples last fall. He built a bin in the orchard seven feet wide, fourteen feet long and three feet high. In the bottom of this he put straw, then filled it with apples, putting straw on the sides and ends. Then he placed straw and cornstalks on top. He dug a ditch around it to keep the water from standing there.

Some water, however, found its way through the top and formed ice about each of the apples, but they were not disturbed until the ice had all melted. The apples are now sound, crisp and without a wrinkle.

SPITE CHURCH TO GO

A MINIATURE STRUCTURE IN BROOKLYN WILL BE RAZED.

Built to Defeat a Saloon Keeper, But Failed of Its Purpose—Complete in All Details.

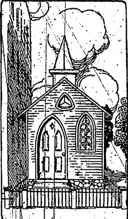
Brooklyn's so-called "Spite church," is to be dismantled. Just what use the tiny piece of ground upon which the little church now sits will be put is not known.

The "little spite church" is at No. 21 Lenox road, just off Flatbush avenue. It is in a district inhabited by Brooklyn's best class of citizens, and not a few of them will be glad when the tiny structure is torn down, for it is a reminder of a "trick" that they do not take particular pride in.

The news that the little church is to go has revived a discussion that was rife in the Lenox road district about five years ago. It waxed acrimoniously at the time. Sides were taken and many former friends became enemies. Though most of the people living along the road sympathize with the purposes of the party who had the church built, they did not sympathize with the means that were adopted, and most of them would be glad to forget it.

The spite church was built by well-meaning church people in order to prevent the installation of a saloon on Lenox road. About five years ago a large structure with stores on the ground floor and flats above was started on the southwest corner of Flatbush avenue and Lenox road. Members of the Park Side church, then in the hands of a Methodist congregation, learned that Henry Hesterberg, at that time sheriff of Kings county, intended to put a saloon in the corner building. There was no saloon on Lenox road then, and most of the residents on the street did not want one on it. Particularly did the members of the Park Side Methodist church, many of whom lived on the road, object.

After trying by appeals and protests to prevent the opening of the saloon, they decided on a new tack. According to the laws of the state, a saloon cannot be opened within 200 feet of a church. The Park Side church was further down the street, on Lenox road, and did not come within the prescribed radius, so no objection could be made to Hesterberg's saloon on this ground. So, to forestall Mr. Hesterberg it was decided to build a church on a narrow little plot which would bring the saloon within 200 feet, and thus prevent its opening.



Brooklyn's "Spite Church."

The church was duly built. It was complete in every detail, but was a joke as to size, being merely a miniature. It is about 15 feet wide and about twice as long. When packed to its capacity it will hold about 50 souls. But it was a church. It had a steeple, Gothic windows, and all the usual details. Hence when Mr. Hesterberg tried to open his saloon the matter was carried into court, but to the chagrin of the church members, the Supreme court, Justice Gaynor presiding, held that the miniature religious structure was a church according to the letter of the law, but not according to its spirit, and that as regular church services were not and could not be held therein, it was a piece of spite and not a church in fact at all.

So the Hesterberg saloon opened in triumph and the little church became known as "the spite church," and as such often has been pointed out. The Park Side church is now Presbyterian, and sometimes uses the little church as an annex for Bible and Sunday school classes, but it is not regularly needed, and Lenox road as a whole will be glad to see it go.

In 300 years Englishmen have grown six inches shorter, on the average, while the women have been increasing in height.

A Market Wedding.

Some quaint wedding festivities were witnessed in the Leeds market. The bridegroom was a market potato merchant and his bride the daughter of another potato merchant. Their wedding was marked by a free breakfast to more than a hundred poor people, dispensed from the bridegroom's stall, which was tastefully decorated and laden with sandwiches, buns and tea.

Two turnips and a saw formed the centerpiece on the stall, with potatoes and rhubarb arranged around them. The festivities proceeded while the bride and bridegroom were preparing for the wedding, which was followed by a journey to Morecambe for the honeymoon.—London Daily Mail.

Let us sympathize with the little ray of sunshine who, having done a lot of hard thinking for a year or two about the "new moon," suddenly broke out in the presence of several dignified professors, guests of the house, with, "Papa, you told me these men knew everything about the world and heaven. Please ask them if they can tell me what becomes of all the old moons."—New York Press.

A New Idea.

"It is a wonder these society people who are always trying for a new sensation in their functions don't give dried apple parties."

"What put such an idea into your head?"

"They would be such swell affairs."

Poetic Wisdom.

"Art is long, but life is fleeting," quoted the amateur artist.

"That is applicable in your case," replied the friendly critic. "It would take you such a long time to acquire the art of painting that your life will be entirely too short."

A BOOTBLACK COMPOSER.

He Dedicates a March to Philadelphia's Mayor.

"His Honor, the Mayor" is the title of a new march written by Frank, the Italian bootblack in the Philadelphia city hall, and dedicated to Mayor Reyburn.

Frank intends to whistle it for him while the mayor is on his way to his office. It is said that the tune is something like "Hark! Hark! the Dogs Do Bark."

Those who have heard the march say that it is a splendid compilation of themes—a sort of tone poem of the Reyburn administration to date. The only criticism of it is that the tempo of the opening bars, which are in the major key, is a little too swift for the mayor's pace.

Getting back into the major key after some minors once more, the march closes with an adaptation of the celebrated "Laughing Song," the words of which are:

Oh, I could not keep from laughing,
Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha!

The fanatic is he who would rather see the race go down to perdition than that it should climb up unlabeled with his pet fad.

Every man should bring a breach of promise suit against his wife if that "obey" clause in the ceremony has any legal weight.

Frequently the only reward father gets is trying to "control" the children when he is at home, is a reputation for being cranky.

VENGEANCE WAS ORCHARD'S MOTIVE

WITNESSES SWEAR HE THREATENED TO KILL GOV. STEUNENBERG.

DEFENSE BEGINS TESTIMONY

ATTEMPT TO SHOW CRIMES WERE INSPIRED BY MINE OWNERS.

Boise, Idaho, June 22.—Unless there should be unforeseen delay in securing a couple of final pieces of evidence, the state will to-day close its case against William D. Haywood, whom it charges with the murder of Frank Steunenberg. This announcement was made yesterday afternoon by Senator Borah of the prosecution, and when Clarence Darrow of the defense took up the discussion of the arrangement of time he made it very clear that directly the state closed he and his associates would move the court for an instruction directing a verdict of acquittal.

Corroborates Orchard.

It is now anticipated that the state will close by noon; that the afternoon session will be devoted to argument of the expected motion of the defense, and if the court rules adversely on the motion, the opening statement in behalf of Haywood will be made by Mr. Darrow on Saturday.

The prosecution succeeded yesterday in again showing a direct connection with the store of George Pettibone in Denver and Harry Orchard at work on the Bradley crime in San Francisco, and promised to make the connection with Pettibone personally by handwriting experts who will be called to-day.

WILLIAM D. HAYWOOD.

Records Produced.

Original records of the Pacific Postal Telegraph company were produced, showing that in September and October, 1904, remittances of $97.50 and $18, respectively, were made, the first by "J. Wolff" and the second by "P. Bone," from 1725 Stout street, in Denver—the address of Pettibone's store—to "H. Green," in care of Peter L. Huff, at 211 Taylor street San Francisco.

Quotes Haywood.

The state also showed that while at Silver City, Idaho, in 1899, Haywood declared that Steunenberg was a tyrant and should be exterminated. To practically every piece of evidence offered during the day the defense, first offered objection and then made a motion to strike out, and lastly took an exception on the record.

Jury to Decide Haywood Case.

Boise, June 23.—When the state yesterday closed its case against William D. Haywood, charged with the murder of Frank Steunenberg, the defense made an unsuccessful attempt to secure from the court an order directing the jury to acquit the prisoner. Judge Woods' ruling, which requires the defense to meet with evidence the case that the state has presented, was made at 3:15 o'clock and it was then arranged that Haywood's counsel should make the opening statement and present their first testimony on Monday next.

Makes Eloquent Plea.

Attorney K. F. Richardson made the principal argument in support of the motion in a long, carefully prepared and eloquent address.

He took for his guide the Idaho statute that forbids conviction upon the uncorroborated testimony of an accomplice, and quoting authorities in support of his contention that there must be convincing corroboration entirely independent of the testimony of the accomplice, made an analysis of all the testimony offered. He declared that none of the testimony could stand without the support of Orchard's story and that the statute specifically forbade its acceptance under these circumstances.

Statute Forbids Conviction.

He also argued that the testimony of Orchard was the only showing that in any way connected Haywood with the crime and that the statute forbade conviction under these circumstances.

Senator Borah, who spoke for the state, argued with like force and eloquence that Haywood's connection has been independently shown, and that Orchard's testimony has been corroborated by independent circumstances and evidence.

Haywood Will Take the Stand.

Boise, Idaho, June 26. — In an address that occupied two sessions of the district court yesterday Clarence Darrow of Chicago outlined to the jury the detailed defense of William B. Haywood to the charge that he murdered Former Governor Steunenberg. In broad description it is to be a denial of every material count in the testimony of Orchard, with a showing that Orchard killed Steunenberg because of a private grudge due to the loss of a rich share in the great Hercules mine, and explanations of the independent circumstances that tend to connect the three co-defendants with Orchard's life and operations.

Will Deny Everything.

Haywood will take the stand to make personal denial of Orchard's accusations, Moyer may be called to testify solely to events and circumstances affecting the Western Federation of Miners, but Pettibone will not be a witness in this case.

Mr. Darrow denied the existence of the great conspiracy to murder alleged by the state with Orchard's testimony as a basis; denies the intimacy with the three co-defendants that Orchard laid claims to; denied that Orchard had committed many of the crimes he had boasted of, and promised to prove his contentions by many of the men named by Orchard when on the stand.

Plot to Destroy Union.

Mr. Darrow charged that agents of the Mine Owners' Association of Colorado and the Pinkerton detectives had joined hands in a conspiracy to destroy the Western Federation of Miners. Agents of the mine owners had, he asserted, committed many minor crimes to discredit the federation. He asserted that this trial was the culmination of the conspiracy to kill the organization by killing the leaders; that the organization and not "Bill" Haywood was on trial, and that Harry Orchard, under the manipulation of Detective McParland, was trying to kill Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone that he might save his own life.

Financial Relations Explained.

As to the financial relations between Orchard and Pettibone, Mr. Darrow said that when Orchard left Denver for Wyoming he gave Pettibone his money, his Masonic badge and other trinkets and some papers for safekeeping. From time to time Pettibone forwarded parts of the money to Orchard.

Vengeance Was Orchard's Motive.

Boise, Idaho, June 27.—The first direct testimony in defense of William D. Haywood was offered yesterday, and it was chiefly directed toward showing that Harry Orchard, blaming Frank Steunenberg for the loss of his interest in the Hercules mine, had threatened to have revenge by killing him, and that the conduct of Orchard and K. C. Stirling, both before the Independence explosion, when they were frequently seen together, and afterwards when Sterling called off a bloodhound that was following Orchard's trail, justified the inference that the mine owners inspired the crime.

Orchard on the Stand.

The calling of the first witness for the defense was preceded by a further examination of Orchard to permit the defense to complete its formal impeaching questions. These questions were nearly all in connection with the claim that Orchard killed Steunenberg because of an alleged grudge growing out of the sale of his interest in the Hercules mine. Orchard again denied that he ever threatened to kill Steunenberg because of the Hercules mine, and again asserted that he had sold his interest in the mine two years before the trouble that drove him out of Northern Idaho.

Two witnesses called later in the day swore that Orchard threatened to kill Steunenberg because of the Hercules mine matter, and the defense has prepared the way for such testimony from a dozen more witnesses.

Several witnesses located Orchard at various conferences with Sterling, the detective for the mine owners' association, prior to the Independence explosion.

Tracked by Dog.

Another witness told of the effort to locate the men guilty of the Independence station outrage by starting a bloodhound from the chair rung used in pulling off the mine explosion. He said the dog took the road to Colorado Springs, the one over which Orchard fled in the night, and that when he reported to Sterling he got orders to call the dog off. Sterling said he knew who blew up the station and later said that Steve Adams had done so.

TROUBLE SURROUNDS IOWA MAN

Accidents, Illness, Death and Murder Visits Nevins of Iowa City.

Iowa City, Iowa, June 23.—Misfortunes "come not singly, but in battalions," according to the belief of Simon Nevins of Iowa City. Nevins, riding a bicycle, fell and broke his leg. When he recovered consciousness his wife became ill and her life is now in peril. Recently his father was burned alive and his brother was murdered or drowned in the river.

DRUNKARD'S AWFUL WORK.

Shoots Two Children, Tries to Kill Wife and Then Kills Self.

Wilmington, Del., June 22.—John Zenne, aged thirty-eight years, late last night shot his daughter Rose, aged two years, his son John, aged six months, attempted to kill his wife and then turned the revolver on himself, blowing out his brains. The two children, the physicians say, cannot recover. Zenne, it is said, had been drinking heavily.

DENIES THE STORY TOLD BY ORCHARD

WITNESS FOR DEFENSE MAKES POSITIVE DENIAL OF EVERY STATEMENT.

TELLS OF ORCHARD'S THREATS

TESTIMONY OFFERED TO SHOW HE THREATENED TO KILL STEUNENBERG.

Boise, Idaho, June 27.—William F. Davis of Goldfield, Nev., one of the most important witnesses for the defense of William D. Haywood, accused of the murder of Frank Steunenberg, was called to the stand at noon yesterday, and his cross-examination had not been completed when court adjourned. Harry Orchard testified that Davis led and commanded the mob that destroyed the Bunker Hill and Sullivan mill in 1899; inspired, as the agent of Haywood and Moyer, the Vindicator explosion and the train wrecking plot at Cripple Creek, and was an accomplice in the Independence station crime.

Denies Orchard's Story.

On direct examination by Clarence Darrow he went over the story of his working life, including the pathetic story of the death of his wife and babe at Cripple Creek, at which he wept, and made positive denial of every statement of Orchard that involved him or his associates in any form of crime. He denied that he was even a member of the union when the Bunker Hill and Sullivan mine was blown up, and at the conclusion of his general story swore that at Cripple Creek, during the strike, Orchard told him of the Hercules mine affair and threatened

To Kill Steunenberg.

The cross-examination of Davis by Senator Borah was severe and searching and was chiefly devoted, as far as it proceeded, with the Bunker Hill and Sullivan affair, and the circumstances under which Orchard made the threat against Steunenberg.

Mrs. Lottie Day of Denver testified that in 1904 Orchard told her about the loss of the Hercules interest, and that he said he would kill Steunenberg for the wrong done him, and John D. Elliott swore that Orchard told him in Idaho in 1905 that he was in the employ of the mine owners, and that there was a plot against the federation and its leaders.

WILL TAKE FINAL VOWS.

Kidnapped Novice Will Carry Out Original Plans.

Duluth, Minn., June 27.—Minnie Delgle, or Sister Borromea, the kidnapped novice, is in Duluth and will take her final vows on July 11, as originally planned.

She refuses to see any person, and the sisters also refuse to talk regarding the case, further than to state that the girl is in Duluth and wants rest and quiet. Until yesterday morning the sisters denied the girl was in the city and this was literally true, as she is said to have been on a farm about two miles outside of the city limits until last evening.

JAIL HEAD OF TRUST COMPANY.

J. U. Barnes Is Charged With Embezzlement.

Minneapolis, June 27.—J. U. Barnes, president of the defunct Minnesota Title Insurance and Trust company of Minneapolis, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a warrant charging him with embezzlement of $13,000 of the funds of the trust company. The arrest was made primarily to hold Barnes to the grand jury, which is expected to take up matters concerning the trust company finances to-day, as it is alleged that a shortage of approximately $150,000 has been found in the affairs of that corporation.

THUNDER DRIVES MAN INSANE.

Daniel Arbuckle of Hamburg, Iowa, Attacks and Beats Wife.

Hamburg, Iowa, June 27. — Driven vlioently insane by a thunder storm, Daniel Arbuckle, a wealthy farmer, attacked his young wife and nearly beat her to death before neighbors rescued her. The next day Arbuckle had practically recovered his reason. He has no recollection of his conduct.

SHERIFFS TO MEET AT BEMIDJI.

State Convention Will Be Held In August.

Fergus Falls, Minn., June 27.—The State Sheriffs' association will hold its annual convention at Bemidji in August. The convention was to have been held at Detroit, but owing to the suicide of Sheriff Larson it was decided to change the place of meeting.

Wife Loves Another; Kills Self.

Des Moines, Iowa, June 27.—After kissing his wife of a few weeks George H. Searles walked out on the lawn and drank some carbolic acid. He died within a few minutes. He left a note saying that his wife was in love with another man, so he took his own life to get out of her way.

Takes Carbolic Acid.

Iowa City, Iowa, June 27. — Alvah Thompson committed suicide by drinking carbolic acid. His mind was temporarily deranged from overwork.

TELLS PITIFUL STORY OF RUIN

Houston, Va., June 27. — Between stifling sobs, with tears streaming from her eyes, and while striving to hold back the lump in her throat, Miss Elizabeth Loving, who has occupied the center of the stage in the trial of her father, Judge William G. Loving, for the murder of Theodore Estes, told on the witness stand here yesterday her story of her alleged ruin by the young man whom her parent shot.

Fateful Buggy Ride.

It was the same story she said she told her father the morning of the tragedy. Estes, she said, gave her a drink of whisky while they were out buggy riding on the afternoon prior to the killing. After taking the drink, she declared, she began to feel dizzy, he head spinning around as if she had been given some powerful drug. In this condition and despite her protests, she declared, her escort drove her over an unfrequented road and despite her screams outraged her.

Told Father of Ruin.

Exhausted by the struggle and her mental faculties rendered incapable from the stimulant, the witness declared she recalled nothing more until she regained her senses while in bed late that night at the home of County Clerk Kidd, where she had been visiting Miss Kidd. She testified that on the following morning when her father asked her for the cause of her being brought to the house of Mr. Kidd in an unconscious condition, she related to him the same statement she made to-day.

Murder Resulted.

It was this recital, declared the defense, that so affected the mind of Judge Loving that it impelled him to commit a crime, which, according to his statement, could have been prevented by no power "except God Almighty."

BIG WARSHIP ORDERED SOUTH.

Milwaukee Ordered to Proceed to Central American Waters.

Washington, June 27.—The possibility of serious trouble in Central America growing out of the disturbed conditions existing there incidental to the alleged ambition of President Zelaya of Nicaragua to form a union of Central American states, has caused the administration to dispatch the fine new cruiser Milwaukee to that locality. Orders for her to proceed forthwith from the Mare Island navy yard (California) went forward from the navy department yesterday.

The vessel is in command of Commander Charles A. Gove and will go to La Union, Salvador. The collier Saturn also has been directed to proceed to La Union, and from this vessel the Milwaukee and the gunboat Yorktown, which is now in Acajutla, will coal.

Protect American Interests.

The stay of the Milwaukee in Central American waters is problematical and will in a measure depend upon the conditions that develop in that section of the world. She goes ostensibly "for the protection of American interests," which are threatened because of the situation as it now exists. The cruiser St. Louis, now on her way to a Brazilian port, is en route to the Pacific coast and will arrive in Central American waters in about two months.

FAMILY DIES IN TENEMENT.

Seven Persons Lose Their Lives in Collapse of Building.

New York, June 27.—Seven persons, six of them members of one Italian family, were killed early yesterday in the collapse of a ramshackle tenement in the down-town Italian quarter. Three other members of the same family, including the father and mother, are in a hospital, painfully injured, but will recover. There were some exciting scenes immediately following the accident, one of which was the rescue of an old man from a two-foot ledge forty feet from the ground, this portion of the fallen building having adhered to the adjoining structure long enough to permit the firemen to get to the scene and raise a ladder and take the man, Joseph Reigier, safely to the ground. Then it also fell into the ruins.

The collapsed building was a four-story affair, built over fifty years ago, and was located at the corner of Walker and Lafayette streets.

GEN. GREELY GOES TO OREGON.

Chicago Ceases to Be Division Headquarters.

Chicago, June 27.—With the official dissolution of the divisional organization of the United States army set for July 1, Chicago will lose on Monday its position as division headquarters of the Northern division. Maj. Gen. Adolphus W. Greely, who has been in command of this division, with headquarters here, will relinquish that post and will at once leave for Vancouver barracks at Portland, Or., where he will assume command of the department of Columbia.

Arrest Sixty Officers.

London, June 27.—A dispatch from Odessa says it is authoritatively reported that sixty officers of the southern military district, several of them connected with the Odessa garrison, have been arrested.

Lover Is Murderer.

Milwaukee, June 27. — Because an enraged lover could not bring about a reconciliation between himself and his sweetheart he shot and killed the girl and her father and then himself late last night.

CORNELL WINS EXCITING RACE

WISCONSIN FRESHMEN VICTORS

LEAD SYRACUSE BY A LENGTH IN EIGHT-OARED FRESHMAN RACE.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 27.—Cornell won the varsity eight-oared race at the intercollegiate regatta for the eighth time last evening in the most exciting contest ever rowed over the four-mile Poughkeepsie course.

Cornell's time over the course was 20:02 2-5 seconds. Columbia was second, United States naval academy third, Pennsylvania fourth, Wisconsin fifth, Georgetown sixth and Syracuse did not finish, her shell being swamped half a mile from the finish line.

Win by Narrow Margin.

The Ithacans won by the narrowest margin from Columbia, and until the finish line was crossed and the judges announced that Cornell had won, the thousands of spectators, both afloat and ashore, were in doubt as to which crew won the victory.

Cornell and Columbia fought for the honors of the race over the whole four miles of the course, and at no time during the entire distance were the two shells more than twenty-five feet apart.

Columbia led for over three miles, and then Cornell took the lead, only to lose it to Columbia again.

Tremendous Spurt.

In the last 100 feet of the race Cornell, by a tremendous spurt, shot the nose of her shell out into the lead and swept over the finish line five feet ahead of Columbia. The Annapolis crew rowed a magnificent race and finished two lengths behind Columbia.

Syracuse captured the honors of the varsity four-oared shells from Cornell, Pennsylvania and Columbia, which finished in the order named. Wisconsin won the freshman eight-oared shell race over the course of two miles, leading Syracuse over the finish line by one length and covering the distance in 9 minutes and 56 seconds. Pennsylvania was third, Columbia fourth and Cornell fifth.

FIRE NEAR EXPOSITION.

Woman in Great Peril Rescued and Negro Loses Life.

Norfolk, Va., June 27.—Fire early yesterday at Pine Beach, a resort filled with hotels, restaurants, stores and places of amusement, just outside the Jamestown exposition grounds, destroyed frame structures covering a large area in the territory between Virginia and Maryland avenues and One Hundred and Second and One Hundred and Third streets, including Exposition avenue.

C. Abler of Chicago rescued from the Arcade hotel a woman who was in great peril of being burned to death. An unknown negro was burned to death in a shack near the Hotel Suffield.

PLANS ANTI-GRAFT BUREAU.

Rudolph Spreckels Proposes Permanent Civic Auditing Agency.

San Francisco, June 27. — Rudolph Spreckels announced yesterday that he had almost perfected a plan for a permanent safeguard against the grafters and that he hoped to put it in operation by the first of the year. The plan contemplates the formation of a civic auditing agency, which is to follow every movement of the city government and keep close watch on the officers from the mayor down. Mr. Spreckels said that he figured that the scheme could be put into practice at an expense of $100,000 a year and that it would effect a saving to the taxpayers of $3,000,000 to $3,500,000.

HARVARD ENDS ITS 271ST YEAR.

Secretary Root and Ambassador Bryce Honored.

Cambridge, Mass., June 27.—America's oldest educational institution, Harvard university, closed its 271st year graduating a class of 550.

Harvard was honored yesterday by the presence of Secretary of State Elihu Root, James Bryce, Great Britain's ambassador to America, and the duke of Abruzzi, on whom honorary degrees were conferred.

Murdered in Kansas.

Fargo, N. D., June 27.—M. L. Zook of this city was notified last night that his son, William Zook, had been murdered in Kansas. The victim, who is but twenty-two years old, was with a theatrical organization.

Boy Drowns at Little Falls.

Little Falls, Minn., June 27.—John Bergan, a twelve-year-old boy, while swimming at Maple island in company with about fifteen other boys, was drowned in an eddy where the water, though comparatively shallow, is very swift.

Kills Self in Jail.

Newark, N. J., June 27. — Raphaele Savaro, who Tuesday pleaded guilty to a charge of assaulting an eleven-year-old girl, killed himself in jail here yesterday.

THE REORGANIZED NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

The new Board of Trustees of the New York Life Insurance Company, chosen by the policyholders under the Armstrong laws, has taken charge of the company's affairs and has begun the work of reorganization.

In choosing the principal officers of the company, the Board has adhered to the idea that a life insurance company should be managed by life insurance men. The new president is Darwin P. Kingsley, a college bred man of good New England stock, who has been in the company's service in a variety of capacities for a period of nearly twenty years. In the parlance of life insurance, he "began with the rate book" and has advanced step by step up to his present position.

The first vice president of the company is Thomas A. Buckner, who has served the company for more than a quarter of a century,—indeed has never had any other business connection.

Associated with these men are others long trained in the company's service, each an expert in his own department of work. Wm. E. Ingersoll, who has for many years had charge of the company's great business in Europe, is one of the second vice presidents, and will continue at the head of the company's office in Paris.

Rufus W. Weeks, who has been in the company's service for nearly forty years, ranks next to Mr. Buckner as vice president, and continuous as chief actuary of the company.

The policyholders have expressed their belief in this company in no uncertain terms. The upheaval in life insurance within the last two years has resulted in a great deal of misunderstanding and policyholders, alarmed on matters which were not very clear to them, have been disposed to give up their contracts at a heavy sacrifice. This has not been true in the New York Life to any great extent. The company had $2,000,000,000 insurance on its books when the life insurance investigation began, and while the laws of the State of New York now do not permit any company to write over $150,000,000 a year (which is about one-half the New York Life formerly did), the company's outstanding business still exceeds $2,000,000,000.

Policyholders generally will be still further reassured by this action of the Board, as it places at the head of the company to protect their interests men of thorough training and unexceptionable character.

FILING CASE FOR SOCKS.

Swagger Dressers Make Their Valets Keep a Record.

"The filing case for your collar and your cravat is about the latest we have put out," said a haberdasher.

"Yes, when you get twenty-five or thirty cravats of different species and four or five dozen collars of different styles and names you naturally want to put your hand on them in a second, for nine times out of ten you're in a hurry when dressing.

"The valets of some men of fashion have their file cards giving the name, size and description of collar and cravat. These cards have to be attended to by the man's secretary right along, according to the memoranda given him by the valet.

"The card tells where to get the particular collar or cravat in its particular compartment of the drawer files. When collars are laundered or new ones purchased these must be labeled and located immediately.

"Some 'dashers' who run to a great rainbow variety of socks, also have them inventoried and card and drawer filed."

Guilty of Something.

Sergt. Day was as regimental as a buttonstick. "Shun!" he cried to his squad. "Quick march! Left wheel! Halt! Take Murphy's name for talking in the ranks."

"But he wasn't talking," protested a corporal who was standing near.

"Wasn't he?" roared Sergt. Day. "Don't matter, then. Cross it out, and put him in the guard room for deceiving me!"

DOCTOR'S FOOD TALK.

Selection of Food One of the Most Important Acts in Life.

A Mass. doctor says: "Our health and physical and mental happiness are so largely under our personal control that the proper selection of food should be, and is one of the most important acts in life.

"On this subject, I may say that I know of no food equal in digestibility, and more powerful in point of nutriment, than the modern Grape-Nuts, four heaping teaspoons of which is sufficient for the cereal part of a meal, and experience demonstrates that the user is perfectly nourished from one meal to another.

"I am convinced that the extensive and general use of high class foods of this character would increase the term of human life, add to the sum total of happiness and very considerably improve society in general. I am free to mention the food, for I personally know of its value."

Grape-Nuts food can be used by babes in arms, or adults. It is ready cooked, can be served instantly, either cold with cream, or with hot water or hot milk poured over. All sorts of puddings and fancy dishes can be made with Grape-Nuts. The food is concentrated and very economical, for four heaping teaspoons are sufficient for the cereal part of a meal. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

OIL TRUST MEN MUST GIVE FACTS

JUDGE LANDIS ORDERS OFFICIALS AND DIRECTORS SUMMONED.

SEEK DATA AS BASIS OF FINE

COURT ANNOUNCES DETERMINATION TO GET FACTS ABOUT FINANCES.

Chicago, June 27.—Detailed information regarding the financial condition of the Standard Oil company is to be given in the United States district court before Judge Landis, even though it is necessary to summon the leading men of the company to obtain it.

This was made clear yesterday when Judge Landis, after an unsuccessful attempt to obtain the information he desired from other sources, ordered United States District Attorney Sims to issue subpoenas, returnable July 6, for officials and directors of the Standard Oil corporations.

No Comfort for Trust.

The day's proceedings were not filled with comfort for the Standard Oil company or its attorneys. Judge Landis some weeks ago directed that the attorneys for the company and for the government come into court June 26 prepared to furnish him with information regarding the financial condition of the Standard Oil company, as he believed that if a fine was to be assessed against the company in pursuance of its recent conviction on the charge of using illegal freight rates, it should be proportioned to the amount of assets possessed by the defendant.

Motions Are Overruled.

Attorney John S. Miller, for the Standard Oil company, at the opening of court made a motion for a new trial. This was overruled. He then entered a motion in arrest of judgment, and this was also overruled. He then made a motion that the government should be ordered to elect a specific count in the indictment on which to base the final judgment of the court. This last motion, if sustained, would have limited the fine to $20,000 the maximum for a single offense.

Fines May Reach $29,260,000.

The motion, however, was denied, and the court can, under the conviction punish the company with fines aggregating $29,260,000 on the 1,462 counts in the indictments that have been held good by the court.

The court then ordered the attorneys to proceed with the taking of testimony. The replies of the witnesses were unsatisfactory, and the Standard Oil attorneys declining to furnish the testimony demanded by Judge Landis, the order mentioned above was issued.

STORM IN OIL FIELDS.

Cyclone and Cloudburst Cost Life and Property.

Muskogee, I. T., June 27.—A terrific storm in the nature of a cyclone, followed by a cloudburst, swept the oil fields of Northern Indian Territory yesterday. Frank Roper is known to be dead and two others are said to have been found whose names are not known.

Water rushed down the streets of Sapulpa over a foot in depth.

The general loss throughout the oil fields will be enormous, but at present cannot be estimated. Many wells are running wild, the oil flooding the land.

Epidemic of Smallpox.

Hudson, Wis., June 27.—Dr. L. P. Mayer of this city, a member of the state board of health, has returned from Spooner, where he was called last week to take charge of a smallpox epidemic. He reports forty cases there, but has them well quarantined.

Sees His Family Drown.

Fulda, Minn., June 27.—Mrs. John Stumm and her infant were drowned in Lime creek, near here, and the husband and father had a narrow escape from sharing the same fate. Their buggy was overturned while attempting to ford the swollen stream.

Boldly Loots Cars of Flour.

Aitkin, Minn., June 27.—Six freight cars on the Northern Pacific side tracks were broken open and several sacks of flour were taken from them. In the yard trainmen were working most of the night, and the burglars were bold in securing their plunder.

Otter Tail Brides in Demand.

Fergus Falls, Minn., June 27.—The young ladies of Otter Tail county are in brisk demand as June brides this summer. Of twelve marriage licenses issued here during the past six days, five were issued to young men from other localities who had come here to claim Otter Tail county brides.

Yale Gives 792 Degrees.

New Haven, Conn., June 27.—With the dignified exercises which long use have made impressive, the Yale university commencement was observed in Woolsey hall yesterday. The total number of degrees conferred was 792.

Horse Kicks Farmer's Son.

Albert Lea, Minn., June 27. — The five-year-old son of R. S. Baker, living three miles west of here, was seriously if not fatally hurt by being kicked by a vicious horse.

DRAG THE ROADS.

When you've nothing else to do,
Drag the roads;
If but for an hour or two,
Drag the roads;
It will keep them good as new,
With a surface firm as new.
Fall in line! It's up to you;
Drag the roads,

Would you do the proper thing,
Drag the roads;
Set the system on the wing,
Drag the roads.
Give the drag a lively swing,
Toss the laurel wreath to King!
Hats off! Everybody sing,
Drag the roads.
—Minneapolis Tribune.

The famous Minnesota mosquito now presents his bill four-to-one nightly.

State Auditor Iverson will sell Red Lake county state lands at Red Lake Falls next Monday.

Poor old San Francisco. An earthquake, fire, almost anarchy, strikes, and now grafting officials. Truly misfortune always comes in bunches.

The American residents of Canada will celebrate the 4th of July this year at Brandon, Manitoba, but it will be different from the home brand.

Railroad wrecks seemingly are becoming more frequent, and still the government encourages speed in transit. We are living in a fast and reckless age.

Fourteen hundred quarter sections of good farming land will be opened to settlement at the U. S. land office at Crookston next Monday, July 1st. Why leave Minnesota if you want a piece of land?

Our popular governor, Dr. Johnson, is busy these days denying that he is a candidate for the democratic nomination for president. In spite of his protests the Duluth Herald wont believe it.

Next Monday at Red Lake Falls the county seat trouble will begin when the removal problem will be considered by the county commissioners. It bids fair to be a long and costly struggle.

Secretary Taft is recovering slowly from his illness contracted while at St. Paul recently, judging from the fact his breakfast bill at St. Louis amounted to $2.65, and still the great statesman wasn't so very hungry.

It made us blush the other day when we read in a city daily that Alice Roosevelt was expecting a visit from the stork. Foolish thing, telling such stuff to a reporter. The local scribe would have to hide during the day and sneaketh to work after dark were we to publish such "news."

Secretary of State Day denies emphatically the newspaper report that in his speach at Omaha he announced the possibility of Governor John A. Johnson being a presidential candidate next year. No disgrace, for Gov. Johnson's candidacy would be looked upon with favor by nearly every voter in Minnesota, but for the papers to credit Secretary Day with starting a presidential boom is "getting things mixed."

'Tis said that murder will always out, and at last it would seem the villan who two years ago killed Miss Annie Kintop near Darling, Morrison county, had been located. It will be remembered this young lady was murdered in a brutal manner and in the fight ensuing she stabbed her assailant with a hat pin, which was broken in the encounter. A few days ago a young man very active in trying to locate the villan, was operated upon at a hospital in Little Falls for appendicitis and in his abdomen the surgeons found the broken end of a woman's hatpin. An arrest will follow the young man's recovery. Thus, girls, it will be seen that even a lover is not always to be trusted, and all young ladies should be slow in the choice of their company and associates.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of $16.70 which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Pierre Colomb and Lucie Colomb, his wife, mortgagors, to Wheeler-Misner Loan Co., a corporation, mortgagee, dated December 28th, 1904, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Red Lake, state of Minnesota, in book 83 of Mortgages on pages 606, 607 and 608, having been filed for such record January 9th, A. D. 1905, at 4 o'clock p. m.

Which said mortgage provides that if the mortgagors fail to pay interest on a prior mortgage therein mentioned for the principal sum of $1600.00 on the premises hereinafter described at the time the same shall become due under the conditions of said prior mortgage, and the note secured thereby, then and in that event said mortgagee may pay such interest and have an additional claim and lien upon said premises therefor with interest on the amount so paid at the rate of 10 per cent per annum under the first above mentioned mortgage. That said mortgagors have failed to pay interest on said prior mortgage in the amount of $96.00 which became due December 28th, 1906 and the said mortgagee has paid said sum of $96.00 interest on said prior mortgage. That said first above mentioned mortgage also provides that in the event the mortgagors shall fail to pay the taxes assessed against said premises before they become delinquent the mortgagee, in said mortgage might pay such taxes and claim an additional lien for the amount so paid with interest thereon at 10 per cent per annum under said mortgage. That said mortgagors in said first above mentioned mortgage failed to pay taxes assesed against said premises before the same became delinquent for the year 1904, and the said taxes amounting to the sum of $28.21 have been paid by the mortgagee in said first above mentioned mortgage, and said first above mentioned mortgage further provides that in event of the default on the part of the mortgagors therein in any of the terms or conditions thereof the whole sum secured thereby shall become due and payable at once. That the whole sum secured by said mortgage is the sum of $61.70 and said mortgagees have elected to and do hereby declare said sum to be due and in addition thereto said sum of $96.00 interest on said prior mortgage and interest thereon amounting to $2.60, and said sum of $28.21 taxes and interest thereon amounting to the sum of $3.40, in all amounting to the sum of $192.81; and no action or proceeding has been instituted at law, or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

That the premises described in and conveyed by said first above mentioned mortgage is the southwest quarter (SW¼) and the southeast quarter (SE¼) of the northwest quarter (NW¼) of section fourteen (14), in township one hundred fifty-one (151) north of range forty-five (45) west of the 5th P. M., in the county of Red Lake and state of Minnesota, subject to said prior mortgage of $1600.00.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said first above mentioned mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed thereby subject to said prior mortgage, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county at the front door of the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the 20th day of July, 1907, at the hour of 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt of $192.81 and interest and taxes on said premises and $25.00 attorney's fees, as stipulated in said mortgage, and the disbursements allowed by law in case of foreclosure of said mortgage; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

The home-coming on the Fourth of July of the numerous "mills boys" who have been working at Crookston and Bemidji since the mill at this place was shut down, will be made joyful by a big picnic given in their behalf. An extra effort will be made to make the day one of pleasure, and a large sum of money has been subscribed with which to furnish lemonade, sports, ball game, and everything that goes toward making a picnic a roaring success on the glorious Fourth.

There has been considerable talk the past few days of having a celebration in St. Hilaire, but it's too late now to do anything in that line and make it the success we should hope to enjoy on a gala day like the glorious Fourth. Our idea would be to give a big "family picnic" for those who do not care to attend the celebration at Thief River, Fargo or Chicago, and then next year "do things proper" and invite the whole world to join with us in celebrating July 4th, '08, in a manner that would go down in history as an occasion never to be forgotten. What say you?

A Unique Watch.

Absolutely unique is a watch which has just been completed by Henri Hourict of Chaux-le-Fonds, Switzerland. It is made entirely of ivory obtained from an old billiard ball. The works, hands and case are all made of the same material, and, yet, strangely enough, it keeps very good time. The purity and healthful qualities of golden grain belt beer make it the ideal home beverage. It is brewed from the best of nature's products and should go into the home as a health-maker. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex. Thompson, Crookston.

St. Hilaire citizens are anxiously awaiting the establishment of a local telephone board. We all have a little jollying with our neighbors we would like to do over the wire. The service is greatly needed and a large number of our citizens would subscribe for a phone were the service to be established.

Chas. Fellman, the genial proprietor of the "popular resort" saloon next door to M. L. Hanson's general store, will remove his bar to Hotel Markham July 1st, where only the best of wines and liquors may always be found in stock. Mr. Fellman also carries the most popular brands of cigars, and will welcome all who may call at his new headquarters in his usual cheerful way. Success to the new proprietor of Hotel Markham bar.

The Spectator this week received a program of the commencement exercises for the Mt. Vernon (Wash.) high school, the same being held on the 21st. Among the list of graduates we find the name of Norman William Aimer, a former St. Hilaire young man. His many friends "way back east" join with us in extending best wishes to the winner of educational laurels, and hope for him a most successful journey through the world's busy life.

Great preparations are being made by members of the Commercial Club for the banquet to be given Banker J. K. Hannay at Hotel Markham this evening. It being given as a "token of farewell" to our former banker, the citizens hope to make it an occasion long to be remembered. Mr. Hannay and Miss Mabel expect to leave the first of next week for their new home in Mount Vernon, Wash., and there join with the other members of the family who had preceded them in establishing their new home. The best of wishes from all mankind will go with them.

Watch Repairing.

M. E. Wold, the Thief River Falls watchmaker, will be here all of next week at Killand's. Bring in your watches and clocks and jewelry.

Why not subscribe for several copies of The Spectator and have them sent to friends abroad and thus show to them that this country is all we claim for it. We contemplate publishing a series of articles setting forth the advantages of this country as a farming and dairy locality, and we want every citizen, town and rural, to join with us in putting forth our best efforts. We want you to give us all the news, retaining nothing that would promote a desire upon the part of a stranger to northern Minnesota to know more of the locality that has furnished for you a home and made you riches.

Thief River Falls has sprung a sensation the past week by having four weddings "pulled off" within her borders. On Monday evening J. S. Collins and Miss Pansy Rayson were united in wedlock at the home of the bride's parents; Tuesday the marriage of Miss Inez Wright to J. Albertson, of Montgomery, Iowa, was solemnized; Wednesday the words were pronounced that united as man and wife Dr. George W. Booren and Miss Linda Robbecke, and on Thursday Miss Mabel Evenson and Ole Torrison were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents. The Spectator joins with numerous St. Hilaire friends in extending congratulations and best wishes.

No greater mistake can be made than to consider lightly the evidence of disease in your system. Don't take desperate chances on ordinary medicines. Use Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea. 35 cents, tea or tablets.
Imperial Drug Co.

Daring miscreants picked last Sunday night as a good time to do some "lifting," and by means of the side window entered Holmes Bros.' hardware store and appropriated for their own use or sale a shot gun, rifle, safety razor, some ammunition, a few pieces of silverware and a grip in which to carry the litter. To gain entrance the glass was broken and the bold robbery doubtless bleed perfusely as great drops of blood were to be found all over the floor, show cases and shelves, and everything they touched was besmeared with blood. No clue was left as to the idenity of the robbers, but a couple of suspects are under surveillance, and an arrest may follow at any time. When asked regarding the robbery, Leonard Holmes said in his opinion the perpetrators were new at "shop lifting" as the money drawer had not been touched and over five dollars in silver was left therein the evening before. A close watch will be kept of the movement of the suspects and money will not be spared in locating the thieves, and then the law will punish as in all such cases.

A BAD WRECK.

The Morning Freight Yesterday went into the Ditch between Red Falls and this Place.

The north-bound freight yesterday morning, due in St. Hilaire about ten o'clock, jumped the track four miles out, ditching five cars and the caboose. The train was running at a speed of about forty miles an hour when a car left the track, taking with it the remainder of the train and breaking ties and tearing up the track fully one hundred yards. Luckily none of the trainmen were seriously injured in the wreck, though terribly shaken up. The wrecking crew from Crookston arrived on the scene about two hours later and by night had the track cleared and in shape to allow the passing of the passenger, which was delayed over eight hours. No blame can be attached to the trainmen, the wreck was to be.

GEORGIANS PLAY BALL

The Richards & Pringle Minstrels Cross Bats with the Locals and were Given a Big Surprise.

One of the most interesting occasions of the season was the ball game Sunday afternoon between the Georgia minstrels and a few members of the local team with pick ups for subs. The game proved a fine exhibition of ball art—no such playing ever before being witnessed by the St. Hilaire fans. It was sure a "mill" between the blacks and whites, and the way Art Ittner made monkeys of the colored genman was something at which to laugh. He couldn't throw the ball near enough to their bats for them to hit 'em, and still there would be an echo or resound from Catcher McAndress' mit and with a motion of the hand the big black umpire would announce "Three strikes and batter out," and there was no occasion for disput either. The locals did some heavy hitting, and upon several occasions a relay would have to bring the ball back into play. Every time Ittner—known that day for home runs and three-baggers—would come to bat a new pitcher would be in the box, and after throwing his first ball could be heard to mumble "O, lawdy, aint she ever gwin to stop." Six innings was played in suspence and through sympathy the visitors were allowed six scores—not an earned run being credited on their side of the tally sheet, while the locals would be piling up scores yet had not the desire for something to eat summoned them home to supper. The line-up was as follows, but the score by innings is not given owing to a shortage of figures:

A Poor Defense.

"That is no defense at all," said Senator Curtis, during a discussion of emotional insanity at a dinner. "What you have just said, sir, is as weak a defense as the young automobilist's.

"This young man's rich father said to him:

"'Look here. I am ashamed of you. You spend all your time choo-chooing around the country in a motor car.'

"'Not all my time, father,' said the youth, gently. 'Only half of it.'

"'And the other half?' asked the mollified old man.

"'That is passed underneath, sir, with a monkey wrench.'"

THOUGHT CHILD WOULD DIE.

Whole Body Covered with Cuban Itch—Cuticura Remedies Cured at Cost of Seventy-Five Cents.

"My little boy, when only an infant of three months, caught the Cuban Itch. Sores broke out from his head to the bottom of his feet. He would itch and claw himself and cry all the time. He could not sleep day or night, and a tight dress is all he could wear. I called one of our best doctors to treat him, but he seemed to get worse. He suffered so terribly that my husband said he believed he would have to die. I had almost given up hope when a lady friend told me to try the Cuticura Remedies. I used the Cuticura Soap and applied the Cuticura Ointment and he at once fell into a sleep, and he slept with ease for the first time since two months. After three applications the sores began to dry up, and in just two weeks from the day I commenced to use the Cuticura Remedies my baby was entirely well. The treatment only cost me 75c, and I would have gladly paid $100 if I could not have got it cheaper. I feel safe in saying that the Cuticura Remedies saved his life. He is now a boy of five years. Mrs. Zana Miller, Union City, R. F. D. No. 1, Branch Co., Mich., May 17, 1906."

What the Ailment Was.

When Senator Hoar learned that a friend who they thought had appendicitis was in reality suffering from acute indigestion, he smiled genially. "Really," said he, "that's good news. I rejoice for my friend that the trouble lies in the table of contents rather than in the appendix."

NERVOUS COLLAPSE

IS OFTEN PREVENTED BY DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS.

Taken When the First Warning Symptoms Are Noticed Much Needless Suffering May Be Saved.

Are you troubled with pallor, loss of spirits, waves of heat passing over the body, shortness of breath after slight exertion, a peculiar skipping of the heart beat, poor digestion, cold extremities or a feeling of weight and fullness? Do not make the mistake of thinking that these are diseases in themselves and be satisfied with temporary relief.

This is the way the nerves give warning that they are breaking down. It simply means that the blood has become impure and cannot carry enough nourishment to the nerves to keep them healthy and able to do their work.

Rest, alone, will sometimes give the needed relief. The tonic treatment by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, however, prevents the final breakdown of the nerves and the more serious diseases which follow, because the pills act directly upon the impure blood, making it rich, red and pure.

Mrs. E. C. Bradley, of 103 Parsells avenue, Rochester, N. Y., says:

"I was never very healthy and some years ago, when in a run-down condition, I suffered a nervous shock, caused by a misfortune to a friend. It was so great that I was unfitted for work.

"I was just weak, low-spirited and nervous. I could hardly walk and could not bear the least noise. My appetite was poor and I did not care for food. I couldn't sleep well and once for two weeks got scarcely an hour's sleep. I had severe headaches most of the time and pains in the back and spine.

"I was treated by two doctors, being under the care of one of them for six months. I got no relief and then decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I soon began to feel better and the improvement was general. My appetite became hearty and my sleep better. The headaches all left and also the pains in my back. A few more boxes entirely cured me and I was able to go back to work. I felt splendid and as though I had never been sick."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are invaluable in such diseases as rheumatism, after-effects of the grip and fevers, neuralgia, St. Vitus' dance and even partial paralysis and locomotor ataxia.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

MUST CONNECT TRACKS.

North-Western and Minneapolis & St. Louis Ordered to Put in Connection.

The state railroad and warehouse commission has made an order requiring the Chicago & North-Western and the Minneapolis & St. Louis railroads to construct and operate a transfer track in the city of New Ulm over which cars may be transferred from one road to the other. The order was made after a hearing on the petition of the New Ulm Stone company and other shippers and under the provisions of a law passed by the legislature last winter authorizing the commission to order such transfer tracks installed and operated where the tracks are within five hundred feet apart.

The commission finds that the tracks are parallel for a distance of over half a mile in the city, and the tracks are not more than five hundred feet apart, and that neither company has provided facilities at any point in New Ulm or vicinity for the transfer of cars. The New Ulm Stone company's quarries for about three miles from the city are provided with trackage by the North-Western. The market for the stone is the Twin Cities and various points along the St. Louis road, with which the stone company could do business if provided with transfer tracks at New Ulm, but the expense of transferring by wagon makes the price of the stone so high as to be prohibitory.

The commission also finds that the flouring mills at Hanska sells much of its products in Chicago and the East, and that much better time could be made when routed over the North-Western than over the St. Louis road and its connections, as much as five weeks has been consumed in switching in Chicago when shipped by that route.

The commission finds that it is practicable and necessary and a reasonable and proper accommodation for the citizens of New Ulm and others using these lines that ample transfer facilities by track connection for transfer of cars be provided by the companies, and they are ordered to install and operate the connecting tracks within thirty days.

If the companies cannot agree on the division of the cost of the construction of the line the commission, under the law, is required on the application of either party to determine the basis of the division.

NEW DAIRY BUILDING A GEM.

When the new dairy building for the state fair grounds is finished Minnesota will lead all other states in facilities for exhibiting butter and cheese products. The new building is to be 118 feet long and 142 feet wide, the walls to be solid brick. A unique feature will be an immense refrigerator and exhibition case combined, which will occupy the center of the building. This refrigerator will be 90 feet long and 40 feet wide. One end will be made into a cheese room, 12x14 feet; the rest of the refrigerator will be for butter displays. The sides will be glass, and terraced steps will be built within to carry the exhibits. There will also be a walk all around the inside, but this will only be used by those placing and handling the exhibits.

E. K. Slater, dairy and food commissioner, plans to have in the new building this fall the most complete state dairy and food department exhibit ever shown for the benefit of the public. For this purpose the southeast corner of the building will be reserved. The unique feature will be an actual, working chemical laboratory. Chemists will be on hand, busy analyzing foods. Foods analyzed will be those collected directly on the grounds. The results of such examinations will be posted as soon as they are completed.

TAX COMMISSION BUSY.

Gets Ready for Its Work on the Next Assessment.

The state tax commission is sending out circular letters to the county auditors and town boards of review, calling attention to the proper assessment and equalization of taxes among individuals. The commission urges the boards of review to be prompt in meeting on June 24 and to go carefully over the assessments and make a fair equalization of taxes.

State Land Sales.

Reports have been received in the state auditor's office of the results of the auction sales of lands in the northern part of the state now being conducted by the state auditor up to Thursday. The sales made during the week were as follows: Bagley, 3,230 acres; Bemidji, 3,900; Walker, 3,160, and Park Rapids 3,200 acres. This, added to the 26,780 acres sold the preceding week, makes the total sales up to Thursday night 40,270 acres. Sales were held at Wadena on Friday and Long Prairie Saturday.

DRAINAGE WORK UNDER WAY.

State Engineer Returns From Inspection Tour.

George A. Ralph, state drainage engineer has returned to St. Paul from a tour in several counties of the state inspecting the work on drainage ditches now in course of construction. He also attended the meeting in Aitkin county, where the subject of the construction of what is known as the Mississippi river cut-off was under consideration. Those at the meeting decided to ask the state drainage commission to have the project surveyed and its practicability investigated before any further steps in the matter are taken on the part of the people of Aitkin county. The proposed ditch is a large undertaking and is intended to drain thousands of acres of land which are flooded in times of high water.

The state drainage commissioners will go to Roseau county on June 26 to inspect the big ditch in that county which will be one of the largest in the state, being about thirty-five miles long. The work consists largely in improving the channel and cutting out bends in the Roseau river. When completed it will practically solve the drainage problems in this county.

Mr. Ralph reports that the government engineers and surveyors are now at work east of Thief River Falls, making a topographical survey of the lands in the Red Lake Indian reservation. The drainage project on the reservation now being considered by the federal government covers about one-third of the land in the reservation and is estimated to cost about $1,100,000. Congressman Halvor Steenerson has taken a great interest in this project and has secured appropriations aggregating $40,000 for carrying on the survey work preliminary to action on the drainage plans.

COLVILL COMMISSION.

Gov. Johnson Names Men Selected by First Regiment.

Gov. Johnson has appointed the following members of the First Minnesota volunteer regiment to act as a commission to build a monument and replica for Col. William Colvill, colonel of the First Minnesota: C. B. Heffelfinger, Minneapolis; H. T. Bevans, St. Paul; R. L. Gorman, St. Paul, and Matthew Taylor of Anoka. These members were selected by the regiment at the recent reunion in St. Paul.

The last legislature appropriated $10,000 for the statue and replica for Col. Colvill. The statue will stand at Cannon Falls and the replica will be placed on the grounds of the new capitol.

State News of the Week Briefly Told

Judge I. M. Olson of Marshall has sentenced W. E. Palmer of Minnesota to two years in the state penitentiary for horse stealing.

H. C. Spanton, on trial at Madison charged with the burning of an elevator at Bellingham, Minn., on the night of April 13, was declared not guilty by the jury.

Arthur Filler, sixteen years old, was drowned in Cannon river at Faribault while swimming. He was taken with cramps and his comrades were unable to rescue him.

W. S. Munn shot A. Franklin through the heart at Beaudette. Munn is in custody of Thomas Driscoll, marshal of Spooner. A quarrel over Franklin's wife was the cause.

Otto Olson, a Swedish farmer living about two miles west of Harris, went violently insane over religion. He was pronounced insane and was taken to the Fergus Falls hospital.

Gov. Johnson has appointed Pierce Butler of St. Paul a member of the board of regents of the state university to fill the unexpired term of E. W. Randall. Mr. Butler's term will expire in 1910.

The Fergus Falls council has accepted the bid of Courtland F. Ames, a Chicago contractor, for the construction of an electric light dam. The contract price is $47,235, with $5,000 for superintendence.

Two small boys found a floater on the Otsego side of the river, opposite Elk River. He evidently was drowned in cold weather, as he had on a heavy sheepskin coat and rubbers. The coroner of Wright county was sent for.

Louis W. Harris, a jeweler of Atwater, was drowned in Diamond lake. There were two in the boat, which capsized. Harris tried to swim ashore, but was seized with cramps. The other man clung to the boat and was saved.

A farmers' joint stock elevator company was recently organized at Slayton with A. O. Lander president and Clarence Brownwrigg secretary. The company has purchased the Tisdale elevator and will open for business on July 15.

For the first time in a number of years Winona experienced a dry Sunday last week, the saloonkeepers having been warned that it would be best for them to obey the Sunday closing law after the recent supreme court decision.

Anthony Stevens of Park Rapids is dead as a result of a runaway accident. Stevens was hauling rails for the road on the White Earth Indian reservation when his team ran away. He was thrown out and the heavy wagon passed over him, injuring him internally.

Fire broke out in the paint room of William Radmacher's wholesale drug establishment at Winona, probably from spontaneous combustion. Before the firemen got the flames under control damages estimated at $20,000 on the stock and $5,000 on the building were sustained.

The twelve owners of automobiles in Wadena are organizing an automobile club. An effort is being made to get auto owners from other near-by towns to join the club, which, it is hoped, eventually will have a membership of fifty. The purpose of the club is not alone pleasure, but the highways will be improved.

While a party of young men from Eveleth were out on the lake in a rowboat they attempted to change places. The boat was overturned, but all managed to cling to the bottom. A gasoline launch picked up all of the party but Martin McNulty, who was taken with cramps and was drowned before assistance could reach him.

John E. Boyington of Clearwater took a large dose of carbolic acid. He arose about 5 o'clock and went out to the barn to feed the stock. When he did not return for breakfast his wife went in search of him and found him lying dead in a stall. It is believed that the fact that he got the worst of it in a horse trade a few days before made him despondent.

The state land sale at Bemidji was a big success. The officials sold 3,900 acres at an average of $7.75 per acre. One eighty sold at $24 per acre. At Bagley, Clearwater county, 3,300 acres sold at an average of $7.40 and one tract sold for $20.50 per acre. Parties from the southern counties in Minnesota and neighboring states were in attendance and bought small tracts.

Two men and a boy were seriously injured by the premature explosion of dynamite with which they were blowing up stumps. The accident occurred on the Isaiah Orser homestead, near Brooston. Orser and C. M. Rose, a neighbor, received injuries which will cause them to lose an eye apiece, while Orser's young son was badly shocked, but is not believed to be permanently injured.

Mrs. Ernest Schwartz, living near Blue Earth, while pouring kerosene into a stove was so badly burned that she lived but a few hours.

Smallpox is again on the increase in Minnesota, according to the information received at the office of the state board of health. The number of new cases reported to the board this year already exceeds the total number of new cases for any one of the three preceding years. The exact cause of the increase is problematic, but it may be that the lateness of the warm weather may have something to do with it.

Little Falls' Sunday lid made good on its trial run and not a drop of spirituous refreshment could be had for love or money anywhere in the city.

THE HAYWOOD TRIAL.

Judge Wood Rules Against Haywood.

Boise, June 29.—A ruling made yesterday by Judge Wood while Edward Boyce, for years the leader of the Western Federation of Miners and now a wealthy mine owner of the Coeur d'Alenes, was testifying in behalf of William D. Haywood, may materially limit the showing of the defense as to the existence of the counter conspiracy against Haywood and his associates which it alleges.

Claims Same Latitude as State.

James H. Hawley, for the state, objected to a general question as to the policy and practice of mine owners throughout the West in blacklisting union miners, and in the argument that followed Clarence Darrow, for the defense, claimed the same latitude in proving counter-conspiracy that the state enjoyed in showing a conspiracy.

Mr. Hawley contended that the state had directly shown the existence of a conspiracy by Harry Orchard, and by so doing had laid the foundation for and made the connection of all the evidence subsequently offered on the subject. He said the defense was trying to show a counter-conspiracy by proving various isolated instances and certain general conditions, none of which was connected with the case and for none of which a proper foundation had been laid.

Court Sides With State.

In ruling the court accepted in part the contention of the prosecution, and limited the proof of the defense along these lines to events in Colorado and the Coeur d'Alenes connected with the case as now established.

Ed Boyce was the principal witness of the day, and his testimony was chiefly devoted to the history, purposes and work of the Western federation. He denied the existence of an "inner circle" or that there had ever been a conspiracy in the organization or an illegal act.

Still Try to Discredit Orchard's Story.

Boise, Idaho, June 30.—The attorneys for Haywood continue to center their efforts on the discrediting of Harry Orchard and the establishment of their claim that Orchard killed Frank Steunenberg in revenge for the loss of his interest in the Hercules mine. Yesterday they directly attacked the story of the Vindicator explosion with the testimony of a witness who made it appear accidental rather than criminal.

Vindicator Explosion.

Thomas Wood, a non-unionist, who entered the Vindicator mine as a timber man after the strike began, swore that the night before the explosion he placed a box containing twenty-five pounds of dynamite at the shaft of the eighth level. He saw the powder the next morning shortly after 10 o'clock, and a few minutes later Supt. McCormick and Foreman Beck came to the eighth level. They remained but a short time and left to go to the sixth level, where they were killed. Wood swore that when he reached the shaft, twenty minutes later, the powder was gone and it was a reasonable inference that McCormick and Beck took it with them.

Contradicts Orchard.

Wood testified that he had seen a revolver in Beck's pocket; that the fragments of only one revolver were found in the sixth level, and that the bodies of McCormick and Beck were blown apart, indicating that the explosion had occurred between them. Orchard said that he fixed a revolver with a wire attachment, so that when the safety bar was raised it would send a bullet in the giant powder he had placed. One witness for the state has sworn that he found a wire attached to the safety bar, but Wood, who was among the first to reach the sixth level after the explosion, said that he had carefully examined the safety bar and found nothing attached to it.

William Easterly and D. C. Copley both swore that they heard Orchard tell of the loss of the Hercules mine and threaten to kill Steunenberg

Says Detectives Spied on Union.

Boise, Idaho, July 2.—Morris Friedman, formerly an employe of the Pinkerton detective agency at Denver, who published his adventures and many of the confidential reports that passed through his hands in an attack on the agency, was a witness Saturday in behalf of William D. Haywood. He told how the Pinkertons had sent spies into many of the important unions of the Western Federation of Miners.

By name and operating number Friedman identified a dozen detectives who succeeded in entering or getting very close to the miners' union in Colorado, and he produced voluminous copies of the reports they made to the agency for transmission to the mine owners.

Spies Are Consistent.

Friedman was confidential stenographer under Detective McPartland, and, so he testified, it was part of his duties to copy the reports of the operatives as they reached the office.

Friedman swore that in several instances the detectives sent out by the agency in behalf of the mine owners managed to get themselves elected to high office in the unions and that in a couple of instances they carried their roles to the extent of sharing all the hardships of the strikers and finally being deported from the country with them.

Tried to Beggar Federation.

Friedman said that one Pinkerton operative became chairman of the union strike relief committee at Globeville, and as such had charge of all the funds disbursed there by the local union and general federation.

Friedman said that under instructions from his superiors at the Pinkerton agency this man first tried to beggar the federation by a lavish expenditure in behalf of the strikers, and failing in this he cut the relief down to the lowest point in the hope that the members of the union might censure Haywood.

Apache by Sub-Agent.

Boise, Idaho, July 3.—Morris Friedman, the stenographer who left the employ of the Pinkerton agency at Denver to write a book in which he published certain correspondence of the agency that passed through his hands, was again yesterday the principal figure at the Steunenberg murder trial. More than half of the day was occupied in reading to the jury copies of the documents that Friedman took from the Pinkerton records. They were chiefly the daily reports of secret agents operating as spies among the union men, and showed a of the Western Federation of Mine Workers of America during the labor troubles in Colorado in 1903-04. Pinkerton men sat in the Federation convention at Denver in 1904, reporting all proceedings. None of the reports that were read to the jury contained other than general references to the collateral issues of the trial, but they were offered in substantiation of the claim of the defense that the Pinkerton agency conspired for the destruction of the Western Federation of Miners and the lives of its leaders.

Complete Surveillance

State Attacks Friedman.

The prosecution attacked Friedman on the ground that he had played the Pinkertons false, had violated his pledge to them and had stolen the documents which he produced, but the witness would not admit that he had stolen the papers. He insisted that it was not stealing to take information that had been obtained by deceit. He said that if he had known this trial was coming up he would have taken many more letters and reports.

Misuse of Militia.

Another interesting witness was J. I. Wallace, an attorney of Cripple Creek, who served with the militia, first as a private and then as a lieutenant, during the strike of 1903-04. He related several instances as tending to show the misuse of the power of the militia by the mine owners; gave the criminal records of some of the gun fighters imported by the mine owners; told of the working of the card system; recited the circumstances connected with the looting of the union stores and a newspaper office, and swore that he saw K. C. Sterling, chief detective for the mine owners, fire the first shot in the Victor riot the day of the Independence station incident.

Tear Orchard's Story to Tatters.

Boise, Idaho, July 4.—Max Malich, Joe Mehelick and Billy Aikman, three of the men variously implicated in alleged misconduct at Globeville, Denver and Cripple Creek, on the work of Harry Orchard, went on the stand yesterday as witnesses for William D. Haywood and made denial of Orchard's testimony.

Malich swore that Orchard and not he, suggested the plot of dynamiting a boarding house full of non-union men at Globeville, and that Orchard originated the idea of killing William McDonald, one of Malich's business rivals.

Not "Pettibone Dope."

He said that he had been burned by some mysterious acid thrown into his house by an unknown hand, but denied that this acid was really "Pettibone dope" that had been left in his room by Steve and Annie Adams. He also denied that "Pettibone dope" had been used in burning his store and said that he was at his ranch when the fire occurred. He also swore that Orchard had told him that but for Gov. Steunenberg he would be rich and that he intended to kill Steunenberg.

Deny Orchard's Story.

Mehelich and Aikman, who followed Malich, also made circumstantial denial of all the things that Orchard swore they did with him. The cross-examination of all three witnesses showed a purpose on the part of the state further to deal with their testimony when the case in rebuttal is reached.

Eugene Engles, formerly attorney general of Colorado, avers that Orchard told of a loss of a rich share in the Hercules mine, and of his intention to kill Steunenberg. Engles told at great length how the military authorities at Cripple Creek defied the processes of the civil courts.

PAPER PIPE LAW VOID.

Chicago Judge Annuls New Illinois Statute.

Chicago, June 30.—Judge Chytraus yesterday declared that the law passed by the last legislature prohibiting the sale of cigarettes in Illinois is invalid. He held that the body of the act did not conform to the title. The judge declared that though the law was declared to be an act to "regulate," in fact it was an act to prohibit.

FIVE CHINKS KILLED.

Misunderstanding of Orders Causes Railroad Wreck.

Winnipeg, Man., June 30.—A Canadian Pacific railway express and a Chinese special going east collided at Butler, 275 miles east of here. The accident resulted in the death of five Chinamen on board the special and the serious injury of E. U. Connor of St. John's, N. B., a guard on the special. The wreck was due to misunderstood orders.

JAPS FLOCKING INTO MEXICO

MAKE IT A SMUGGLING STATION —TOKIO SEES DANGER POINT NEAR.

Washington, July 3.—Information of the fact that there is no apparent discrimination as a race against the Japanese who made application in San Francisco to establish intelligence offices and who were refused this privilege, has been received with evident satisfaction by the officials of the embassy here, and they say that, this being the case, there is nothing for them to do, nor have they any comment to make.

Mexico as a Station.

For many months the bureau of immigration has had inspectors in Mexico watching the trend of Japanese immigration. According to reports received at the department of commerce and labor, it is perfectly evident that hundreds of Japanese laborers who arrive in Mexico have no intention of remaining in that country, but regard it merely as a stopping place en route to the United States. The border is about 2,000 miles in extent, and, as it cannot adequately be covered by the immigration inspectors, the smuggling of Japanese into this country is a comparatively easy task.

Danger Point Is Near.

Tokio, July 2.—The impression is growing here that the anti-Japanese feeling and demonstrations in San Francisco are the outcome of a deeply laid plan based upon racial hatred, and the recent developments apparently suport this impression.

The fear is expressed that the danger point will soon be reached. Although war is not dreamed of, the mutual felings of good will and friendship will be seriously alienated if prompt measures are not taken to allay the general indignation here against the latest discrimination in San Francisco which, according to Japanese contention, is a flagrant violation of treaty rights.

Boycott American Goods.

Apparently certain measures of retaliation are seriously being contemplated by influential men in political and business circles. Just what action will be taken has not yet developed, but a boycott against American goods, it is believed, will certainly be one of the steps taken.

INDIAN UPRISING THREATENED.

Outbreak May Follow Killing of Work of Spies Among Miners.

El Paso, Tex., July 3.—Troops at Fort Apache, Ariz., have been ordered to be in readiness to poceed to Fort McDowell, Ariz., where an outbreak of Indians is feared as the result of the killing of Austin Navajo, an Apache, last Saturday, by W. H. Gill, subagent at McDowell, who says he shot the Indian in self-defense. Gill has been warned by Indian friends that it is not safe for him to remain on the reservation. He called upon Sheriff Hayden at Phoenix for protection, and Hayden with five deputies has gone to the reservation.

Self-Defense Plea Supported.

Washington, July 2.—A telegram was received from Supt. Goodman of McDowell agency by the Indian bureau confirming the report of trouble at that agency. He says the shooting by Farmer Gill grew out of an effort to remove some troublesome Indians from the agency, which was undertaken on orders from Washington, and was in self-defense. Mr. Goodman says the lives of whites, friendly Indians and of Indian police are in danger, but that the sheriff of Maricopa county, with seven others, is on the way to the scene of trouble and the territorial militia will be available if needed.

PARROT GIVES ALARM.

Odd Fellows Hall Is Saved by Bird's Warning Screams.

Des Moines, July 3.—A parrot's cry of "fire" gave an alarm which saved the Odd Fellow building from destruction. The fire started in the furnace room and had smouldered for some time. In the building was the Iowa seed store, which, among other things, had a stock of parrots. One of these birds apparently smelled the smoke and began screaming discordantly. The other birds took up the cry and made so much racket that an investigation was made and the fire discovered before any great amount of damage had been done.

Horse Thief Is Killed.

Bottineau, N. D., July 3.—Alex Larron, head of a notorious band of horse thieves that has been operating through Manitoba and the northwestern part of this state and Eastern Montana, was shot and killed yesterday in the mountains northeast of here by Thomas Kerr, a farmer.

Nine Indicted for Murder.

New Orleans, July 3.—Nine Italians, two of them women, were indicted for murder yesterday in the Lamana kidnapping case.

GARBAGE MEN GO TO WORK

STRIKE IN NEW YORK IS OVER—DANGER OF EPIDEMIC IS ENDED.

New York, July 3.—The strike of the city garbage collectors is over and the fears of an epidemic as the result of conditions that have existed for a week are at rest.

A committee representing the striking drivers conferred with Mayor McClellan yesterday. He promised that if they would return to work he would take up their grievances. Later the committee announced that they had decided to send all the men back to work. It was also announced that the men would work overtime until the garbage is removed.

All day the health department officials put forth their utmost efforts to make headway against the rapidly increasing accumulations in the streets. About 250 carts were in use, but strikebreakers were hard to find.

Every cart was protected by police and detachements of officers drove loafers off the streets and out of the saloons.

JOHN D. IS ILLUSIVE.

Subpoena Servers Unable to Locate Oil King.

New York, July 3.—The search for John D. Rockefeller by United States Marshal Henkel and half a dozen deputies, who wish to serve him with a subpoena directing him to appear before the United States circuit court in Chicago on July 6, is still unrewarded and Mr Rockefeller's whereabouts are as much a mystery as ever. Three other Standard Oil officials, Charles M. Pratt, I. Q. Barstow and William M. Hutchinson, were served with subpoenas yesterday.

REGISTRATION IS LIGHT.

But Few Filipinos Qualify for Coming Election.

Manila, July 3.—The result of registration for the coming election has proved a disappointment. When the books closed on Sunday only 7,300 voters, including 800 Americans, had registered. The native leaders anticipated that there would be about 19,000 voters, but the majority of the men in the great crowds which thronged the booths upon the first day they were opened apparently lost interest and failed to qualify.

STEAMERS CRASH IN FOG.

Two Marine Accidents Off Coast of Nova Scotia—No Lives Lost.

Halifax, July 3.—Two marine accidents occurred off the Nova Scotia coast last night due to thinck fog. The Red Cross line steamer Rosalind, from New York, collided with the coast steamer Senlac off Halifax and badly damaged her. The Black Diamond line steamer Carthagenia is ashore on Half Moon ledge, ten miles east of Cape Sable.

NEEDLE PIERCES BREAST.

Man Who Carries Implement in Pocket Is Badly Hurt in Fall.

Birmingham, Iowa, July 3.—Because he was in the habit of carrying a darning needle in his vest pocket Charles Short, living near here, is lying at death's door. His vest was loose and the needle was pointing toward his heart, when he stumbled and fell, driving the needle into his breast. The wound caused internal hemorrhage and Short is in a critical condition.

FORMER OFFICIALS MUST DIG.

Orered to Pay Back Into Illinois Treasury All Fees Collected.

Springfield, Ill., July 3.—Notice were issued yesterday to a number of former state treasurers and auditors that unless they pay into the state treasury within the next thirty days fees which they collected while in office proceedings will be commenced in the courts to collect the fees.

LIGHTNING DESTROYS BARN.

Loss to W. J. Landon of Winona Will Will Reach $5,000.

Winona, Minn., July 3.—Lightning struck the largest stock barn at Conedale farm, near Money creek, owned by W. J. Landon of Winona. The building was destroyed and nine work horses and two bulls were burned to death. The loss is over $5,000.

SHIPPING RECORD BROKEN.

2,156,956 Tons Moved From Missabe Ore Docks in June.

Superior, Wis., July 3.—The Missabe ore docks, at West Duluth, last month broke all former records for shipping iron ore, their total being 2,156,956 tons, making the the amount so far this year 4,094,786 tons.

Picnicker Drops Dead.

Aberdeen, S. D., July 3.—E. E. Webb, a well-known farmer residing near here, dropped dead on Main street after returning from a picnic. Heart failure was the cause of death.

$200,000 for Lawrence.

Appleton, Wis., July 3.—Lawrence university has raised the necessary $150,000 to secure the $50,000 from the general fund. This also secures the new boys' dormitory. The last check arrived one hour before the time limit.

Big Roll at Normal.

Moorhead, Minn., July 3.—The total enrollment at the Moorhead normal for the summer session, which is to continue until the middle of September, is 349, but is expected to reach more than 400.

BESIEGE HOME OF ROCKEFELLER

SUBURBAN RESIDENCE AT CLEVELAND SURROUNDED BY DEPUTIES.

LOEB PUNCTURES THE RUMOR

JAPAN WOULD NOT REGARD INCREASE OF PACIFIC FLEET AS MENACE.

Cleveland, July 4.—Forest Hill, the suburban home of John D. Rockefeller, was besieged by United States Marshal Frank M. Chandler and a corps of deputies representing the department of justice from early yesterday morning till after nightfall. Up to that hour the efforts of federal officials to serve the subpoena issued from Judge Landis' court in Chicago on Mr. Rockefeller had been unsuccessful, and Marshal Chandler and his deputies will will continue picketing the Rockefeller estate.

Access to the lodge was denied a deputy marshal at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and Marshal Chandler at that time announced that he would ask the department of justice at Washington for further authority.

Given Freedom of Place.

Later he was admitted to the lodge and Supt. Jones of the Rockefeller estate informed him that he and his deputies could have the freedom of the place, a disclaimer heing entered that the barring of the gate against the deputy marshal was meant as an affront to federal authority. Marshal Chandler would not say positively last night that he believed John D. Rockefeller is at Forest Hill, but he said he felt sure that the latter is now within the jurisdiction of the federal court of Northern Ohio.

NO OFFENSE IN NAVAL MOVE.

Transfer of Fifteen Battleships to Pacific Not Contemplated.

Washington, July 4.—"No, Japan would not regard it as an unfriendly act if the American government saw fit to increase her naval representation in her territorial waters on the Pacific coast or even if she sent additional men of war to the Asiatic station. She would not look upon it as a menace or regard it with regret."

These were the words of Viscount Aoki, the Japanese ambassador to the United States, when his attention was called yesterday to published reports that the general board of the navy had recommended to the president that the battleships of the American fleet be sent around to the Pacific coast.

Uncle Sam Not "Skeered."

Published reports that sixteen battleships of the Atlantic fleet of the United States navy are to be transferred to the Pacific coast because of anti-American feeling in Japan were denied yesterday at Oyster Bay by William Loeb, President Roosevelt's secretary. Mr. Loeb said the report was without foundation; in fact, that such a movement has never been considered by the president and that its consideration is not contemplated.

RUIN IN PATH OF TORNADO.

Part of Texas County Destroyed—Many Injured but None Killed.

Rochester, Tex., July 4.—Early yesterday morning a tornado destroyed the greater part of this town. No deaths have been reported, but a number of persons are hurt. Farm houses in this locality have been demolished. As yet reports are meager from the outlying districts.

At Munday the tornado destroyed several buildings and one church. Business buildings were badly damaged. Several persons were hurt. A lumber yard was wrecked and lumber scattered over the country for miles.

At Wichita Falls the wind caused considerable damage.

At Olney, in Young county, a number of buildings were wrecked and the Ikleberger cotton gin destroyed.

RUSSIAN SEEKS ROOSEVELT.

Insane Man Wanders Around White House Looking for President.

Washington, July 4.—"I'm looking for the president," was the statement of Leonard A. Burd, twenty-four years of age, who was found wandering about the green room at the White House yesterday.

"What do you want with the president?" Policeman Jamison asked him.

"The president," answered the stranger, "telephoned to my home in Russia for me to come here and be made a citizen."

His conduct indicated that he was suffering from mental trouble, the policeman thought, and he sent Burd to the station.

Creel Will Visit Northwest.

Washington, July 4.—Senor Creel, the ambassador from Mexico, left here yesterday for New York, where he will remain a few days. The ambassador expects to visit the West and Northwest and will probably go to Canada.

Students Escape in Fire.

Huntsville, Ala., July 4.—The Calhoun building, home of the Condor training school, burned yesterday. Prof. J. E. Condor, principal, and several students narrowly escaped. The building cost $50,000.

INSURANCE INVESTMENTS.

How One Company's Assets Are Distributed in the South and West.

In connection with its withdrawal from Texas, along with many other companies, rather than to submit to the new law which requires that 75% of the reserves on Texas policies shall be invested in securities of that state, which securities shall be deposited in the state and subjected to heavy taxation, in addition to the large tax now imposed on life insurance premiums, the Equitable Life Assurance Society has made public the distribution of its assets, at the end of the second year of the new management. The Equitable now has $10,958,000 invested in Texas, which is twice as much as the new law requires, but the management decided that to submit to the additional taxation would be an injustice to its policyholders in other states, which impose no such penalty on the thrift of their citizens.

The Equitable's report shows that more than 37% of its total reserves are now invested in the southern and western states, while only 35% of its total insurance is carried in these states. Its investments are distributed as follows: Ala., $3,099,000; Ariz., $974,000; Ark., $4,038,000; Cal., $5,142,000; Col., $5,222,000; Fla., $4,924,000; Ga., $4,048,000; Idaho, $5,197,000; Ill., $12,617,000; Ind. Ter., $443,000; Ind., $6,836,000; Iowa, $3,690,000; Kansas, $11,637,000; Ky., $2,631,000; La., $3,054,000; Md., $2,207,000; Mich., $6,009,000; Minn., $2,065,000; Miss., $767,000; Mo., $8,197,000; Mont., $1,890,000; Neb., $7,526,000; Nev., $640,000; New Mex., $1,376,000; N. C., $1,649,000; N. D., $677,000; Ohio, $11,634,000; Okla., $1,006,000; Ore., $1,158,000; S. C., $975,000; S. D., $1,305,000; Tenn., $1,909,000; Utah, $2,134,000; Va., $6,592,000; Wash., $1,202,000; W. Va., $5,623,000; Wis., $2,342,000; Wyo., $3,367,000.

NO CHANCE FOR STRIFE.

Her Fiance Had Said So Himself and of Course He Knew.

"People think that because I am a woman," said Mrs. Hetty Green, "I can be imposed on; but usually they find out their mistake."

She was talking about a lawsuit wherein she had disputed her lawyer's bill and this topic naturally led her to the topic of women's trustfulness.

"There is a case in point," said Mrs. Green, smiling grimly, "about a young and pretty school teacher. She once asked her class for an original definition of the word 'wife.'

"'A wife is a rib,' said one little girl.

"'Wives are guiding stars,' said another.

"'A comforter,' said a third.

"'An inspiration,' said a fourth.

"Altogether the definitions were rather prosy and commonplace, but finally a child of eleven said:

"'A wife is a person for a man to find fault with when things go wrong.'

"'Good!' cried the pretty teacher, laughing. 'Good! That is the best definition of all. The best, the truest.'

"But that afternoon, on the way way home from school, the little girl whose definition had so pleased, tripped demurely up to the teacher and said:

"'Are you not going to marry that tall, handsome young man I see you with nearly every night?'

"'Yes,' said the teacher.

"'Well, then, if my definition of a wife was true—'

"'Ah, but, dear, with us nothing will ever go wrong. He says so himself.'"

Turned the Tables.

In a crowd waiting for a car at Eleventh street and Grand avenue yesterday was an old negro, who was inclined to be discursive. Two high school boys believed they saw a chance to make fun of him, and mad eseveral remarks at whic hthey themselves laughed heartily. Finally one of them said: "You're a preacher, aren't you, uncle?"

"Yes, sah," replied the negro, bringing forth the card. 'Ahm a undertaker, too. Ah don't wish you no bad luck, but Ah'd lak teh have yo' business."

COFFEE COMPLEXION.

Many Ladies Have Poor Complexions from Coffee.

"Coffee caused dark colored blotches on my face and body. I had been drinking it for a long while and these blotches gradually appeared, until finally they became permanent and were about as dark as coffee itself.

"I formerly had as fine a complexion as one could ask for.

"When I became convinced that coffee was the cause of my trouble, I changed and took to using Postum Food Coffee, and as I made it well, according to directions, I liked it very much, and have since that time used it in place of coffee.

"I am thankful to say I am not nervous any more, as I was when I was drinking coffee, and my complexion is now as fair and good as it was years ago. It is very plain that coffee caused the trouble."

Most bad complexions are caused by some disturbance of the stomach and coffee is the greatest disturber of digestion known. Almost any woman can have a fair complexion if she will leave off coffee and use Postum Food Coffee and nutritious, healthy food in proper quantity. Postum furnishes certain elements from the natural grains from the field that Nature uses to rebuild the nervous system and when that is in good condition, one can depend upon a good complexion as well as a good healthy body. EPIDEMIC FEARED IN NEW YORK

AS RESULT OF THE STRIKE OF GARBAGE AND ICE WAGON DRIVERS.

New York, July 2.—New York is in danger of an epidemic as a result of a strike of 2,000 garbage and an equal number of ice wagon drivers.

The health department is exhausting its resources to clean the streets, but last night the best that Dr. Darlington could promise was that 300 men will be at work this morning. Such a force will make little headway, as 755 carts are required to remove each day's accumulations and the work is six days behind.

The health department took hold late Friday and since has used its police powers vigorously and its emergency fund of $85,000 without stint, but so far has been unable to meet conditions.

Refuse From Curb to Curb.

Yesterday the situation grew hourly worse. What work was done was in the vicinity of Chinatown, on the East side. Meantime the waste accumulated in other streets. In places refuse was piled high and elsewhere strewn from curb to curb.

Unable to do better, the health squads scattered disinfectants through miles of highways.

"I do not believe there is any immediate danger of an epidemic," Dr. Darlington said to-night, "but the situation is grave and presents possibilities of imminent peril."

NO LET-UP IN THE CAMPAIGN.

Fifteen Corporations Are on the List for Investigation.

Washington, July 2.—The administration's campaign against corporations will be continued without let-up during the summer. Warm weather has set in, "dog days" are approaching, the White House is closed, the better part of official Washington has gone on vacation, but the trust buster has made arrangements to stick to his post until the snow flies.

The government is prosecuting, preparing to prosecute, or is investigating the operations of alleged combinations in restraint of trade as follows:

The Harriman railroads, Standard Oil, meat trust, steel trust, tobacco trust, spool thread trust, umbrella trust, anthracite coal trust, bituminous coal trust, harvester trust, powder trust, watch trust, sugar trust, the United Shoe Machinery company, the Cotton Exchange of New York and other commercial associations throughout the country.

Let None Escape.

In fact, the government is scrutinizing the business methods of the corporations that control the avenues of transportation, as well as those that proaching a monopoly, or something approaching a monopoly, of fuel, food and other articles of every day consumption in the United States.

The investigation is all-embracing. Its scope is widening daily. For example, during the past week announcement was made formally that the concern or concerns that control spool thread cotton, will soon be brought face to face with a suit in the federal courts involving alleged violation of the provisions of the anti-trust act. The powder trust also is to be hauled into the courts. It made the blunder of holding up the government, charging Uncle Sam exorbitant rates for powder and dynamite.

JUDGE LOVING IS ACQUITTED.

Jury Believed He Was Insane When He Killed Young Estes.

Houston, Va., July 2.—After being in the jury room for thirty-five minutes the jury returned a verdict of "not guilty" in the case of Former Judge William G. Loving of Nelson, manager of the valuable Virginia estate of Thomas F. Ryan, who was placed on trial here last Monday for the murder of Theodore Estes, the son of Sheriff M. K. Estes of Nelson county.

Judge Loving shot and killed young Estes on the afternoon of April 22 at Oak Ridge. The tragedy was a sequel of a buggy ride Estes had taken with the judge's daughter, Miss Elizabeth Loving, who told her father that her escort had drugged and assaulted her.

The foreman said that the jury voted unanimously for acquittal on the first ballot. He said that the basis of the verdict was insanity. He and other members of the jury believed that Judge Loving was void of his mind when he killed young Estes. The stress, he said, had been brought on by the story told him by his daughter. The real basis of the arguments of the counsel for the defendant was the "unwritten law."

BOY BATHER IS DROWNED.

Rapid Current Carries Lad to His Death.

Billings, Mont., July 2.—Word was received here from Big Timber of the drowning of John Widdicome, Jr., the seventeen-year-old son of John Widdicome. The lad is said to have been bathing in Boulder river and was carried down by the rapid current.

Woman Cuts Man's Throat.

Brinkley, Ark., July 2.—Following a terrific struggle for the possession of a razor, J. M. Cole, a farmer, was disarmed by his wife, who cut his throat, and, continuing the struggle, was killed by the woman.

Fast Train Wrecked.

Evansville, Minn., July 2.—Nels Olco's fast south-bound train was wrecked near here as the result of a wash-out. The injuries were confined almost entirely to cuts and bruises.

Saturday July 6, 1907.

The big cannon firecracker has done its last damage in Minnesota as a new law prohibits its sale in the state after this year.

Some of the big bankers are complaining that there is too much money, but we have not heard any any complaint from the newspaper fraternity.

It would seem as if the Great Northern could afford to put on another passenger coach on this line as there is hardly ever a chance for a passenger to get a seat going south from here.

The board of county commissioners were billed to meet last Monday at Red Lake Falls to consider the county seat removal petition, but three of the commissioners failed to appear, so no meeting was held. We are not informed as to what action will now be tsken, but it is probably another question for the courts to decide.

Milan Standard: The young man of today who has studied agriculture and prepared himself for the life of an educated farmer stands a better show for success than he who has taken up law or medicine. Because a man can wear nice clothes every day does not indicate that he is a howling success in life, either financially or otherwise. Above every thing else the growing generation should be taught to honor and respect honest toil, because from that source alone is derived all true wealth,

Simply Couldn't Suppose It.

Scottish folk are proverbially canny and prudent in money matters, and the following shows that the younger generation is no exception to the rule.

A teacher in a lowland school was taking mental arithmetic with a class of boys. She asked one urchin:

"How much would your mother give you to buy four pounds of tea at one and six a pound?"

"We na'er get sae much at once as that, mum."

"Never mind that. Four pounds at one and six?"

"But we canna afford the one and six, mum. We always hae the one and twa."

"Answer the question. What would she give you to pay for four pounds of tea at"—

"Nawthin', mum."

"What do you mean by 'nothing?'"

"She'd na' gie' me only bawbees. She'd tell me tae ask the mon tae pit it doon."

"Oh, dear! Oh, dear! But, supposing she did?"

With a pitying smile came the reply, "A can see y're ne'er met ma mither, mum."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

What Lava Is Good For.

Tourists in Italy are astonished at the practical use made of the lava that has flowed from Vesuvius in past and recent eruptions, for all Naples and its vicinity appear to be a world of lava. The streets are paved with it. There are staircases and statues, drinking troughs, bric-a-brac and even jewelry of this strange material which once bubbled from the yellow and dripping lips of the great crater above. The careless guides make money out of it by pressing coins or other objects on partially cooled fragments and selling these to visitors. On the ashy flanks of the mountain there is enough lava to build another New York or Chicago—a shoreless frozen sea, it seems, of dull black that shimmers strangely purple in some lights. These heaving billows and snakelike masses were once white hot, steaming and even exploding as the fiery flood met some little innocent stream on the way down.

Mistakes In War.

In the Bull Run defeat McDowell laid the blame on Patterson. In the battles around Richmond Lee's plans failed on account of Huger's lethargy. At Pittsburg Landing Grant would have been successful but for Wallace. At Gettysburg Lee's hands were tied by the dilatoriness of Stuart. And so on from the foundation of the world to the present time. It has been said by writers on the art of war that every battle is a series of mistakes. These mistakes are made on both sides and are the cause of victory as well as defeat. It is almost amusing to think of the numberless good and sufficient reasons that Shafter could have given if he had been defeated in Cuba. If Japan had been worsted in the Russo-Japanese war, one result would have been that Oyama would have written the book of lamentations and excuses instead of Kuropatkin.—Chicago Chronicle.

The Mayflower's Passengers.

The Mayflower's passengers before landing drew up and signed a document which was to serve as the compact to bind them together. Here are names of the signers:

Isaac Allerton, John Alden, John Allerton, William Bradford, William Brewster, John Billington, Peter Brown, Richard Britterage, John Carver, Francis Cook, James Chilton, John Crackston, Richard Clarke, Edward Doty, Francis Eaton, Thomas English, Samuel Fuller, Edward Fuller, Moses Fletcher, John Goodman, Richard Gardiner, John Howland, Stephen Hopkins, Edward Leister, Christopher Martin, William Mullins, Edmund Margeson, Degony Priest, Thomas Rogers, John Rigdale, Captain Miles Standish, George Soule, Edward Tilly, John Tilly, Thomas Tinker, John Turner, Edward Winslow, William White, Richard Warren, Thomas Williams, Gilbert Winslow. And servants as follows: Carter, Coper, Ely, Holbeck, Hooke, Langemore, Latham, Minter, More, Prower, Sampson, Story, Trevor, Thompson, Wilder. Women and children increased the total number to 101.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Most people would think that as man is, with very few exceptions, "right handed" he would be at the same time "right legged." But this is not the case. Almost every right handed man uses his left leg more than his right. For instance, most people find it much more natural to go around circles to the right than to the left. That is because they start with the left leg. Being stronger, it is more readily brought into action, and it is on this account that bodies of soldiery always start to march with the left foot. Almost all courses for foot races are made out for running to the right, and dancers will indorse the statement that the majority of movements are far more easily executed in that direction. The left foot is the one that is placed in the stirrup for mounting a horse, and in jumping it is from the left foot that the athlete "takes off." Thus it will be seen, as a general rule, "right handed" people are "left legged."

A Wellington Ruse.

Once during the Iron Duke's campaign in the Pyrenees it happened that General Picton's disposition for receiving the assault of Marshal Soult displeased him. The danger threatened from in front, and the difficulty lay in delaying the attack until Wellington could effect the change he wished. He was, as usual, equal to the occasion. Waving his hat in the air, he galloped to the front of the regiment as if he meant to order a charge. The whole of Picton's line cheered tremendously, and as the roar died away Wellington was heard to remark half to himself: "Soult is a cautious commander and will not attack in force without ascertaining the meaning of these cheers. That will leave time for the Sixth division to come up, and we shall beat him." This was exactly what happened, and Soult sustained a bloody repulse where he might have won an easy victory.

Hot Weather Beauty Hints.

Food needs careful study in summer. While it is very necessary to take sufficient nourishment to replace what the body loses from excessive heat, it should be remembered that fatty foods are great heat producers and should be taken only in small quantities. Hot drinks should be replaced with cool beverages. A good pure malt tonic, such as golden grain belt beer, is recommended for table use. It aids digestion and should be in every home. Keep a case in your cellar—it is handy for evening refreshments. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex. Thompson, Crookston.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of $16.70 which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Pierre Colomb and Lucie Colomb, his wife, mortgagors, to Wheeler-Misner Loan Co., a corporation, mortgagee, dated December 28th, 1904, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Red Lake, state of Minnesota, in book 33 of Mortgages on pages 505, 507 and 508, having been filed for such record January 9th, A. D. 1905, at 4 o'clock p. m.

Which said mortgage provides that if the mortgagors fail to pay interest on a prior mortgage therein mentioned for the principal sum of $1600.00 on the premises hereinafter described at the time the same shall become due under the conditions of said prior mortgage and the note secured thereby, then and in that event said mortgagee may pay such interest and have an additional claim and lien upon said premises therefor with interest on the amount so paid at the rate of 10 per cent per annum under the first above mentioned mortgage. That said mortgagors have failed to pay interest on said prior mortgage in the amount of $96.00 which became due December 28th, 1906, and the said mortgagee has paid said sum of $96.00 interest on said prior mortgage. That said first above mentioned mortgage also provides that in event the mortgagors shall fail to pay the taxes assessed against said premises before they become delinquent the mortgagee, in said mortgage might pay such taxes and claim an additional lien for the amount so paid with interest thereon at 10 per cent per annum under said mortgage. That said mortgagors in said first above mentioned mortgage failed to pay taxes assesed against said premises before the same became delinquent for the year 1904, and the said taxes amounting to the sum of $26.21 have been paid by the mortgagee in said first above mentioned mortgage, and said first above mentioned mortgage further provides that in event of the default on the part of the mortgagors therein in any of the terms or conditions thereof the whole sum secured thereby shall become due and payable at once. That the whole sum secured by said mortgage is the sum of $64.70 and said mortgagees have elected to and do hereby declare said sum to be due and in addition thereto said sum of $96.00 interest on said prior mortgage and interest thereon amounting to $2.50, and said sum of $26.21 taxes and interest thereon amounting to the sum of $3.40, in all amounting to the sum of $192.81; and no action or proceeding has been instituted at law, or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

That the premises described in and conveyed by said first above mentioned mortgage is the southwest quarter (SW¼) and the southeast quarter (SE¼) of the northwest quarter (NW¼) of section fourteen (14), in township one hundred fifty-one (151) north of range forty-five (45) west of the 5th P. M., in the county of Red Lake and state of Minnesota, subject to said prior mortgage of $1600.00.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said first above mentioned mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed thereby subject to said prior mortgage, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county at the front door of the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the 30th day of July, 1907, at the hour of 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt of $192.81 and interest and taxes on said premises and $25.00 attorney's fees, as stipulated in said mortgage, and the disbursements allowed by law in case of foreclosure of said mortgage; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

D. Collins, our genial photographer, was a caller at Thief River Falls between trains Wednesday. Upon his return home he was accompained by Miss Lucile Burns, who is visiting the Collins contingent for a few days.

We are in receipt a communication from Wylie signed "subscriber," concerning a couple of young people of that neighborhood. The news may be all right but we cannot use it as the writer failed to sign his name thereto.

Attorney and Mrs. Frank A. Grady and the two younger boys, Willard and Lovell, came up from Red Lake Falls the Fourth to celebrate with us. Mr. Grady delivered the address of the day and won for himself much glory for the able speech delivered.

A large addition has been added to the Crookston College this summer. The building is up-to-date in every respect and will now accommodate 500 students. The college catalog is just printed and you can get a copy free by writing to J. C. Sathre, Crookston, Minn.

Dr. J. C. Cummings reports the arrival Thursday evening of twins at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Nelson, over in Bray township. The youngsters—a boy and a girl, were reported as doing nicely, while the happy parents are receiving the hearty congratulations of numerous friends.

While returning home from the celebration Thursday night Gust Kjonikson's horse went into the ditch, upsetting the buggy and throwing the occupants out. Mrs. Kjonikson received a fracture of the arm and had to be brought back to town and have the wounded member dressed. The rest of the occupants were pretty badly shaken up, but none receiving serious injuries.

Rudolph Alverson came down from Thief River Falls Monday afternoon and in alighting from the train when it was in motion came near meeting with a serious accident. Stubbing his toe he pitched head-long between the coach and platform and but for Wm. Olson the result might have proved fatal, for he grabbed the fallen man by the feet and held him off the rail until the train stopped. A bruised head and a new lease of life were the victim's receipts.

Capt. H. C. Doughty, of St. Paul, was a pleasant caller in our little village on Monday. The Captain owns a half section of land in River Falls township about six miles southeast of town and is fitting the same up for a stock ranch. He is an experienced stockman and in selecting his herd buys only the best of stock. While here Mr. Doughty bought of C. H. Martz a couple of thoroughbred bulls—a two-year-old for which he paid eighty dollars and a bull calf two months old which stood him an even fifty. Such enterprise bespeaks for our community good citizenship, and we only hope to see more of such enterprising people locate in our midst. We have a cordial welcome for such men as Captain Doughty, and we hope to see him more frequent in the future.

The Fourth of July picnic proved a great success and all those who availed themselves of the opportunity to spend the day with us have only a good time with lots doing to report. The crowd was unusually large considering the heavy rain during the early morning, and none lacked for something with which to be entertained. There was a ball game between the second nine from Red Lake Falls and the local team—resulting in a score of nine to eight in our favor, a wedding, running races, hop, skip and jump, tug of war, wheelbarrow race, log rolling contest, and various other amusements, besides a grand ball at the Imperial hall in the evening. It was indeed a gala day and all those attending seemed to enjoy the occasion greatly.

Don't fail to read the advertisements in The Spectator each week as bargains in various lines are offered by our merchants. It pays to trade in St. Hilaire, for you can buy as cheaply here as any where, and besides every dollar spent at home adds greatly towards the upbuilding of the community. The country surrounding our little village is rapidly filling up with farmers who are either experienced in dairying or willing to try such, and the success attending their efforts insures the permanent residence of all new comers, while those who have been patronizing the creamery since its establishment some five years ago are well pleased with results and will tell you their bank account is growing. Grass, timothy and clover grow here abundantly, and stock thrives nicely, and with the residents working together for the upbuilding and advancement of the community, you will find it a nice place in which to "cast an anchor." A warm welcome is given all who "pitch their tents" among us, everybody believes in patronizing home industries, and The Spectator is a household necessity.

The crowning event of the season was the farewell party and banquet given Banker J. K. Hannay at Hotel Markham last Saturday evening by the Commercial Club. The occasion was one in which to pay bon voyage to a departing citizen and his estimable family, but it proved a gathering where peace and harmony prevailed and all ill feelings were cast aside. It brought together merchants and citizens who had heretofore been at swords points, and the evening was passed in social enjoyment. Cards, cigars and light refreshments held the tables until a late hour, when the doors of the dining room were thrown open and the guests invited to step therein. Plates were laid for thirty, with Mr. Hannay at the head of the table as guest of honor. A four course supper was served, after which a few toasts and remarks were offered by those present—Mr. Hannay leading with a few remarks on the future of the community, and was followed by C. L. Hansen, H. E. Ives, O. F. Post, C. H. Martz, R. C. Workman and Mayor A. S. Wilson. All speakers advanced new ideas and suggested that steps be taken inviting manufacturers and farmers to pay us a visit before locating elsewhere. Our water power facilities would appeal to the manufacturer, while the tiller of the soil and stock raiser will find this the garden spot of the world. All have pledged to work in harmony and we hope the time is not far distant when every quarter section will be farmed by a thrifty rural citizen, and towering mills and factories dot every available spot about the hamlet. The banquet held lights until the wee hours of morn, when all bade the guest of honor a kind good night with best wishes for the family health, prosperity and happiness in their new western home.

An Ideal All-Around Newspaper.

Probably no other newspaper in the United States can show so brilliant an array of special features suited to the tastes and needs of every member of the family as The Chicago Record-Herald. Its regular daily and Sunday features include the letters of William E. Curtis and Walter Wellman, besides the special dispatches from the great centers. Next in importance comes The Record-Herald's unparalleled foreign news service, embracing its own special cables and those of the New York Herald, World, Journal of Commerce and Associated Press. Its pages devoted to commercial and financial news of all kinds are unsurpassed in scope and accuracy. Among other noteworthy features are its popular sporting page, its sound editorials, Kiser's humerous "Alternating Currents," the lively "Stories of the Street and Town," the railroad and insurance columns, music and drama, society and clubs, daily reviews of the latest books, the continued story, the "Woman Beautiful" department, the daily fashion article, "Meals for a Day," news of the lakes, etc., besides a complete array of local and domestic news—all uniting to give the people of Chicago and the northwest a complete and interesting all-around newspaper. The Sunday Magazine of the Record-Herald is an artistic and literary triumph. Famous authors and illustrators, fine paper and presswork, combine to make it the rival of the great independent periodicals and a distinct departure in Sunday journalism.

Council Proceedings.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA,
Saturday, June 29, '07.

Special meeting of the village council of the village of St. Hilaire was held in the village hall June 29, 1907, at eight o'clock p. m.

Meeting called to order by President Wilson, and all members reported present except Alderman Hoff.

The president stated that the object of the meeting was to hear reasons for, or against the granting of liquor license to Mike Anderson, H. A. Johnson and Chas. Fellman. As there were no objections licenses were on motion granted to the above named to sell intoxicating liquors for a period of one year from July 1st, 1907, and the president and clerk were instructed to issue the license when the above named Mike Anderson, H. A. Johnson and Chas. Fellman paid over to the treasurer the required amount and furnish bonds.

On motion meeting adjourned.

"It gives me pleasure to testify to the curative qualities of Peruna and Manalin.

"I was afflicted for over seven years with catarrh of the head, throat and digestive organs. I consulted many physicians, but they did me no good.

"One day I happened to read some testimonials in your Peruna almanac. I decided to try Peruna and Manalin. I bought a bottle of each, and after taking them for a week I noticed a change for the better. So I kept it up, and after using twelve bottles I was perfectly cured.

"I also gave the medicine to my children and they had the same beneficial result. I would never be without these remedies in the house.

"I highly recommend Peruna and Manalin to all my friends, and in fact to everybody."

Miss Mildred Grey, 110 Weimar St., Appleton, Wis., writes:

"It gives me pleasure to recommend Peruna for catarrh of the stomach. I had this disease for a number of years, and could not enjoy a mouthful of food that I ate. It was indeed a great relief when I hit upon Peruna, and obtained decided results from the first. I took six bottles before I felt entirely cured of my trouble, but I had an aggravated case."

MASURY'S HOUSE PAINT

THE PAINT THAT ENDURES

THE house paints manufactured by John W. Masury & Son will preserve and keep intact the materials of which a building is constructed for a longer period than the ordinary paints so generally offered for sale. Masury's House Paints are standard and have been for sixty-five years. They have been submitted to every possible test of endurance and no instance is recorded where they have failed. It costs as much to paint with untried paints as it does to paint with Masury's, which are the best.

JOHN W. MASURY & SON

NEW YORK and CHICAGO

DR. WILEY INTERVIEWED.

Gave the Reporter Something But Not Just What He Was Looking For.

Dr. Wiley of the department of agriculture is a hard man to deal with in some ways. He has a habit of exploding in an anti-climax and handing a visitor a citrus fruit of some sort when he came around for something less acid. When they passed the whisky decision last week there was an immediate descent of correspondents on Dr. Wiley for his views on the question. Now, he probably had views to burn, but not for distribution. He told several inquirers gravely that it was not for him to pass comments of any sort on the decision of the attorney general, that it would add nothing to it should he agree. So he declined to be quoted. But late in the evening one of the out-of-town papers called him up and fairly demanded something—anything—so it could be used as a quotation from Dr. Wiley in connection with the general subject of pure food.

"All right," said the doctor, gravely, "I have refused to talk to anybody about the decision, but if it is only generalities I can tell you something if you promise to quote me accurately. It's something I haven't confided to any one else, either."

The inquirer on the other end of the 'phone pricked up his ears and urged the chief chemist to go ahead.

"Well, I will tell you, then," said the doctor, the department of agriculture, through the department of justice, has asked that a prosecution be instituted against Prof. Willis Moore for misbranding this weather we are having and calling it April when it ought to be labeled 'imitation March.'"

THOUGHT IT A BEAUT.

How a Congressman Secured a High Valuation on His Painting.

The recent exhibit of American paintings in Corcoran gallery at Washington was, collectively, undeniably splendid, but there were a few works in the show that were not. What was probably the very worst was purchased by an enthusiastic member of congress, whose judgment runs to horses rather than art. When exhibiting this purchase he never fails to remark:

"Isn't that a beaut? Biggest bargain you ever heard of. Got it for $300 and (here he names one of the country's foremost artists) says it is worth $10,000."

A friend of the artist heard this statement and upon seeing him immediately broke out:

"Say, you remember that awful marine daub which the tall timber congressman bought? Well, he's going around telling every one that you said it's worth $10,000. What does it mean?"

The artist smiled.

"Well, you see," he explained; "he cornered me one day and wanted me to fix a value on it, but I told him I wouldn't like to do that. However, he then came at me with one I couldn't dodge by asking, 'Well, how much would you charge to paint a picture like that?' and I assured him most earnestly that I wouldn't paint one like it for $10,000."

STEEL STREETS IN PARIS.

Made of Harrow Points Filled in with Fine Concrete.

Paris is experimenting with the latest thing in pavement. They call it steel pavement, but it is really a concrete pavement reinforced with a steel framework.

The trial section of it has been laid on the rue Saint-Martin, in front of the conservatoire of arts and industries.

The metal part of the pavement is a plate of perforated steel with strong bolts of steel running through it between the perforations. Each section has some resemblance to a steel harrow, only the prongs project equally on each side and they are square and blunt.

The plates are arranged close together on a bed of rough concrete, such as is used for wood block pavement. Then a specially prepared cement is shoveled upon them in a soft condition and rammed down until it makes a solid mass, with the steel frame just leveled off evenly with the upper tips of the prongs.

The steel prongs are so close together that the shoe of every horse and every wheel of any width must rest in part on them and in part on the cement.

It is expected in this way to secure a highly durable, but distinctly uneven surface, one on which horses will have sure footing in all weathers and on which they can secure the necessary purchase to pull heavy loads.

It will be superior to asphalt in ultimate economy and to wood, both in the better footing that it affords to horses and in the fact that it will not admit of dangerous ruts developing.

The life of such a pavement without serious repair is estimated at ten years as a minimum.—N. Y. Sun.

Too Much to Expect.

They tell this one about a small boy who lives near Bean lake. He was fishing, and his mother had to call him five times to make him hear. Finally, she landed on him, and shaking him in a terrible manner, wanted to know why he did not answer. This was his reply: "I didn't hear you the first three times, and the last time I had a bite."—Kansas City Star.

Mrs. James French, 65 Weir Street, Taunton, Mass., says: "When I began using Doan's Kidney Pills I was so run down and miserable that I could hardly endure it. Terrible pains in the back attacked me frequently and the kidney secretions were much disordered. I was a nervous wreck and there seemed no hope. Doan's Kidney Pills brought my first relief and six boxes have so thoroughly cured and regulated my kidneys that there has been no return of my old trouble."

Ready for the Job.

"I put in a small advertisement for a shipping clerk last week," said a merchant, "and got 117 replies. One of the replies amused me. Let me read it to you."

He took from his wallet and read:

"Dear Sir: In response to your small ad, would say am applicant for post designated, and if taken on am sure would suit.

"I understand shipping in all its branches, having had seventeen years experience in same.

"Would say further that I can always write a good letter, even when I am drunk."

Turned the Tables.

In a crowd waiting for a car at Eleventh street and Grand avenue yesterday was an old negro, who was inclined to be discursive. Two high school boys believed they saw a chance to make fun of him, and mad eseveral remarks at whic hthey themselves laughed heartily. Finally one of them said: "You're a preacher, aren't you, uncle?"

"Yes, sah," replied the negro, bringing forth the card. 'Ahm a undertaker, too. Ah don't wish you no bad luck, but Ah'd lak teh have yo' business."

ONE MAN'S EXPERIENCE IN WESTERN CANADA.

There Are Thousands of Opportunities in the Land of Opportunity.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir:

The following experience of an Illinois man who went to Western Canada six years ago is but one of the thousands of letters that could be reproduced showing how prosperity follows the settler on the fertile lands of Western Canada. This letter was written to the Chicago agent of the Government of the Dominion of Canada and is dated at Evarts, Alberta, April 8th, 1907:

"It is six years the 5th of this month since I and family landed in Red Deer, family sick and only $75 in my pocket. Bought a $12 lot, built a 12x14 shack and went to work as a carpenter. Next May sold for $400 (had added 16x18 building to shack). Purchased two lots at $70 each and built a 23x28 two story building and sold for $950. Filed on a quarter section 33 miles N. W. of Red Deer and have spent three years on it and am well pleased. Quarter all fenced and cross fenced, wire and rail, 2½ miles of fence. House 29x31 feet on stone foundation. Last year was my first attempt to raise grain, 1½ acres of fall wheat, yield grand, but was frosted August 2nd, was cut August 16th and made good pig feed. Had 1½ acres fall rye that I think could not be beat. A farmer from Dakota cut it for me; he said he never saw such heavy grain anywhere. Straw was 7 feet high. I had 4 acres of 2 rowed barley on fall breaking that did not do so well, yet it ripened and gave me all the feed I need for stock and seed for this spring. I did not have grain threshed, so can't give yield, but the wheat would have gone at least 25 bu. to the acre. Have a log stable 31x35 feet, broad roof and two smaller buildings for pigs and chickens.

"I have lived in Harvey, Ills., and know something about it. I have been hungry there and though able and willing to work could get none to do. One Saturday evening found me without any supper or a cent to get it with. A friend, surmising my situation, gave me a dollar, which was thankfully accepted and later paid back. Wife and I are thankful we came here. We were living near Mt. Vernon, Ills., as perhaps you remember visiting me there and getting me headed for the Canadian Northwest, and a happy day it has proved for me. I have not grown rich, but I am prospering. I would not take $3,000 for my quarter now. The past winter has been a hard one, but I worked outside the coldest day (52 below) all day and did not suffer. We are getting a school started now that is badly needed.

"Our P. O., Evarts, is about 15 miles; there is another office 6 miles, but it is not convenient to us. Wife and I would not exchange our home here for anything Illinois has to offer.

"Yours truly,

"(Sd.) E. EMBERLEY."

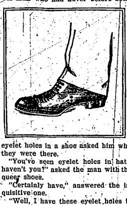
DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

AIR HOLES IN HIS SHOES.

A Man Has Eyelets Put Into Them for Ventilation.

A business man in this city wears shoes with eyelet holes in the leather at the side of the instep. There are two holes, one above the other, upon the inside of each shoe, just above the sole.



A man who had never before seen eyelet holes in a shoe asked him why they were there.

"You've seen eyelet holes in hats, haven't you?" asked the man with the queer shoes.

"Certainly have," answered the inquisitive one.

"Well, I have these eyelet holes in my shoes for the same reason, to ventilate my feet, to give them fresh air. My feet perspire, and I thought an airhole or two would carry off the moisture and give me more comfort."

"And does it?"

"Well, I imagine it does, and that's the same thing."—Kansas City Star.

Flames From the Water.

Natural gas is a wonderful thing, and the tricks it can play seem to upset many laws of nature. Up Deer Creek, in Allen county, a short distance from the big gusher recently brought in by the Prime Western Spelter company, the drillers have a pumping plant to supply the boiler of the drill rig with water. Among the pipes that are run down to the creek is one carrying the gas which leaks from the casing of the big well. This pipe has been run out into midstream and the escaping gas causes the water to boil violently. The escaping gas has been ignited, and so this boiling fountain in the middle of the creek burns with a hot, boiling flame, each bubble being filled with gas. The sight at night is weird, and such a fountain would be attractive in a park but for the fact that a good quantity of gas would be consumed.—Kansas City Journal.

Tattooed Dogs.

For a long time dog owners have been at a loss to know just how they could place permanent identification marks upon their pets. Dog collars are out of the question on account of the numerous petty thieves who make a specialty of stealing them from dogs all over the city. An inventive Chinaman of the Tenderloin, who heard of the thieves' operations, has hit upon a plan which makes collars useless. His name is Len Hung, and he is an expert in tattooing. Len reads the lost and found columns in the newspapers and gets in touch with dog owners all over the city. He tattoos the master's initials under the dog's left ear and also any private mark that the owner desires. The marks are guaranteed to last as long as the ear or until the animal is ready for dog heaven.—Philadelphia Record.

Count Lambert's "Glider."

This apparatus, launched at Billancourt near Paris, may revolutionize the automobile and navigation worlds. Designed by Count Lambert it is composed of a chassis mounted on horizontal planes. The method of propulsion is an aerial screw driven by an Antoinette motor of 70 horsepower. The advantage of this hydroplane is that the draught is almost nil in consequence of there being no keel, and as the screw is an aerial one it can be navigated where water is shallow.

Stray Dog Has Sparrow Associate.

A curious sight in one of the principal streets is a stray dog whose constant associate is a sparrow which seems to have acquired the absurd habit of perching on the dog's head. The amusing feature of the thing is the solemn quiet with which the dog receives the attention of his feathered friend, turning its head only when the bird gets upon the end of his nose—a spot which is, apparently, rather sensitive.

The meeting of the two generally takes place at noon, when the dog has finished foraging for his morning meal.—Duluth News-Tribune.

Toads on the March.

Ranchers in the vicinity of the George Bixby ranch say that the myriads of toads which have covered the fields and roads in that section for weeks past have begun to migrate overland toward the ocean and can be seen by hundreds hopping across country southwesterly.

The ponds and sloughs in which they had their birth have dried up. The ranchers say that seven years ago there was a like migration of frogs and toads from the ranches to the sea, but the amphibians are more numerous this time.—Los Angeles Times.

Welcoming Church Bells.

Curious scenes occurred at the village of St. Keverne (Cornwall) on the arrival of a new peal of bells for the parish church.

A large procession of villagers, headed by the local band, marched out to meet the bells, which were drawn by horses on four wagons. Men, women and children carried flags and wreaths and wild flowers were laid on the bells.—London Daily Graphic.

ELEVEN YEARS OF ECZEMA.

Hands Cracked and Bleeding—Nail Came Off of Finger—Cuticura Remedies Brought Prompt Relief.

"I had eczema on my hands for about eleven years. The hands cracked open in many places and bled. One of my fingers was so bad that the nail came off. I had tried so many remedies, and they all had failed to cure me. I had seen three doctors, but got no relief. Finally I got a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and two bottles of Cuticura Resolvent Pills. Of course I keep Cuticura Soap all the time for my hands, but the one cake of Soap and half a box of Cuticura Ointment cured them. I recommend the Cuticura Remedies to all suffering with eczema. Mrs. Eliza A. Wiley, R. F. D. No. 2, Liscomb, Ia., Oct. 18, 1906."

War Dogs for Turkey.

Maj. Richardson, who recently took three ambulance dogs to Turkey and instructed the Albanian soldiers of the guard at Yildiz in their use, has been created by the sultan a commander of the Order of the Medjidieh, says the London Daily News.

The sultan, who witnessed the performance of the dogs in his private grounds, expressed great delight at their work. Maj. Richardson says that the sultan is a good sportsman, with a thorough knowledge of dogs. The system has been adopted for the Turkish army.

Pure White Lead is the Natural Paint Pigment

Numerous compounds are being offered to take the place of white lead as a paint, but no real substitute for it has yet been found. Pure White Lead has a peculiar property of amalgamating with the wood upon which it is used—added to this it has an elasticity which permits the paint to follow the natural expansion and contraction of the wood. Pure White Lead (with its full natural tenacity and elasticity, unimpaired by adulterants), alone fulfills all the requirements of the ideal paint. Every keg which bears the Dutch Boy trade mark is positively guaranteed to be absolutely Pure White Lead made by the Old Dutch Process.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twentytwo per cent., or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirtyseven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse, but you must see that it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Castoria causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. A. F. Peeler, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria in many cases and have always found it an efficient and speedy remedy."

Dr. E. Down, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria in my practice for many years with great satisfaction to myself and benefit to my patients."

Dr. Edward Parrish, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria in my own household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild laxative effect and freedom from harm."

Dr. J. B. Elliott, of New York City, says: "Having during the past six years prescribed your Castoria for infantile stomach disorders, I most heartily commend its use. The formula contains nothing deleterious to the most delicate of children."

Dr. C. G. Sprague, of Omaha, Neb., says: "Your Castoria is an ideal medicine for children, and I frequently prescribe it. While I do not advocate the indiscriminate use of proprietary medicines, yet Castoria is an exception for conditions which arise in the care of children."

Dr. J. A. Parker, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria holds the esteem of the medical profession in a manner held by no other proprietary preparation. It is a sure and reliable medicine for infants and children. In fact, it is the universal household remedy for infantile ailments."

Dr. H. F. Merrill, of Augusta, Me., says: "Castoria is one of the very finest and most remarkable remedies for infants and children. In my opinion your Castoria has saved thousands from an early grave. I can furnish hundreds of testimonials from this locality as to its efficiency and merits."

Dr. Norman M. Geer, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "During the last twelve years I have frequently recommended your Castoria as one of the best preparations of the kind, being safe in the hands of parents and very effective in relieving children's disorders, while the ease with which such a pleasant preparation can be administered is a great advantage."

TRIAL OF HAYWOOD

For Murder of Gov. Steunenberg.

Bar Testimony of the Defense.

Boise, July 6.—At the adjournment of the Steunenberg trial Wednesday the prosecution served notive of its intention to submit motions to strike out evidence of the defense unless the connecting-up testimony that has been promised is forthcoming.

Orchard's Story Attacked.

The defense operated along nearly all of its lines. There were attacks on Orchard's testimony at several points; there was a showing that union miners had been abused by the mine owners and militia at Cripple Creek and Telluride; that Pinkerton agents had advised violence and endeavored to prolong a strike; a woman who served with the relief committee that looked after the families of the deported miners at Cripple Creek swore that she had been twice arrested and twice warned that if she persisted in her work she would be deported, and another woman located Orchard with Detectives Scott and Sterling the night of the second attempt to wreck the Florence & Cripple Creek railway train.

Coates on the Stand.

Two of the witnesses figured conspicuously in the testimony of Orchard. They were David Coates, formerly lieutenant governor of Colorado, and Pat Moran, formerly a saloonkeeper of Cheyenne.

Coates denied Orchard's version of the plot to kidnap the children of August Paulson, and Moran denied that he made a trip from Cheyenne to Denver after the Independence station was blown up for the purpose of getting $500 from George A. Pettibone for Orchard.

Coates swore Orchard made threats against Steunenberg and that he loaned him $10 and that August Paulson loaned Orchard $300 on which to leave Wallace.

Beginning of End in Haywood Trial.

Boise, July 7. — The beginning of the end of the Haywood trial was reached yesterday. Counsel for the defense announced that, with the exception of three or four witnesses, their case in direct is before the jury. Charles H. Moyer, the accused president of the Western Federation of Miners, will be called as a witness on Monday next. He will be followed by William D. Haywood, the defendant.

Judge Fremont Wood has asked counsel on both sides to submit their requests for instructions to the jury.

Agree on Instructions.

He has notified counsel that he will consider these requests and will agree with counsel as to what his instructions shall be in order that the arguments on both sides may be limited to what the jury shall be allowed to consider as evidence.

In adjourning court yesterday afternoon until next Monday, Judge Wood said he hoped the interval would be utilized by counsel in preparation that would prevent further delay and bring the case to as speedy a close as possible. Counsel for the defense and for the prosecution, after the adjournment yesterday afternoon were willing to admit the possibility of a verdict or disagreement in two weeks.

Discredit Orchard.

The five witnesses on the stand yesterday morning added support to those who have preceded them. They were called to testify concerning conditions existing in Colorado during the the disturbances at Cripple Creek and to show that there was no reason to call out the militia. Orchard was further discredited by Owen Barnes, a miner, who lived near the Independence mine, and who Orchard said assisted him in the manufacture of bombs. Barnes said he knew Orchard, Adams, Easterly and others, but flatly denied that he ever planned or discussed any criminal expedition with Orchard.

Depositions Read to Jury.

Boise, Idaho, July 10. — Part of the San Francisco depositions dealing with the Bradley explosion were read yesterday to the jurymen that are trying Haywood for the murder of Frank Steunenberg and the rest of them will be presented to-day. The reading began directly after the court sat, with Clarence Darrow and Senator Borah alternating for their respective sides. The depositions have an important bearing upon the case, but they contained no interest for the crowd, and the attendance was the lightest since the trial began.

Both sides seemed to be satisfied with the showing made by the depositions and their contents will probably furnish much material for directly opposed contention when the trial reaches the argument stage. One objection from the state constituted the sole interruption for the day, and during all the rest of the time counsel for both sides seemed united in getting all the matter in the sworn statements before the jury.

Charge Plot to Convict Haywood.

Boise, Idaho, July 11.—The defense in the Steunenberg murder case yesterday charged that Detective James McParland has been guilty of an attempt to manufacture testimony against William D. Haywood, but was unsuccessful in getting the basis and details of the charge before the jury.

Alva A. Swain, a newspaper correspondent at Denver, was called to the stand and questioned as to a conversation he had with Detective McParland in Denver last fall. Senator Borah, for the state, objected to the conversation on the grounds that no foundation had been laid for it.

To Show Conspiracy.

Clarence Darrow, for the defense, who was examining Swain, explained that the testimony was offered for the purpose of showing a conspiracy existed between the mine owners and the Pinkertons to secure the conviction of the prisoner.

"McParland approached this witness in an attempt to manufacture testimony," he declared, "and I believe we have a right to show it."

Judge Wood said there was nothing in the evidence that furnished a proper foundation for the introduction of such testimony, and sustained the state's objection. The defense took an exception and said they would later make another attempt to secure the admission of Swain's testimony.

Orchard Blamed Steunenberg.

Allen F. Gill, formerly master mechanic of the Tiger and Poorman mine and later city engineer of Spokane, and his wife, were also witnesses for the defense. They jointly related that Harry Orchard attempted to sell them his interest in the Hercules mine in February and March, 1899, which was just prior to his departure from the Coeur d'Alenes, and Mr. Gill, who saw Orchard in Spokane a month before he killed Steunenberg, testified that Orchard said that it was because of Steunenberg that he lost his interest in the Hercules.

Almost the entire day was given over to the reading of the rest of the San Francisco depositions.

Boise, Idaho, July 11.—Charles H. Moyer went on the stand yesterday as a witness for his fellow defendant, William H. Haywood, and besides making positive denial of all the crimes attributed to him and the other federation leaders by Harry Orchard, offered an explanation of the unsolicited appearance of the Western Federation of Miners as the defender of Harry Orchard immediately after his arrest at Caldwell for the murder of Gov. Steunenberg.

Moyer swore that it was Jack Simpkins who engaged Attorney Fred Miller at Spokane to go to Caldwell

To Represent Orchard,

then known as Thomas Hogan, and that it was at the request of Simpkins that the witness and Haywood had subsequently advanced $1,500 from the funds of the federation to meet the expense of defending Orchard.

Moyer denied that he had ever discussed any kind of criminal act with Orchard or any one else, or that he had ever given him a cent except for expenses on the trip Orchard made to Ouray as a bodyguard for him. He said that he had no personal feeling of hostility for Steunenberg, and there were no circumstances that would make him desire the life of John Neville, whom Orchard testified Moyer wanted killed.

Moyer Denies Orchard's Story.

Moyer denied that he participated in the conference in Pettibone's back yard, where Orchard said he, Haywood and Pettibone had discussed various acts of violence; denied knowledge of the subsequent meeting at federation headquarters, where Orchard swore that Steunenberg's and Neville's executions were planned, and denied the material statements in all of Orchard's testimony.

Moyer remained on the stand under direct examination from shortly after 10 o'clock in the morning until a few minutes before 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and most of the time was taken up with a recital of the witness' connection with the federation of miners.

Helena, Mont., July 11. — Joseph Uhler, a self-confessed diamond thief, is under arrest here and two stones, valued at $2,000, have been recovered.

Uhler has been under surveillance for several days and finally was arrested as a suspicious character. During a talk with the chief of police a name was mentioned which happened to correspond to that of a Cleveland detective and Uhler lost his nerve and confessed all.

FLOOD IS SPREADING.

Army of Men Fight to Save 20,000 Acres of Cultivated Land.

Bakersfield, Cal., July 7. — Uninterruptedly the waters of Buena Vista lake are still pouring through the great gap of a broken levee, and slowly the flood is spreading toward the San Emilio road, where an army of men and horses is feverishly at work on an embankment that it is hoped will save 20,000 acres of cultivated land from inundation.

BOY AND FATHER DROWN.

Heroic Parent Plunges to Death When Son Is in Peril.

Rochester, N. Y., July 7.—Charles Beck, sixteen years old, attempted to swim the canal with his trousers of yesterday, but his strength deserted him in midstream and he called for help.

His father, Lewis Beck, heard the boy's cries. He ran to the canal, jumped in and succeeded in reaching the boy, but both sank.

NO FOUNDATION FOR TALK OF WAR

JAPAN IS TOO WISE TO PICK A QUARREL, SAYS CHAIRMAN HULL.

MAKE APPEAL TO PRESIDENT

PEACE PROPAGANDISTS FEAR RESULT OF SENDING FLEET TO PACIFIC.

Washington, July 11.—Developments in Washington and elsewhere, as disclosed by official expressions here and dispatches from other important sources fail to indicate that there is any sound foundation for talk of war between the United States and Japan, but interesting sidelights on past discussions were thrown from many directions

Congressman John A. T. Hull of Iowa, chairman of the house committee on military affairs, in an interview at Des Moines, said:

"Neither Japan nor the United States wants war at this time. There is a big element in Japan who would welcome war, but the ruling classes are too wise to pick a quarrel with the United States.

"If there is war we will at first lose the Philippines and Hawaiian islands, but we would triumph in the end, for the United States would build warships and fight out a victory.

"We are the only nation which can conduct a war and get rich at the same time."

View With Alarm.

The executive committee of the Universal Peace union at a meeting in Philadelphia yesterday placed itself on record as opposed to sending a fleet of warships to the Pacific ocean. Resolutions were adopted declaring that the sending of a fleet to the Pacific is unwise, inopportune and irritating, and appealing to the president to withhold any such demonstration.

At Boston the Anti-Imperialist league adopted resolutions appealing for action against "the continued and indefinite retention of the Philippine islands."

Fortify the Islands.

There is to be no delay on the part of the war department in utilizing the appropriations made at the last session of congress for fortifying the American dependencies in the Pacific ocean. In order that the keys to these possessions may be put in condition for defense as rapidly as possible, the department is arranging for the transportation of ordnance material purchased for American coasts to Hawaii and the Philippines, and will replace it at once with funds which became available on July 1.

Metcalf Not Warlike.

Oakland, Cal., July 10.—Secretary of the Navy Metcalf deprecates the warlike aspect that has been given the order for the cruise of the great battleship squadron from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast. The secretary said that the proposed movement was that of a practice cruise and that the fleet would not be kept in the Pacific permanently.

SIX YOUTHS DROWNED.

Sloop Is Hit by Sudden Sqall and Capsizes.

Bangor, Me., July 11. — Six young men of a party of seven were drowned in Penobscot bay late yesterday by the capsizing of the sloop Ruth E. Cummock of Brooksville. The sloop had reached the point off Castine when she was struck by a sudden squall and capsized.

Family Breaks Quarantine.

Faribault, Minn., July 11.—A family traveling with the carnival which exhibited here last week was quarantined in this city for measles, one of their children being sick with the disease. When the company left the parties broke quarantine, and left with the company for Crookston. Dr. Bracken of the state board of health was notified.

Would-be Assassin to Die.

Moscow, July 11.—Mme. Fromonki, who in March last attempted to assassinate Gen. Rheinbot, the ex-prefect of police, and who on May 13 made an attempt to murder the inspector of the political prison here, wounding him with a pistol, which had been smuggled into her cell, was yesterday sentenced to death.

Hurt in Auto Accident.

Newton, Iowa, July 11.—H. B. Alfree, a banker of this city, received serious injuries in an automobile accident near here. While climbing a steep hill Alfree lost control of the machine, and it backed down the hill, striking an obstruction and overturning, Alfree being pinned beneath.

Ten Months' Imprisonment.

Portland, Ore., July 11.—Marion R. Biggs, convicted of conspiracy in the famous Blue Mountain land fraud case, was yesterday sentenced to ten months in the Multnomah county jail. He will also pay a fine of $500.

Dies in Parliament.

Lincoln, Neb., July 11. — The state in the house of commons last evening Sir Alfred Billson, member for the northwest division of Staffordshire, died suddenly from apoplexy. The house immediately adjourned.

BUILDING FALLS; MEN BURIED

AT LEAST FOUR KILLED AND FIFTEEN INJURED IN COLLAPSE.

Philadelphia, July 11.—Three men are known to have been killed, one was fatally hurt and fifteen others were injured in the collapse of a new concrete building yesterday at the plant of Bridgman Bros. & Co., manufacturers of steam fitters' supplies. The body of Marshall Hopkins and those of two unidentified colored men have been taken from the ruins. It is believed there are others buried under the heavy mass of concrete. The building collapsed because the shorings were taken away from the concrete before it had properly set.

At the time of the collapse about twenty-five men were at work on the structure, and when the east wall began to crumble many of the workmen jumped and escaped with their lives. A number of others were carried down beneath the hundreds of tons of concrete, and if they were not instantly killed it is believed they cannot survive their injuries until the rescuers reach them.

Scores of men are at work endeavoring to reach the unfortunate workmen, but the work of rescue is necessarily slow because of the immense weight of the debris which must be removed. Concrete and huge girders are piled as high as the second story of the structure.

PLEAD "UNWRITTEN LAW."

Woman and Son Would Justify Killing of Recalcitrant Lover.

La Plata, Md., July 11.—The so-called "unwritten law" will be the plea of the defense in the case of Mrs. Mary Bowie and her son, Henry Bowie of Pisgah, Charles county, who are accused of shooting and killing Hubert Posey on the night of Jan. 18 for his refusal to marry Priscilla Bowie, the daughter and sister of the defendants. It was alleged that Posey had ruined the girl. The trial opened yesterday.

WORKS WITH TOWNSEND.

New Appointee Named for Oregon Land Probe.

Washington, July 11. — The attorney general has appointed MacDonald McBlair as special assistant to the attorney general for the purpose of investigating the Oregon land grant cases. Mr. McBlair's appointment is in addition to that of B. D. Townsend, assistant United States attorney for Dakota, who is engaged in this investigation in connection with United States Attorney Bristol of Oregon.

BARKEEPER IS SHOT.

Row Ends in Firing of Three Shots, Two Striking in the Abdomen.

Aberdeen, S. D., July 11.—Word has been received here of a shooting at Glenham, a few miles west. Theodore Taylor, a railroad man, quarreled with J. Nelson, a barkeeper, and the latter was shot three times, one bullet lodging in his arm and two in his abdomen. He is being rushed here in an attempt to save his life. Taylor was arrested. The crowd threatened lynching, but the authorities saved him.

WHEAT IN GOOD CONDITION.

Government Crop Bulletin Places General Average at 81.6.

Washington, July 11.—The department of agriculture reports the condition of crops on July 1 as follows:

Corn acreage, 98,099,000; condition, 80.2.

Winter wheat condition, 78.3.

Spring wheat condition, 87.2.

All wheat, 81.6.

Amount in farmers' hands, 54,853,000 bushels, equivalent to 7.5 per cent of the crop of last year.

CLOUDBURSTS DO DAMAGE.

Floods and Hail Hurt Crops and Property in Mountains.

Billings, Mont., July 11.—As a result of cloudbursts, which occurred in the upper portion of the Yellowstone valley and which caused floods in Yellowstone and Clark's Fork rivers considerable damage resulted to crops and buildings in the lowlands along these streams. Accompanying the torrents of rain was a large amount of hail, which did geat injury to crops.

Killed by Blast.

Helena, Mont., July 11.—While going back to examine the result of a number of blasts in the Spring Hill mine, near the city limits, another explosion occurred, blowing such an amount of rock and debris into his face and body as to cause instant death of Eli Ora, a popular young miner.

Two Negroes Hanged.

Marion, Ark., July 11.—Will Kitchins and Jesse McCollum, both negroes, were publicly hanged here yesterday. Kitchins was convicted of having murdered J. T. Foster, a white man, last September, and McCollum of criminally assaulting an aged negro woman.

Cloudburst Floods Streams.

Leon, Iowa, July 11.—A cloudburst raised Little river, west of Leon two miles, so that bridges are washed out and water is running in the corn fields and out in the roads the water is hub deep, something never before known in Decatur county.

Child Cut in Twain.

Marquette, Mich., July 11. — While attempting to cross in front of an ore train at Ishpeming last night Segard Eckhoff, aged twelve, was cut in twain.

JAP ADMIRAL AND EVANS SETTLE WAR

FIRST AND LAST SHOTS FIRED BY PHOTOGRAPHERS—GREETED IN NEW YORK.

NOTHING IN TALK ABOUT WAR

VISITING ADMIRAL BLAMES THE PRESS OF TWO COUNTRIES FOR WAR SCARE.

New York, July 11.—Admiral Baron Gombi Yamamoto, one of Japan's most distinguished naval officers, is the guest of New York. The admiral and his suite arrived here from England on the steamer Carmania yesterday morning and will remain here until July 15.

Rear Admiral Evans, after a visit to Admiral Yamamoto, said that he had discussed the rumors of war with the Japanese admiral.

"We settled the whole question ourselves," said Admiral Evans, "and the first and last shots were fired by the photographers. The admiral and I are old friends. He was secretary of the navy in Japan when I was there some years ago, and he has visited this country twice before.

Nothing in War Talk.

"He thinks as I do, that there is nothing at all to this talk of war. Leading men of Japan and the two governments understand each other perfectly in this matter, and the good sense of the governments will prevent any trouble."

In his interviews the admiral deprecated the war scare which has recently appeared in both Japan and America. He said that no small incident could break the friendship which has existed for so many years between Japan and the United States. He thought the sensational press of the two countries largely to blame for this war talk.

As to the prospective transfer of the great Atlantic battleship squadron to the Pacific, that was a matter solely for the American government to decide and one that does not interest Japan in the least, except that it was a novel naval experiment.

No Categorical Demands.

Washington, July 11. — From the state department and from the Japanese embassy here came swift and conclusive denial yesterday of the accuracy of the statement cabled from The Hague to the London Daily Telegraph and reprinted in this country, to the effect that Japan has made categorical demands from the United States government for satisfaction in connection with the treatment of Japanese in San Francisco and has served notice of her intention to deal with the Californians herself if the national government fails to do so.

DUKHOBOR BAND ON MARCH.

Spirit Wrestlers Start on 280-mile Pilgrimage to Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Man., July 11.—A small band of Dukhobors is on the march from Swan river, in the northwestern part of Manitoba, to Winnipeg. There are less than fifty on the tramp. It is not known at present whether their mission is political or religious. Advices say they are dressed, so the disgusting scenes of former pilgrimages which were made in the nude will not be seen unless the spirit wrestlers change their mind. Swan river is 280 miles from Winnipeg.

POSTOFFICE IS ROBBED.

Burglars Secure $600 in Raid on an Afton Store.

Stillwater, Minn., July 11. — The postoffice and general store of George W. Slater at the village of Afton were burglarized. The booty secured amounted to $600. It included $90 of postoffice property, including stamps, $300 in cash of the store, besides a lot of silverware belonging to Mr. Slater.

110 TEACHERS AT CALEDONIA.

Nearly Every Educator in Houston County Attends Summer School.

Caledonia, Minn., July 11.—The enrollment at the teachers' training school has reached 110, and as Houston county has but 107 districts, this means that nearly every teacher who taught in the county during the past year is in attendance.

Woman Burned to Death.

Tripoli, Iowa, July 11.—Mrs. William Schultz was burned to death yesterday while lighting a kitchen fire. She poured kerosene in the stove to hasten the fire, the can exploded, and the burning fluid was cast over the woman, setting her clothing on fire. She was alone when the accident occurred and was dead when found.

Deposits Are $100,000,000.

New York, July 11.—At the close of business yesterday the deposits in the Bowery Savings bank had reached a total of $100,000,000, a showing said to be unprecedented in the history of savings banks.

Sentenced for Forgery.

Deadwood, S. D., July 11. — Philip Van Kueren, a well known man of the Northern Black Hills, has been sentenced by Judge Rice to forgery. He passed a fraudulent check for $150 on a Lead bank.

LIFE INSURANCE A SACRED TRUST.

Responsibilities of Officers and Directors.

Evidently President Kingsley of the New York Life Insurance company has learned the great lesson of the times with respect to the responsibility and duty of directors of corporations. Speaking to the new board of trustees, on the occasion of his election to the presidency, he emphasized the fact that "life insurance is more than a private business, that life insurance trustees are public servants, charged at once with the obligations of public service and with the responsibilities that attach to a going business which at the same time must be administered as a trust."

He also realizes that similar responsibilities rest upon the officers of the company. "I understand," he says, "your anxiety in selecting the men who are day by day to carry this burden for you, who are to discharge this trust in your behalf, who are to administer for the benefit of the people involved the multitudinous and exacting details to which it is impossible for you to give personal attention. My long connection with the New York Life—covering nearly twenty years—my service in about every branch of the company's working organization, gives me, as I believe, a profound appreciation, not merely of the heavy burden you have placed on my shoulders, but of the standards of efficiency, the standards of faith, the standards of integrity, which must be maintained at all times by the man who serves you and the policyholders in this high office."

Best of all, perhaps, he feels that words are cheap, and that the public will be satisfied with nothing short of performance. "My thanks, therefore," he continues, "for an honor which outranks any distinction within the reach of my ambition, cannot be expressed in words; they must be read out of the record I make day by day."

Implying Conceit.

Many years ago Daniel Lord, Jr., as he always signed his name, then one of the shining lights of the bar in New York, was arguing a case before the court of appeals, when a country lawyer asked Charles O'Connor the name of the gentleman who was speaking.

"That," said Mr. O'connor, who was rather nettled at something Lord had said, "that, sir, is Daniel Lord, Jr., and he puts the 'junior' after his name so that he may not be mistaken for the Almighty."

The Kaiser's Precautions.

Thirty thousand metres of wire netting are to be erected on the course for the Kaiserprefs contest wherever necessary at dangerous corners and in villages.

The kaiser himself, accompanied by Prince Henry of Prussia, made the round of the course recently with a view to examining the arrangements for the building of bridges, to the number of thirty, for pedestrians. The route is to be subdivided into twelve sections, and a public safety commission will be in charge of each.

It is intended that the course shall be closed three days before the race in order that it may be treated throughout with a dust-laying preparation.

Car Kills Big Badger.

The pugnacity of the badger is of world wide renown, but he would scarcely be expected to assail a street car; yet the crew of Pacific Electric Car No. 393 assert that one claiming residence on Rancho Santa Anita disputed the right of way last evening.

About 9 o'clock p. m., as the car swung around the curve in the vineyard west of Arcadia, Motorman Shearer saw a large animal between the rails. Repeated shrieks of the whistle had no other effect than to cause him to rear and bare his teeth in defiance. Then he was a dead badger. He weighed eighty pounds, and his hide measures three and one-half feet in length by two in width. His immense claws are four inches long. He is by far the largest of the species ever killed in this vicinity.

COULDN'T KEEP IT.

Kept It Hid from the Children.

"We cannot keep Grape-Nuts food in the house. It goes so fast I have to hide it, because the children love it so. It is just the food I have been looking for ever so long; something that I do not have to stop to prepare and still is nourishing."

Grape-Nuts is the most scientifically made food on the market. It is perfectly and completely cooked at the factory and can be served at an instant's notice, either with rich cold cream, or with hot milk if a hot dish is desired. When milk or water is used, a little sugar should be added, but when cold cream is used alone the natural grape-sugar, which can be seen glistening on the granules, is sufficiently sweet to satisfy the palate. This grape-sugar is not poured over the granules, as some people think, but exudes from the granules in the process of manufacture, when the starch of the grains is changed from starch to grape-sugar by the process of manufacture. This, in effect, is the first act of digestion; therefore, Grape-Nuts food is pre-digested and is most perfectly assimilated by the very weakest stomach. "There's a Reason."

SCHMITZ GETS 5 YEARS IN PRISON

DRAMATIC SCENE IN COURT WHEN CONVICTED MAYOR IS SENTENCED.

CROWD CHEERS JUDGE DUNNE

COURT LECTURES MAYOR WHO INTERRUPTS WITH OBJECTIONS.

San Francisco, July 10.—Mayor Eugene Schmitz, convicted of extorting $1,175 from French restaurant keepers, was yesterday sentenced by Judge Dunne to five years' imprisonment in the San Quentin penitentiary.

The pronouncing of sentence followed a dramatic scene. After Judge Dunne had overruled motions for a new trial and for a stay of sentence, he directed Mayor Schmitz to stand up and then delivered to him a lecture for his crime.

Both Schmitz and his attorney interrupted to insist that the judge confine his remarks to pronouncing sentence, but the interruption served only to increase the severity of the judge's remarks.

Crowd Cheers Judge Dunne.

As the last words of the sentence fell from the judge's lips the great crowd that had stood during the dramatic scene sent up a thunder-roar cheer.

"Good for you," shouted a man in the back of the room.

His ejaculation was echoed and re-echoed by one after another of the spectators. Several threw their hats into the air, others scrambled upon chairs to look over the shoulders of the crowd. The greatest confusion prevailed.

Attorney Fairall of the defense, raising his voice above the din, called out to Judge Dunne:

"Your honor, this cheering is a very unseemly occurrence."

"Well," retorted Judge Dunne, with spirit, "if we had a sheriff worthy of the name it would have been stopped instantly."

Schmitz Interrupts Court.

The sentencing of the convicted mayor wis in one respect without a parallel in court. Half a dozen times Judge Dunne was interrupted by Schmitz, who protested in strong words against "the delivery of a lecture instead of the pronouncement of judgment." He accused the court of unnecessarily humiliating him and giving opportunity for further humiliation by the reporting of his remarks to the press.

Once replying to the prisoner Judge Dunne said:

"Such brazen effrontery was probably no more than should be expected and it is the duty of the court to bear it in patience."

NEIGHBORS RESCUE WIFE.

Wisconsin Man Finds Home in Ashes and Spouse Missing.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., July 10.—Returning to his farm, Robert Hold found his home destroyed by fire and that his invalid wife had disappeared. Fearing that she had been burned to death, he threw himself upon cinders. The arrival of neighbors informed him his wife had been carried from the burning home after being enveloped in flames. His wife accidentally set fire to the home, her clothing catching fire from the stove. The woman is painfully injured.

OPERATION IS FATAL.

Oscar Mortenson, Suffering From Carbuncle, Succumbs to Shock.

Harris, Minn., July 10.—Julius Holmtenson, a young man residing about three miles west of here, met with a peculiar death. A boil or carbuncle appeared on his knee Friday or Saturday. It continued to grow worse until Sunday, when a doctor was called in. It was decided to operate on it. He was placed under an anesthetic, but did not rally, and he died, presumably from the shock, as he was not very robust.

BARES BREAST AND STABS SELF.

Man Commits Suicide in Depot Before Persons Awaiting Trains.

Virginia, Minn., July 10.—Gus Johnson committed suicide in the railroad station at Iron Junction in a dramatic and highly sensational manner. A number of persons were in the station awaiting the arrival of trains when Johnson suddenly bared his breast and plunged a long-bladed knife into it. He was placed on a train and hurried to the hospital here, but bled to death before it was reached.

Will Rush Battleships.

Portland, Ore., July 10.—A Seattle dispatch to the Oregonian says orders have been given to rush the work on the battleships Oregon and Wisconsin, which are undergoing extensive repairs at the yards.

Drops Dead in Hotel.

St. Paul, July 10.—Henry Montgomery, sixty-three years old, dropped dead last night about 10 o'clock in the lavatory of the Ryan hotel. Death is thought to have resulted from apoplexy.

Saturday July 13, 1907.

The northwestern part of Minnesota is about the only country on the map where crop prospects are above the average.

We are in receipt of a complimentary ticket to the Red Lake County Agricultural Society annual fair, which will be held at Thief River Falls on August 7-8-9.

In the dispatch of the "war boats" to the Pacific coast it looks as tho Uncle Sam was getting tired of the little Japs foolishness, and there will be something doing if he don't stop it at once.

It never rains but that it pours. The Mankota Free Press says scientists claim that strawberries are the cause of sulks and that their effect on the temper of women in sometimes awful. If your wife becomes sulky shut off the supply of strawberries.

If President Roosevelt will only make it plain that he will not be a candidate again for president, and Governor Johnson will also inform us that he has quit running for governor, it will simplify matters greatly and we can all commence talking politics again.

Red Lake Falls will have but one newspaper in the future, John E King having purchased the Gazette which he has merged with the Courier, under the name of the Red Lake Falls Gazette. Sam S. Haislet will continue to do the thinking part. The Gazette will be non-partisian and work for the interest of the home town.

Another call for a meeting of the "county dads" has been posted, the date for such being the 29th inst. The "special" is for the purpose of considering the county seat removal petition, and it is hardly likely any of the commissioners will dare stay away this time. Would it not be well to put wheels under the county capitol, and then while Thief River Falls and Red Lake Falls were fighting over the possession of such, a St. Hilaire citizen with a mule team and careworn expression, might hitch thereto and locate the blamed thing on a most beautiful site near the mill dam at St. Hilaire. Our awakening from a dream of strawberry shortcake with Jersey cream for seasoning would not be so bad, and then not a farmer in the whole county and but few others would vote to have the county seat removed to Thief River Falls.

The Crookston papers bring us the information that Editor Chas. W. Latta, of the Plummer Pioneer, has brought suit in the district court against Julius Pleth, Henry J. Enderle and Adolph Alrick, all of Plummer, charging conspiracy and asking damages in the sum of five thousand dollars. A short history of the trouble might be of interest to our readers. Early in the present year a quarrel developed between Editor Latta and Buttermaker Lauritzon, of the Plummer creamery. The people of Plummer, fearing that harm would befall the creamery—their pet institution, called a meeting and informed Editor Latta that his articles must cease or they would withdraw their support to the Plummer Pioneer. To this Mr. Latta would not agree and the Pioneer has been without local support ever since. Later, as the trouble grew, the people of Plummer in general not only refused their patronage to the Pioneer, but also to the Plummer postoffice, of which Mr. Latta is postmaster. From this distance it looks as if Editor Latta had made a serious mistake in not naming all the citizens of Plummer and vicinity in his complaint. There can be and frequently are honest differences between men, but when one man is found against a whole community the conclusion is a safe one that the trouble rests not with the community, but with the man. Newspaper men, as a rule, do not take trouble of this kind into the courts, and we think that Editor Latta will have trouble convincing a jury that the three defendants named are more guilty than the rest of his neighbors. Two of the defendants, Julius Pleth and Henry J. Enderle, are well and favorably known here, having been in the land business here for a number of years. Mr. Pleth is easily one of the most liberal and progressive citizens of Red Lake county, and probably no one has done so much as he to advertise the country. He has a whole lot of friends, not only among the business men, but also among the farmers, and it will be hard to convince them that he has entered into any conspiracy further than to withdraw his patronage from one with whom he could not agree. And there is certainly no law to compel a man to patronize a newspaper unless he finds it profitable. The writer of this personally knows that Editor Latta has been the recipient of many substantial favors at the hands of Julius Pleth.

If Editor Latta will take advice from one who has seen all kinds of trouble, he will bunch his differences, call off his damage suit, settle up all of his troubles and start all over again in a less pugnacious manner. This would be much better than trying to get damages from men who have in the past been his best friends.

Snow Banners.

One of the most magnificent natural phenomena is a California snow banner. When a northern storm sweeps over the California Alps, which run from north to south, one can see sometimes a brilliant white cone shaped banner streaming before the wind from each mountain top. The banners are often several miles long and are formed of the fine snow from mountain crevices, loosened by the storm and swept up over the north side of the mountain top and blown toward the south. When the sun illuminates this snow dust, its brilliancy is extraordinary. This phenomenon is rare. Its cause is to be sought in the peculiarly regular formation of the mountain top and sides. These latter are slightly curved on the northern side, probably by ice action. This curvature hurls the snow up against the top of the mountain, where it is shaped in the peculiar manner by the action and force of the wind.—Translated From Nordstjernen, Copenhagen.

Smoking In Congress.

The rule against smoking in congress was adopted some years ago at the suggestion of the late Senator Ingalls of Kansas. The Kansas senator complained one day that smoke was being wafted into the chamber from the corridors or cloakrooms. Other senators joined the Kansan in protest. The rule was passed. Later it developed that the smoke came from burning waste near the capitol, and the wind carried it into the building. When it reached the olfactories of Mr. Ingalls it reminded him of a Kansas cigar. But the discovery of the mistake did not abate the rule.—Washington Post.

Over There.

"And, best of all," said the boastful American, "we have no titled aristocracy to support over here."

"No," replied the foreigner, "but you have a good many titled sons-in-law to support over there."—Judge.

"There are some people who believe that the whole human race will be saved," said an old lady, "but for my part I hope for better things."

To the Legal Voters of the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota:

Notice is hereby given, that a petition is on file in my office, signed by legal voters of said county to the number of two thousand three hundred forty-two, praying that the county seat of said county of Red Lake be changed to the city of Thief River Falls in said county, and that a special meeting of the county board will be held at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls, Red Lake county, Minnesota, on Monday, the 29th day of July, A. Light of the Stars.

Various attempts have been made to estimate the light of stars. In the northern hemisphere Argelander has registered 324,000 stars down to the nine and one-half magnitude, with the aid of the best photometric data. Agnes M. Clerk's "System of the Stars" gives the sum of the light of these northern stars as equivalent to 1.440 of full moonlight, and the total light of all stars similarly enumerated in both hemispheres to the number of about 900,000 is roughly placed at 1.180 of the lunar brightness. The scattered light of still fainter celestial bodies is difficult to evaluate. By a photographic method Sir William Abney in 1896 rated the total starlight of both hemispheres as 1.100 of full moonlight, and Professor Newcomb in 1901 from visual observations of diffused sky radiance fixed the light power of all stars at just 728 times that of Capella, or 1.89 of the light of the full moon. It is not certain, however, that the sky would be totally dark if all stars were blotted out. Certain processes make the upper atmosphere strongly luminous at times, and one never can be sure that this light is absent.

Dog That Climbed a Tree.

Can a dog climb a tree? A correspondent writes: "While on a walk on snowshoes in New Hampshire we tracked a porcupine to a balsam fir, in which it had taken refuge. My Scottish terrier climbed the tree, pulling herself up from branch to branch to a height of about seven feet, where a space of bare trunk separated her from the porcupine, which had watched her progress with evident alarm. The terrier made several ineffectual attempts to scale the smooth bark and finally jumped down into the snow." And of another curious trait the same writer continues: "This little dog and her mate, now dead, though enthusiastic fire worshipers at home, never sat near the bonfires built at luncheon or tea time on winter walks, but dug holes in the snow at a little distance, in which they curled themselves up after the manner of their primitive ancestors."—Chicago News.

Processes Which Defy Analysis.

I think that the more thoroughly and conscientiously we endeavor to study biological problems the more we are convinced that even those processes which we have already regarded as explicable both by chemical and physical laws are in reality infinitely more complex and at present defy any attempts at a mechanical explanation. Thus we have been satisfied to account for the absorption of food from the alimentary canal by the laws of diffusion and osmosis. But we now know that, as regards osmosis, the wall of the intestine does not behave like a dead membrane. We know that the intestinal wall is covered with epithelium and that every epithelial cell is in itself an organism, a living being with the most complex functions. We know that it takes up food by the active contractions of its protoplasm in the same way as observed in independent naked animal cells.—A. Bunge.

Her Valentine.

A young woman wrote about the year 1750: "The night before St. Valentine's day I got five bay leaves and pinned four of them to the four corners of my pillow and the fifth to the middle. And then if I dreamed of my sweetheart Betty said we would be married before the year was out. But to make more sure I boiled an egg hard and took out the yolk and filled it with salt and when I went to bed ate it, shell and all, without speaking or drinking after it. We also wrote our lovers' names upon bits of paper and rolled them up in clay and put them into water, and the first that rose up was to be our valentine. Mr. Blossom was my man. I lay abed and shut my eyes all the morning till he came to our house, for I would not have seen another man before him for all the world."

Beethoven's Oddities.

Beethoven used the snuffers for a toothpick. It was one of his peculiarities that he never allowed his servant to enter his study. He insisted that this room should remain exactly as he left it, no matter how deeply the dust lay on the precious musical manuscripts. He seldom looked in the glass when he tied his stock. Half the time he forgot to brush his hair. Every morning he carefully counted out seventeen beans from the coffee canister. These served for his breakfast. When he composed, he would pour cold water over his hands, and often people below him would complain of the water that soaked through his floor.

Suggestive.

"Miriam," said her mother, "have you ever given young Mr. Stapleford any reason to believe you cared for him enough to marry him?"

"He seems to think so," answered the daughter, "because I told him the other evening that he was sending me too many costly flowers and ought to begin to save his money."—Chicago Tribune.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of $16.70 which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Pierre Colomb and Lucie Colomb, his wife, mortgagors, to Wheeler-Misner Loan Co., a corporation, mortgagee, dated December 28th, 1904, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Red Lake, state of Minnesota, in book 83 of Mortgages on pages 606, 607 and 608, having been filed for such record January 9th, A. D. 1905, at 4 o'clock p. m.

Which said mortgage provides that if the mortgagors fail to pay interest on a prior mortgage therein mentioned for the principal sum of $1600.00 on the premises hereinafter described at the time the same shall become due under the conditions of said prior mortgage and the note secured thereby, then and in that event said mortgagee may pay such interest and have an additional claim and lien upon said premises therefor with interest on the amount so paid at the rate of 10 per cent per annum under the first above mentioned mortgage. That said mortgagors have failed to pay interest on said prior mortgage in the amount of $96.00 which became due December 28th, 1906, and the said mortgagees has paid said sum of $96.00 interest on said prior mortgage. That said first above mentioned mortgage also provides that in event the mortgagors shall fail to pay the taxes assessed against said premises before they become delinquent the mortgagee, in said mortgage might pay such taxes and claim an additional lien for the amount so paid with interest thereon at 10 per cent per annum under said mortgage. That said mortgagors in said first above mentioned mortgage failed to pay taxes assesed against said premises before the same became delinquent for the year 1904, and the said taxes amounting to the sum of $26.21 have been paid by the mortgagee in said first above mentioned mortgage, and said first above mentioned mortgage further provides that in event of the default on the part of the mortgagors therein in any of the terms or conditions thereof the whole sum secured thereby shall become due and payable at once. That the whole sum secured by said mortgage is the sum of $64.70 and said mortgagees have elected to and do hereby declare said sum to be due and in addition thereto said sum of $96.00 interest on said prior mortgage and interest thereon amounting to $2.50, and said sum of $26.21 taxes and interest thereon amounting to the sum of $3.40, in all amounting to the sum of $192.81; and no action or proceeding has been instituted at law, or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

That the premises described in and conveyed by said first above mentioned mortgage is the southwest quarter (SW¼) and the southeast quarter (SE¼) of the northwest quarter (NW¼) of section fourteen (14), in township one hundred fifty-one (151) north of range forty-five (45) west of the 5th P. M., in the county of Red Lake and state of Minnesota, subject to said prior mortgage of $1600.00.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said first above mentioned mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed thereby subject to said prior mortgage, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county at the front door of the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the 30th day of July, 1907, at the hour of 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt of $192.81 and interest and taxes on said premises and $25.00 attorney's fees, as stipulated in said mortgage, and the disbursements allowed by law in case of foreclosure of said mortgage; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

The faith renewers are still coming forward with their lucre and the editor is kept reasonably busy giving proper credits, with the other fellow wheeling the "income" over to the bank in a cart. And still there are more coming, and if you can't crowd your way into the office just hand us the money on the street.

The annual school meeting will be held at the village hall next Saturday evening, July 20th. Two directors are to be elected for a term of three years, K. O. Gigstad and H. O. Jackson being the retiring members. Funds to run the schools the coming year will be levied, and it is important that taxpayers should attend.

Editor Lightbourn, of the Ada Index, an expert on "cackle-berries," says a fresh egg will sink when placed in water and rest on its side; if three weeks old it will incline slightly with the small end down; if three months old it will stand on the small end, and if older it will float with large end out of water more or less according to age.

Sheriff Lewis A. Nelson, of Red Lake Falls, accompanied by Michael Burns of Thief River Falls, was in the village Wednesday morning posting notices for a special meeting of the county commissioners to be held at the "county hub" on Monday, July 29th. The meeting is called for the purpose of considering the petition praying that the county seat be removed from Red Lake Falls to the city of Thief River Falls.

D. M. Winton, of the Thief River Falls Lumber Company, and W. A. Gould, logging superintendent, and J. M. Richards, general manager for the Crookston Lumber Company, will build a large saw mill at Bemidji. Messrs. Richards and Gould have both resigned from the Crookston Lumber Company and their places will be hard to fill, as both are men of exceptional ability. There is no question but the new firm will be a success.

An aggregation of base ball players from this place drove down to Red Lake Falls on Sunday and in the afternoon crossed bats with the "Selects" of that place. The game was listless from start to finish, and it took several lath upon which to keep tab of the scores. Pokezwinski, the intimidator and twirler for the first nine at Red Lake Falls, umpired the game and assisted materially in the defeat of our boys by a score of 15 to 8. While the work of the umpire was rank, and his leather specks cloudy, still our boys got all there was coming to them—either for good or bad. The team was not all present and some of the players had the "cholly hoss," so there is no ill feelings as to the results. We desire only to call the attention of the umpire to the fact that as a pitcher he cannot afford to put up such rank work, for every dog has his day even if he does have to sit up all night and howl, and the chicken will come home to roost sooner or later.

Cure of the American Disease.

The menace to the health of Americans is said to be nervousness and many theories are advanced as to the best cure. Hot baths are recommended, air baths, the barefoot cure and others in turn. As a preventative measure a glass of pure malt tonic, such as golden grain belt beer, is a wise precaution. It prevents nervous fatigue caused by an overworked brain and refreshes the tired worker. MAY BUY POWER.

The Village Council is Taking Steps to Buy Out the Lumber Company's Interests Here.

A special meeting of the St. Hilaire Commercial Club was called to meet at the village hall Wednesday evening at the instance of the village council, who wished to learn the sentiment of the club and the business men of the village in regard to purchasing the holdings of the Crookston lumber company here, which includes the water power. The council has received an offer of the power from the lumber company, and it is probable a committee from the council will meet the representatives of the lumber company in the near future and agree upon the purchase plan.

Personal Recollections of a Dollar

I am a dollar. A little age worn, maybe, but still in circulation. I am proud of myself for being in circulation. I am no tomato can dollar—not I.

This town is only my adopted home, but I like it and hope to remain permanently. When I came out of the mint I was adopted into a town like this in another state. But after a time I was sent off to a big city, many miles away. I turned up in a Mail Order house. For several years I stayed in that city. Millionaires bought cigars with me. I didn't like that, for I believe in the plain people.

Finally a traveling man brought me to this town and left me here. I was so glad to get back to a smaller town that I determined to make desperate efforts to stay.

One day a citizen of this town was about to send me back to that big city. I caught him looking over a Mail Order Catalogue. Suddenly I found my voice and said to him—he was a dentist, by the way:

"Now, look here, doc. If you'll only let me stay in this town I'll circulate around and do you lots of good. You buy a big beefsteak with me, and the butcher will buy groceries, and the grocer will buy dry goods, and the dry goods merchant will pay his doctor's bill with me, and the doctor will spend me with a farmer for oats to feed his buggy horse, and the farmer will buy some fresh beef from the butcher, and the butcher will come around to you and get his tooth mended. In the long run, as you see, I'll be more useful to you here at home than if you'd send me away forever."

Doc said it was a mighty stiff argument. He hadn't looked at it in that light before. So he went and bought the big beefsteak and I began to circulate around home again.

Now, just suppose all the other dollars that are sent to Chicago or some other big city were kept circulating right here at home. You could see this town grow.

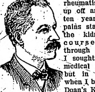
An Interesting Case from Salem, the Capital of Oregon.



F. A. Sutton, R. F. D. No. 4, Salem, Oregon, says: "Acute attacks of kidney disease and rheumatism laid me up off and on for ten years. Awful pains started from the kidneys and coursed down through my limbs. I sought the best medical treatment but in vain, and when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills I was walking with two canes and suffering continual pains, headaches and sleepless nights. I improved quickly and after taking three boxes felt better than I had for 15 years. The effects have been lasting."

Old Romans.

The committee of the Roman senate found Cincinnatus plowing with a team of fleabitten mules.

"Cincy," the chairman remarked, "we have been sent by the senate to tell you that you have been chosen dictator."

The old man chuckled.

"Boys," he said, "the distance intervening between a tater digger and a dictator isn't so great after all."

Well pleased with his witticism he tied the mules to the fence and went back to town with the committee.

ALMOST A SOLID SORE.

Skin Disease from Birth—Fortune Spent on Her Without Benefit—Cured Her with Cuticura.

"I have a cousin in Rockingham Co. who once had a skin disease from her birth until she was six years of age. Her father had spent a fortune on her to get her cured and none of the treatments did her any good. Old Dr. —— suggested that he try the Cuticura Remedies which he did. When he commenced to use it the child was almost a solid scab. He had used it about two months and the child was well. I could hardly believe she was the same child. Her skin was as soft as a baby's without a scar on it. I have not seen her in seventeen years, but I have heard from her and the last time I heard she was well. Mrs. W. P. Ingle, Burlington, N. C., June 16, 1905."

Didn't Want 'Em to Misunderstand.

"That boy in college has writ home again fer $100," said the old man.

"What fer?"

"Fer a wine supper!"

"Did he write it in Greek?"

"No, by thunder! It's wrote in plain Georgia, with 'God bless our home,' and 'How's all the family' at the end."

State News of the Week Briefly Told

Frank, the six-year-old son of Michael Finn of St. Paul, was drowned by falling into the river near the old site of the Banholzer brewery.

Robert Scribner, son of H. C. Scribner of Crookston, was instantly killed at Noyes. He was caught between two cars while braking on a freight train.

Harvey Britton, formerly a high school student at Spring Valley, shot and killed himself while handling a gun at Bilby, N. D. where he had a claim.

Arthur Hendy, twenty years old, was drowned while bathing in the lake near the St. Croix sawmill at Ely. He was seized with cramps and sank in deep water.

The total enrollment at the Moorhead normal for the summer session, which is to continue until the middle of September, is 349, but is expected to reach more than 400.

Dan Zacipelzack, an Austrian laborer employed on the Soo extension at Meirers Grove, Stearns county, was instantly killed by falling under the wheels of a moving work train.

The large barn of Charles Britz of Amador was burned to the ground, together with the contents, during an electric storm. Three cows, some hay, a lot of harness and other farm stuff were in the barn at the time and none were saved.

Nels Olson, a prominent young farmer, residing a short distance from Evansville, was struck in the head by the handle of a wheel scraper while filing a ditch near his home, and killed instantly.

Paul Silbernagle, a young man employed by the Stevens Cooperage company at the village Dent, eight miles from Perham, lost a hand, which was cut off while he was operating a saw in the heading factory.

The big storm Sunday did great damage around Albert Lea, as it not only knocked down some of the heavy grain, but also the floods that followed washed out bridges and roads in a destructive manner.

Judge John A. Lovely of Albert Lea, who was stricken with partial mental and physical paralysis several months ago, has improved, but is still unable to look after business.

His improvement is slow, but he is able to ride out and enjoy the fine weather.

Fire at Minneapolis gutted the building occupied by W. K. Morrison & Co.'s hardware store, doing damage to contents and building to the amount of $150,000. Damage to the amount of about $50,000 was done to the stock of the Leader department store adjoining.

John Mooney of Waverly struck and killed his wife. Mooney says she refused to get the breakfast and he proceeded to get the meal. While so doing she rushed at him with a carving knife and stabbed him in the breast. He struck her and the blow killed her.

Owing to his continued illness A. L. Cole has given orders to sell the stock of his large department store at Akeley, and it is being done as rapidly as possible. Mr. Cole is at Fergus Falls with his brother, and though somewhat better, is unable to attend to his many business duties.

The water in the Minnesota river at Belle Plaine is going down rapidly, and the famous cut-off soon will be in a condition to make it possible to cross. All the hay and other crops in the river bottom are ruined. Some farmers will plant millet in order to try to get a crop of some sort.

The three-months'-old child of Martin Colgrove of Park Rapids lost its life in a peculiar manner. The mother was sitting on the porch with the child in her lap. A back door of the house was open, and this caused a draft which slammed the front door shut, breaking the glass in it. A sharp piece of glass struck the child on the head, penetrating its brain and causing death.

A sensation has been created at Avon by the arrest of Lloyd Vaughers, a well known young man, on the charge of burglary, preferred by the manager of the Hagarty Drug company. For some time the manager has been aware that the store was being systematically robbed. A watchman was employed who remained inside the building. He caught Vaughers in the act.

Fire starting in a hot box in a card machine at the south linen mills of the Black Hawk Linen Mill company at St. Paul Park destroyed the building. The fire entailed a heavy loss on machinery and stock and threw fifty people out of employment.

Charles Watkins was found dead hanging by a rope made from part of his bed clothing in his cell at the workhouse at Minneapolis. Watkins would have been released from a ten-day sentence for drunkenness three hours after his body was found.

The removal of Col. R. W. Stewart from the state will mean a vacancy in the colonelcy of the state guard. While no formal resignation has been filed, Col. Stewart has notified Adjt. Gen. Englesby that it will be impossible for him to attend the encampment at Watertown this year, and Gov. Crawford has instructed the adjutant general to take command at the encampment and act as colonel of the regiment until definite action may be taken in the matter.

PHONOGRAPH SCARES THIEVES.

It Howls for the Police When Flat of Its Owner Is Invaded.

The wave of crime which has been passing over Paris lately and which the police seem quite powerless to prevent has caused the citizens to adopt various devices to protect their homes from invasion by the Apaches. Dogs have proved utterly useless; more than one family has sought protection by placing a stand with a parrot or cockatoo possessing a specially loud squawk just inside their flats—almost every one in Paris lives in a flat.

An electrical engineer, however, has found a phonograph the best possible watchman. He locates it with the megaphone attachment directed to the door and he has wired the hall and arranged batteries so that the moment the door is opened three inches the phonograph gets into action.

It begins to bellow "Police! Help! Murder! Thieves!" and it keeps it up until he gets out of bed and turns off the current.

His flat is well furnished with plate and other valuables, and several attempts have been made to rob it, but no thieves have yet withstood the phonograph bombardment. They run so quickly that they are never caught.

ALCOHOL IN MEDICINES.

Seventy-Five Per Cent of Doctors' Prescriptions Call for It.

Now that the National Pure Food and Drugs law is in effect all "patent" medicines in liquid form bear on the label a statement of the percentage of alcohol contained in them. The average amount of alcohol is said to be about ten per cent, some have more and some less, but that is about the average. Alcohol is everywhere recognized as a chemical necessity for the preservation of organic substance from deterioration, and from freezing and it is also required to dissolve substances not soluble in water.

But for the use of a small quantity of alcohol in most ready-to-use medicines those preparations which most families keep constantly on hand would likely be decayed or frozen when their use became necessary.

Alcohol is an indispensable requisite in the fluid extracts and tinctures which are exclusively used in filling prescriptions written by physicians, and these tinctures and extracts contain from 20 to 90 per cent of alcohol. More than 75 per cent of all the liquid medicines prescribed by physicians contain alcohol in large proportions.

Charles A. Rapelye, a leading pharmacist of Hartford, Conn., some time ago examined 25 prescriptions representing a fair average of those written by physicians to be compounded, and none being for specialties. The average amount of alcohol in the whole number was 35 per cent; but of the 25 prescriptions five contained no alcohol, so that the average percentage of the remaining 20 which did contain alcohol was nearly 45 per cent; or more than four times the probable average alcoholic strength of "patent" medicines.

There is some difference of opinion as to whether it is or is not desirable as a stimulant in case of sickness, but there is no difference of opinion as to the necessity for its use as a solvent and preservative in most cases. The attention of the medical world has recently been called to a manifesto issued by prominent London physicians who, while deploring the evils from the use of alcoholic beverages, are convinced "of the correctness of the opinion so long and generally held, that in disease alcohol is a rapid and trustworthy restorative" and that in many cases it may be truly described as life-preserving, owing to its power to sustain cardiac and nervous energy, while protecting the nitrogenous tissues. This manifesto which was published in The Lancet, was issued and signed by T. J. McCall Anderson, M. D., Regius Professor of Medicine, University of Glasgow; Alfred B. Barrs, William H. Bennett, K. C. V. C., F. R. C. S.; James Crichton-Browne; W. E. Dixon, Dyce Duckworth, M. D., LLD.,; Thomas R. Fraser, M. D., F. R. S.; T. R. Glyn; W. R. Gomers, M. C., F. R. S.; W. D. Halliburton, M. D. LLD., D. F. R. C. P., F. R. S., Professor of Physiology, King's College London; Jonathan Hutchingson; Edmung Owen, LLD., F. R. C. S.; P. H. Pye-Smith, Fred T. Robert, M. D., B. Sc., F. R. C. S.; Edgecombe Venning, F. R. C. S.

The Dyce Duckworth who signed this manifesto was for many years president of the Royal College of Physicians, London.

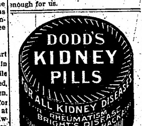
The Kaiser's Precautions.

Thirty thousand metres of wire-netting are to be erected on the course for the Kaiserpreis contest wherever necessary at dangerous corners and in villages.

The kaiser himself, accompanied by Prince Henry of Prussia, made the round of the course recently with a view to examining the arrangements for the building of bridges, to the number of thirty, for pedestrians. The route is to be subdivided into twelve sections, and a public safety commission will be in charge of each.

It is intended that the course shall be closed three days before the race in order that it may be treated throughout with a dust laying preparation.

Some people boast of their blue blood, but the red brand is good enough for us.



DID NOT PLANT CARP.

State Game and Fish Commission Pleads Not Guilty.

A controversy has been started in the vicinity of Mankato, where carp have proved to be such a nuisance, destroying good fishing grounds in the lakes, over the question of who was responsible for placing them in the lakes. The state game and fish commission having been accused of it, Capt. William Reid of Fairmont, former member of the commission, asserted that it should not be held responsible for the introduction of carp. He says:

"To my personal knowledge this is not true. I was appointed a member of the fish and game commission by Gov. McGill twenty-one years ago and have served in that capacity most of the time since. About thirty years ago Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and several other states imported large numbers of carp and planted them in their waters.

"About twenty years ago some of the fish commissioners of this state desired to introduce the carp into Minnesota waters, but Dr. Sweeney, a member of the commission, was dead set against it. To convince the commission that carp were not good eating he had one of the fish cooked and served to the members of the commission at one of their meetings. All agreed then that he was right.

"The commission had some of the carp fry at one time and sent out fifteen or twenty lots of twenty-five fish each to persons to plant in ponds on their farms. They were mostly German farmers who asked for them. Some may have escaped from these ponds into public waters, but I think that the carp that now infest the lakes and streams come from the Mississippi river, which has been filled with the fish from stock planted in other states. The high water of recent years has been favorable to their spread. But our fish and game commission is innocent of the charge, and the correction should be made."

NEW ULM TO HAVE LID.

Mayor Is Opposed to Sunday Closing, but Promises Law Enforcement.

The ministers of the different Protestant churches in New Ulm held a mass meeting at the Congregational church recently. Mayor Silverson and other prominent people of the city were invited and the church was packed with people. The Sunday closing law was fully discussed, the ministers contending that the saloons were the cause of a great deal of poverty and distress, especially when the head of the family dissipated his week's earnings in the saloon, and felt that now was the time for the mayor of the city to assist them in doing away with this evil. They felt that the saloonkeeper and the patron owed it to their families and the church to obey the Sabbath like all law-abiding citizens.

They were followed by Dr. O. C. Strickler and Attorney H. Flor, who spoke on the proposition. The former counseled moderation and the latter believed that in order to do away with some of the abuses in the saloon business it could not be accomplished by closing the saloons on Sunday, but by the enforcement of the laws now in force in preventing drunkards from securing liquor.

In discussing the question the ministers not alone spoke in favor of the Sunday closing law, but advocated prohibition.

Mayor Silverson said that he was fully aware what the law was relative to Sunday closing, and stated that if he had sole power in the matter he would never close saloons on Sunday. He did not believe in the principle of the Sunday closing law. Inasmuch as the law was plain and definite, he assured them that it would be enforced, but did not say when he would give the order.

WILL TAX THE CARS.

Pullman Company Fails to File Acceptance of Gross Earnings Tax.

The Pullman Sleeping Car company apparently has decided it would rather pay taxes on the number and value of the cars operated than a flat 4 per cent on its gross income in the state. According to chapter 453 of the Laws of 1907 the sleeping car companies were given until June 1 to file with the auditor a resolution of its board of directors accepting the alternative of a 4 per cent tax on the gross earnings within the state.

Since they failed to do this they are to be taxed on assessment levied by the board of equalization on the report of the number of cars of the various classes which run into or through the state, and the average value of each, together with the number of miles they traveled in this state. While this act is in force this will be the manner of taxation in Minnesota.

TO BUILD BOTH DITCHES.

A final hearing on the judicial ditch in Lyon and Lincoln counties has just been held at Tyler, with Hon. Judge Olson presiding. After all objections were placed and the motion from Thomas Davis for a jury trial on benefits and damages was overruled by the judge, the final order was issued for the establishment of both ditches. Further proceedings for construction of the ditches will be pushed with energy and perhaps water will flow in the new canal early this fall.

TWO MEN FALL FROM SCAFFOLD.

St. Paul, July 11.—Andrew Thompson was killed and J. L. Lundgren received probably fatal injuries by falling seventy-five feet from a scaffold at the new stock house of the Hamm brewery yesterday. Thompson had his neck broken.

The two men were employed as carpenters and they were adjusting the window casings at the fourth story. Nobody knows just how the accident happened.

TIRED AND SICK YET MUST WORK

"Man may work from sun to sun but woman's work is never done."

In order to keep the home neat and pretty, the children well dressed and tidy, women overdo and often suffer in silence, drifting along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have help to overcome the pains and aches which daily make life a burden.

It is to these women that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, comes as a blessing. When the spirits are depressed, the head and back aches, there are dragging-down pains, nervousness, sleeplessness, and reluctance to go anywhere, these are only symptoms which unless heeded, are soon followed by the worst forms of Female Complaints.

Apropos.

"What do you call that big plant on your front porch, Twiddles?"

"That's a d. n."

"Eh! Something new?"

"Well, that may not be the florist's name for it, but it's what I call it."

"What does it mean?"

"See the size of the thing? Now guess at the weight. Well, every time the mercury drops I have to carry the blamed plant into the house. When the sun shines I lug it out and put it on the porch. When it rains I have to set it down on the lawn. That's why I call it a d. n. The n. stands for nuisance and the d—the d is an adjective."

It was hard to speak a disheartening word to the smiling Irish maid who seemed so eager to secure the situation, but even at the end of three days spent in employment offices Mrs. Gregg's sense of justice was keen.

"I cannot let you come thinking you are to have an easy place," she said, with wistful earnestness, "for it isn't. There are five of us and there's a great deal to do."

"Oh, but you don't know me, ma'am," said the dauntless maid. "I can make anny place I take aisy by jis lavin' out a little wurrk here an' a little wurrk there, ma'am.

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

VOLUME XXVII. ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA, SATURDAY, JULY 20, 1907. NUMBER 1.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

TRIAL OF HAYWOOD

For Murder of Gov. Steunenberg.

Moyer on Stand for His Comrade.

Boise, Idaho, July 13.—William D. Haywood took the oath yesterday as a witness in his own defense, and in a lengthy narrative of his life and his work as a leader of his fellow miners, denied guilt of the murder of Frank Steunenberg and the manifold crimes charged against him by Harry Orchard.

Haywood's testimony was chiefly characterized with positive denials of allegations made against him by the prosecution. He denied that he met Orchard until some time after the Vindicator explosion; denied that he sent Orchard back to Cripple Creek to blow up the Independence station; denied participation in the Lyte Gregory murder, and denied suggesting or discussing the Steunenberg murder.

Never Gave Orchard Money.

He swore that he never gave Orchard any money at any time or place for any purpose. He declared that he never made a threat against Steunenberg, whom he said he regarded only as he did any politician who is being swayed by capitalistic influence. The direct examination had not reached the connection of Jack Simpkins and the action of the federation after Steunenberg was murdered when adjournment interrupted it.

Haywood Stands Borah's Grilling.

Boise, July 14. — William D. Haywood, charged with the murder of Frank Steunenberg, left the witness chair this afternoon. He had been under examination six hours, the time being equally divided between his own counsel and Senator Borah, who conducted the cross-examination. Haywood's testimony practically closes the case for the defense. One witness will be called to-day and his examination will take up about fifteen minutes. The state will then begin the rebuttal.

Rapid-fire Questions.

Borah's cross-examination, always rapid fire, was more than usually quick yesterday, but from first to last Haywood preserved complete self-control. At times his replies came as quickly as the questions were flung at him. Again he would hesitate and speak slowly, with marked emphasis. Mr. Borah's manner was courteous throughout, but now and then a tinge of sarcasm appeared as he insisted on a direct answer and Haywood appeared reluctant. Haywood in turn was as courteous as the cross-examiner.

Feeling Toward Steunenberg.

Once when Senator Borah pressed Haywood as to his sentiment toward Former Governor Steunenberg, Haywood said quietly and with a smile, "I felt no different toward Steunenberg than I do towards you or any of those people."

Senator Borah looked up quickly but did not smile. He said very quietly: "Yes; I have been given to understand something of that sort," and did not pursue the subject.

Much of Haywood's testimony yesterday was a repetition in detail of what Moyer said Thursday. Haywood, however, made no effort to deny his knowledge of Orchard and his affairs or his connection with Simpkins.

Haywood Denies Crimes.

Like Moyer, Haywood said he had never heard Orchard make threats against Steunenberg. Haywood in many particulars confirmed Orchard, but where Orchard connected Haywood or the Western Federation with crime the witness was emphatic and prompt in his denials. He showed no desire to conceal the fact that Orchard had visited him at his house, or that he on different occasions had intimate conversations with Orchard. He denounced the administration of Colorado at the time of the troubles as corrupt and he extolled the Western Federation.

Sensations Are Many.

Boise, Idaho, July 16. — Sensation followed sensation quickly in the Haywood trial Saturday, when the state commenced its rebuttal evidence.

One witness confessed to participation in a labor riot, resulting in the death of two men; the record of conviction of murder in the second degress of a witness for the defense was introduced, and the proof of another having been sent to an insane asylum upon the information of his neighbors was offered, its admissibility was argued and the decision of the court will be handed down on Monday morning.

Perjury Is Charged.

A crowded court room, somewhat bored by legal commonplaces, sprang to strained attention when William Dewey, a witness in rebuttal for the state, confessed to armed participation in the destruction of the Bunker Hill and Sullivan concentrator at Wardner on April 29, 1898, when two men were killed and a mob of 1,000 men participated in a riot.

Said Davis Led Mob.

Harry Orchard commenced his series of great crimes at Wardner. He confessed to lighting one of the fuses that started the explosion, and he swore that William F. Davis, known among his fellows as "Big Bill" Davis, led the mob.

Witnesses for the defense have sworn that Orchard was not at Wardner on April 29. Davis himself has sworn to have been elsewhere and positively denied any connection with the crime.

Served Out Guns.

Dewey swore that not only did "Big Bill" accompany the mob to Wardner, but that he served out guns, rifles and ammunition to the union men gathered in the union hall at Burke before they went to Wardner, and was one of the leaders of the column that advanced on the concentrator before the work of destruction commenced.

Ten witnesses in rebuttal were examined Saturday. Most of them were called to disprove statements as to Orchard's movements.

Another Perjury Charge.

Boise, July 17. — Another warrant charging perjury against a witness who has testified for the defense in the Haywood trial was issued last evening. C. W. Aller, formerly a telegraph operator and ticket agent at the Florence & Cripple Creek railroad at Cripple Creek, Colo., is charged with the offense by the prosecuting attorney of Ada county.

Orchard Again Testifies.

Harry Orchard reappeared on the stand was asked a few questions as to his acquaintance with some of the witnesses for the defense who have testified as to his movements. On cross-examination he admitted that his uncle, Peter McKinley, committed suicide by hanging thirty or fourteen years ago. Counsel for the defense asked Orchard if this uncle was not insane before he killed himself, and also tried to show by the witness that his maternal grandfather was insane, his monomania being imaginary crimes committed a long time ago in Ireland. Orchard denied all knowledge of the grandfather, but admitted that his uncle was emented.

Make Witness Out a Liar.

The entire afternoon was taken up with the examination of witnesses who contradicted the evidence given by C. W. Aller, who testified for the defense in support of a charge of conspiracy against the Western Federation of Miners, in which it is alleged the mine owners' organization, the Citizens' alliance and the Pinkerton detective agency were concerned. Aller swore that he saw Orchard and D. C. Scott together at the depot of the Florence & Cripple Creek railway on a Sunday about three weeks prior to the explosion at the Independence depot on the 6th day of June, 1904. Scott yesterday afternoon swore that he was not in Cripple Creek at the time and a number of witnesses corroborated this. As a result of this rebuttal testimony information was sworn out after court adjourned, charging Aller with perjury.

Rebut Evidence of the Defense.

Boise, Idaho, July 18.—In the last stages of the case against William D. Haywood the prosecution put six witnesses on the stand yesterday to rebut the evidence of the defense. Three testified to conditions in the Coeur d'Alenes in 1899 and three to the situation in Colorado during the strike period of 1903 and 1904. The important witnesses of the day were those to contradict the showing made by witnesses for the defense that there was no reason for calling out the militia of Colorado other than a desire on the part of the mine owners to drive members of the Western Federation of Miners from the mining district. One witness flatly contradicted the evidence introduced by the defense to show that the explosion at the Vindicator mine was due to an accident.

Perjury Charge Heard.

While the trial was going on in the district court before Judge Wood an interesting offshoot of the case was being held in the small room used as a court by Justice of the Peace Savage. C. W. Aller, the depot agent, who was arrested charged with perjury, was brought before the magistrate for a preliminary hearing.

The principal witness in the perjury hearing was Orchard himself. He went over his testimony with D. C. Shott, the railroad agent, who Aller swore interviewed Orchard in Cripple Creek two or three weeks before the explosion at the Independence depot, on June 6, 1904.

Orchard Sticks to Story.

Orchard was closely cross-questioned, but no amount of questioning brought out any material change in the original story. A number of other witnesses were examined, the case taking up most of the day. A motion to dismiss will be argued to-day. Aller was released on $2,500 bond.

LOCKJAW FATAL TO TWO.

Mule's Kick and Splinter Cause Two Deaths in Iowa.

Albia, Iowa, July 14. — Two deaths from lockjaw occurred here yesterday. Albert Ann was kicked on the end of a finger by a mule several days ago. Blood poison followed amputation and he died in terrible agony.

Mrs. George Williams ran a splinter into her finger several weeks ago. Tetanus resulted in spite of amputation, causing death.

Governor's Salute Fatal.

Port Townsend, Wash., July 13. — One man killed and two severely burned marred the reception to Gov. Mead and staff at Fort Worden yesterday.

As a governor's salute of seventeen guns was fired from a battery one gun became overheated and as the charge was driven home it exploded. Private Tobassen, Sixty-second company, received the full force of the charge, which blew off one arm and badly mashed his hand.

STATE RESTS IN HAYWOOD TRIAL

THE DEFENDANT'S CASE MAY BE CLOSED WITHOUT FURTHER EVIDENCE.

TO CUT OUT SOME EVIDENCE

ARGUMENTS INVITED ON COURT'S PROPOSITION — LAST STAGE OF TRIAL.

Boise, Idaho, July 18.—The State of Idaho rests, content with the evidence it has introduced to prove that William D. Haywood, the secretary-treasurer of the Western Federation of Miners, conspired to kill and therefore murdered Frank Steunenberg, a former governor of the state. William D. Haywood, through his counsel, will rest his case with the jury, so far as evidence is concerned. Possibly some witnesses will be called in surrebuttal, but Haywood's counsel announced that the case may close without further evidence.

Cut Out Certain Evidence.

Judge Wood has invited argument on his own proposition to eliminate certain evidence from consideration by the jury, and probably a day will be taken to present the views of both sides as to the instructions to the jury. On Friday morning argument is expected and the last stage of the trial will have commenced. After having dismissed the jury yesterday afternoon Judge Wood stated his opinion that the evidence introduced by the defense to prove a conspiracy on the part of the mine owners, by showing the deportation of union miners from the Cripple Creek district during the strike in 1903 and 1904 was not material to the issue involved, and should not be submitted to the jury.

Not Germane to the Case.

On the other hand, he said, the showing by the state that Steve Adams was concerned in the killing of two men in the Coeur d'Alene district did not appear to the court to be germane, and should be eliminated. He announced, however, that the court would hear arguments to-day on these points.

The state called but two witnesses yesterday, notwithstanding Mr. Hawley's statement that eight or ten witnesses remained.

The witnesses examined yesterday were from Colorado and give vivid accounts of the conditions existing around the mines.

DROWNS IN RIVER.

Young Utah Teacher Meets Untimely Fate While Canoeing.

St. Paul, July 18.—James A. Strane was drowned in the Minnesota river, near Mendota, last night by the capsizing of a canoe in which he and a companion, Albert E. Simmons, were paddling.

Young Strane was instructor in the machine shops of the University of Utah, at Salt Lake City, and was spending his vacation with his parents.

GIANT LOG AT SWAN RIVER.

Mammoth Log Measures Fifty Inches at Smallest End.

Anoka, Minn., July 18. — A log cut this winter at Swan River Landing was pronounced by lumbermen to be the largest ever cut in the State of Minnesota. It measured fifty inches at the smallest end and scaled 2,222 feet.

Instead of being loaded on cars it will be floated down the Mississippi river to Dubuque, Iowa.

INDIANS RIOT IN SALOON.

Winnebagos Demolish Building at Black River Falls.

Black River Falls, Wis., July 18. — Several Indians who are at work at the Hatfield dam did not like the way one of the saloons treated a squaw, and as a result the town board has refused to reissue a license for the place. There was not a door or window left in the saloon when the Winnebagos had finished.

Robs Home in Daytime.

Yankton, S. D., July 18.—The home of County Commissioner Warren Osborn was entered and some clothing was stolen to the value of about $30. There is no clue to the thief. The affair was daring and was perpetrated at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Flax in Good Shape.

Minot, N. D., July 18.—Crop reports from Minot and Northwestern North Dakota indicate that flax will be a good yield, but that wheat will be light. Some farmers do not expect more than half a crop of flax, but with good prices no alarm is felt.

Woman Shoots Herself.

Lake Crystal, Minn., July 18.—Mrs. M. S. Hall of Garden City accidentally shot herself through the hand with a .32-caliber revolver while demonstrating to her son and nephew how the revolver worked.

Turks Get Bomb Suspect.

Constantinople, July 18. — A young merchant has been arrested here in connection with the bomb explosion Sunday night in front of the summer quarters of the American embassy at Therapia.

NOT DUE TO CARELESSNESS

STRUGGLE FOR SUPREMACY IS EXPECTED TO BEGIN IN AUGUST.

Boston, July 18.—The bodies of six of the victims of the explosion on the battleship Georgia Monday have been claimed by relatives and sent home from the United States naval hospital at Chelsea. Two more bodies will be sent to-day. The body of the ninth victim of the disaster, Seaman Edward F. Walsh of Lynn, who died yesterday afternoon, still lies in the naval hospital.

Of the other twelve men who faced death in the turret of the battleship and who now lie in the naval hospital it is possible that two may not survive the night.

In Serious Condition.

Five others are in a serious condition, with strong hopes that three of them may recover, while the rest of the injured are well on the way to full recovery.

No word of complaint of pain comes from any of the sufferers, but frequently from the burned and swollen lips is whispered a question as to how "the other fellows" are getting along. At the head of each cot in the naval hospital stands a bouquet of flowers sent yesterday by Admiral Yamamoto of the Japanese navy.

Not Due to Carelessness.

Washington, July 17.—It is said at the navy department that it is extremely improbable that the accident on the battleship Georgia resulted from carelessness or lack of precaution on the part of the personnel of the ship. A short time ago a thorough inspection was made of every detail of the Georgia's ordnance by Commander Schofield, one of the most expert of the ordnance officers of the navy. This inspection included the handling of the guns and mechanism and ammuntion by the sailors. It was found that the ship's company was efficient at all points and it was certain that they were following closely the firing regulations in every essential detail.

Most Logical Theory.

In the absence of any other plausible explanation the officials here are disposed to give consideration to the theory advanced by some of the Georgia's officers, that the powder was fired accidentally by a clot of soot which came floating down smoldering from the ship's smoke pipe and settled by chance into the open scuttle on top of the turret, alighting directly on the fifty-pound bag of smokeless powder in the arms of the leader at the breech of the gun.

BIG WAR IN CENTRAL AMERICA.

Struggle for Supremacy Is Expected to Begin in August.

Mexico City, July 18.—Official and diplomatic circles in this capital were greatly excited yesterday by the report that the outbreak of hostilities in Central America was likely to occur within the next fifteen days. The news reached here from Salvador in the form of a cable dispatch to the Associated Press. The dispatch was as follows:

War in Fifteen Days.

"An armed clash, which it is believed will involve all Central America, probably will occur within fifteen days. It is expected that the first battle will be between Salvador and Nicaragua. Gen. Lee Christmas, an American, who was wounded in the recent war between Nicaragua and Honduras, has been appointed general in command of a Salvadorean regiment. Gen. Chamorro is expected from Guatemala on the next ship. Upon his arrival he will proclaim himself provisional president of Nicaragua."

Under American Officers.

Minister Giron of Guatemala declared that his country had long been preparing to defend itself against an attack by Zelaya, but said that he was not aware that an offensive alliance existed between Guatemala and Salvador. In the event of hostilities, he said, Guatemala could place 8,000 well armed troops in the field, and these men would be officered by military experts from the United States and Europe.

Fight for Mastery.

It is thought that the much-heralded struggle for supremacy in Central America is about to be waged, and Zelaya of Nicaragua and Cabrera of Guatemala will be the real antagonists, the other Central American involved being merely pawns to be used by the two men who seek mastery over all Central America.

NINE DEAD IN RUINS.

Building in London Collapses With Fatal Results.

London, Ont., July 18.—Crystal hall, three-story brick building on Dundas street, and one of the landmarks of London, collapsed late yesterday afternoon and a score of persons were buried under the avalanche of bricks, mortar and timbers. Nine persons are known to have been killed, two are missing and four are seriously injured.

Fourteen Hurt in Wreck.

New York, July 18.—A Third avenue elevated train crashed into the rear of a train standing at the platform of the One Hundred and Fourth street station last night and fourteen persons were injured, two of whom may die.

Old Love Wound Fatal.

Aberdeen, S. D., July 18.John Dunker, a wealthy bachelor farmer of Rondell township is dead by his own hand, the result of brooding for twenty-five years over being jilted by a sweetheart of his youth.

BIG LABOR PLOT IS DISCLOSED

ARREST OF UNION MEN IN BINGHAMTON STARTS DISCLOSURES.

RIVALS ORCHARD'S STORIES

DYNAMITE USED FREELY—LABOR LEADERS IMPLICATED BY CONFESSIONS.

Binghampton, N. Y., July 18.—Developments of a sensational nature followed by arrests of national import in labor circles are momentarily expected to follow the disclosures made by John Bennis, who was before the grand jury yesterday.

Men Finally Caught.

During the street car strike, which has been in progress for five months here, there have been several dynamite explosions, injuring cars. A force of Pinkerton detectives employed by the city and the street railway was unable to locate the dynamiters until last Saturday night, when Lewis Eastman and John Bennis were arrested in front of labor headquarters.

It was claimed that they had dynamite bombs in their possession. Both were union strikers.

Turned State's Evidence.

Bennis turned state's evidence, and revelations rivaling to a certain degree the Haywood developments, according to current report, were made. In addition to this, a confession by two strikers, supported by affidavits, tells of dynamite outrages under the supervision of the "inner circle," and the story now being considered by the jury, it is declared, has features somewhat similar to that of Orchard's.

Leaders Are Suspected.

Two prominent labor leaders, one of state prominence and the other of national reputation, are, it is alleged, charged with planning the crimes. It is said that arrests will follow as soon as the grand jury reports.

WILL BE NO WAR, HE SAYS.

Nicaraguan Minister Makes Positive Assertion.

Washington, July 18. — Senor Cortea, the Nicaraguan minister to Washington, had another long conference yesterday with Acting Secretary of State Bacon relative to Central American affairs, which, according to reports from the City of Mexico, are in a condition rapidly approaching actual warfare. The minister takes an optimistic view of the future, saying:

"There will be no war; the continuance of peace in Central America is certain."

Coming from him, this expression is regarded as important, for by a fair assumption it indicates that President Zelaya, if he ever contemplated any fresh attack upon Salvador, either has abandoned any such intention, or at least has postponed the movement indefinitely.

WOMAN TO GET OFF EASY.

Little Evidence Connects Her With Kidnapping and Murder.

Hahnevilie, La., July 18.—That Mrs. Campisciano, one of the women accused of the murder of little Walter Lamana, the kidnapped New Orleans boy, probably will not receive an extreme sentence became evident to-day when the prosecution closed its case after less than two days of evidence taking, without having directly connected the woman with the crime.

Of the other three prisoners, the woman's husband and Gendusa, go-between for the ransom money, have had strong circumstantial evidence given against them. Of the remaining prisoner, Tony Costa, it has only been testified that he kidnapped the child in New Orleans and gave his wagon to the gang which carried the little fellow away and the latter strangled him.

NEED PRISON REFORM.

Hughes to Investigate Charges of Evils Made by Convicts.

New York, July 18.—A searching investigation of all the penal institutions of the state is to be made by Gov. Hughes. Startling revelations are predicted which will show a need of immediate reform. Convicts, it is stated, have made many charges, and these are said to be responsible for the governor's contemplated action.

Circus Seats Collapse.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 18.—A section of seats gave way at a show in the circus grounds, precipitating 100 people to the ground. No one was killed, but from fifteen to twenty persons sustained injuries of a more or less serious nature.

Cloudbursts Stop Traffic.

Elkins, W. Va., July 18. — Cloudbursts and heavy rains yesterday have caused such damage along the Western Maryland railway between Thomas and Elkins that it will not be possible to operate that portion of the road for at least twenty-four hours.

Jilted Girl Kills Lover.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 18.—Margaret Denner, eighteen years of age, shot and instantly killed Rafaele Darbato, nineteen years old, on the street yesterday.

WESTERN MEN IN NEW YORK.

Brains of Mountain and Prairie in Demand in the Financial Center.

Ever since the early days, when D. O. Mills, J. B. Haggin and James R. Keene "emigrated" from California to New York, the metropolis has been drawing largely on the west and south for its supply of "men who do things." Theodore P. Shonts, both a southerner and westerner, who has undertaken to solve New York's great transit problem, is the latest importation in response to the call of the east.

The promptness with which Thos. F. Ryan, of Virginia, turned the Equitable Life Assurance Society over to its policyholders, who now elect a majority of its Board of Directors, and divested himself of the control of the stock which he bought from Jas. H. Hyde, and the success of the new management of the Society under the direction of President Paul Morton, have created a demand for the strong men of the south and west that is greater than ever before. Under the Morton management the Equitable has made a better showing than any other insurance company in the way of improved methods, economies and increased returns to policyholders.

E. H. Gary, head of the greatest corporation in the world—the U. S. Steel Co.—John W. Gates, Henry C. Frick, Norman B. Ream, Wm. H. Moore and Daniel G. Reid are other westerners who are among the biggest men in New York.

TALES OF A PHOTOGRAPHER.

Strange Requests Made of Him by All Sorts of People.

Portrait taking is not so monotonous and uninteresting a calling as one would suppose. In the course of a day a photographer meets with unusual adventures and learns remarkable stories about people.

Recently a well-known photographer in a large city was visited by a lady who asked hi mto photograph more than 200 miles. These were addressed to the lady by a man and were of a very ardent nature.

After she had secured pictures she purchased the plates and smashed them. It is presumed the woman was offered a sum for the return of the letters, but wished to retain her hold on the man besides getting the money.

On another occasion a photographer was summoned by a prominent society man, who directed him to take a picture of a man, whom he described, as he was leaving a house. The photographer concealed himself near the door and snapped the man. He later saw the picture in a newspaper as that of a man who figured in a famous divorce suit.

Sometimes photographers are called upon to take the pictures of two friends meeting after a long absence. Many can tell of taking pictures of dead pets for broken-hearted housewomen. A photographer recently took a picture of a dog laid out in a shroud in a little coffin.

In London a photographer was called to the house of a wealthy man, whom he found dressed in the costume of King Lear. He posed and ordeerd several pictures to b esent to friends. Late rthe photographer learned the man had committed suicide.

Ye Sympathetic Friend.

Friend—Got a cold, I see.

Jinks—Yes, a little one.

"You ought to be mighty careful That cough needs attention."

"Think so?"

"It has a regular-graveyard sound."

"Good gracious!"

"Awful dangerous time for people with colds—grip, pneumonia and quick consumption everywhere."

"Eh?"

"Yes. A friend of mine took a cold not half so bad as yours, last week and in three days he was dead."

"My stars!"

"Fact. The doctor said my friend might have pulled through if he hadn't worried so much. Take my advice and try not to think about it."

A SMALL SECRET.

Couldn't Understand the Taste of His Customers.

Two men were discussing the various food products now being supplied in such variety and abundance.

One, a grocer, said, "I frequently try a package or so of any certain article before offering it to my trade, and in that way sometimes form a different idea than my customers have.

"For instance, I thought I would try some Postum Food Coffee, to see what reason there was for such a call for it. At breakfast I didn't like it and supper proved the same, so I naturally concluded that my taste was different from that of the customers who bought it right along.

"A day or two after, I waited on a lady who was buying a 25c package and told her I couldn't understand how one could fancy the taste of Postum.

"'I know just what is the matter,' she said, 'you put the coffee boiler on the stove for just fifteen minutes, and ten minutes of that time it simmered, and perhaps five minutes it boiled; now if you will have it left to boil full fifteen minutes after it commences to boil, you will find a delicious Java-like beverage, rich in food value of gluten and phosphates, so choice that you will never abandon it, particularly when you see the great gain in health.' Well, I took another trial and sure enough I joined the Postum army for good, and life seems worth living since I have gotten rid of my old time stomach and kidney troubles."

Postum is no sort of medicine, but pure liquid food, and this, together with a relief from coffee worked the change. "There's a Reason."

EIGHT MEN KILLED ON THE GEORGIA

CASE OF POWDER EXPLODES AS MEN ARE ABOUT TO LOAD AN EIGHT-INCH GUN.

FIFTEEN HURT; THREE FATALLY

TWO MEN ATTEMPT TO END SUFFERINGS BY JUMPING OVERBOARD.

Boston, July 17. — By the explosion of a case of powder in the hands of a gunner in the after superimposed turret of the battleship Georgia, in Massachusetts bay, yesterday, eight men were killed and thirteen injured. Not one of the persons in the turret escaped injury.

One of the victims was Lieut. Goodrich, son of Rear Admiral Goodrich, commandant of the Brooklyn navy yard. Lieut. Goodrich died in the hospital here late last night. His father and other members of the family arrived shortly after he died.

Both the living and the dead were found to be terribly burned. Three of the men were burned beyond recognition. Eyes were burned out, and faces, bodies, arms and legs blackened.

Try to End Their Sufferings.

Lieut. Goodrich and Seaman Walsh jumped overboard immediately after the explosion, with the apparent motive of ending the terrible suffering from their burns. Both of the desperate men were quickly rescued by uninjured comrades.

The accident happened while the battleship was several miles off Provincetown and the men were engaged in target practice, together with other vessels of the battleship squadron of the Atlantic fleet. The powder had just been taken from the ammunition hoist to load an eight-inch gun. It was seen to be burning and in an instant it exploded in the very face of the loader of the gun. No damage was done to the vessel, as the powder was not confined. Early last evening, under orders from Washington the Georgia sailed back for the target grounds off Provincetown.

Set Off by a Spark.

How the powder became ignited is not yet known, but the theory held at the navy yard is that it was set off by a spark from the smokestack of the warship. Immediately after the accident the Georgia headed for the Charlestown navy yard. There the dead and injured were taken ashore, the wounded men being conveyed to the naval hospital at Chelsea.

The Georgia is one of the newest battleships of the navy, having been in commission about ten months. She is commanded by Henry McRea.

STOP AMERICANS FISHING.

Russians Board Yankee Bark and Seize All the Ship's Papers.

San Francisco, July 17. — The barkentine S. N. Castle, Capt. Pedersen, arrived here yesterday from the cod fishing grounds off the coast of Siberia and reported that the vessel had been boarded by the Russian gunboat Mandjur, her ship's papers taken and warned to stay thirty miles from the shore, under threat of being confiscated and the officers and crew taken to Petropavlovsk in irons.

Capt. Pedersen stated that on June 18 he was cod fishing in the Okhotsk sea, eight miles from the shore, in company with the schooner J. D. Spreckels, the barkentines Fremont and City of Papete, all from San Francisco, when the Manjur hove in sight. The commanding officer said Capt. Pedersen boarded the Castle, seized not only the ship's clearance papers, but all of Capt. Pedersen's private papers and his master's commission and certificate. Capt. Pedersen remonstrated declaring that his vessel was outside of the three-mile limit, and therefore he was violating no law. The Russian commander, however, stated that no fishing would be allowed within thirty miles of the shore, and gave the S. N. Castle and the other vessels seven days to get beyond that limit.

TURNED DOWN BY CROKER.

Tammany Boss Refuses Nationalist Nomination for Parliament.

Dublin, July 17. — Richard Croker has declined the Nationalist nomination for member of parliament for East Wicklow, to replace D. J. Cogan (Nationalist), resigned. It is believed that Arthur Chamberlain, brother of Joseph Chamberlain, will permit his name to be placed before the convention, being prepared to take the pledge exacted from each Nationalist to go to parliament a declared home ruler.

MAILLEE IS ON THE GRILL.

Magistrate Searchingly Questions the Would-be Assassin of Fallieres.

Paris, July 16. — The examining magistrate yesterday completed his searching questions of Leon Maillee, the naval reservist, who Sunday fired two revolver shots at President Fallieres on the streets of Paris, failing, however, to hit him. No official statement regarding the examination has been made public. An exhaustive investigation of the incident is about to be started.

Saturday July 20, 1907.

The cool nights are refreshing, but how about the man with the bald spot on the top of his head?

Were newspaper men all millionaires we could see the finish of some of the boys—others would cut bait.

Look over the creamery statement for June in this issue if you wish to learn the names of a big bunch of prosperous farmers.

Congressman Steenerson has just patented a swimming mask. We would like to inquire if it would work on mosquitoes?

It helps some to know that we have the largest and most prosperous creamery in northern Minnesota and that it is getting bigger and bigger every year.

Gov. Cummins of Iowa now has senatorial ambitions. With Dolliver and Cummins seated Iowa would have two of the youngest, ablest and most eloquent senators in the United States.

Farmers are being advised all over the country to put up all the hay possible as there are prospects for a shortage. Thousands of tons go to waste around here every year. Why not save it?

The desire among the brethren to fish shows a decided shortage on editorial chaff, but the season will soon be brought to a close and then the boys will have some yarns to spin for their readers.

When a circus comes to town the most eager ones to desire a peep under the canvass is papa, mamma, uncle, grandpa, and the whole d—m family, while in reality little Willie would rather go with the Thompson kid.

A rather amusing story is being told of a man who went into a Bemidji hardware store and wished to purchase an ax. Being shown the article and informed that the price was $1.15, he said, "Why, I can get the same kind of an ax from a Chicago retail mail order concern for ninety cents." "Very well," said the dealer, "I will give it to you for the same price provided you will do the same with me as you would do with them." "All right," replied the customer as he handed over a dollar bill, the dealer giving back ten cents in change. "Now," said the dealer, "I want twenty-five cents more to pay express charges," which the purchaser gave him. "How much did the ax cost you?" "$1.15," answered the man. "Very good. Now give me five cents more for money order fees and postage," which the purchaser had to hand over. "Now, how much did your ax cost you?" "$1.20," said the customer. "Not so cheap after all," said the dealer, whereupon he picked up the ax, tossed it back on the shelf and told the customer to call for it in ten days, as that would be as soon as he could get it if he ordered it from the retail catalogue house.—Exchange.

A PIONEER DEAD.

On last Tuesday, July 16th, at his home in the township of Bray, accurred the death of Charles P. Swanson, of internal hemorage. Mr. Swanson was born in Sweden on September 4, 1850, and came to this country in 1873. He came to this section in 1881 and took the homestead in Bray, and has been prominent in township and county affairs for the past twenty-five years. He was married in 1882 and leaves a wife and five children—three boys and two girls, to mourn his loss. At the time of his death Mr. Swanson was postmaster at Bray and secretary of the Bray Mutual Fire Insurance company. There are few men in the county who has devoted so much of their time to the service of the public, particularly when there was little or no compensation, as did Mr. Swanson. Much of the success of the Bray Mutual was due to his efforts and his death will be a decided loss to the community. The Spectator, in company with their many friends, wishes to extend sympathy to the bereaved wife and children.

A Caustic Rejoinder.

A physician who had for fifteen years been one of the doctors of the Actors' fund and who attended hundreds of actors with no compensation whatever, wrote to a prominent manager and asked for some theater tickets. His request was refused, the manager asking what the doctor had ever done that he should be entitled to receive theater tickets gratis. The physician immediately replied. His letter contained a brief recital of his services to theatrical people. In conclusion he said: "Despite my services, as named above, I should not have thought of asking you for tickets had it not been that upon the occasion of the death of Mr. Blank you assured me that if you could ever serve me in any way whatever you would consider it a favor if I would call upon you. However, I bear you no ill will on account of your present action. I was very glad to attend Mr. Blank when he died in your box office, and I should be happy to do as much for you at any time."

Tom Corwin's Education.

The father of Tom Corwin, the famous Kentucky statesman, orator and wit, felt that he was too poor to make a scholar of more than one child of his large family, and so the elder brother, Matthias, was kept at school and Thomas placed at hard work on the farm. The breaking of a leg proved a happy incident in the life of the boy, as the enforced confinement gave him time for devotion to his beloved books, and he committed a Latin grammar to memory. Upon his recovery he again importuned his father to send him to school and, meeting a refusal, deliberately broke his leg the second time that he might have leisure to study. His heroic determination to learn resulted in his being placed in the same institution attended by his brother, where his natural ability and great industry gathered a thorough knowledge of the best English literature and a fair acquaintance with the Latin classics.—Ohio Magazine.

Why Horses Shy.

The horse shied at a piece of white paper, and the rider tumbled off into the mud.

"It is well for the world," said an automobilist, smiling, "that it is ceasing to use the horse for a servant. The horse is a half blind giant, with the mind of a baby. No wonder, then, that when we trust our lives in his keeping he is apt to go back on us.

"His main trouble is his eyes. So poor is the horse's sight that he mistakes a bank of snow for a fierce white beast. A mud puddle at his feet is a yawning chasm. A shadow flung across his path is a black terror seeking his life; hence the weakminded, nearsighted, powerful horse goes through life beside himself with fear. He is no more to be trusted than a maniac, and, like a maniac, he sees a monster awaiting him at every corner. Yet we get on his back, fools that we are."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

How Clouds and Fogs Differ.

Clouds are bodies of moisture evaporated from the earth and again partially condensed in the upper regions of the air. Fogs differ from clouds only in one respect—they come in contact with the surface of the earth while clouds are elevated above our heads. When the surface of the earth is warmer than the lower air the vapor of the earth, being condensed by the chill air, becomes mist or fog. But when the lower air is warmer than the earth the vapor rises through the air and becomes cloud. Fog and mist differ in this respect—that mist is a fine rain, while fog is vapor not sufficiently condensed to allow of its precipitation in drops.

The Fata Morgana.

The most singular aerial phenomenon is the fata morgana, a sea mirage seen off the coast of Calabria and between Italy and Sicily. It presents the phantoms of cities, houses, temples, palaces and ships, sometimes in their proper position, sometimes inverted, occasionally at an angle. The phenomenon has been known for many ages and formerly occasioned great and widespread alarm, being regarded as an evil omen that betokened some general and severe calamity.

Curious Effects of Frost.

An egg expands when it is frozen so much that the increased bulk breaks the shell. Apples, on the contrary, contract to such an extent that a full barrel will shrink until the top layer will be a foot below the chime. When the frost has been slowly and carefully drawn out they again assume their normal size and appearance. Apples can be transported when the mercury is 20 degrees below zero. Potatoes once touched by frost are ruined.

An Easier Trip.

"The president of this road," remarked the man in the corner of the smoking compartment, "is one of those old fashioned railroaders. He began as a brakeman. Instead of riding over the line in a private car to inspect it, he walks over it." "I don't blame him," declared the man who was making his first trip on the road.—Cleveland Press.

A Lasting Impression.

"Well, Bertha, I hear you met Mr. Cooke yesterday. Did you like him?"

"Do you know, dear, he made an impression upon me that nothing will obliterate."

"Really! How—what did he say?"

"It wasn't what he said; it was what he did. He spilled a cup of tea over my new white silk dress."

Succeeded.

"She married him to reform him."

"Did she succeed?"

"Sure! He used to be a spendthrift and now he has nothing to spend."—Houston Post.

"A good full-grown elephant costs at least two hundred dollars more than it did a year ago."—News Item.

Beats all how 'spensive livin' is—
'Most everything a-goin' up
Sky-high in price, till common folks
Can scarce afford to eat or sup.
I do not mind that I must scrimp—
Alas! I've oft done that before,
But now the price of elephants
Has riz two hundred plunks or more.

I may not want an elephant—
In fact, I do not s'pose I do,
Yet when I think a while, I am
Not sure but what I need a few!

Dear me!—this upward tendency
Of all things that you want to buy,
And spotters in the custom house
That ever keep a watchful eye
Lest tourists might economize
In interest of their private biz,
And with all else, I must deplore
The price of elephants has riz!

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of $16.70 which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Pierre Colomb and Lucie Colomb, his wife, mortgagors, to Wheeler-Misner Loan Co., a corporation, mortgagee, dated December 28th, 1904, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Red Lake, state of Minnesota, in book 33 of Mortgages on pages 606, 607 and 608, having been filed for such record January 9th, A. D. 1905, at 4 o'clock p. m.

Which said mortgage provides that if the mortgagors fail to pay interest on a prior mortgage therein mentioned for the principal sum of $1600.00 on the premises hereinafter described at the time the same shall become due under the conditions of said prior mortgage and the note secured thereby, then and in that event said mortgagee may pay such interest and have an additional claim and lien upon said premises therefor with interest on the amount so paid at the rate of 10 per cent per annum under the first above mentioned mortgage. That said mortgagors have failed to pay interest on said prior mortgage in the amount of $96.00 which became due December 28th, 1906, and the said mortgagee has paid said sum of $96.00 interest on said prior mortgage. That said first above mentioned mortgage also provides that in event the mortgagors shall fail to pay the taxes assessed against said premises before they become delinquent the mortgagee, in said mortgage might pay such taxes and claim an additional lien for the amount so paid with interest thereon at 10 per cent per annum under said mortgage. That said mortgagors in said first above mentioned mortgage failed to pay taxes assesed against said premises before the same became delinquent for the year 1904, and the said taxes amounting to the sum of $25.21 have been paid by the mortgagee in said first above mentioned mortgage, and said first above mentioned mortgage further provides that in event of the default on the part of the mortgagors therein in any of the terms or conditions thereof the whole sum secured thereby shall become due and payable at once. That the whole sum secured by said mortgage is the sum of $64.70 and said mortgagees have elected to and do hereby declare said sum to be due and in addition thereto said sum of $96.00 interest on said prior mortgage and interest thereon amounting to $2.50, and said sum of $25.21 taxes and interest thereon amounting to the sum of $3.40, in all amounting to the sum of $192.81; and no action or proceeding has been instituted at law, or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

That the premises described in and conveyed by said first above mentioned mortgage is the southwest quarter (SW¼) and the southeast quarter (SE¼) of the northwest quarter (NW¼) of section fourteen (14), in township one hundred fifty-one (151) north of range forty-five (45) west of the 5th P. M., in the county of Red Lake and state of Minnesota, subject to said prior mortgage of $1600.00.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said first above mentioned mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed thereby subject to said prior mortgage, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county at the front door of the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the 30th day of July, 1907, at the hour of 10 o'clock in the forenoon, of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt of $192.81 and interest and taxes on said premises and $25.00 attorney's fees, as stipulated in said mortgage, and the disbursements allowed by law in case of foreclosure of said mortgage; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

On Thursday evening occurred the installation of officers in St. Hilaire Lodge No. 147, I. O. O. F., as follows: A. S. Wilson, Noble Grand; C. L. Hansen, Vice Grand; H. E. Ives, Secretary; H. W. Peterson, Warden: Otto E. Olson, Conductor; H. A. Johnson, I. G.; Wm. Eickhoff, O. G.; O. H. Olson, R. S. N. G.; I. Dahleen, L. S. N. G.; E. M. Hoff, R. S. V. G.; O. F. Post, L. S. V. G.

The storm of last Saturday evening lacked in speed only seventeen seconds of being a genuine hurricane, while the clouds hung low and the various puffs of wind seemed anxious to unite and blow up a twister. A large number of people watched the approaching storm with much anxiety, and nothing happened further than the rain decending in torrents. A cyclone cave would have been crowded full had such a thing been of easy access.

The question of buying the water power from the Crookston Lumber Company was under discussion again by the Commercial Club at their meeting last Wednesday evening. After a thorough discussion a resolution was passed recommending to the village council that they make the company a definate offer, which we understand has been done. It is probable that within a couple of weeks the question will be decided definately.

There isn't much left standing of the old saw mill by the dam side, and as soon as the debris is cleared away then the site will be ready for the new Red Lake county court house, a flouring mill, pulp mill, electric road terminal, or any old thing that may be in search of a good location. We have better inducements to offer than can be made by any other city in the great northwest, and ere long we hope to see a large force of men at work erecting for us a factory, mill or court house.

THE BANNER RECORD

The St. Hilaire Creamery Holds the Record for Butter Shipments for the Great Northwest.

That a good creamery is the life of a community goes without saying, for with the rural citizens receiving monthly their checks of from twenty-five to eighty dollars it shows that the country is prosperous and the farmers are fast learning for what their land is best adapted. When the country was first opened to settlement the early settlers were of the opinion that cereals, more especially wheat and flax, were the only products that would grow in this country, and many proved such failures at farming that they pulled stakes and returned to Missouri—the land of their birth, while those of a more determined disposition experimented with tame grass, timothy and clover, and their efforts proving successful the country is fast becoming known the world over as the greatest of dairying countries. The pioneers kept plodding along until some five years ago they co operated and erected a creamery, and today the institution does it part towards filling the coffers of the farmers and swelling the surplus in the banks. Early this spring through the efforts of Buttermaker Geo. L. Austin the products of our creamery was granted a premium of two cents a pound above market price, and now comes a letter from the traveling freight solicitor for the Star Union Line, the transportation company which handles all dairy products shipped from St. Paul, and it sounds good to us. It follows:

FARGO, N. D., July 13, '07.
MR. GEO. L. AUSTIN,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

DEAR SIR:—Your shipment of 140 tubs was banner shipment this season from any Co-Operative Creamery north of St. Paul. The next largest being from Albany, Minn. (really a private creamery, but not "central plant.") They sent out 100 the same week.

L. V. FROST, Trav. Frt. Sol.
Star Union Line.

Such a report is indeed encouraging, and we trust the high standard of the butter and banner shipments will continue. And there is no reason why this pace should not continue, for with one of the best buttermakers in the country at the helm and experienced dairymen at the topmast the products of our creamery will forever sail the sea of necessity with a "Premium-Banner" afloat. The average shipment to New York per month is about 30,000 pounds with the premium alone netting $600. Buttermaker Austin seeks no credit for himself but says the largest part of the credit is due the patrons who take interest enough in the creamery to look after the quality of their cream and deliver it at the creamery in good condition. The secret of keeping cream sweet is getting the air into it and the animal heat out before covering it up tight. If cream is stirred frequently while cooling and then kept reasonably cool it will keep sweet for two or three days. This has been the experience of our dairymen and to all new-comers we would say, "Get the habit." We have a warm welcome for all who desire to better their condition, and there are a number of good farms in the near vicinity of St. Hilaire that can be bot very reasonable, and if other than drones seek a home in our midst they can share in the profits of ours—the best conducted creamery in the great northwest.

Miss Hilma Nelson, a trained nurse from St. Luke's hospital in Chicago, arrived in the city Thursday for a brief visit at the home of her brother, Jens Nelson.

In another column in today's paper will be found resolutions of the banks favoring a consolidation under the title of the Merchants State Bank of St. Hilaire, and as soon as Public Examiner Schaefer passes thereupon we will have but one bank, but that a sound and solid institution. The consolidation will not take place for at least a couple of weeks, and then we can give the officers and directors.

Well may the farmers of this locality feel proud of their teams, for scarcely a rural citizen comes to town but that his turnout outshines those from other localities. The farmers are prosperous and take pride in so being, and they not only believe in having fine horses but their home and possessions are kept up in style. Now if they would only give their farms a name and place it, together with their own name, upon the side of the barn facing the road or the road-gate, it would help materially toward advertising the country. Not only would we be better able to locate our patrons and friends throughout the country, but it would add pleasure and interest to those driving from place to place. The result would be lasting for no observing person passess a beautiful farm without desiring to know who is its enterprising owner, and none of our rural citizens need feel ashamed of their homes or possessions if a person is to judge from the turnouts as they appear upon our streets day after day.

A Ready Explanation.

A Washington man one day went out of town for a day's fishing, taking a luncheon with him. When he had reached the stream where he intended to enjoy his sport he discovered that he had dropped his luncheon somewhere on the way. He hastened back to look for it. Presently he met a burly darky, who seemed very well pleased with himself, and who was in the act of brushing crumbs from his lips with his sleeve.

"Did you pick up anything in the road as you came along," asked the Washingtonian, with a suspicious glance at the negro.

"No, sah," promptly returned the colored man. "I didn't pick up nothin'. Couldn't a dog hab found it an' e't it up?"—Woman's Home Companion.

The Annihilation of Distance.

How much nearer to each other the nations of the world are today than they were a few decades ago! When weeks and months were required to get news from across the ocean, the old world seemed to be a long way off. Now the whole earth is belted with telegraph and cable lines, and yesterday's happenings in Europe, Asia, Africa, South America, Australia and the islands of the sea are read at this morning's breakfast table. Distance is annihilated and the nations are becoming friendly neighbors in consequence. The marvelous change is brought home to the mind most strikingly upon reading a great modern newspaper whose telegraphic news covers the whole world each day—a paper such as the Chicago Record-Herald, which has a veritable army of correspondents in every important city. In addition to its own staff of correspondents the Record-Herald has the benefit of the foreign news service of the New York Herald, famous for its world wide cable system and the reliability of its foreign news; also that of the New York World and the New York Journal of Commerce, besides that great co-operative news gathering organization, the Associated Press.

A SPLENDID SHOWING

The Month of June has been a Record Breaker for the St. Hilaire Creamery.

The month of June has certainly been a record breaker in the history of the creamery. The net amount paid to patrons for the month was $7,382.13, which is the largest amount ever paid by the association for one month's delivery, as also is the twenty-five and one-half cents paid for butterfat. The dairymen of this locality have big reasons to feel proud of this institution, which is doing so much good for them in particular and the community in general. The total amount of business done the same month last year was $6,165.61. The following are those receiving over $50 for the month:

How Much Could You Get For Your Farm?

You are a farmer. You live near this town. You own land. Let us say that you own more than you need and would like to sell a hundred acres.

How much could you get per acre?

Land values have risen lately. But has the value of your land risen as you think it should?

Your land is good land. You think it is worth considerably more than anybody has offered you. Well, let us see.

A man buying farm land naturally prefers to locate near a thriving, up to date town. He wants good home markets for his crops. He wants good schools.

Let us say your land is three miles from town. A farm that looks very much like yours is three miles from a town twice as big and twice as prosperous as this town.

If you were going to buy a farm for your own occupancy, wouldn't you pay a whole lot more for land near the town that is twice as large and twice as lively?

Of course you would. It would be good business.

Now, what makes a town big and bustling? Money. Money in circulation. Not in circulation in Chicago, for instance, but right in the town that wants to grow.

How much money have you sent to the big Mail Order houses in the city the past ten years? How much have your neighbors sent? How much have all of you together put out of circulation here at home?

It is probably beyond calculation. If all that money had been spent in your own home town, isn't it reasonable to assume that the town would have grown more than it has grown?

Wouldn't this town be a bigger and better town?

Wouldn't it have more stores to buy your produce?

Wouldn't it have more public improvements to make it more attractive to outsiders who might come here to live, to go into business, or buy your surplus land at a good figure?

TO TRADE AT HOME MEANS TO HELP THE TOWN AND THE NEIGHBORHOOD. TO HELP THE TOWN AND THE NEIGHBORHOOD MEANS TO HELP YOURSELF.

Mrs. Emma Stolt, of Appleton, Wisconsin.

"A neighbor, advised me to use Peruna. I began to improve at once."

MRS. EMMA STOLT.

Mrs. Emma Stolt, 1069 Oneida St., Appleton, Wis., writes:

"Peruna has done me a great deal of good since I began taking it and I am always glad to speak a good word for it.

"Three years ago I was in a wretched condition with backaches, bearing down pains, and at times was so sore and lame that I could not move about. I had inflammation and irritation, and although I used different remedies they did me no good.

"A neighbor who had been using Peruna advised me to try it, and I am glad that I did. I began to improve as soon as I took it and I felt much better.

"I thank you for your fine remedy. It is certainly a godsend to sick women.

Catarrh of the Internal Organs.

Miss Theresa Bertles, White Church, Mo., writes:

"I suffered with catarrh of the stomach, bowels and internal organs. Everything I ate seemed to hurt me. I never had a passage of the bowels without taking medicine. I was so tired mornings and ached all over. I had a pain in my left side, and the least exertion or excitement made me short of breath.

"Now, after taking Peruna for six months, I am as well as I ever was. Peruna has worked wonders for me. I believe Peruna is the best medicine in the world, and I recommend it to my friends."

A man may think he knows more than a doctor, but he is apt to listen when a lawyer tells him he needs a change of climate.

How He Got a Verdict.

It was a case of breach of promise. The defendant was allowed to say a word in his own behalf.

"Yes," he said, "I kissed her almost continuously every evening I called at her house."

Lawyer (for defendant)—Then you confess it?

Defendant—Yes, I do confess it. But I had to do it.

Lawyer—You had to do it! What do you mean?

Defendant—That was the only way I could keep her from singing.

The jury gave a verdict for the defendant without leaving their seats.

GOOD TO EMPLOYES

UNCLE SAM TREATS HIS WORKERS GENEROUSLY.

In Matters of Vacations and Sick Leave He Might Be Termed "Easy"—Policy of Retrenchment a Failure.

It costs Uncle Sam in the neighborhood of $6,000,000 annually for the leisure of his employes. Not many employers treat their employes so generously. In fact, not many could afford to do so. There are on the government payroll about 55,000 employes, and their annual salaries approximate about $60,000,000. Most of these employes are entitled to 30 days' vacation annually. They are also allowed to take 30 days' sick leave annually on full pay. It is estimated that 75 per cent. of the employes take their vacations regularly, and many take their full 30 days' sick leave.

A treasury official with whom statistics are a hobby has made a careful computation, and says that more than $6,000,000 of good government funds go for "loafing spells" of employes. As he figures it, the government work could be done with one-twelfth less the present number of employes easily. Or, taken in another form, the present force can do all the government work in 11 months, probably in ten, for which they now receive the 12 months' pay. He also suggests that if the government work was done by contract it could be done for three-fourths the present cost.

"There is one remarkable feature about this vacation business," said he, "and that is that the more salary a man draws the longer vacation he takes. The ordinary employes get 30 days' annual and 30 days' sick leave, if they can supply a doctor's certificate. Many heads of departments take from three to four months, and do not have to account to anybody. It's a case where the little fish get the worst of it, as usual. But the subordinate employes have no complaint when compared to employes of railroads and other concerns which are large employers of labor."

When confronted with the vast sum paid out for leisure, government officials say the payroll is just the same whether the employes worked ten months or 12; that there are just so many people to do the work and just so much work to be done; that if they do it in ten months Uncle Sam is none the loser. Still, when a railroad or other big employer of labor finds that five-sixths of its present force of employes can do all the work it doesn't hesitate to discharge the other sixth. Uncle Sam is not so harsh. He discharges an employe now and then for unfaithfulness, but never simply because the employe has nothing to do.

Some time ago Secretary Garfield began a "retrenchment" policy in the department of the interior. He abolished two or three divisions in his office and sent the work to the Indian bureau and general land office. But many clerks in the division which he abolished were transferred to the Indian bureau or land office, and several of them had their salaries increased.

Another illustration is given. At the recent session of congress an effort was made, in the interests of economy, to wipe out all the outside pensioners from the Washington bureau. When sifted down it was found that the bureau intended to bring all the clerks at the outside offices to Washington at the same or increased salaries. Figures were produced to show that instead of being in the interests of economy it would really cost the government more, so the senate defeated the bill.

Good Fishing Around Capital.

The ancient and fascinating pastime of angling has many votaries in Washington, who find ample opportunities these days to gratify their hobby. This does not apply to the game fishermen, the experts with fly and casting rod, but to the common every day garden worm fisherman, who with line and sinker angles for white perch and catfish. On a pleasant day it will be possible to see a thousand lines a-wetting from the Long bridge to the Chain bridge. There will be men and boys in boats, on the wharves and fishing from the sea-wall and river and bank. And most of them catch something.

This is the white perch season, but the fish are running small this year. The oldtimers say that the proper way to fish for white perch is to use a heavy sinker and fish on the bottom, as the big perch swim deep. The catfiesh are biting and some fine specimens are caught. They are good eating, too, as they are the blue channel cats, and they put up a fight almost as viciously as a big-mouth bass.

Mystery in Shaving Day.

"Well, we are going down into Southwest Washington to-night on a visit to my sister," said a woman passenger on a Pennsylvania avenue car in the southeast section of the city the other morning. She was addressing a female friend, and the rejoinder was, "Oh, I know you will have a nice time."

Then the first woman sighed and said: "You know he shaves on that day." The talk then branched off into disjointed discussions as to best days to hang out the wash and what kind of soup to feed the children during the hot summer days, but the two young fellows who heard the first remark are wondering how often "he" has his whiskers removed and why it is celebrated by a family gathering.

A Cook That Wants No Wages

The Modern Andromeda a Sacrifice to the Cook-Stove—How Two Lazy Women Solved the Cook Problem—The Aladdin Oven a Novel Substitute—"No Heat, No Smell, and Needing No Overseer"—A Boon for Business Woman, Bride and Suburbanite—Every Library Has Book Concerning the Aladdin Oven.

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

Copyright, 1906, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

What if a delightful old fairy godmother, like Cinderella's, should walk into the kitchen some evening and find you resting after a hard, long day spent in the unending and pitiless service of that fiery dragon, the cook stove? This monster, like the one in the story of Andromeda, requires a woman to be chained up for its benefits, and sometimes, indeed, it exacts her life unless some gallant, rich Perseus comes as her deliverer.

What if the dear old fairy godmother should wave her wand and say: "I will loose these chains and let you go once more free and happy; I transform this monster now, on the spot, into a neat little box, with a cook inside, at your service!"

If she should work the transformation; place the kitchen lamp under the box, into which put the food you wish cooked on the dishes in which it will be served, close the box and the kitchen door. Go to see the tennis match, the great game of football or the latest orchid in the flower show. Return when you are ready, and you will find a hot, well-cooked meal in the box, all ready to place on the table.

Can you imagine poor Andromeda saying: "No, old lady, no! I like to be chained here. I love this monster with his dirt and his cruel exactions. I will be roasted, burned, broiled and stewed in his service, and when he does not need me I will stand for hours over a sink scrubbing the metal pots he delights in that he may have the vessels sacred to his use, bright and ready when I must again serve him."

How foolish of Andromeda! How incredible, even! Yet this is just what thousands of women are doing, while that very magic box with the cook inside is waiting to be bought and has been written about and much used for certainly 20 years.

The Aladdin oven has been before the public quite that long, and yet its advocates are like missionaries in a far country who have such a precious message to deliver and no one seems to understand the language in which it is spoken. I hope that my experience with this really wonderful invention may be of service to some of the poor slaves of the cook stove and incompetent cooks, and, like a siren whistle, pierce the ears of the deaf and inattentive and cause them to stop and listen.

Jean Paul Richter says: "Only once in her life does a poor woman hold up her head and look at the world as it really is. All her youth her head is bent and her eyes are downcast in study and submission and later her head is bent over her sewing or her endless housework. Only when she loves does she stand upright and is pushed out into the sunshine by loving, willing hands, for her short holiday with her lover, before her head is again bent forever." Now every woman who does her own cooking can hold up her head like a betrothed maiden all the year round.

For several years this Aladdin oven has been used by a family of four with such success, health, pleasure and profit that now so great do its perfections seem to them all that they are ready to swing incense and crown it with flowers every morning as an appropriate expression of their grateful appreciation of its labors in their service. There it stands in the corner always silent, ready and efficient; no heat or smell, needing no overseer, and working for them while they play or sleep. I hope an account of an experiment with this delightful little cook may cause some other woman to try it also.

"Hast thou two loaves, sell one and buy jacinths to feed thy soul." Two poor women longed for the unattainable, a house by the sea, their own beach and garden and their very own view, with the solitude and rest so much needed in this busy America. This seemed reserved for the rich, for where the beach and garden could be had for a small sum of money no cook would come on account of the loneliness; yet to do the cooking themselves meant labor that would spoil any holiday, for who could enjoy the garden, the view and the beach if she must give up the best part of each day to preparing three meals with the usual cleaning up afterward? However, they decided to try the Atkinson box.

A comfortable cottage was built, three miles from the nearest village, on the seashore, and the two incapable southern women who had never needed to lift a finger in their lives for real housework took possession. In the south, although we complain because it is the fashion to do so, about servants, we very seldom find it necessary to do without them; there is always old Aunt Jane, who was mother's cook, or Malvina, who likes a job occasionally even if she is old, to come and help. So it was felt to be a great experiment to do without even one servant; but the glorious view, the dear little home, the freedom and the solitude, were worth the trial.

The Aladdin oven consists of a box with the shelves inside; under it is placed a common kerosene lamp. The heat is shut between layers of asbestos and a thermometer outside the door indicates the heat inside. The lamp, which holds a gallon of oil, is filled once a day after breakfast, and burns 24 hours, or even longer, if you keep it very low and as the food often cooks 12 hours, very little heat is needed.

Breakfast is put on the stove after supper in the evening and is quite ready by six o'clock the next morning. It is equally good at 8:30 o'clock. Dinner goes in after breakfast, and supper after dinner. It does not matter if you reverse this order and have your dinner later and luncheon instead of dinner, or if you only turn the lamp low enough if you do not eat the dinner put in the stove at nine a. m. till 7:30 p. m. This was often the case with us when we were away on picnics or excursions.

Every evening after supper one lazy woman washed the tea things—a sort of survival of the fittest, for everything not absolutely necessary was soon discarded for the faithful and essential few, and a centerpiece and jars of flowers took the place on the table of the usual ornamental dishes and silver—while the other, in her pretty muslin and ribbons, gayly prepared the simple breakfast, placing it on the shelves, shutting the door, and turning down the lamp for the night. This took about 15 minutes, usually, more or less, then they both departed and joined congenial friends waiting to enjoy the sunset with the cook or perhaps to discuss Maeterlinck's latest play with the waitress.

The next morning at 8:30, after a delicious swim in the sea and a leisurely toilet, the box was opened and a steaming hot, well-cooked breakfast was ready. Again did the lazy one wash the breakfast things; there never are any pots or pans. Meanwhile the pretty cook, in a crisp white dress put in the dinner. This usually consisted of roast beef, peas, rice, roast potatoes, tomatoes, and a sweet pudding, and took about half an hour to prepare. The beef was on its china platter, the vegetables in their own French china dishes and the pudding in its pretty decorated Japanese covered dish. As soon as they were all in, off went these happy women for a long morning filled with sailing, gardening, books and walks—all the joys of an idle summer day. They reached home at one o'clock, hungry and gay, rushed in, opening the box, and took out the very best dinner one would wish to eat—hot, savory and nutritious. The supper was then prepared, and again all the afternoon was before them to enjoy as they wished.

The stove is not perfect by any means, nor will it do everything exactly like an ordinary range; of course not. It has its limitations, as we all have.

The objections usually urged against it is that it will not heat water for household use. As well might you refuse to go on the railroad because it cannot go along on the water or use the telegraph because it cannot carry bundles or a furnace because, although it uses tons of coal, needs an attendant and wastes much heat, it will not do the cooking—which is really very thoughtless and inconsiderate of the furnace. What the Aladdin oven will do is to take the place of a cook, whose principal labor is not so much cooking the food as watching to see that it does not burn from the fierce fire she kindles. However, so serious does this objection about water seem to be that I have not yet induced one person to buy an oven and follow my example. Yet there are many ways of getting all the hot water you want, and when you want it. We have an oil stove and a wash boiler with a spigot in it that gives us an abundance of water.

The food that is roasted, stewed or baked is best, as might be expected from the slow cooking, and is so delicate and excellent in flavor that the ordinary cooking seems coarse and poor after it. If you must have freedom to buy jacinths to delight your soul, perhaps you will not sigh for delicacies that take much labor to prepare and cook. If you really desire them you can always make them over an ordinary oil stove or in a chafing dish, while the Aladdin oven, in a dignified and untroubled manner, attends to preparing the real nutritious food for the day. Of course those who can hire a cook need not try one. Why should they, indeed?

DOG THAT LIKES TO SWING

Family Keeps Rope Constantly Ready for His Amusement.

In the front yard of a home on East Ninth street a rope dangles from a branch of a tree.

"Wonder what that rope's for?" asked a man of his companion as the two were passing the house one morning.

"Go in and ask, if you're curious," the other advised.

A young woman came to the door.

"We, that is—I was sort of curious about what the rope on that tree is for," the inquisitive one stammered.

"Why, that's Johnny's swing," the young woman answered.

Out of the door dashed Johnny—a fox terrier. A leap and he fastened his teeth in the rope and growling and jerking signified that he was ready to swing. The young woman pushed him back and forth until he reached the topmost branches of the tree.

"Johnny would stay there hanging on that rope all day if we would let him," she said. "That's why the rope is kept tied up out of his reach."

Johnny is the property of Charles R. Hicks, of East Ninth street.—Kansas City Times.

SALESMEN WHO LACK TACT

Two Glaring Instances of Inefficiency Put on Record.

"One of the most difficult things in our business," said the proprietor of one of the retail clothing stores, "is to get hold of salesmen with the requisite amount of tact. I believe more tact is required of salesmen in our line than almost any other.

"Not long ago we had a young salesman here who thought the only way to please a customer was to keep up a line of 'con' talk. One day a plain looking old man came in to look at a business suit. Well, as he was putting the coat on the old fellow the salesman patted him on the shoulder and told him in a low voice, 'That'll make you look like a real college boy, all right.'

"If there was anything that the customer didn't want to look like it was a college boy, and he left without buying a suit.

"Another time the same salesman nearly queered a sale with a poor, consumptive, emaciated looking middle-aged man, who appeared to have one leg in the grave and the other one dragging. If there was any subject that should have been avoided it was that of his state of health. But the minute the salesman saw him he wanted to let him know that he remembered him from a previous visit to the store, and said, 'Well, how is your health these days, anyhow?'

"That was enough to remind the man that he was probably there to buy his grave clothes."—Cleveland Plain-Dealer.

The Social Secretary.

Long ago it was found desirable to place the work of factory improvement in the hands of a salaried social secretary, says The Reader. This person, a man where men are employed, a woman where girls are in question, serves as a point of contact between the firm and the workers, supervising what may be called the domestic department of factory life to see that abuses which arise because of carelessness or other causes are corrected; that the man or woman has every chance for doing work in such a way as to deserve advancement and to see that it comes; to protect the firm from the wastefulness of keeping on the pay roll those who fail to give a day's work for a day's pay, in some cases adjusting salaries according to capacity. Not in the least in the nature of a spy the social secretary is concerned purely with the business of insuring fair play for both sides, more particularly from the employes' viewpoint.

Firms which employ such a person find the social secretary worth every cent of the good salary commanded.

Her Modesty.

"Ah! my love," sighed the ardent lover, "if you only knew how beautiful you are."

"You musn't speak of it," protested the modest girl. "I don't want to know."

"Why not?"

COULD HARDLY TOTTER ABOUT.

A Vivid Description of the Most Insidious of Diseases.

Miss Emma Shirley, Killbuck, N. Y., writes: "Kidney disease mysteriously fastened itself upon me two years ago and brought awful headaches and dizzy spells. I was all unstrung, weak and nervous, could scarcely totter about. Pains in the side and back completely unnerved me. My food distressed me, I looked badly and the kidneys were noticeably deranged. I sank lower and lower until given up and at this critical time began with Doan's Kidney Pills. Details are unnecessary. Twelve boxes cured me and I weigh six pounds more than ever before. THE STORY OF A WISCONSIN MAN IN WESTERN CANADA.

Three Years Ago Worth Only $2,000; To-Day Is Worth $13,000.

The following is a copy of a letter, of which the Agents of the Canadian Government throughout the United States receive similar ones many times during the year:

Cayley, Alta., Dec. 7, 1906.

Agent Canadian Government,
Watertown, S. D.

Dear Sir:

Your letter dated Nov. 27th at hand and was very glad to hear from you. I see that you are still at work persuading people to move into the Canadian Northwest. I must tell you that I owe you many thanks for persuading me to come out here, am only sorry that I wasn't persuaded sooner, and there is still plenty of good chances for many more right at the present time. I hope that you will be able to induce more to make a start out to this part of the country.

Now I must tell you what I have accomplished since I came out here and it won't be three years till the 1st of July. I shall shortly receive my patent for my homestead, the homestead cost me $10.00 in all, to-day it is worth $30.00 per acre, but it is not for sale. Then a year ago last May I bought 320 acres at $7.00 per acre and sold this fall for $20.00 per acre and cleared a profit of $4,160.00. How is that for the Northwest? I now have 320 acres of land and all paid for, 15 head of horses, 30 head of cattle, 22 pigs, 2 sheep and about 150 chickens and other poultry, and all new machinery and everything is paid for. We also bought 8 lots in Calgary and 7 in High River. We gave $470 for the 15 lots and they are paid for. At present I consider myself worth $13,000.00, and when I left Wisconsin less than three years ago I had about $2,000.00. This year I threshed a little over 4,000 bushels of grain, have about one thousand bushels of fine potatoes and about five hundred bushels of turnips. Mrs. Beisiegel sold about $200 worth of garden truck and poultry this fall. Now there are lots of others in this community who did as well as I did in the same length of time.

The family and myself are all well at this writing and hope this letter will find you the same.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) PHILIP BEISIEGEL,
Cayley, Alta., Canada.

SCALY ERUPTION ON BODY.

Doctors and Remedies Fruitless—Suffered 10 Years—Completely Cured by Cuticura.

"Small sores appeared on each of my lower limbs and shortly afterwards they became so sore that I could scarcely walk. The sores began to heal, but small scaly eruptions appeared. The itching was so severe that I would scratch the sores until the blood began to flow. After I suffered thus about ten years I made a renewed effort to effect a cure. The eruptions by this time had appeared on every part of my body except my face and hands. The best doctor in my native county and many remedies gave no relief. All this was fruitless. Finally my hair began to fall out and I was rapidly becoming bald. A few months after, having used almost everything else, I thought I would try Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap. After using three boxes I was completely cured, and my hair was restored, after fourteen years of suffering and an expenditure of at least $50 or $60 in vainly endeavoring to find a cure. B. Hiram Mattingly, Vermillion, S. Dak., Aug. 18, 1906."

TRIAL OF HAYWOOD

For Murder of Gov. Steunenberg.

Defense Rests Its Case.

Boise, Idaho, July 20.—A day of arguments on the admissibility of points of evidence followed the announcement from the defense that they had no further witnesses to offer in behalf of Haywood. The jury was not brought into court, Judge Wood having been informed by counsel of their decision to rest without offer of surrebuttal. Clarence Darrow spoke for an hour and a half in the morning session. Senator Borah replied in the afternoon and was followed by E. F. Richardson. Judge Wood will probably announce his decision this morning.

To Exclude Evidence.

The point argued was the proposition to exclude consideration of evidence offered by the defense to show by proof of the deportation of miners and the employment of detectives in Cripple Creek district of Colorado that a conspiracy was formed among the mine owners and the citizens of the district to prevent the employment of members of the Western Federation of Miners. The position taken by the Haywood defense was that Harry Orchard was employed by the Mine Owners' association through detectives to commit crimes that were charged to the federation; that public opinion was aroused against the union miners, and that, if the Colorado evidence for the state was admitted the defense had the right to show a counter conspiracy.

State Replies.

The reply of the state was that the defense had failed legally to connect their case in any of the particulars stated, and therefore their evidence merely confused the issue.

J. M. Hawley will open the argument for the state this morning. It is expected that he will take the entire day. Mr. Richardson, for the defense, will speak Saturday.

Limits Field for Argument.

Boise, Idaho, July 21.—The field for argument, both for the prosecution and defense of William D. Haywood, has been limited by Judge Wood, who in a decision handed down yesterday removed from the consideration of the jury all evidence bearing on the alleged conspiracy by mine owners and others against the Western Federation of Miners.

Immediately after the announcement of this decision argument commenced.

Hawley Addresses the Jury.

Judge Hawley, leading counsel for the state, spoke for two hours and fifteen minutes at the afternoon session. Mr. Hawley's address was at times eloquently impassioned, but yet a plain analysis of the case. He characterized the case as the "most important ever given to a jury in the United States." He denounced the defendant and his alleged co-conspirators as the "worst band of criminals that ever infested any section of this country."

Calls Orchard's Story True.

Mr. Hawley described Orchard's story as truthful, not only because of the manner in which it was told, but because it had been corroborated in every important detail. Mr. Hawley concluded with the statement that already he had shown enough to convict, and that any juryman not willing to convict on the evidence connecting the conspirators with the blowing up of the Bunker Hill and Sullivan concentrator in 1899 and the explosion at the Vindicator mine in 1903 alone "sought only to rid himself of an unpleasant duty to his state."

Mr. Hawley will continue his argument to-day.

Life Is Passed In Boise Court.

Boise, Idaho, July 23. — James H. Hawley, leading counsel for the State of Idaho, presenting the first of the arguments to the jury in the case against William D. Haywood, closed Saturday after speaking for nearly eight hours, distributed over three sessions of court.

From time to time Haywood took copious notes in a small book and frequently made suggestions to one or other of his counsel, seven of whom were in court.

Throughout the day Mr. Hawley used an almost conversational tone. The analysis of testimony in contradiction of Orchard's story concluded frequently with the denunciation of witness after witness as a willful perjurer.

Exonerates Rank and File.

Mr. Hawley's peroration was impressive. He said he did not charge that a majority, or even that many of the Western Federation of Miners were criminals, but that the evil deeds of the officers and the scum of the organization had brought discredit on the rank and file.

With the utmost deliberation the leading counsel for the state charged willful perjury against several witnesses. He argued the truth of Orchard's story and said that two men in particular might have been brought to contradict him, but that the defense was afraid to produce either Pettibone or Adams, and he said Adams had been brought to Boise from jail in Shoshone county in order that the defense might use him as a witness.

White to the lips, Clarence Darrow sprang into action.

"The statement is false and counsel knows it," he shouted.

Hawley took a step closer to the defense table and sook his finger close to Darrow's face, and said:

"When counsel says that, he utters a deliberate falsehood."

The atmosphere here was charged with danger. Sheriff Hodgins stood up alert, and his deputies drew in closer, but Judge Wood, with a sharp command and insistent warning, patched up a temporary peace.

Strong Plea for Life of Haywood.

Boise, Idaho, July 24. — For four hours and a half yesterday E. F. Richardson pleaded with the jury for the life of William D. Haywood. Under order of the court the hours for the day's sessions were changed and court met at 6 o'clock last evening.

Mr. Richardson plunged directly into the death of Gov. Steunenberg in his opening sentence.

"When the death of Gov. Steunenberg was flashed to the world there was the immediate conclusion in nearly all quarters that there was some connection between the Coeur d'Alene troubles and the bomb which was placed at his gate."

Reviews Events.

Mr. Richardson then reviewed the events following the death of Former Governor Steunenberg, saying Harry Orchard was caught almost red-handed in the act. A Pinkerton detective came to Idaho and soon had a confession from a man who, to save his own worthless neck was ready to place the blame upon others. The matter was taken up by that portion of the press which depends upon the prosperous and capitalistic classes, and the leaders of the Western Federation of Miners were adjudged guilty without a hearing.

The attorney begged the jurors to lay aside any impression they may have formed from reading the newspapers during the last year and to start with him at the beginning of the case and go through the various events one by one, without feeling or prejudice.

Not Connected With Orchard.

The contention of the defense, Mr. Richardson declared, was that no connection has been shown between Orchard and the defendant.

Mr. Richardson, as he proceeded with his argument, reviewed all the principal points in the case, and declared that neither the defendant nor any of his associates was connected in any way with the crimes with which they are charged.

Attorney Flays the Pinkertons.

Boise, Idaho, July 25. — Forsaking the theory of vengeance as Orchard's motive for the murder of Former Governor Steunenberg, E. F. Richardson argued that Orchard was in the employ of the Pinkerton Detective agency when he killed Steunenberg and that the murder was a part of a conspiracy to hang Haywood. This sudden departure was followed by a tremendous denunciation of Capt. James McParland and the Pinkertons and passionate vituperation of Orchard, Gov. Gooding of Idaho, Senator Borah, Gov. Peabody of Colorado and all who have acted on the side of the prosecution of Haywood came in for a share of the avalanche of Mr. Richardson's peroration.

Calls It Pinkerton Plot.

Mr. Richardson denounced and charged the Pinkerton detective agency with a systematic plot to secure the conviction of Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone as a means to the desired extermination of the Western Federation of Miners. Clarence Darrow will commence his argument in Haywood's behalf this morning. It is expected he will require two days to close for the defense.

Perjury Charge Does Not Hold.

Dr. I. L. McGee, the witness for the defense, who was arrested, charged with perjury, was discharged yesterday by the magistrate before whom the preliminary hearing was held. The justice ruled that the evidence was insufficient to hold McGee.

ST. PAUL MAN KILLED BY CARS.

Charles McKissick Meets With Accident at Frazee.

St. Paul, July 21.—Charles McKissick of the live stock firm of McKissick Bros., South St. Paul, was instantly killed by a train at Frazee at 5 o'clock yesterday morning. From information received at South St. Paul he was on the way to catch a local train for Detroit and was struck by the flyer, coming in an opposite direction. Death was instantaneous.

Set of Tools in His Leg.

Deadwood, S. D., July 21.—Henry Anderson has for many months been troubled with his leg. Finally he became unable to walk and consulted doctors, who decided to perform an operation. The leg was cut open and the doctors took out a chisel, a couple of nails, a screwdriver, some chunks of wood and a piece of tin. Anderson recalled that several years ago he was the victim of a premature explosion while digging a ditch, but he was ignorant of what his leg was carrying.

HOLDS AUDIENCE OPEN-MOUTHED

DARROW IS SENSATIONAL IN HIS APPEAL IN BEHALF OF HAYWOOD.

ROASTS ORCHARD TO A TURN

APREALS FOR LABOR AS AGAINST CAPITAL—ASSAILS THE CONSTITUTION.

Boise, Idaho, July 25.—The career of Frank Steunenberg, the murdered governor of Idaho, was discussed at some length yesterday afternoon by Clarence Darrow in his plea in behalf of William D. Haywood. Justifying the articles published in the Miners' Magazine, the official organ of the Western Federation, Mr. Darrow said the action of Steunenberg in asking for United States troops to quell riot and the establishment of martial law in 1899 was unjustifiable and had properly stirred up intense feeling in labor circles against the governor.

An Appeal for Labor.

Mr. Darrow's argument, unfinished last night, developed into an appeal for labor as against capital and a denunciation of all opposition to unions. He held an audience startled and open-mouthed as one after another of the sentiments poured from his lips. His attack on Orchard was expected, and in this respect he fulfilled and surpassed the limit of sensation.

Three hours were given to Orchard, and it was only when vituperation, physical force and words were spent that Darrow turned to James H. Hawley, the leading counsel for the state, and the Pinkerton detectives, for something on which to pour the lesser volume of abuse.

Assails the Constitution.

The State of Idaho came in for a large share of Mr. Darrow's denunciation for the part it has played in the prosecution. Culture, education and wealth each in turn were described as constituting a combination against the workingman; the uneducated and the poor must ever be protected.

Reaching the climax of his denunciation, of sympathy for the working class and hatred for the rich, he assailed the constitution of the country and cried:

"The constitution! The constitution! It is here only to destroy the laws made for the benefit of the poor."

Mr. Darrow's support of labor unions and of union men was passionate, and his eulogy of the Western Federation eloquent.

TO FOUND COLONY.

Prof. Woita of Minnesota U Plans Bohemian Settlement.

Ladysmith, Wis., July 25.—Prof. Ignatz Woita of the Minnesota college of agriculture was here this week, looking over some real estate which he recently purchased. With Martin Sklenarska he is interested in founding a colony of Bohemians and he is favorably impressed with the conditions around here.

PEAT BEDS FOUND AT FERTILE.

Iowa Syndicate Purchases 200 Acres and Will Put in a Plant.

Fertile, Minn., July 25.—An Iowa syndicate has recently purchased a tract of 200 acres of land near here, containing the finest peat beds in the state, reaching from twelve to fourteen feet deep. The company is enthusiastic over the find and will put in a plant here.

WHEELS CRUSH OUT LIFE.

Child Is Thrown From Wagon by a Sudden Jolt.

Oskaloosa, Iowa, July 25. — Walter Coulson, seven years old, the son of a wealthy Mahaska county farmer, was killed while returning home from town with his parents. The boy was riding in a wagon and by a sudden jolt was thrown out, the wheels passing over his abdomen.

HURLS DOG INTO CROWD.

Pioneer Limited Engine Hits Canine and Three Persons Are Hurt.

Hartland, Wis., July 25.—Three people were seriously injured yesterday when the Pioneer limited ran into a big St. Bernard dog at the station here. The big animal was hurled by the train into the crowd and three persons were knocked down and hurt.

Small House Stops Fight.

Brazil, Ind., July 25. — The fight scheduled here last night between Willis Fitzgerald of Brooklyn and Paddy Lavin of Buffalo, N. Y., did not take place on account of the small attendance, the fighters refusing to go on.

Warehouse Destroyed.

Bemidji, July 25. — Fire destroyed the warehouse belonging to Major Bros., on the south side of the Great Northern railroad tracks, together with its contents, entailing a loss of $15,000 on the building and $3,500 on the contents.

Burns House; Hangs Self.

Baraboo, Wis., July 25. — E. Mahler of Ableman set fire to his house and went to the barn and hanged himself. The house was destroyed. His family was away at the time of the tragedy.

LIFE INSURANCE ACTIVITY.

The New York Life's Business Nearly Up to the Legal Limit.

The New York Life Insurance Company announces that its new paid business during the half year just ended was over seventy million dollars. As the new law allows no life company to write over one hundred and fifty millions per year, it would appear that this company is working nearly up to the limit. The New York Life gained such headway before the law was passed and suffered so little, comparatively, from the Armstrong investigation, that the question with its management has been how to keep business down to the limit, rather than how to reach it. No other company is writing nearly as much as the law allows. The New York Life has evidently become a preferred company.

The company's payments to policy holders during the six months ending June 30 were $21,660,761. It is interesting to note that this amount was almost equally divided between payments under policies maturing by death and payments made to living policy holders. Thus, while death claims were $11,180,626, the amount paid for matured endowments, annuities, trust fund installments, for purchased policies and for dividends was $10,480,135. Modern life insurance, as practiced by the best companies, embraces a wide field, and covers many contingencies. It is money saved for the aged, as well as money provided for the families of those who die prematurely.

ULTIMATE FATE OF FISH.

They Never Die a Natural Death, Says an Observant Fisherman.

"Fish never die a natural death," said an old fisherman who has observed as he fished. "If they did bodies of dead fish would be floating on the surface of the water about all the while, because such bodies if unmolested would have to float.

"I mean, of course, fish in nature never die a natural death, not fish in captivity. And perhaps it should not be called natural death that fish in captivity die. Their environment induces mortality that fish in their native habitat would escape, and these causes might be properly classed as among the accidents that carry the captive fish off.

"If fish in their native element were never molested I believe they would never die. If they had sufficient food, which would be impossible if they no longer preyed on one another, there would be no reason for their dying. It was to prevent such uninterrupted tenure of life that all fish were made fiercely predatory, if not remorselessly cannibalistic, as many kinds are.

"A fish's life is a constantly strenuous one and one entirely selfish. A fish lives only to eat and to avoid being eaten."

International Observatory.

The International observatory on the summit of the Monte Rosa perched at a height of 15,200 feet, is completed, and will be opened soon. The construction of the observatory which is the highest in the world, is due to the generosity of Queen Margherita of Italy, who, it is said, will attempt the ascent of the Monte Rosa in order to open the building.

Slow Development There.

Northeast Australia develops very slowly. Farmers grow maize in the old-fashioned way. The maize crop in Queensland this year is a record one. Canning pineapples is becoming an important industry in Queensland. Opal mining is growing steadily.

Our Annual Sugar Consumption.

The American sweet tooth during the past year consumed 6,500,000,000 pounds of sugar valued at $300,000,000. This is seventy-six pounds per year for every resident.

MEAT OR CEREALS.

A Question of Interest to All Careful Persons.

Arguments on food are interesting. Many persons adopt a vegetarian diet on the ground that they do not like to feel that life has been taken to feed them, nor do they fancy the thought of eating dead meat.

On the other hand, too great consumption of partly cooked, starchy oats and wheat or white bread, pastry, etc., produces serious bowel troubles, because the bowel digestive organs (where starch is digested), are overtaxed and the food ferments, producing gas, and microbes generate in the decayed food, frequently bringing on peritonitis and appendicitis.

Starchy food is absolutely essential to the human body. Its best form is shown in the food "Grape-Nuts," where the starch is changed into a form of sugar during the process of its manufacture. In this way, the required food is presented to the system in a pre-digested form and is immediately made into blood and tissue, without taxing the digestive organs.

A remarkable result in nourishment is obtained; the person using Grape-Nuts gains quickly in physical and mental strength. Why in mental? Because the food contains delicate particles of Phosphate of Potash obtained from the grains, and this unites with the albumen of all food and the combination is what nature uses to rebuild worn out cells in the brain. This is a scientific fact that can be easily proven by ten day's use of Grape-Nuts. "There's a Reason." Read, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

MANY LIVES LOST IN MARINE DISASTER

STEAMER COLUMBIA SUNK IN COLLISION OFF CALIFORNIA COAST.

74 PASSENGERS ARE DROWNED

CRASH COMES WHILE PEOPLE SLEEP — COLUMBIA'S OFFICERS ARE BLAMED.

Eureka, Cal., July 24.—In one of the worst marine disasters in the history of the California coast the steamer Columbia was rammed and sunk in a collision with the steam lumber schooner San Pedro off the Mendocino county coast shrinks, about 1 o'clock Sunday morning.

The best advices are that 177 of the 249 souls on board the steamer Columbia escaped death when the vessel went to the bottom. One hundred and seven of the Columbia's passengers and fifty-seven of her crew have been brought to this port by the steamer George W. Elder, which towed the colliding schooner San Pedro from the scene of the disaster to Eureka. A late message from Shelter Cove says that three more lifeboats have been picked up, one of them containing eighteen persons, another fifteen and the third not reported.

Sunk in Eight Minutes.

Eight minutes after the San Pedro struck the Columbia the latter vessel had filled full of water and sunk. The night saloon watchmen notified all the passengers to go to the upper decks. Without clothing they climbed out of their berths and rushed out. It was only two or three minutes before the decks were awash. Six boats and three life rafts were cut loose, and as many passengers as possible were crowded into them. There was scarcely any evidence of a panic, the women acting with heroism. The crew of the San Pedro immediately lowered a boat and picked up a large number of survivors, while the boats from the Columbia lay to by the San Pedro.

Seventy-four Lives Are Lost.

When the Columbia sank she carried down with her about seventy-four passengers. This estimate is not accurate and the number cannot be definitely determined until full particulars are received from Shelter Cove, where four boats are said to have been landed.

Just as the Columbia was sinking her boilers exploded. This counteracted the suction and saved many lives. Husbands and wives were separated, and fathers and mothers and children became lost to each other in the excitement when the boats collided. Two hours after the wreck the fog filled and a cold wind commenced to blow. The people in the boats suffered greatly.

Blames the Columbia.

G. Swanson, a sailor of the San Pedro, was at the wheel when the fatal collision occurred. In his report to Sailors' Agent John Erickson the blame is laid upon the Columbia's officers. Other members om the crew of the San Pedro substantiate the story of Swanson. He says that the order was given to him when the lookout sighted the Columbia to put the wheel hard aport. The Columbia was on the coast side, the San Pedro on the sea side. Apparently both vessels were proceeding at full speed.

Somebody Blundered.

If all had gone well the San Pedro would have cleared the Columbia, but it is evident that an order, "Put the wheel hard a-starboard" was given on the Columbia. This sent her directly across the bow of the steam schooner. Whether the speed of each vessel was slacked is immaterial, for the crash of the vessels was terrific.

Passengers say that the collision occurred at half past 12 or thereabouts, that it had been misty and foggy, but that the weather had cleared up somewhat and that after the collision the steamer San Pedro could be seen where she had drifted away a quarter of a mile. That some poor navigation was made is generally conceded.

Arrested for Threatening.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jluy 24.—Oscar Anderson, a buyer of old scrap iron, was arrested at Mekinock and brought to Grand Forks to answer to a charge of threatening the lives of residents. Besides threatening murder, Anderson is alleged to have promised to burn up houses.

Find Body In Lake.

Fergus Falls, Minn., July 24.—Coroner Haugen was called to the vicinity of Dalton to investigate the death of Mrs. Erick Nelson, whose body had been found in a small lake there. It is supposed she committed suicide while mentally deranged.

Brakeman's Fatal Misstep.

Annandale, Minn., July 24. — Ace Sturdvant, a brakeman on the westbound freight, was instantly killed while stepping from one car to another. His right arm was cut off, back broken and body bruised.

Grand Forks Store Burglarized.

Grand Forks, N. D., July 24.—The store of Mrs. A. T. Stinson, dry goods and notions, was burglarized some time Sunday night. About $300 worth of silks, jewelry and other goods was taken.

COLUMBIA'S DEAD NOW 97

SIXTEEN NAMES ARE ADDED TO LIST OF SURVIVORS OF MARINE DISASTER.

San Francisco, July 25. — Sixteen names were added yesterday to the list of survivors of the Columbia-San Pedro collision. These sixteen passengers were in a boat which landed at Shelter Cove. The boat contained two dead bodies, that of Mrs. O. A. Lewis of Pasadena, Cal., and an unknown man, presumably a sailor.

The list of survivors now includes 160 names out of a reported total of 257 persons on board. Three dead bodies have been recovered. Ninety-seven persons are unaccounted for.

Officers Tell Story.

Three of the officers of the Columbia who arrived here yesterday on the steamer Pomona made statements under oath to Inspector of Hulls and Boilers Bulles and Bulger.

Second Officer Richard Agerupp said:

"About 12:15 a. m. Sunday I heard a whistle on the starboard bow and I reported to the captain, who was on the bridge. He said he had heard it, too. We kept our whistle going regularly and so did the other steamer. The weather was foggy.

"We were going full speed ahead. The captain ordered me to blow two blasts. While blowing the second blast the other steamer answered with one blast.

Orders "Full Speed Astern."

"The captain then ordered the engineer, 'Full speed astern.' Soon after the steamer collided with the Columbia and struck her about thirty feet from the stem of the starboard side.

"Capt. Doran sent down to the engine room to learn if the ship was taking any water. Just then the watchman came on the bridge and reported water streaming in forward.

"The first officer came on the bridge and the captain ordered him to take the bridge and me to take off the head covers and get the buoys ready for hoisting. By this time the ship had listed to starboard and started to go down by the head.

Leaps for His Life.

"Several men were by this time getting the boats over. The captain ordered me to cut the after life rafts adrift. While doing this I heard the whistle blow, and looking around saw the bridge nearly under water. I saw there was no time to spare, so I threw a life buoy overboard and jumped over the stern into the sea. Thirty minutes later I was picked up by one of the boats."

In his report Third Officer Robert Hawes tells of the rescue of a number of passengers and takes occasion to praise some women who were in his boat, while he condemns the action of the men survivors who were with him.

JOHN BULL WANTS TO KNOW.

International Complications Possible Over Shooting at Soo.

Sault Ste. Marie, July 25. — There may be an international inquiry over the accidental shooting Monday night of Miss Elizabeth Cadenhead of Fergus, Ont., by Private Gillette at Fort Brady, who had shot at an escaping deserter. Officers at the fort have declined to surrender Private Cyrus Gillette to Sheriff Pipsett, pending orders from the secretary of war, to whom the incident has been reported.

The British government has engaged Attorney L. S. B. Sutton of this city to represent the crown in the inquest. The inquest was not concluded last night, although a late session was held. Mr. Sutton says that while he does not expect international complications, the crown will watch the proceedings closely, and a complete record of the proceedings will be forwarded to Ottawa. Gen. Carter, commander of the Department of the Lakes, has wired Capt. Tillman instructions to hold Gillette, co-operate with the civil authorities, report promptly any complications which may result and to keep in close touch with headquarters. Local sympathy is with Gillette, who merely followed orders in firing at the deserter.

NIGHT RIDERS RAID HOME.

Prominent Kentuckian and Wife Are Wounded; Children in Peril.

Hopkinsville, Ky., July 25. — Night riders numbering one hundred earry yesterday surrounded the residences of Stephen P. Moseley, a prominent Trigg county farmer, near Roaring Springs, and riddled the house with pistol and gun volleys. Mr. Moseley was shot in the face and ear with duck shot. Mrs. Moseley's right eye was pierced by fragments of a wire screen shot out of the door to the bedroom. Three children in the house had a narrow escape from flying bullets. After firing one hundred shots the marauders warned Mosely to quit talking. Mr. Moseley had been a strong anti-association man last spring after his plant beds had been scraped and the telephone wires cut.

Kaiser Wilhelm II. Saved.

Bremerhaven, July 25.—The water has been entirely pumped out of the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II., that listed Saturday. The steamer sustained no injuries and will be ready for service in five days.

Twenty Workmen Buried.

New York, July 24.—A brick building, one of a row of six-story structures that are being torn down, collapsed yesterday, burying twenty workmen. Two men were seriously injured.

COLLAPSES AT PRISON DOORS

T. B. CLEMENT, AGED FARIBAULT BANKER, IN CRITICAL CONDITION.

Stillwater, Minn., July 25.—Unable to bear up under the prospect of eight years' imprisonment in the state penitentiary, Thomas B. Clement, former president of the First National Bank of Faribault, convicted on eight counts for misuse of funds, collapsed at the very doors of the prison yesterday afternoon and was taken to the prison hospital in a state of nervous breakdown. His condition is regarded as critical.

He is seventy-six years old, and when actually confronted with the walls which were to hold him in confinement for eight years he appeared unequal to the task of bearing up under the strain.

GETTING INDIAN CASH.

Charge Under Which a Woman Is Held for Trial.

Billings, Mont., July 25. — Charged with procuring money under false pretenses from Indians on the Crow reservation, Mrs. Helen Gray, after a preliminary heading before F. L. Mann, United States commissioner, was held to answer the charge in the federal court. Three half-breed Indians were among those who testified at the hearing, and each of these declared that they had given various sums of money to Mrs. Gray, who, they alleged, represented that she would take up with the president and congress the matter of securing the payment of $690,000 alleged to be due them from the government.

LOSES SUIT; GOES MAD.

Woman Who Alleged Plot to Send Her to Asylum Is Adjudged Insane.

Fergus Falls, Minn., July 25.—Mrs. Anna Langer was adjudged insane and committed to the hospital here yesterday. Mrs. Langer was committed to the hospital several years ago, but remained there only a short time, and on her release brought suit against her husband, Barney Langer, and F. G. Neuman, a neighbor, for damages, alleging that her commitment was the result of a conspiracy on their part to get rid of her. The case was carried to the supreme court, but she finally lost it, and has brooded over this and other troubles until there is no longer any question about her being insane.

STORM CAUSES DAMAGE.

Hail Ruins Crops in the Red River Valley—Windows Smashed.

Grand Forks, N. D., July 25.—Hail storms occurred in Grand Forks county, North Dakota, and in Polk county, Minnesota, late yesterday afternoon. One of the most severe storms passed about ten miles west of Grand Forks, and there was extensive damage to crops.

East of Thompson extensive damage is reported. North of Ojata the storm caused a great deal of damage. Another storm passed between Oslo and East Grand Forks, on the Minnesota side, and the damage is quite extensive.

ROB NOODLE PARLOR.

Billings Chinamen Suffer at Hands of Early Morning Desperadoes.

Billings, Mont., July 25.—About 3 o'clock this morning three masked men entered a noodle parlor located on Twenty-sixth street south, and at the point of six-shooters compelled the proprietor, Wing Wong Chung, and a number of other Orientals in the place to face the wall with their hands up while they rifled the cash register and took all the cash in sight.

RAID ON OPIUM JOINTS.

Minot Police Capture Large Amount of the Drug.

Minot, S. D., July 25.—Chief of Police Hagen made a raid yesterday on several opium dens, which were found in a coulie in the western part of the city. Several pipes and boxes of hops were found and the people discovered consuming the opium were arrested.

BROTHERS ARE DROWNED.

Man Who Tried to Rescue Others Is One of Two Victims.

Negaunee, Mich., July 25.—Fred Remillard and a companion named Viant were boat riding on Teal lake last night when their boat was overturned. Remillard's brother, Goyer, heard their cries and went to assist them. Viant swam ashore, but the two Remillards were drowned.

Not Guilty of Murder.

Pierre, S. D., July 25.—After being out for most of the night the jury in the Tusha case in Stanley county brought in a verdict of not guilty. Tusha was charged with having caused the death of Clyde Whiting last fall by putting dynamite in the stove in Whiting's shanty, which exploded and caused death when a fire was started.

Natives Rise Against Whites.

Brussels, July 25. — Advices from the Congo state that an officer and nine native militiamen have been killed by the natives, and that in French Congo a missionary had been slain in the interior, where the native soldiers are rising against the whites.

Storm Victim Dies.

Williston, N. D., July 25.—John Arnstad, who was injured in a wind storm which struck this city Saturday night, died last night.

Saturday July 27, 1907.

The Spectator has entered upon its twenty-sixth year, thank you.

Summer must be about over, at least the hot days are growing shorter rapidly.

The colored fellow was not far from right when he stated there were but three seasons in Duluth—July, August and winter.

Great preparations are being made for the Minnesota State Fair this year, and the attendance will doubtless far exceed any past record.

Red Lake Falls Gazette: The St. Hilaire Spectator is justly proud of the fact that its town has the best creamery in Minnesota. A good creamery is a blessing forever.

In referring of the consolidation of the two banks at this place the Thief River Falls News adds:

We don't know much about the banking business, but we would advise President Hanson to keep both of the safes, that if the St. Hilaire creamery is going to continue to pay off over $7,000 a month for cream. They may come in handy.

Norman County Index: The St. Hilaire creamery is one of the most successful in the state. It paid out last month to patrons $7,382.13. Thirty-eight farmers each received checks for over $50 for the month, twenty-four received over $60, eight received over $70, four over $80, and two over $90. The prosperity of that section is assured.

Next Monday is the day the commissioners are to meet to settle the county seat removal question. We have a good location in sight for the magnificent new structure to be erected to the honor of Red Lake county if neither Red Lake Falls nor Thief River Falls wants the old thing. With a new court house, agricultural college, and a few state buildings our cup would be filled with joy.

The merchants and citizens of a town should work together with the home paper for the upbuilding of the community, and no matter how small your business you should let the world know of your whereabouts. You may have a friend who might be induced to locate in your midst if he could but see you occasionally. Every new resident in a community helps the grocer, butcher, banker, and every business in the town, if not directly, then indirectly, and that which helps one assists also to help others. Let no man put aside the duty he owes himself and the community by delaying to place an advertisement in his home paper, for the catalogue houses are after business wherever they may get it, and nothing so places confidence in the public generally more than to see one's name conspicuously displayed.

The story of the country merchant who met a farmer with a windmill pump in his wagon which he had purchased from a Chicago catalog house is going the rounds of the press. The merchant chided the farmer for sending his money out of the community, and the following conversation took place: "I would have sold you a pump just as cheap right here at home, saved you the freight and you would have seen what you were buying." "Then why didn't you tell me so," replied the farmer. "I've been reading your home papers for years and have never seen a line about your handling windmill pumps, and I'm no fortune teller. How am I to know what price you can make on it? You haven't even got a pump on display. The Chicago concern sent its advertisement to my house, telling me it had just what I wanted and that it could sell me a pump much lower than any local merchant could. It took the trouble to ask for my trade and got it. If you had taken the trouble to let me know that you could have sold me not only this pump, but probably a lot of other stuff I've sent away for during the past seven years, I would have bought of you."

More Unwritten Laws.

Whosoever hath chickens that enter his neighbor's garden and destroy the vegetables, the said neighbor may kill the said chickens and eat them.

Whosoever sayeth unto another "Is it hot enough for thee?" he shall be smitten hip and thigh and nothing shall be thought thereof.

Whosoever, being a woman, hireth away her neighbor's cook at higher wage, she shall be called a mean old thing and her cook may be hired away even from her.

Whosoever keepeth a dog which biteth the shins of them that pass, the dog may be fed arsenic at night and it shall be a thing forgotten.

Whosoever goeth a-visiting and stayeth until the family wisheth he never had lived, he may be visited all the next year by them that he hath worried.

Whosoever blabbeth the things that his friend telleth him, verily he may be blabbed upon at a time when the hair is short.

Whosoever rocketh a boat or pointeth a gun which is not loaded, he may be kicked from Dan even unto Beersheba and then kicked upon a transfer to Gehenna.

For the Future.

The secret of happiness is inward. People had good times when there were no friction matches, no brilliantly illuminated streets, no steamboats or railroads, no sewing machines, no postage stamps, no comfortably heated homes, no telegraphs or trolleys. The elements of happiness are not in things, but in human nature itself. But the fairer conditions, the greater opportunities, which the marvelous modern inventions afford to the masses of our humanity should augment our joy and expand our hopes. The most obvious fact of human history is that of progress. The race is following a flying and a growing ideal. It is inspired and saved by hope. Every helpful invention, every improvement of sanitary conditions, every new ray of intellectual and spiritual illumination, every scientific achievement, every amelioration of physical suffering, every new avenue of enjoyment, every victory of righteousness, every faithful deed in lowly and lofty places, increases the splendor and the power of our vision of the future.—Leslie's Weekly.

Surf Riding Is a Fine Sport.

At Waikiki, near Honolulu, is a famous bathing beach. Here winter and summer the surf canoes or, better yet, the surf boards come dancing in on the long rollers, and men become amphibious. There is no sensation quite comparable to riding a surf board on a Pacific roller. It is tobogganing on a moving hillside of water, or, if you are clever enough to stand up on your board, it is taking this hillside on a single big skee. The beach runs far out before it shelves into deep water, and at high tide the breakers begin to mount almost half a mile from the shore line. You go out there with your surf board and wait for the wave. You learn to catch it at the right moment, throw your board inshore and climb upon it just as the crest of the roller mounts and catches you. Then on this crest you sail in toward the shore, to slide down at last when the wave breaks, down the foaming incline into shallow water and churning foam. It is royal sport.—Travel Magazine.

Strenuous Chivalry.

It is complained that modern conditions are killing "the chivalry of the middle ages." But mediaeval tales and romances show what that chivalry really was. Wife beating was a common incident on the part of those knights and gentlemen whose gallantry was a mere convention. The Chevalier de la Tour-Landry in his book of counsels to his daughters tells them the story of a woman who used to contradict her husband in public. One day, after expostulating in vain, he knocked her down, then kicked her face and broke her nose. "And so," comments the good chevalier, "she was disfigured for life, and thus, through her ill behavior and bad temper, she had her nose spoiled, which was a great misfortune to her." But not a word is said about the husband's brutality.

False Messiahs.

The defense of different persons claiming to be the Messiah has cost the Jews a great expense, both in treasure and human life. One of these, Coziba, who lived in the second century of our era, put himself at the head of the Jewish nation as their Messiah, and many of that people adhered to and defended him. The Romans made war upon Coziba and his followers, and, according to admissions made by eminent Jewish authority, they lost somewhere between 500,000 and 600,000 men in his defense. The last of these impostors was Mordecai, a German, who first claimed to be of divine origin in the year 1682. When the authorities threatened to punish him as an impostor he fled, and his end is not known.

Rapid Growth.

The most remarkable instance of rapid growth was recorded by the French academy in 1729. It was a boy six years of age five feet six inches in height. At the age of five his voice changed; at six his beard had grown and he appeared a man of thirty. He possessed great physical strength and could easily lift to his shoulders and carry bags of grains weighing 200 pounds. His decline was as rapid as his growth. At eight his hair and beard were gray, at ten he tottered in his walk, his teeth fell out and his hands became palsied; at twelve he died with every outward sign of extreme old age.

Knives Are Tiny Saws.

Knives, no matter how carefully sharpened, are little saws. The grinding away of the steel, done by the stone, is not an even work, but when the edge gets thin is a process of tearing away tiny bits of steel by the grit of the stone. This tearing makes the teeth. A fine stone makes fine teeth, a coarse stone coarse teeth. A carving knife used on meat is sharpened on a coarse stone or a steel and has coarse teeth, although its edge is thick. Its action in parting the meat is more that of a saw than a fine wedge. No matter how soft it may be it will not cut easily unless it is drawn over the meat and not simply pressed down. A razor, however, with its paperlike edge, will cut into flesh with a simple pressure. It is a wedge dividing the fibers of flesh just as a wedge of iron divides the fibers of the log it splits. But a razor is a saw, too, only as it is ground on the finest stones and later finished with a leather strap, its teeth are very fine indeed—hundreds and hundreds to the inch of blade.—C. H. Claudy in St. Nicholas.

Origin of Curtain Calls.

The first curtain call took place on the evening of Feb. 20, 1743. On that memorable evening Voltaire's "Merope" was performed for the first time in Paris. The author was known to the Paris public, but nothing that they had seen of his had pleased them so much as "Merope," and the enthusiasm found expression in noisy demands to see the author. In a letter Voltaire says this of the incident: "They dragged me out and led me by force to the box occupied by the Duchesse de Villars and her daughter-in-law. The whole theater seemed to have gone mad—all shouted to the duchesse to kiss me. The noise became so great that the lady finally obeyed. So I was, like Alain Chartier, publicly kissed, but he was asleep, while I was wide awake." Now authors answer similar calls by appearing before the curtain. They gain in so far that they can be seen better by their audience, but they must dispense with the duchesse's kiss—at least in public.—Berliner Tageblatt.

Pronunciation of "Theatre."

If "theatre" was originally written "theater" in English, has its pronunciation also varied among the orthodox—that is to say, was there ever a time when correct speakers said "theayter," as many of the incorrect still do? There is no direct evidence in verse of a serious kind for such pronunciation so far as we know. Shakespeare certainly pronounced the word as we do now, says a London journal. But since "theayter" does really represent a long "a" of the original Greek and Latin it is not easy to understand how the vulgar could have blundered on to it of their own accord. It would have been more comprehensible if they had turned an orthodox "theayter" into "theater," just as the second "a" in "Amasis" goes too often popularly shortened now. The French language has had to mark the length of the "a" in "theatre" by giving it a rather irregular circumflex accent.

Luck In Falling.

"It's a peculiar thing the tricks that luck will now and then play a chap," said a prominent physician recently. "Take, for instance, the breaking of bones in one's body. Did you ever stop and think how very many hard and high falls a man can have, light on rocky ground with half his body twisted under the other half, so to speak, and come off with not even a scratch? Then, again, a fellow will just trip over his own foot and, falling to the ground, break a leg or an arm. A good many will say it all depends on how one alights, but that seems to have absolutely nothing to do with it, as I have seen a man alight in a certain way from a high fall and never injure himself, and then again have I seen a second chap alight in the same identical way and break a leg and an arm."—Columbus Dispatch.

Diplomatic Reticence.

The social reformer was paying a visit to the convicts in the penitentiary and asking them various questions.

"And what are you doing here, my friend?" he said to a good looking man in the shoeshop.

"Making shoes," was the reply that discouraged any further inquisition in that direction.

Discharging the Cook.

"Well, cook's gone at last, John," said Mrs. B.

"Good. You must have had more courage than I gave you credit for to discharge her."

"I didn't do it. She discharged herself. I flattered her so about her cooking that she thought she was too good to stay with us, and off she went."

Music Hath Charms.

"Waiter!" called the customer in the restaurant where an orchestra was playing.

"Yes, sir."

"Kindly tell the leader of the orchestra to play something sad and low while I dine. I want to see if it won't have a softening influence on this steak!"—Tit-Bits.

Shifting the Blame.

Husband—Where did I leave my spectacles last night? Wife—Let me see! I saw them somewhere, but I can't remember where it was. Husband—That's just like a woman—can't remember anything.—Exchange.

Coming Forth.

Stage Manager—Why didn't you go on when you got your cue, "Come forth?" Super—Oi was waitin' for the other three to go on first. Sure, an' how could Oi come fourth if I wint first?"

Visitors at this year's Minnesota State Fair, which is to be held during the week of September 2nd to 7th, will find many new improvements for their special comfort and convenience. Most important from a sanitary standpoint is the sewer system, which has been installed on the fair grounds this summer. Every part of the grounds is reached and ample sanitary drainage is assured. Many new public comfort stations are being erected.

Jens Nelson, manager of the Imperial hall, has under contemplation for the long winter evenings a series of moving picture entertainments. He expects to put in a first-class machine and by joining the "exchange" will at all times have the best of moving pictures, besides the latest illustratend songs. With a low admission fee he should "play" to crowded houses three nights a week. Success to Mr. Nelson and his new undertaking.

Our dreamer of dreams has it that work on the railroad grade between Red Lake Falls and this place is progressing nicely. To think that a crossing so much desired should be left for over a year to prolong a fight with the railway company is contemptable, and it is high time the work was being pushed to completion. With this improvement the road between the "hub" and this place will be a delight to all over-land travelers.

At the annual school meeting last Saturday evening H. O. Jackson and K. O. Gigstad were re-elected directors for a term of three years, and a levy of $1,000 was voted for general purposes. The board will meet again August 3rd to organize, elect officers and for the transaction of various other business. At the meeting Saturday evening only eight votes were polled, which goes to show the citizens and school patrons have great confidence in the "faithful few" who were out and did their duty. Even the women remained at home and attended household duties when the opportunity to vote was at hand, and the meeting was what might be termed "a frost." At the next annual it is to be hoped every voter, and especially every patron, will at least sanction or disprove the work of the board by casting a ballot for or against, and voicing their sentiments.

The state fair grounds during the evenings of fair week this year will be most beautifully illuminated. An electric light equipment is now being installed and every part of the grounds will be lighted, while the buildings will not only be as light as day inside, but on the outside will be decorated with incandescent lamps which will show the outlines of the larger structures in lines of fire. The effect will be the same as was secured at the world's fairs of St. Louis, Chicago and Buffalo, where the beautiful architecture of the buildings was outlined at night by thousands of electric lights. The magnificent illumination at the Minnesota State Fair, will be alone worth seeing even if none of the buildings are entered or none of the sports and amusements witnessed. The fair is to be held this year during the week of September 2nd to 7th on the state fair grounds midway between St. Paul and Minneapolis.

A WONDER.

The Theo. Hamm Brewing Co's New Stock House at St Paul a Fine One.

The Theo. Hamm Brewing Co. of St. Paul, the largest and most progressive brewing concern in the northwest, are erecting a new beer storage house which will, when finished, be the greatest building of its kind in the world. It will not only be the greatest on account of its cost, which will be over a quarter of a million dollars, but because of its size, the amount of beer that it stores, and because of the modern make-up of the structure. The building is situated on the southeast corner of Minnehaha street and Greenbrier avenue. It is 88 feet wide by 120 feet deep, and when completed will be seven stories high. The walls, which are of unusual thickness, being over four feet, are being constructed of brick, with a concrete foundation. Every floor will be made of cement, and the whole building supported by reinforced concrete. This concrete is the strongest in the world. It is the new Turner system of concrete work, and will be capable of supporting a load of 2,000 pounds per square foot. Each column is made to support 1,000 tons of weight. Although many buildings are now being constructed with this system of concrete, none have ever been commenced with such strong reinforcing, and contractors all over the country are watching the building of this structure with interest.

But, from the public view, the most interesting feature of the new building will be the beer tanks. These tanks are of glass-enameled steel. They are in every way superior to the old wooden variety; and, while very much more expensive, their high cost is offset when the matter of the perfect cleanliness they insure is taken into consideration. There are over 400 of these tanks in all, requiring ten trainloads to transport them from the factory to St. Paul. This is the largest single consignment of glass-enameled tanks ever shipped anywhere.

The capacity of the new stock house will be 100,000 barrels, which, in addition to what the brewing company now has, will total 200,000 barrels, which is the largest storage capacity in proportion to its output of any brewery in the world.

The New Burial Law.

Under the laws of 1907, Chapter 451, a burial permit is required in all cases before a burial can be made, and a death certificate must be on file before the burial permit can be granted. In each city or village the health officer is the registrar and the law requires that he appoint a deputy who can act in case of absence, illness, or disability on his part.

Health Officer Dr. J. C. Cummings has appointed Dr. Swanson as Deputy Registrar in accordance with the requirements of the law as above.

Blanks for reporting births and deaths can be secured upon request from your local registrar, or from the office of H. M. Bracken, Secretary and Executive Officer State Board of Health, also State Registrar, St. Paul, Minn.

A New Kind of Bread.

The Germans are said to be making a new kind of bread of wheat or rye for which the grain goes through a process similar to malting. It is said to have a delicate flavor and by reason of the process more easily digested. The same is true of beer, which is sometimes called liquid bread. The brewing of golden grain belt beer converts the barley into a delicious food-drink that, besides containing a high percentage of nourishment, is an aid to digestion. Recommended for home use. A New Aid Fable.

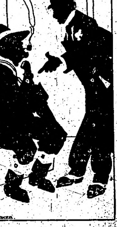
This is not a George Ade fable, though it may sling some slang. It is a Home Aid fable.

Once there was a Geezer, who sat around and cut Kindling too small for Cook Stove purposes. He Whittled against Time and Flabbergasted against his Town. The town was No Good, he said—strictly on the Blink. Yes, it was N. G. Why, hadn't he lived Here since '84 and found that the Place was Punky? Sure, Mike!

Look at that town over in the next County. Grown like Jonah's Gourd. Must be a Jonah here. We've grown some, but I don't see that we're knocking any particularly Big Persimmons. That's the way this Gazaboo knocked his town.



One day a Sarcastic Stranger floated into the Town that was Knocked from the burg that had Blossomed like Jonah's Gourd. He Heard some of the Flabbergasting and Dropped to the situation.

"Look here, you," he remarked to the citizen who was Handing Out the Knocks. "What do you do for this town? Are you doing your part to put this Burg on the Upgrade? What's that hefty Bunch of literature sticking out of your Clothes?"

"That's a Mail Order Catalogue from Chicago—a town that is a town," replied the Geezer.

"So I thought," said the Impertinent Arrival. "Now let me hand you out a nice little Wad of common sense. For the past ten years you have been sending your money to the Chicago Mail Order houses instead of spending it among your home merchants. What would have happened to Chicago fifty years ago if all the First Settlers had shipped their Loose Coin to New York on catalogue inducements? Why, you'd have to use a sand dredger now to find the Original Site of Chicago. Now, in the Burg from which I have just Blown in we got over all this Bum Business years ago. We passed Resolutions that we would trade at home and help our own town to Spread out so that you could Sight it on the map without using Opera Glasses. But you and a Bunch of other folks in this town have wasted your Substance in Riotous Expenditures in Chicago by mail and let the sheriff hang out the 'Nothing Doing' sign in front of some of your own town's mercantile Emporiums. Look at our Town and then look at yours. What makes the Difference?"

Whereupon the Whittling Gazaboo threw a few well chosen Thoughts into his mental makeup and went down to the village store to Annex a linen collar in place of the Paper Circles which he had bought from Chicago at Two Bits a Box.

MORAL: If you want your town to grow, patronize home enterprises.

Cure for Opium.

Reports of the American consul general at Singapore confirm the story story of discovery of a cure for the opium habit in the leaf of a certain plant which is boiled in water and the residuum drunk. A Flaming Bullet.

If a bullet to be fired by a marksman is coated with a fine paste of gunpowder and gum, says the Dundee Advertiser, and then with a thin covering of some friction powder, the latter, as it passes out of the gun barrel, will ignite, and in turn set fire to the gunpowder taste. The bullet will then leave a long stream of smoke behind it, indicating the exact course it has taken, and enabling the marksman, if necessary, to correct his aim for his next shot.

WOMEN WHO CHARM

Health Is the First Essential Toward Making a Woman Attractive.

MISS HULDA KUGHLER   MISS ELIZABETH WYNN

There is a beauty and attractiveness in health which is far greater than mere regularity of feature.

A sickly, irritable, and complaining woman always carries a cloud of depression with her; she is not only unhappy herself but is a damper to all joy and happiness when with her family and friends.

It is the bright, healthy, vivacious woman who always charms and carries sunshine wherever she goes.

If a woman finds that her energies are flagging and that everything tires her; if her feminine system fails to perform its allotted duties, there is nervousness, sleeplessness, faintness, backache, headache, bearing-down pains, and irregularities, causing constant misery and melancholia, she should remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made from native roots and herbs will dispel all these troubles. By correcting the cause of the trouble it cures where other treatment may have failed.

Miss Elizabeth Wynn, of No. 205 8th Avenue, New York City, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"For months I suffered with dreadful headaches, pain in the back and severe hemorrhages. I was weak and out of sorts all the time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me when all other medicine had failed. It seemed to be just what I needed and quickly restored my health."

Miss Hulda Kughler, of No. 25 West 15th Street, New York City, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"For months I was ill with an internal trouble. I suffered terrible agony, was nervous, irritable, and sick all the time. I took different medicines without benefit. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended and within six months I was completely restored to health and I want to recommend it to every suffering woman."

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular functions, backache, bloating (or flatulence), displacements, inflammation or ulceration, that bearing-down feeling, dizziness, indigestion, or nervous prostration may be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Pinkham's Invitation to Women.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. From the symptoms given, the trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised. Out of her vast volume of experience in treating female ills Mrs. Pinkham probably has the very knowledge that will help your case. Her advice is free and always helpful.

CROP CONDITIONS IN WESTERN CANADA

Lateness of Spring Overcome by Excellent Growing Summer Season.

Once more the farmers of Western Canada rest at ease and grow rich while they slumber. Their season of anxiety is over. For a time it looked as though a backward season was for once going to prevent the western country from maintaining its preeminent position as leader of the grain growing countries of the world. The unusual lateness of the spring coupled with the rapid advance in the price of food-stuffs gave the pessimists some reason for their gloomy forebodings, and among even the optimistic Westerners imbued as they usually are with a spirit of buoyancy and hope, there commenced to glimmer a fear that perhaps this year their sanguine expectations were not to be realized. On May day when a large proportion of wheat had usually been sown there was this year very little seeding done. Finally, however, winter which had tarried so late in the lap of spring in all parts of the Continent vanished before the vertical rays of the sun, and the hurry and bustle of spring work commenced on the western prairies.

By the 20th of May 85% of the spring wheat was sown and the fall wheat in the districts devoted to its cultivation was covering the fields with a mantle of green. Wheat sowing finished on May 30 and by June 10 the coarser grains were also in the ground. The heavy snowfall during the winter left the ground in excellent shape when once seeding operations commenced and from the time weather conditions permitted the commencement of work until planting was completed, the farmers were a busy class. The area in wheat is not much larger than last year, but oats, barley and flax are much in excess of past records, the farmers deeming it wiser on account of the lateness of the season to put in a heavier proportion of the coarser grains. From the most reliable reports to hand it appears that the acreage as compared with 1906 will show an increase of 12% in oats, 19% in barley and 13% in flax.

Around Akotoks, High River, Nanton, Claresholm and other winter wheat centers, if the present weather conditions continue, the winter wheat will be in head by the middle of July.

The backward weather in the early part of May allowed the newly sown grain to get a firm root in the ground, and now with an abundance of moisture and warm weather the growth is remarkable. All danger of injury from droughts is practically over as the green crop covers the ground retaining the moisture required for its growth and preventing the too rapid evaporation which might otherwise take place.

Crops in Western Canada mature in one hundred days of good weather, and as the weather conditions have been ideal since seeding, and with spring wheat now from 14 to 18 inches above the ground, a full average crop is confidently expected.

In addition to the cheering prospects of this year's yield the farmers are to be congratulated on the fact that they still have in their possession five million bushels of wheat from last year's crop which they are now disposing of at high prices.

The splendid yield of 90,000,000 bushels of wheat raised in 1906 in the three provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, together with the almost certain assurance that this year will see a considerable increase, is, as in the past, calling the attention of the world of the "Last Best West," and thousands from the United States and the agricultural districts of Europe are each month securing free grant lands or purchasing farms in the land which has proved itself peerless among the grain growing countries of the world.

AWFUL EFFECT OF ECZEMA.

Covered with Yellow Sores—Grew Worse—Parents Discouraged—Cuticura Drove Sores Away.

"Our little girl, one year and a half old, was taken with eczema or that was what the doctor called it. We took her to three doctors but by this time she was nothing but a yellow, greenish sore. One morning we discovered a little yellow pimple on one of her eyes. Doctor No. 3 said that we had better take her to some eye specialist, since it was an ulcer. So we went to Oswego to doctor No. 4, and he said the eyesight was gone. We were nearly discouraged, but I thought we would try the Cuticura Treatment, so I purchased a set of Cuticura Remedies, which cost me $1, and in three days our daughter, who had been sick about eight months, showed great improvement, and in one week all sores had disappeared. Of course it could not restore the eyesight, but if we had used Cuticura in time I am confident that it would have saved the eye. Mrs. Frank Abbott, R. F. D. No. 9, Fulton, Oswego Co., N. Y., Aug. 17, 1906.

A Proviso.

"It's all very well," said Grouch, "to talk about forgiving our enemies, but it's not easy to do."

"You're right," replied Dubley. "We shouldn't be expected to forgive our enemies except when they freely admit that they don't deserve our forgiveness."

STRIKE ON IRON RANGE

Order Arrest of Leaders.

Hibbing, Minn., July 28. — Fearing that the present quiet is only the calm before the storm, a warrant was yesterday sworn out for the arrest of Teofilo Petriella, the little Italian who is engineering the present gigantic strike of the iron ore miners on the ranges north of here. The citizens believe if he were thrown into jail on some minor charge it would have the effect of breaking up the strike. Petriella left here yesterday morning for Eveleth, and the officers have not succeeded in locating him.

Pinkertons on the Way.

There is a good deal of suppressed excitement over the report that 100 Pinkerton detectives were on their way to protect the big Steel corporation mines at Eveleth when an effort is made to open them Monday. The miners look upon the Pinkertons as their deadliest enemies. Despite the protection offered here by deputies armed with rifles and revolvers no men are returning to work, indicating that the ranks of the strikers are still solid. Although many of the idle men are seen upon the streets they do not gather in the saloons, and not the least remarkable thing in connection with the general suspension of work is the good order which the leaders have so far preserved.

Developments Expected.

That interesting developments are expected shortly is shown by the fact that Sheriff Bates of St. Louis county arrived here on the afternoon train and at once held a hasty consultation with Mayor Weirick. The sheriff claims he can land 150 deputies from Duluth here in four hours' time.

Sheriff Calls for Armed Force.

Duluth, Minn., July 30.—A telephone message last evening to the News-Tribune from Bovey, Minn., says that Sheriff Hoolihan of Itasca county, who is at Nashwauk, has sent a telegram to his deputy at Bovey, telling the latter to get the deputies under arms and be prepared to move at a moment's notice.

A mass meeting of the representative citizens, those sympathizing with the United States Steel corporation interests, was held at Bovey yesterday morning, with the result that about 150 men under arms are reported to be camped about the city hall, prepared to entrain in ten minutes' time.

Strong Union Camp.

There are about a hundred men under arms at the Holman location, which will be picked up en route to Nashwauk. The mines at Nashwauk have not been closed at all. It is said to be the strongest camp of the Western Federation, as there is less sympathy there for the United States Steel interest than at any other place on the range. It is doubted here in Duluth that the situation is so serious as the instructions of Sheriff Hoolihan to his deputies would indicate.

Mayor Is Hopeful.

Mayor Cullom said last night that he was very hopeful of being able to announce by to-day noon, if not before, that the objections to a complete understanding would have been removed. Unless the ore handlers' strike is settled, it is the opinion of those familiar with the conditions on the range, it is useless to try to open the mines, as there would be no way of disposing of the output.

The chief stumbling block in the way of settlement of the ore handlers' strike on the docks here and at the Allouez docks at Superior and Two Harbors is the question of the recognition of the union.

Everything Is Quiet.

The men are said to be wholly satisfied with their pay—that is, they will waive the demand for the increase asked. It is freely stated that the railway will not grant this recognition. No word has come from the range towns as to the situation there, but it is said to be a sure thing that everything is quiet.

Arbitration Is Proposed by Men.

Duluth, July 31.—No settlement of the ore handlers' strike is yet in prospect. The men have written a letter to the officials of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad proposing arbitration, and the officials of the company will sleep on the proposition.

To-day the men will undoubtedly get some sort of an answer.

Willing to Work.

At the meeting yesterday the men spent some time in discussion of what terms they would ask of the company for a settlement. Finally the matter of arbitration was suggested and a further discussion was put to a vote and the proposition was carried with just one vote to spare, showing that the attitude of the men was in a large measure for returning to work and trusting to the officials of the railroad to do as they had promised at the conference Sunday, that is to take all the men back as fast as conditions on the docks warranted.

Opposed to Arbitration.

During the afternoon it was learned from sources almost official that the officials were opposed to arbitration of the main questions at issue—that of a raise in pay and a recognition of the union.

The company is prepared to resume business at the docks in a few days if the men do not return to work of their own accord. Work is going on at the Allouez docks in Superior. The company officials say the men violated an agreement made last spring, and it is up to them to come back and live up to it, or others will take their places. Still there is the possibility that the company may grant the men arbitration, and in that case the docks will resume their wonted activity at once.

Digging Ore on Range.

In that event the miles will be reopened, and then will come another test. Yesterday reports came from Hibbing that black smoke began belching from a dozen stacks on the range in that district. Ore was being taken from five mines with more or less small crews, which it was said would be increased to-day. Not a sign of trouble was reported during the day. At all the mines working, however, armed deputies were visible, watchful for the least sign of a disturbance, but at a late hour no news of interference had been received at Duluth.

Armed Thugs Seek Violence.

Denver, July 30.— James Kerwin, acting secretary of the Western Federation of Miners, received the following telegram from Acting President C. E. Mahoney, who is now in charge of the Minnesota iron workers strike: "Conditions over range look favorable. Very few men working. Armed thugs in employ of the steel trust are seeking to create violence."

At federation headquarters it is said that 20,000 men are on a strike.

Strike Leader Is Arrested.

Duluth, Aug. 1. — The crisis in the strike of the ore dock employes is at hand, and it is predicted that by Thursday morning at the latest it will be seen whether the strike will be over or just begun in earnest.

While the officials of the Steel corporation still continue their conciliatory attitude toward the strikers, it is not believed that they will hold open to them an opportunity to return to work more than twenty-four hours.

Draft Reply to Men.

There is unquestioned basis for the statement that a reply has been drafted in answer to the last communication of the strikers announcing their willingness to go to work upon the appointment of a committee of arbitration to settle the differences between the men and the company. This reply will be delivered to the men early this morning. It is understood that the letter will assert the willingness of the company to meet any of their employes individually or as a committee to discuss with them any points in dispute which the men feel should be adjusted after they have resumed work, but at the same time pointing out where they consider that arbitration does not concern the main issues between the men and the company.

Will Close Negotiations.

The Associated Press is in a position to state that this letter will definitely close the negotiations with the men on the part of the United States Steel corporation, and should the men then decline to return to work the Steel corporation will proceed at once to make preparations to resume operations on the docks with such labor as it may have at its command.

It is understood from those in the confidence of the men that the latter will return to work and leave the adjustment of grievances to the fairness of the officials. The labor leaders assert that the men will not be molested if they want to return to work.

Last night it was learned that about all of the men who have been stopping at West end hotels and supposed to have been brought in as strike breakers, in case the dock strikers refused to return to work, have disappeared and that they are housed in boarding cars on the ore docks. It is estimated there are enough men t ooperate the docks. In police circles it is learned that there is unusual activity in preparing for protection for the men who go to work.

Labor Leader Arrested.

The only incident on the range out of the ordinary occurred yesterday morning, when Petriella, the strike leader, was arrested and placed in jail at Hibbing on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. He was bound over to the grand jury at the September term of court in the sum of $1,000. Bail was promptly furnished by officers of the Western Federation and he was released. There was scarcely a ripple of excitement over the arrest.

KEY MEN THREATEN.

San Francisco, July 31.—A renewal of hostilities is threatened between the telegraphers and their employers. The local union served notice yesterday on the Western Union that in its belief the spirit of the agreement which settled the strike was not being observed by the corporation. Resolutions were passed expressing the intention of the union to take the matter up with the higher officials of the Western Union.

Black Hand Gang Taken.

Newcastle, Pa., July 31. — After working for months and spending thousands of dollars and spreading a dragnet that has caught men in four etates, the United States Steel corporation has rounded up what is believed to be the worst gang of Black Hand assassins in the country. Forty men are now in jail in Newcastle, Youngstown, Sharon, Pa.; Plainfield, N. J., and Rochester, N. Y. A dozen murders in the Mahoning and Shenangc valleys are atttributed to the gang.

DOCK WORKERS RETURN TO WORK

STATUS WILL BE THE SAME AS IT WAS ON DAY THEY VOTED TO STRIKE.

EXPECT TROUBLE ON RANGE

MINING TO BE RESUMED — WILL CALL TROOPS IF THERE IS TROUBLE.

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 1.—Shortly befor 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon the ore dock workers who have been on a strike for recognition of the union and a raise of pay voted to return to work. Neither of the issues raised by the men were granted by the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad, and the men will return to work this morning. Their status will be the same as it was the day they voted to strike. All of the employes will be taken back by the company without prejudice, and the pay they have been receiving under a verbal agreement with the company, which would not have expired until Oct. 31 next, will continue.

Free From Disorder.

The strike lasted about two and a half weeks and was one entirely free from any disorder whatever. There were numerous conferences of the strikers, and at three of them letters setting forth the position of the company were read. The last was delivered to the men yesterday morning.

The railroad officials adopted a kindly tone in this final letter, stating they were willing to treat with their men individually or by committee on an open shop basis, and the men realizing evidently that unless they accepted the terms offered by the company they would not be able to get back their old jobs, voted to return to work.

News Causes Rejoicing.

The news of the ending of the dock strike was flashed to Eveleth, Hibbing and Nashwauk, the three storm centers of the mining region, where trouble might originate, and the news was received there with rejoicing. Everything at these points was reported quiet.

A report received here late yesterday from Eveleth stated that the Adams-Spruce mine, a large Steel corporation property, would start operations to-day. The settlement of the dock strike paved the way for a resumption of mining on the range, and while the Steel officials will proceed to do business, they are apprehensive of trouble as soon as work is begun.

Will Demand Protection.

Acting under the advice of the state officials, the Steel corporation men have instructed their superintendents not to resist physical interference on the part of the strikers, but to leave the protection of company property and workmen to the state officials, and in case of inability to resume on account of such interference they are instructed to demand of the sheriff and the governor the protection the law affords them.

Sheriff Bates will be on the range in person to watch developments, and it is said that if there is interference that he cannot cope with he will call on the governor for troops.

Warned by the Governor.

Petriella, the strike leader, sent a telegram to the governor yesterday stating that strikers willing to leave the country had been refused payment of their June wages; that armed deputies prevent the men from meeting in their own halls, and that unless immediate measures are taken by the governor the men will be compelled to go into a bodily conflict to safeguard their rights.

The governor replied to Petriella that the Steel officials deny the charges and that any resistance of the kind threatened would call for armed interference by the state.

Ask Governor for Troops.

St. Paul, Aug. 1. — A request that troops be sent to Nashwauk was made yesterday by A. L. Thwing, county attorney of Itasca county, and T. F. Cole, president of the Oliver Mining company, in a telephone conversation with the governor made the same suggestion. The governor, however, after keeping the telephone and telegraph wires hot obtaining information from the various points in the strike district, did not feel that the facts warranted calling out the troops. Instead he sent three men to investigate the conditions, and unless something unexpected happens before they make their report the troops will not be sent. The governor's future actions will be governed largely by the reports received from his representatives, whos names he declined to give out.

Jest Results in Suicide.

Council Bluffs, Iowa, Aug. 1. — Because her sister in jest criticised the manner in which she played "Nearer, My God, to Thee," on the piano, Angelo Napper committed suicide by shooting herself.

Drags Binder Over Boy.

Heron Lake, Minn., Aug. 1. — John Ulfer's team ran away yesterday with a binder. The team ran home and ran over his little boy, killing him instantly. The body was frightfully mangled.

WOULD WRECK POWDER TRUST

GOVERNMENT FILES SUIT ASKING FOR AN INJUNCTION OR RECEIVER.

Washington, Aug. 1. — The government yesterday filed in the United States circuit court for the district of of Delaware at Wilmington a petition against E. I. Dupont de Nemours & Co., the E. I. Dupont de Nemour Powder Company of New Jersey and twenty-four other corporations and seventeen individuals connected with the corporations, which are made defendants in the petition.

The petition relates that all the defendants are engaged in interstate trade and commerce in gunpowder and other high explosives and are violating the act of July 2, 1890, commonly known as the Sherman anti-trust act. It seeks to prevent and restrain the unlawful existing agreements, contracts, combinations and conspiracies in restraint of such trade and commerce, to prevent and restrain the defendants to monopolize such trade and commerce and to dissolve the existing monopoly therein.

The court is asked to determine whether public interests will be better subserved by the appointment of receivers to take possession of the property of the alleged trust, with a view to bring about conditions in trade and commerce that will be in harmony with the law.

STRANGLER AT WORK.

Bodies of Two Unidentified Women Found in New York.

New York, Aug. 1. — The bodies of two women with the marks of the strangler on their throats have been found here within the last twelve hours. Neither of the victims has been identified.

One woman was found dead early yesterday in an areaway on East Ninetieth street. The marks of a thumb and forefinger were visible on her throat. She was about twenty-seven years old. No one in the neighborhood heard sounds of a struggle.

The body of the other woman, also the victim of a strangler, was found last night in a Twenty-second street boarding house. A necktie had been knotted tightly around her throat and she had been dead for several hours.

Police Are Baffled.

At a late hour no arrests had been made. Detectives have been hard at work on the cases but have been unable to find any traces of the murderer or murders.

The police believe that both crimes were committed by the same person, as both bodies were mutilated in the same manner.

HOLD LEGISLATORS' DAY.

Prominent Men on Platform at Jamestown Exposition.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 1.—A. E. Stevenson of Illinois, former vice president of the United States; Congressman J. Warren Keifer of Ohio, former speaker of the house of representatives, and Jose Diego, speaker of the Porto Rico house of delegates, were the central figures of attraction at the celebration at the Jamestown exposition yesterday of "Legislative Assembly day," or the 288th anniversary of the convening of the first house of burgesses of Virginia, at Jamestown Island July 30, 1619, this being the first legislative assembly to meet on American soil.

PROHIBITION IN GEORGIA.

Bill Passes Legislature and Governor Is Pledged to Sign It.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 1. — The Hardman-Covington prohibition bill passed by the Georgia senate some days ago was adopted by the house last evening by a vote of 139 to 39. Two amendments added to the bill by the house will necessitate the bill going back to the senate for concurrence, of which there is no doubt, and the bill will then go to Gov. Hoke Smith for his signature, which has been practically pledged, and prohibition will become a law in Georgia.

AID BEVERIDGE WEDDING.

Germans Extend Courtesies, Waiving Usual Residential Restrictions.

Berlin, Aug. 31. — As a courtesy to Senator Albert J. Beveridge and other prominent Americans interested in his approaching wedding to Katehrine Eddy in Berlin, the German foreign office has secured a special dispensation, waiving the usual legal restrictions regarding residence qualifications upon the marriage of foreigners. David Graham Phillips will act as best man.

BEER BOTTLE IN FISH.

Muscalonge Swallows Receptacle, but Evidently Not Its Contents.

Tomahawk, Wis., Aug. 1. — A muscalonge has been caught in the Tomahawk river by Guy Fuller of this city, in the stomach of which was found an empty beer bottle of the pint size. The fish weighed about fifteen pounds and measured three and one-half feet long.

FATHER AND SON DIE.

Former Was Trying to Save the Latter From Death.

Boone, Iowa, Aug. 1. — George Tipler, a well digger, gave his life in a vain attempt to save his fourteen-year-old son, whom he had sent down a well on a rope. A rod slipped and the boy was precipitated to the bottom of the well, 110 feet deep, into thirty feet of water. He was still alive, but could not hold on to the rope let down to him. Tipler then descended and both were drowned.

HAYWOOD WALKS FORTH A FREE MAN

IS ACQUITTED OF THE MURDER OF FORMER GOVERNOR STEUNENBERG.

WILL PROSECUTE THE OTHERS

STATE ANNOUNCES THAT CASES OF MOYER AND PETTIBONE WILL BE PUSHED.

Boise, Idaho, July 30. — Into the bright sunlight of a beautiful Sabbath morning, in the stillness of a city drowsy with the lazy slumbers of a summer Sunday, William D. Haywood, defendant in one of the most noted trials involving conspiracy and murder that the country has ever known, walked yesterday a free man, acquitted of the murder of Former Governor Frank Steunenberg.

The probability of a verdict of acquittal in the case of the secretary-treasurer and acknowledged leader of the Western Federation of Miners had been since Saturday, when Judge Fremont Wood read his charge, which was regarded as strongly favoring the defense in its interpretation of the law of conspiracy, circumstantial evidence and the corroboration of an accomplice who confesses.

It was also freely predicted that in the event of Haywood's acquittal the state would abandon the prosecution of his associates, Charles H. Moyer, the president of the federation, and George A. Pettibone of Denver. Statements from counsel and from Gov. Gooding issued yesterday dispel this view of the situation.

Jury at Last Agrees.

It was after being out for twenty-one hours that the jury, which first had been divided at ten to two, finally came to an agreement. Events moved rapidly enough after this, and when at last the principal actors in the trial had been gathered into the court room at a few moments before 8 o'clock the white envelope handed by the foreman to the judge was torn open and the verdict read.

Haywood's attorneys were fairly lifted from their seats, and Judge Wood made no effort to restrain them as they surrounded Haywood to shout aloud their congratulations.

First Thought of Mother.

Haywood's first thought after his release was of his aged mother, who Saturday had suffered a complete nervous breakdown after the jury had retired. Haywood walked to St. Luke's hospital and unannounced rushed into his mother's room. So great was the effect of the news upon the elderly lady that last night she wa sup and about and happy.

Next Haywood went to the little cottage where his wife and daughters have been stopping. Once home, Haywood said: "I want to thank the people of Boise for their kindness to my wife, my mother, my family and my friends."

Will Prosecute Others.

Senator Borah said:

"I have no comment to make other than that twelve good men and true men of the State of Idaho have passed upon the case, and that disposes of it so far as the State of Idaho and Haywood are concerned. The prosecution of the other men indictetd will be pushed vigorously and without any reference to the Haywood trial."

E. F. Richardson, one of Haywood's leading counsel, said:

"We have had a fair trial. We have had an impartial trial and conscientious jury and an impartial judge."

SENATOR PETTUS DEAD.

Oldest Man in Public Life at Washington Passes Away.

Hot Springs, N. C., July 30—Senator Edmund W. Pettus of Alabama died here last night at 10 o'clock. He was eighty-six years old July 6.

Senator Pettus was not only the oldest member of the senate, but also the oldest man in public life in the United States.

The senator, without apparently being seriously, succumbed to old age. He lapsed into unconsciousness while at breakfast yesterday morning.

Senator Morgan, three years Pettus' junior, but his senior in service in the senate, died two months ago.

Birmingham, Ala., July 29.—The successor to Senator E. W. Pettus will be Former Governor Joseph F. Johnson of Birmingham.

Stella (Wash.) Burned.

Stella, Wash., July 30.—This town was practically destroyed by fire. Among the buildings burned were two hotels, two saloons, wharves, mill, warehouses and hospitals. The loss is estimated at $200,000.

Launches Burned.

Houghton, Mich., July 30.—Leaking gasoline in a boathouse of James Pryor & Sons here caused the destruction by fire of two gasoline launches and two boathouses. The loss is about $5,000.

MUST RULE WITH IRON HAND

PRESIDENT TELLS GOV. CURRY HOW TO GOVERN NEW MEXICO.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 1.—Radical reforms in the territorial government of New Mexico are to be inaugurated upon the arrival in Santa Fe of Gov. Curry, who has just returned from the Philippines to assume that office. President Roosevelt conferred with Gov. Curry for two hours yesterday and sent him on his way, thoroughly imbued with the necessity of ruling with an iron hand until the alleged tangle of intrigue and graft in New Mexico has been straightened out.

"Clean government is what the president wants," said Gov. Curry on leaving Oyster Bay, "and that is what I shall do my best to establish."

MULCTED OF $1,500,000.

Pennsylvania's Losses on Metal Furniture for Capitol Estimated.

Beach Haven, N. J., Aug. 1. — Charles D. Montague of Brooklyn, an expert on metal furniture, shows by his report, submitted to the Pennsylvania capitol investigation commission that the state was mulcted more than $1,500,000 on the $2,000,000 contract for metallic furnishings.

Mr. Montague goes into every detail of the metallic furniture in the capitol at Harrisburg and estimates that had the contractors charged $412,500 for the metal cases they would have realized a net profit of 25 per cent, according to the market value of the supplies.

MANY KILLED IN FIGHT.

Operations Against Lawless Tribes in Morocco Renewed.

Tangier, Aug. 1.—The government troops under command of Caid Bouchta renewed operations against the lawless tribes yesterday. They surprised the village of Alkala, inhabited by Raisuli supporters, at daybreak and set it on fire. A brief fight ensued, in which many were killed and a large number of prisoners fell into Bouchta's hands.

The commander of the troops offered a big reward to any one delivering to him Raisuli dead or alive.

POWERS TRIAL POSTPONED.

Must Wait Until Gov. Beckham Appoints New Judge.

Georgetown, Ky., Aug. 1.—The trial of Caleb Powers, charged with complicity in the murder of Senator William Goebel, has been indefinitely postponed. Following the action of Special Judge Robbins in vacating the bench, the attorneys could not agree on a suitable man to try the case, and Robbins adjourned court. The trial will not proceed until Gov. Beckham appoints a new judge.

CASHIER IS ARRESTED.

Charged With Falsifying Reports and Misapplying Funds.

Philadelphia, Aug. 1. — Morris L. Hartman, former cashier of the Farmers' National Bank of Boyertown, Pa., which was closed by the controller of the currency July 1, was arrested yesterday charged with misapplying the funds of the institution, making false entries in the books of the bank and falsifying his reports to the controller. The accused was held in $10,000 bail.

BRITT WINS FROM BATTLING NELSON

CALIFORNIAN GETS DECISION AT THE END OF TWENTY ROUNDS.

NELSON ALMOST DOWN AND OUT

IS CLEARLY OUTDONE BY BRITT IN CLEVERNESS AND RING GENERALSHIP.

San Francisco, Aug. 1.—Jimmy Britt of San Francisco gained the decision over Battling Nelson at the end of twenty rounds of as fast and pretty a fight as has been seen in San Francisco in many years. At no time was either man in danger of a knockout until near the end of the last round, when Britt's right and left swings and uppercuts, which he landed one after another at will on Nelson's face, all but put the Dane down and out. Nelson did the greater part of the leading from start to finish, but he was outdone by Britt in cleverness, ring generalship and everything but gameness and ability to take punishment.

Britt's Defense Perfect.

Referee Welch, after announcing his decision, gave Nelson only two rounds out of the twenty—the second and the seventh.

By his game fight Britt wiped out finally the aspersions that some former battles had placed upon him. He showed that keeping away from his adversary is the chief part of his ring generalship. His defense showed up better than ever before, and his accuracy was never as marked. He found his man almost at will, and from the tap of the opening gong to the end of the last round there was no lack of steam in his blows.

Nelson Disappoints.

If anything, he showed up stronger in the last five rounds than in the first fifteen, while in the last half of the fight Nelson's hitting powers obviously diminished.

While Britt took no foolish chances, he gave Nelson plenty of close-quarter opportunities to put him out if the Battler had been been able to land. Nelson disappointed many of his admirers by his wildness. In the last eight or ten rounds he swung right and left for the face scores of times, and missed by a small margin.

WORSE THAN REPORTED.

Damage From Sinking of Land Is Serious.

Colon, Aug. 1.—The damage to the road by the sinking of the land around Lion Hill, ten miles from Colon, is more serious than was reported yesterday. A portion of the track built over the marsh which is known as the Black swamp, between Ahorca Lagarto and Lion Hill, sank within thirty feet of a number of freight trains. Both ends of the isthmus are tied up and passenger trains are irregular, the passengers being transferred by means of temporary pathways.

FOOLHARDY ACT FATAL.

Man Who Cannot Swim Tries to Cross River.

Great Falls, Mont., Aug. 1. — In a spirit of foolhardiness, Vindura Matalo attempted to swim across the Missouri river just above the power dam and was drowned. Matalo had talked for several days of swimming the river, although it was known that he could not swim a stroke. Yesterday, with four companions, he started to make the attempt. When a short distance from shore he sank beneath the water and the men on shore did not see him again.

IS PROVED TO BE A COWARD.

New York Policeman Is Stripped of Insignia and Ejected.

New York, Aug. 1.—Patrolman Stephen S. Walsh was found guilty yesterday by Police Commissioner Bingham of cowardice and conduct unbecoming an officer in failing to arrest Frank Warner, following the murder of Miss Norling and John Wilson, and after having his insignia of office stripped from his breast was summarily ejected from the building under orders from the commissioner.

COLORADO VALLEY SAVED.

Break in River Is Closed and 10,000 Homes Kept From Flood.

Chicago, Aug. 1. — With announcement that the break in the Colorado river has been closed and the Imperial valley saved, ends for the time being at least the most heroic battle ever fought by man with nature. The reward was nothing less than the homes of 10,000 people and $5,000,000.

Girl Cyclist Killed.

Milton, Iowa, Aug. 1.—While riding along the road between here and Pulaski last evening, Lillie Barnes, daughter of a wealthy farmer living near here, fell from her bicycle and broke her neck. She was dead when picked up.

Cow Moose Costs $100.

Warren, Minn., Aug. 1.—Storvold Thompson, living near Middle River, pleaded guilty to shooting a cow moose and was fined $50 and costs, amounting in all to about $100.

Boost for St. Hilaire.

Next week the Red Lake county fair will attract the crowds to Thief River Falls, the dates being the 7th, 8th and 9th.

While it might have been just and proper that Haywood should be acquitted, his presence is not desired in Minnesota during the trouble over on the range. We have no governors to lose.

William Jennings Bryan will be employed by the state of North Carolina to make the chief argument before the supreme court in the case involving the right of the state to enforce the local rate law.

An exchange says it takes a sharp knock to break an egg from the outside, while a weak chick with its soft bill can break out from the inside. It's the same way with a town. The knocks from the outside have little effect, but the business interests of a town continually knocking one another for spite is an injury to the citizens and prosperity thereof. Oh, yes, it is the blows at home that hurt a town.

Hanley Falls Press: This is the time of the year that the mosquitoes make life almost intolerable when out after sundown. A new way to get rid of them which is said to never fail is to rub alum on your hands and face. When a mosquito takes a bite the alum puckers his buzzer so he cannot sting. Then he sits down in the damp grass and tries to straighten out the pucker, and in this way he catches cold and dies of quick consumption.

The recent outbreak of outrages against young girls in New York City has reached serious proportions and has prompted Police Commissioner Bingham to declare that he has not sufficient men to cope with the situation, and to also issue a warning to parents not to allow their children to go about in unfrequented spots unattended. The long list of brutal assaults was augmented last week by two of a particularly vicious character, and the metropolis is thoroughly aroused over the situation.

Minnesota is now well into the midst of a strike over on the iron range, and it is hard to fortell the end of the trouble. The strikers are mostly dagoes who can neither read nor write and eat nothing but the cheapest of macaroni, and believe only in Teofilo Petriella, their idle. They have chosen him as their leader and he is seeking profit through their ignorance. Many others who have been compelled to "walk out" or are in fear of the threats of the strikers, were satisfied with their hours and the pay received, and are unable to formulate any reasons for the strike. Petriella has called the men out and that is enough. We believe in organized labor where the laborer is consulted on all vital questions, but for a "walking deligate" to rule as a king on a throne we don't think it right, especially when it comes to calling a man away from his work when starvation looks him in the face. It is all right to maintain a high scale of wages, and to work on the short schedule of hours, but let the man earn his wage and give him freedom of vote. Let those who are satisfied with the pay and hours return to their former positions, and with the agitators fan their breeches with an elm club—killing is too good for them. The blame for the existing condition is placed on the officers of the Western Federatien of Miners, of which Petriella is chief, and at whose instigation the strike was declared. In commenting upon the presence and influence of such men the Duluth News-Tribune says:

These breeders of lawlessnen came here not to help the men, but to enrich themselves. They were not sent for, but butted in. They should be given to understand that they are not wanted; that Minnesota labor can take care of itself and can do this without violence, without any threats, without strikes and without the loss of tens of thousands of dollars in wages of trades union men who have been thrown out of employment because these outside agitators believe they had here a chance to fill their own purses.

The county seat removal petition has not as yet been acted upon, the board again failing to meet last Monday. The two members from Thief River Falls were present, as was also a large number of citizens from that town, but the other three members were either busy haying or gardening and could not attend the meeting, hence no quorum. We know nothing of the affair and care not to take sides in the fight, but in justice to the tax-payers of the shire the board should meet upon call and either take action on the petition or lay it on the shelf for ninety-nine years. The county surely is in need of a court house or decent place in which to keep their books, transact business and hold court, and we feel that the needs of the people are left to suffer while the "fight" continues. Let us settle the matter by taking away the "bone" and letting the fight continue. There is not a site in the county more desirable or of easier access than one which might be secured here in St. Hilaire, and it is a certainity we would do all within our power to make the people who had business to transact at the "county hub" feel that they were welcome at all times and their visits were greatly appreciated by all our citizens. St. Hilaire really is the proper location for the county seat of Red Lake county.

Fleecing the Farmers.

Edward L. Slater, state dairy and food commissioner, has just issued a bulletin in which he tells some interesting things of the results of examinations of sample packages taken from box car merchants of Chicago who insist on operating in the rural districts of Minnesota whenever they get a chance.

Out of eighty-two samples of different products taken from one shipment, only two complied with the pure food laws. Every one of the eighty packages were short in weight, thus clearly demonstrating that the fraud was not accidentally accomplished. The average net weight of the so-called three-pound packages of spices was a trifle over, two and three-quarter pounds, representing an illegitimate saving to the company of nearly one-fourth of a pound on each package. The price asked for the goods was not an inducement for the purchaser to be content with short-weight packages.

The bulletin further tells of the chemical analysis of these box car goods. Ground roasted beans was found to be mixed with coffee, and blackberry cordial was well supplied with salicylic acid and coal tar dye. White pepper proved in part to be ground cocoanut shells and starch.

An Ungallant Actor.

A well known American actor, who is old enough not to consider himself a matinee idol by any means, was somewhat surprised and pleased in a St. Louis hotel a short time ago when a pretty girl stopped him in the corridor and presented him with a rose, without saying a word. He was more surprised and less pleased to receive a note the following day reminding him of the incident and asking him to send the giver of the flower two seats at the theater in which he was playing "as a memento of the occasion."

"My dear young lady," the actor replied, waxing sarcastic as he realized what had been the object of the attention he had been paid, "I would be glad to send you the seats you ask for, but, on consultation with the manager of the theater, I have been informed that the seats are all fastened down and that he is opposed to having them sent away as souvenirs in any event, so that you will have to be contented with an autograph for a souvenir of your benevolence of yesterday instead."—Harper's Weekly.

Beats Radium For Cost.

If you object to paper money, but wish to carry big values in small compass, you might do worse than lay in a stock of best lenses for microscopes. Weight for weight, gold is not nearly so valuable as glass in the form of powerful lenses, and an ordinary purse filled with such lenses might easily represent a fortune. The record increase in the value of the manufactured article over the raw material is probably made by this variety of glass, which multiplies itself 50,000,000 times. The front lens of a micro objective instrument costing about £1 weighs no more than about .0017 of a gram; hence the value of such lenses to the weight of about two and a quarter pounds would be about £600,000. The cost of making this weight of glass is 1½ pence to 3 pence, and thus when worked up into the shape of a lens the glass has increased in value about 50,000,000 times.—London Express.

A Battle of Butterflies.

"A battle of butterflies," said the Japanese viscount firmly.

"Impossible!" cried the lady on his right.

"Oh," the viscount insisted, "the thing is authenticated. It happened on Aug. 20, 1889. Tales and poems without number have been written on it. On the evening of Aug. 20 two opposing armies of the butterflies fought an aerial battle between Nojima and Kawasaki Mura. The fight continued till sunset, when the smaller army turned and retreated, the victors pursuing it till all were lost in the rosy sunset haze. The ground beneath the combat was thickly strewn with wounded and dead warriors. The battle drew a thousand people. It occurred about thirty feet up in the air. The spectators were amazed and horror stricken to see these gentle blue butterflies grappling and struggling furiously and silently in a blue blizzard above their heads."

The Bookplate.

An ex libris, or bookplate, is a small piece of paper whereon is printed the owner's name and pasted on the inside cover of a book—in other words, it is a printed slip to denote the ownership of books. A proper ex libris should have, first of all, the name, boldly and plainly printed, and a space left for the number of volumes contained in the library; then, to make it more interesting and personal, some decorative device of the owner's peculiar and individual choice as well as some favorite motto, if desired. In Europe those who have the right use family crests or armorial bearings for their ex libris. Every well regulated library should have some mark of ownership. and the ex libris takes the place of the owner's signature.

Moths and Butterflies.

Some moths look very much like butterflies, but there are two ways in which you can always tell the one from the other. Each has little slender feelers growing from the head, but the butterfly's feelers, or antennae, as they are called, have knobs on the ends. The antennae of the moth sometimes have tiny feathers on them and sometimes little spires, but thy are never knobbed. Then, too, in alighting the butterfly always holds her wings erect, while the moth's droop or are nearly flat.

No Longer Worried.

"I thought," said the visitor, "I'd drop in and tell you what your hair restorer did for a friend of mine. When he started to using your elixir there were only a few hairs on his head, but now it's completely covered."

"Indeed?" explained the patent medicine man.

"Yes; by six feet of earth."—Catholic Standard and Times.

The Peculiar Frigate Bird.

The frigate bird is a native of tropical seas and rarely comes to land except during the breeding season. It has the habit unusual among sea birds, of nesting in trees, large companies of them building together in the tops of the tallest mangroves. Like the cormorant and the albatross, the frigate bird lays but one egg. It lives by fishing and also by robbing other fishers of what they have caught. In plumage the frigate bird is brownish black, with metallic green and purple reflections. The dilatable throat sac in the male is of bright scarlet, while the female, of a duller general hue, has a white patch on the breast. It is a beautiful sight to watch one or more floating overhead against the deep blue sky, the long forked tail alternately opening and shutting like a pair of scissors and the head, which is, of course, kept to windward, inclined from side to side, while the wings are to all appearance fixedly extended, though the breeze may be constantly varying in strength and direction.

An Egyptian Custom.

More than 1,000 years ago Herodotus observed a remarkable custom in Egypt. At a certain season of the year the Egyptians went into the desert, cut off branches from the wild palm and, bringing them back to their gardens, waved them over the flowers of the date palm. Why they performed this ceremony they did not know, but they knew that if they neglected it the date crop would be poor or wholly lost. Herodotus offers the quaint explanation that along with these branches there came from the desert certain flies possessed of a "vivifiy virtue," which somehow lent an exuberant fertility to the dates. But the true rationale to the incantation is now explained. Palm trees, like human beings, are male and female. The garden plants, the date bearers, were females, the desert plants were males, and the waving of the branches over the females meant the transference of the fertilizing pollen from the one to the other.

The Dangers of the Mines.

Great and mystically dreadful is the earth from a mine's depth. Man is in the implacable grasp of nature. It has only to tighten slightly and he is crushed like a bug. His loudest shriek of agony would be as impotent as his final moan to bring help from that fair land that lies like heaven over his head. There is an insidious silent enemy in the gas. If the huge fanwheel on the top of the earth should stop for a brief period there is certain death, and a panic more terrible than any occurring where the sun has shone ensues down under the tons of rock. If a man may escape the gas, the floods, the "squeezes" of falling rock, the cars shooting through little tunnels, the precarious elevators, the hundred perils, there usually comes to him an attack of "miner's asthma" that slowly racks and shakes him into the grave.—Stephen Crane.

Mrs. D. Collins and the children have been guests at the home of County Auditor John B. O'Brien in Red Lake Falls the past week.

M. J. Cort, of Minneapolis, the gentleman who was instrumental in organizing the St. Hilaire creamery, was in town Monday on business.

DR. SPOFFORD makes his next visit to St. Hilaire August 8, at Hotel Markham. Remember the date if troubled with your eyes.

S. L. Lewis, of Red Lake Falls, was in the city yesterday in the interest of the Northwestern Mutual life Insurance Company of Milwaukee.

A car load of telephone poles was sidetracked at this point Monday and we understand work on the local exchange will be started next week.

Dr. J. E. Argue, dentist, of Red Lake Falls, will be in St. Hilaire on Wednesday of each week. Office with Dr. H. E. Nelson, over Hall's confectionery store.

County Superintendent H. T. McAnulty passed through town over-land Wednesday enroute home from Thief River Falls, where he had been holding examinations the first of the week.

A. Wright, of Thief River Falls, was a pleasant caller at this news dispensary Monday afternoon. He expects to leave soon for Alaska on a prospecting tour, and with him goes the well wishes of the Spectator.

The Grand Forks Lumber Company's log drive passed this point the first of the week, and the wangan went over the dam Wednesday afternoon. The genial Pat Sullivan was in charge of the drive and crew.

The Red Lake Falls Milling Company loaded a car of lumber at this place the first of the week for shipment to Luna, where the same will be used in the construction of a new house and barn for their agent at that place.

A large addition has been added to the Crookston College this summer. The building is up-to-date in every respect and will now accommodate 500 students. The college catalog is just printed and you can get a copy free by writing to J. C. Sathre, Crookston, Minn.

The Young Peoples Society of the Swedish Lutheran church will hold a picnic at the Andrew Soderberg home, two miles north of town, tomorrow afternoon. Those wishing conveyance will be at Hotel Markham at one thirty. All are invited. Ice cream, coffee and cake will be served.

R. V. Lewis, a young attorney from Worthington, this state, was in town yesterday looking up a location. He is a bright young man and comes well recommended, and should he decide to hang his shingle above our heads may success crown his efforts and our citizens give him a cordial welcome.

Upon several occasions we have received local news after the hour of going to press, and while we appreciate the news we are oft time unable to give the same space until our next issue. To insure publication all items of news and notices must be in the hands of the printer not later than Friday noon.

We pay today the following prices for produce in exchange for goods:

E. McCraney, of LeClaire, Iowa, was in this neck o' woods the fore part of the week looking up a location. He was most favorable impressed with the country tributary to St. Hilaire and had his name enrolled upon our list for the ensuing year that he might keep in touch with the progress of the town and community.

Chas. Carlson came in from Mountain Iron the first of the week for a short visit with the home folks west of town. He made this office a pleasant call, ordered the paper sent to his address for the ensuing year, and gave a brief history of the strike situation on the iron range. Mr. Carlson has charge of a steam shovel crew, and while the strike does not effect their work in the least, he improved the opportunity to take a vacation and visit the home folks.

The land office of Sandum & Lockrem is now marked with a new sign, and in the future the firm will be known as the "Four Leaf Clover Land Company." The new firm is starting out with bright prospects and we hope they may be instrumental in inducing lots of good people to locate in our midst. Success to them.

For the benefit of our readers in the far distant we might say it rained—a rolling volume of water, here Monday evening. Who ever seen water come down in such torrents? A more correct report might say it was a cloudburst, while the wind accompanying it blew its mightiest. However, no damage has been reported and the crops are looking fine.

A band of Gypsies were camped out north of town Tuesday and the "old hags" and comely lassies did the town masquerading as fortune tellers. They picked a few curious dimes and everything else upon which they could lay a finger. There is a peculiar odor about the town yet, the likes of which was not noticeable before the Gypsies hit the community.

Marshal Wm. Eickhoff has been busy the past few days as funeral director for the "orphan dogs." He has been out collecting dog tax and when he finds a dog without a 1907 tag and no person willing to "cash in" immediately he sends a bullet their way. Already some ten dogs have been consigned to the happy hunting grounds, and there are still more to follow.

The Methodist young people tried hard all day Thursday to have a picnic, but it would seem the weather-man had not willed it so and the rain would drive them in at every endeavor to have a little outing. They partook of their "basket dinner" under the shelter of the old vacant store just south of Hotel Markham, and the little folks seemed to enjoy the day immensely.

J. C. Dahl met with a rather painful accident the latter part of last week while at work in his blacksmith shop. He was cutting a piece of iron when the end flew off and hit him in the forehead, inflicting a rather severe wound. Mr. Dahl was off duty a few days as a result of the accident, but is all right now and working harder than ever before to make up for time lost.

Plummer Pioneer: On Monday morning while Knute Henderson was coming into town with his cream he was very much surprised to meet a big cow moose and her calf on the road about a half mile east of here. The big animal stood and looked at Mr. Henderson's team for a moment or two and then trotted off with her calf in the direction of the Clearwater river.

We are in receipt of a paper from Mrs. O. F. Post, who is visiting in Winnipeg, giving an account of the marriage of her friend, Miss Marie Laronde, to Napoleon Bray, of Crookston. The happy young couple are quite well known in this locality, both having visited here a number of times, and the Spectator joins with numerous friends in extending congratulations and best wishes.

Manager G. W. Hooper, of the local telephone exchange, came up from Crookston the first of the week and has been busy the past few days getting things in shape to commence work in earnest next Monday. As soon as the work in town is completed then lines will be run out through the rural districts, and soon then this section of the state will be networked with telephone lines. We are all anxiously awaiting the time when we can use the local exchange, and then the Spectator will expect all the news.

Our little village possesses some very good anglers, but it is seldom any of them will tell of their experiences in landing the large ones. However, the other morning E. G. Peterson was down and succeeded in landed a couple fine pickerel and as he pulled them in strung 'em on his tie. He fished for a while longer and then when he went to get his catch and start for home found that they had got loose. He came up town but said not a word, fearing the boys would say it was the old, old story. In the evening Chris Bjerk went down to the river for a little recreation and no sooner had he cast out before he got a strike. When he pulled in his line was rather surprised to see two large pickerel tied together. He thought it a hoodoo and immediately came home, telling everybody of his catch and proving the truthfulness of his story by displaying the fish. It was then that E. G. Peterson came forward with his story, and claiming the fish on the ground that it was his tie.

In making our rounds the first of the week we espied C. H. Martz sneaking up the alley with a large watermelon under his arm, and when we overtook him and asked as to where he obtained the "southern fruit," he informed us that he "raised" it. When we saw them on sale at fifty cents each we knew he was telling no falsehood—a man would have to raise 'em to partake of such luxuries at that price. Mr. Martz is very fond of watermelon, but he denies the story told of his travels through the south some years ago. It was in Nashville and when passing down the streets on market row he saw on display a large number of watermelons, and being from the north county where such products are not raised, he knew not what they were. Walking down the street a short distance he met a colored boy and asked that he accompany him. They walked back to the place where the melons were on display and in a low whisper Martz asked his new companion as to what those things were. "Wachemeluns," replied the boy, smacking his lips while his eyes fairly sparkled with joy. 'Twas enough, for Mr. Martz had heard of those things before and wanted to know more about them. He purchased one and beckoned the boy to follow him. They went up the street to the corner and then turning into a by-street, stopped to carve the melon. Cutting out the heart and handing it to the boy, Martz said: "Here, bub, you can have the core and I'll eat the good part myself."

N. A. Nelson, one of our prosperous farmers living out southeast of town, believes in keeping abreast of the times and is continually adding new improvements about the place. He is making preparations to build a silo this fall, and we understand has placed an order for a Green Mountain, ensilage cutter and gasoline engine to operate both machines. The silo is practically a necessity on a dairy farm, and while the first cost is seemingly large, the results will easily offset the cost the first year. Work on Mr. Nelson's silo will be watched with much interest and when completed we expect several other rural citizens to go home and do likewise.

Don't You Like This Town?

MAIL ORDER CATALOG

You live here. Your business interests are here. Your home is here.

You are reading a Mail Order Catalogue. That indicates that you are not spending your money in this town. You are spending it with strangers in a big city. That city has no use for this town except to get your money.

This town has use for your money. If spent here, your money will help to build up the town. It will help to build up your own business.

In the long run more of your money will come back to you if you spend it at home than if you send it to Chicago or some other large city. You spend a dollar with Smith, up the street. Smith spends it with Brown, around the corner. Brown is just as likely to spend it with you as with anybody else. Did you ever think of that?

All of us have to spend money. There is an art in spending it where it will do the most good. If spent so that it will circulate around this town and community, it will help this town and community. Therefore it will help you. Isn't that good logic?

Suppose you think it over next time you pick up the Mail Order Catalogue.

Is Pe-ru-na Useful for Catarrh?

Should a list of the ingredients of Peruna be submitted to any medical expert, of whatever school or nationality, he would be obliged to admit without reserve that each one of them was of undoubted value in chronic catarrhal diseases, and had stood the test of many years' experience in the treatment of such diseases. THERE CAN BE NO DISPUTE ABOUT THIS WHATEVER. Peruna is composed of the most efficacious and universally used herbal remedies for catarrh. Every ingredient of Peruna has a reputation of its own in the cure of some phase of catarrh.

Peruna brings to the home the COMBINED KNOWLEDGE OF SEVERAL SCHOOLS OF MEDICINE in the treatment of catarrhal diseases; brings to the home the scientific skill and knowledge of the modern pharmacist; and last but not least, brings to the home the vast and varied experience of Dr. Hartman, in the use of catarrh remedies, and in the treatment of catarrhal diseases.

The fact is, chronic catarrh is a disease which is very prevalent. Many thousand people know they have chronic catarrh. They have visited doctors over and over again, and been told that their case is one of chronic catarrh. It may be of the nose, throat, lungs, stomach or some other internal organ. There is no doubt as to the nature of the disease. The only trouble is the remedy. This doctor has tried to cure them. That doctor has tried to prescribe for them.

BUT THEY ALL FAILED TO BRING ANY RELIEF.

Dr. Hartman's idea is that a catarrh remedy can be made on a large scale, as he is making it; that it can be made honestly, of the purest drugs and of the strictest uniformity. His idea is that this remedy can be supplied directly to the people, and no more be charged for it than is necessary for the handling of it.

No other household remedy so universally advertised carries upon the label the principal active constituents, showing that Peruna invites the full inspection of the critics.

Training The Children

By RENE BOUCHELLE.

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

"I always have believed that I could beat Sarah raising those children of hers, and now my time has come to prove it, even if a month is a mighty short time to show what a body can do."

Janet Burton's remark was called forth by the receipt of a letter from her sister, asking if she would keep house and care for her five children, ranging in age from one to 14, while she went away for a month. In replying, Janet not only acceded to her sister's request, but intimated she would be glad to relieve her of her household cares for two months instead of one.

It was with the spirit and zeal of a true missionary that Janet took charge of her small nieces and nephews, as she was sure their faults were those of training and not inherent, and would soon be corrected by her wise management.

Their parents left Monday morning on an early train, and her enlightenment and their education began at the breakfast table, where fried chicken occupied the place of honor.

First the twins quarreled over who was to get the pulley-bone. Janet cut the pulley-bone in two, and gave each one half; but instead of causing satisfaction, the twins were as sulky during the balance of the meal as only eight-year-old youngsters can be, and paid no attention whatever to their aunt's explanation that she had done the only wise and reasonable thing under the circumstances.

"Aunt Janet, mother isn't here, so can't I have coffee for breakfast?" piped up six-year-old Margaret.

"No, my dear, you can't do anything while your mother is away that she would not allow, for that would be disobedience."

"I don't care, and papa always let me have it when mamma's gone."

"Good Heavens! was it possible that Sarah had no more control over her children than this," thought Janet, as she hurriedly gulped down a cup of coffee, so as to be ready for the next outbreak.

But the balance of the meal passed off quietly, and after seeing that the baby was properly fed she set about getting the oldest boy off to school. Now, William Henry had reached the age when the grub is transformed into a butterfly, and Solomon himself couldn't have been more particular about his raiment.

"Aunt Janet, I want a clean collar and handkerchief." These wants were supplied, and Janet returned to the lunch she was preparing.

"Aunt Janet, these stockings have got a hole in them; please get me another pair." Back she went and searched until she found a whole pair, and again returned to the unfinished luncheon.

After several other stops to hunt for missing articles the lunch was finally prepared, and the young man started off to school, fully 30 minutes late.

Her troubles broke out afresh next morning when she found that the twins and Margaret had gone off before breakfast; no one knew where. The place was searched, high and low, and failing to find a trace of them anywhere, she alarmed the neighborhood, and started out parties in every direction looking for them. Breakfast was forgotten entirely, and only baby Louise, serenely unconscious of the state of affairs, cared for any. Her demands for sustenance for the inner man were so loud and insistent, however, that her distracted aunt was finally compelled to heed them, as the nurse had gone off with the others in their search for the children.

About nine o'clock the truants slipped in the back gate and made a bee-line for the kitchen. The cook's shout of:

"Glory, Hallelujah, here dey is!" brought Janet promptly on the scene, and in the excess of her gratitude at their safe return, she would have fallen on the culprits' necks and wept tears of joy—only each pair of arms encircled three or four huge bullfrogs, and the twins were so muddy and dirty from head to foot that it was difficult to distinguish one from the other, while Margaret was scarcely any better. Eugene explained that early that morning they had become possessed of a sudden desire for some bullfrogs' legs for breakfast, and had gone to the pond for them, carrying Margaret along to hold the bait. Unfortunately they had both tumbled in, and the reason they were so late getting home was that so many people were prowling around, and they had had such a time dodging them.

Corporal punishment was against her principles, so Janet marched them to the bathroom and, after a thorough scrubbing, put them both to bed to meditate over the way of the transgressor.

It was out of the question to send William Henry to school at this late hour, and that young gentleman spent the balance of the morning in front of the mirror primping.

When evening finally arrived Janet was too weary and dispirited to write her sister the daily bulletin she had promised. In addition she was troubled with a very tender conscience, and as she couldn't truthfully say that matters had gone well, she thought it better not to say anything.

For once the children were tired enough to submit to being put to bed at the proper time without protest, and by nine o'clock the house was quiet and everything peaceful.

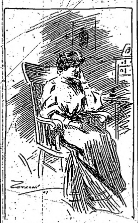
But the ducking proved too much for the twins, who were subject to croup, and about 12 o'clock Janet was awakened by a croupy cough that made her heart sink, and sent cold chills running up and down her spine. Slipping into a wrapper, she thought of all the remedies she had ever heard of for this disease, and as her memory was exceptionally good, six or eight came to her at once. Knowing that croup was both dangerous and quick in its effects, she proceeded to apply all of these remedies without delay. She popped a cloth wrung out of ice water around their necks, covered it with a dry towel, and administered three different emetics, one after the other, as fast as the frightened twins could swallow them. The result when they all took effect at once may be imagined. Sea sickness was nothing to it, and Janet felt that if there was any efficacy in nausea, they would surely be better immediately. This proved to be the case, and in a short time they were both breathing easily, and soon dropped off to sleep. Too frightened and wide-awake to think of sleep herself, Janet sat up the balance of the night, and as a consequence early the next morning developed a bad sick headache. She managed to get William Henry off to school, sent the twins to spend the day with their grandmother, and then collapsed, too utterly miserable to think of writing her sister, or anything else.

Two days passed before she was able to resume the reins of government, and in the meantime William Henry, who was really all right in spite of his Miss Nanciness, helped her control the twins by alternately bullying and petting them, so that they did no especial harm either to themselves or anyone else. But the bulletin to her sister entirely escaped her memory both days.

Friday morning she awoke feeling once more equal to her task, but still looked so pale and ill that the children took pity on her, and were on their good behavior all day. Callers came late in the afternoon, however, and she did not think of the message to her sister, until after she retired that night, and sleepily promised herself to write Sarah a long letter next day.

A whole day of goodness on the part of the children was necessarily followed by an unburdening of superfluous animal spirits, and all day Saturday they acted as if they were possessed. Eugene, whose appetite was always greater than his capacity, watched his opportunity, and when the cook's back was turned, snatched a chocolate cake which she had just baked for Sunday. She was too fat and unwieldy to give chase, and went grumbling and sputtering to Janet with her complaint of "dem rampageous chillun."

After evening tea with one accord they all demanded to be told stories. Gathering them on the cool vine-clad piazza, Janet breathed a sigh of relief at this easy mode of entertaining them, and then began the "once upon a time," so dear to children's hearts. But the more she told, the more they demanded, and when the whistle of the train from the west blew, at eight o'clock, she was still trying to cater to their insatiable appetites for stories, though her mouth was dry and she felt that her tongue would soon be hanging out.



Too Utterly Miserable to Think of Writing.

A hack drove rapidly up the street and stopped at their gate, and her heart gave a great bound as in the gathering twilight she recognized the two persons coming up the walk as her sister and her brother-in-law.

"Oh, Janet, why didn't you write me—what has been the matter with my precious darlings? Mother'll never, never leave them again," and Sarah Baker gathered her brood to her ample bosom and showered kisses and caresses upon them.

When she took time to breathe, she explained to Janet that not hearing from her, she grew more and more uneasy about the children, until finally she just could not stand it any longer, and had taken the first train for home, as she had been perfectly miserable ever since she left there.

In the relief of feeling herself free from responsibility, all the shortcomings of her charges were forgotten, and Janet told her sister that it had been nothing but negligence on her part that had caused her to overlook writing, and that the children had been all that could be desired.

But it was noticed thereafter that when the subject of child-raising was broached in her presence, she always remained conspicuously silent.

Governor's Salaries.

Illinois is going to have the highest-paid officials in the country. The new salary bill just passed by the legislature raises the salary of the governor from $6,000 to $12,000 a year, which will make him the best-paid of American governors.

New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania pay their chief executives $10,000. Massachusetts and Indiana pay $8,000.

Most of the other states pay $5,000. Vermont pays the smallest gubernatorial salary, the amount being $1,500, or a clerk's hire. New Hampshire and Delaware are on a $2,000 basis, South Carolina pays $3,000.

Texas and Connecticut are $4,000 states, although Texas is more than 50 times as big as Connecticut. Georgia is in the $5,000 class.

Damage by Corrosion.

The most frequent cause of collapse among small water tanks, says the Building News, is the corrosion of the hoops. These are flat wrought-iron bands one-eighth inch to one-quarter inch thick, which are seldom painted, so that they become subject to corrosion both from the outside and from the inside. Hoops should be made without welds and thoroughly painted before and after erection.—Engineer.

A WOMAN'S SUFFERINGS.

A Dreadful Operation Seemed to Be the Only Outcome.

Mrs. Clyde Pixley, Bridge St., Belding, Mich., writes: "I had inflammation of the bladder and the trouble had gone so far in five years that my physicians said nothing but an operation would cure me. Awful bearing down pains, backaches and headaches tortured me, there were spells of dizziness and faintness, the kidney secretions were like blood and passed with intense pain. I had lost 30 pounds when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, and was dreadfully nervous. In one week I felt better and to-day I am a well woman and have been for a long time."

Her First Long Skirt.

She was a girl of seventeen or thereabouts, and while she waited for a street car the men stared when she wasn't looking at them. The car came and the maiden gathered up her long skirts and stepped aboard. But something happened suddenly. The smokers, in the rear vestibule all sprang to her assistance, for she had stepped on her skirt and fallen.

"I knew I'd do something like that," she said to her companion. "But I wore it all day Easter and didn't have a single mishap."

IT WOULDN'T KEEP.

Reason Why Scoochman Did Not Have Demijohn of Whisky.

Miss Elizabeth Marbury of the board of governors of New York's woman's club, the Colony, was discussing the question of the club's liquor license.

"It is rather a matter of indifference to us," she said, "whether we get a license or not. Women, you know are not given to drinking. They are too careful of their appearance. They desire to remain slim and fresh, and wine tends to make us coarse and stale and fat.

"So if we had a license I think we should sell little. It would not be with us as with a farmer I once met in Scotland.

"Traveling in the Scottish highlands one summer I stopped at a farm house for a cup of milk, and the view from the door was so lovely that I said to the farmer:

"'Ah, what a superb place to live in.'

"'Ou, aye,' he answered, in conventional Scots, 'it's richt; but hoo wad ye like, ma'am, to hae to walk fufteen mile ilka time ye wanted a bit glass of whuskey?'

"'Oh, well,' said I, 'why don't you get a demijohn of whisky and keep it in the house?'

"He shook his head sadly.

"'Whusky,' he said, 'won't keep.'"

Grape-Nuts

Perfectly Cooked, Ready to Serve, Delicious and Healthful

"The ordinary breakfast cereal cooked a few minutes in a half-hearted way will in time weaken the stomach of anything short of an ox.

"Any preparation of wheat or oats put into water that is below the boiling point and cooked as mush is usually served, remains a pasty, indigestible mass. The cells are tough and unopened. In addition, the stomach of a person sensitively constituted refuses to do anything with the pasty mass. It is sent into the second stomach, the Duodenum, where in consequence of the long time of the first process of digestion, is fermented and soured. As an eminent medical man pertinently states, the stomachs of half the people going about the streets are about in the condition of an old vinegar barrel.

"Intestinal dyspepsia is the direct consequence of such feeding."

Knowledge of these facts and a wide experience in the preparation and use of cereals brought out the product known as Grape-Nuts, manufactured with special reference to having the nitrogenous and starchy parts of the grains, of which the food is composed, perfectly and scientifically cooked at the factory, ready for immediate use and therefore not subject to the manipulations of any cook, good or bad.

The starch of the grains, changed to grape-sugar, can be seen glistening on the little granules and gives forth a delicate sweetish taste, very palatable.

Children and adults obtain fine results from the use of Grape-Nuts food. It is so perfectly adapted to the wants of the human body and so easily digested that many cases are on record of nursing babes being fed very successfully on it. "There's a Reason."

PARLOR-BRED PIGS

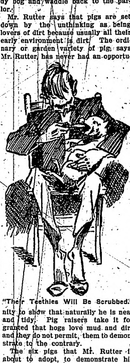
OHIO MAN IS TO TEST A NEW THEORY.

Believes That the Animal Is Naturally a Lover of Cleanliness—But Has Never Been Given a Chance to Prove It.

R. K. Rutter of Lexington, O., has leaped into fame at one jump by announcing that hereafter he is going to keep the pig in the parlor, says the Chicago Record-Herald. Mr. Rutter, from advices from the correspondent at Lexington, is a man with a theory. His idea as he has evolved it is that pigs are naturally lovers of cleanliness, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding.

He will attempt to prove his theory by taking six tiny little porkers and bringing them to bright adult age in his parlor. They will never know the contamination of the muddy slough and the pen. They will be raised as real ladies and gentlemen and then turned loose to choose their future career in the parlor or in the muddy bog. Mr. Rutter is willing to bet dollars to doughnuts that the swine will give the merry "oof-oof" to the muddy bog and waddle back to the parlor.

Mr. Rutter says that pigs are set down by the unthinking as being lovers of dirt because usually all their early environment is dirt. The ordinary or garden variety of pig, says Mr. Rutter, has never had an opportunity to show that naturally he is neat and tidy. Pig raisers take it for granted that hogs love mud and dirt and they do not permit them to demonstrate to the contrary.



"Their Teethies Will Be Scrubbed."

The six pigs that Mr. Rutter is about to adopt, to demonstrate his parlor raising theory, are to be plucked from the pen before they even get their young eyes open to see the vile dirt lying all about them.

They are to be hurriedly rushed to the parlor, and when for the first time they look about they will see nothing but Turkish rugs and silk sofa cushions and beautiful pictures.

Mr. Rutter is going to surround his merry little guests with only the most attractive environment. Coming to maturity as they will, surrounded always with the gentle environment of a cultured home, Mr. Rutter does not believe that his piggies will after they are grown up ever depart from it. He is going to give them a nice hot bath with perfumed toilet soap and Florida water every day. They will have their little bristles brushed with military hair brushes, and their teethies will be diligently scrubbed with an ivory-handled toothbrush.

Each little pig will have his hoofies manicured three times a week, and wear pink ribbons on its tail. Any little pig that doesn't keep its hair parted and its snout clean will be in disgrace and can't eat at the table for a week.

For Recreation Mr. Rutter will lead the piggies for a walk every afternoon on the graveled path in front of the house. After they are old enough to sit up and notice things intelligently, he is going to take them out in his automobile. Every night Mr. Rutter will gather the little piggies around him and read to them from Bacon, and Barrow, and Swinerton, and other standard and appropriate authors and sing to them such dear old songs as "Higglety Pigglety" and "Ah Certenly Do Lub Ham," and give little talks from such subjects as "The Pen Is Mightier Than the Sword" and "Cheer Up, There Are Many Hogs with Only Two Legs."

For diet the Rutter swine will not be fed in a vulgar trough. They will eat sterilized food from chemically cleaned plates and wear nice little sterilized bibs so as not to spill food on their clean little feet so that visitors might call them dirty little pigs.

Gnawed Way Out of Prison.

A burglar named Schaarschmidt, in prison at Gera, deliberately set to work to gnaw through a thick oaken beam in front of his cell window. It was a work of seven weeks. The fragments of wood which were torn away with his teeth he replaced with chewed bread until the beam was almost gnawed through.

A final smashing noise was heard by the wardens, but before they could appeal Schaarschmidt had escaped.—London Chronicle.

Owes Life to Suspenders.

It is not often that a man owes his life directly to the strength of his suspenders. A young Alpine climber from Geneva does, however. He was coming down the Plan Aiguille near Chamounix when he slipped and fell over a cliff. He caught in a tree after falling 300 feet and a branch caught his suspenders and held him there. Otherwise he would have been dashed to pieces.

Poor Paint is Expensive

If one is rich enough to repaint his buildings every year for the pleasure of having a change of color scheme, the quality of the paint used may cut little figure. But if it is desirable to cut the painting bills down to the least amount possible per year, it is of the utmost importance that the paint be made of Pure White Lead and the best of Linseed Oil. STRIKE ON IRON RANGE

Leader Advises the Use of Guns.

Duluth, Aug. 3. — One working day has passed since operations on the range, following the settlement of the ore dock strike, were begun by the United States Steel corporation and the independent mines, and no serious disorder was reported. The industrial sky over the range is not cloudless, however, for the sullen attitude of the followers of the Western Federation of Miners indicate an attitude of desperation, which was somewhat intensified by a vitriolic address delivered by Petriella, the strike leader, in which, while counseling peace, he advocated the use of guns to maintain what he said was their right to sell their labor where they could to the best advantage.

Advises Violence.

In this address Petriella gave the governor twenty-four hours in which to "grant the men justice," at the end of which time he advised the men to be "ready to strike the head off any man who tries to crush you; if not as American citizens, do it as human beings." Whether at the end of twenty-four hours anything will come of this is awaited with anxiety and the officials are prepared. All of the special guards who have been in Duluth during the past few days were rushed to the range. It was said that 250 men were in the party and they will augment Sheriff Bates' force of deputies in case there is any trouble.

Believe End Is Near.

Duluth, Aug. 3. — While disquieting reports are constantly being sent in from towns on the Mesaba range there is a general feeling in Duluth that the end of the struggle is near at hand, and that inside of a week or eight days everything will be moving along with accustomed regularity. Heavily loaded ore trains came down all day yesterday to the docks at Two Harbors, Oneota and Allouez. The fact that the ore dock strike has been ended paves the way for the end of the miners' strike, for as long as the corporation is able to ship ore it is not believed there will be any further interruption to traffic.

Has Salutary Effect.

The promulgation of Gov. Johnson's proclamation, according to advices received from the range towns, has had a salutary effect, and the strikers, most of them at least, are firmly convinced that if the rules as laid down by the state's chief executive are willfully violated by them, the governor will keep his word and send the troops there immediately. Arrangements have been made whereby two local companies of state guards may be summoned on a moment's notice.

Bids Strikers to Keep the Peace.

St. Paul, Aug. 4.—A working agreement for preserving peace and order on the iron range was outlined in a proclamation issued by Gov. Johnson yesterday. The governor makes it clear that any intimidation or attempts to prevent those who desire from working in the mines, or any trespassing on private property, will be met with the calling out of the troops. On the other hand, the governor wants it understood that the miners have a perfect right as citizens to meet in public halls to discuss the situation, and while parading will not be tolerated, ordinary groups of strikers are to be allowed on the public streets and highways without molestation.

The governor's action in issuing the strike proclamation was largely based on the report of the investigating committee appointed by him to investigate the situation. The committee, consisting of T. D. O'Brien, Harvey Grimmer and C. H. Day, spent a day on the ranges and obtained the views of the strikers and disinterested citizens on the situation. The general feeling seemed to be that the strike would be a peaceful one, despite the fact that Petriella, the strike leader, had instructed the strikers to use violence if necessary to prevent interruption of their meetings.

This Week Will See End of Strike.

Duluth, Aug. 6. — A News-Tribune special from Hibbing says:

"The third week of the strike on the Mesaba range, which was engineered by the Western Federation of Miners, probably will see the last of the conflict. It is believed by those who have been constantly in touch with the situation that the next seven days will witness the culmination of the struggle. The crisis is past, and no further trouble of a serious nature is expected unless something unforeseen occurs."

The Western Federation of Miners has not given up the fight, and the statements in the foregoing must not be construed as indicating that it will abandon the purposes which gave birth to the strike.

Miners Not Disheartened.

On the contrary, the leaders are entering into the third week of the labor difficulty with renewed vigor.

The federation on the range is now led by the national secretary, C. E. Mahoney. He has prepared several thousand circulars which will be given to every miner, urging them to continue the conflict with the Steel corporation. He advances the claim that the federation is gathering new recruits every day. The federation is preparing for a big labor conflict two years hence, following the presidential election.

About 2,000 miners, it is expected, will return to work Monday morning.

Quiet Now Prevails.

Within a few days all of the open pits of the Steel corporation will be shipping 80 per cent of the ore mined by that corporation on the Mesaba range. The independents are working all of their open pits.

In the Eveleth-Sparta-Virginia district the miners will resume work in the underground mines. The situation on the Mesaba range east of Chisholm is more satisfactory than in the Hibbing and Chisholm districts, and nearly all of the local deputies have been discharged from further service. In order to maintain the peaceful status that prevails at the Hibbing-Chisholm district, deputies imported by the United States Steel corporation, under Sheriff Bates, will remain on duty.

Strikers Are Landed in Jail.

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 7. — Twenty-three strikers were arrested at Hibbing last night, charged with threatening to blow up an Austrian boarding house. There was a clash between the deputies and the men, but all were landed in jail.

Two strikers were placed under arrest at Eveleth also, charged with intimidation and were lodged in jail pending their preliminary hearing which was set for 11 a. m. Tuesday.

Approve Proclamation.

Printed proclamations have been distributed among the strikers at Eveleth by the Eastern Federation of Miners, approving the proclamation of Gov. Johnson, and commanding obedience to its mandates.

The printed slips are addressed in bold type to the "strikers," and the proclamation is prefaced by the announcement: "His excellency, the governor of the State of Minnesota, has issued the following proclamation, which henceforth shall govern your actions, as we expect it will rule the actions of our opponents in the industrial field."

Citizens Patrol Streets.

Alarmed by the reports that the strikers would take advantage of the fact that the special deputies had been released, Chief of Police Kent spent several hours yesterday delivering personal summons to each of the 125 citizens who had been previously deputized for guard duty. The result was that when the people of Eveleth awoke yesterday morning they found the streets heavily patrolled, and on all of the roads leading to the mines there were lines of deputies armed with guns, just as they had been during the troublous times of last week.

Were Warned Not to Work.

Eveleth, Minn., Aug. 7.—The latest episode in connection with the strike is the verdict of guilty rendered against Jian Inthart and Matt Petric yesterday afternoon by Judge Prince on charges of attempting to intimidate Anton Laurich and Jake Greber and causing them to abstain from working for the Oliver Iron Mining company, acting upon the advice of John D. Mahanny of the Western Federation of Miners. Notice was given by Attorney J. C. McGilvery that the cases would be appealed to the district court.

On one complaint Inthart was given a fine of $100 or ninety days in the county jail, and on the same complaint Petric was given $25 or thirty days. On the second complaint Inthart was fined $50 and Petric was acquitted.

Jake Greber, Anton Laurich, Joe Lushin, Joe Hren and George Drobnich were the witnesses for the state. All said the defendants went into Laurich's house on Sunday afternoon and asked them if they worked Saturday. The men men said they did work and would work again that night. Then the prisoners told them to "look out for their hides," or words to that effect, in the Austrian language.

County Attorney Norton held that this constituted a threat under the law and Judge Prince by his decision showed that he coincided with this view.

Keep Up Fight for Two Years.

Duluth, Aug. 7. — Teofila Petriella, leader of the Western Federation of Miners, arrived in Duluth last evening.

"We have not been getting a squre deal on the Mesaba range, and we propose to continue this strike if it takes two years," he said. "We are bound to win in the end."

HURLED FROM TRAIN DIES.

Man Thrown From Platform Gets Fatal Injuries.

Monroe, Wis., Aug. 4.—Edward Flannery of Argyle died at Brownton yesterday from injuries received in being pitched down a high embankment while riding on the platform of a Milwaukee road passenger train. Farmers who heard him calling for help found him two hours later. Both legs were broken, and his head, back and hip were badly injured.

HAIRPIN PIERCES BRAIN.

Iowa Girl May Recover From Peculiar Accident.

Atlantic, Iowa, Aug. 4.—While Miss May Nane of Noble township was playing with a number of girls in the yard she bumped her head against a post with sufficient force to drive a common wire hairpin into her skull to the depth of two inches, penetrating the brain. She was unconscious for three hours, but it is thought she will recover.

SUICIDE IS CAUSED BY GRIEF

MAN, ONCE CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR OF PENNSYLVANIA, KILLS SELF.

Pittsburg, Aug. 8.—George Wallace Delamater, once candidate for governor of Pennsylvania, and who served as state senator from Crawford county from 1887 to 1890, committed suicide by shooting yesterday in his office. Occupants of neighboring offices in the Diamond National Bank building found him dead with a bullet hole in his right temple.

Grief over the death of his father, George B. Delamater, at Meadville, Pa., on May 6, and the sudden death of his son, James Scott Delamater, in June at Collensville, Pa., are believed to be the causes of the suicide. Members of the family say that Delamater had become morbid with grief.

Delamater was connected with the Prudential Life Insurance company and leaves a comfortable fortune. He was heavily insured.

As far back as the seventeenth century the family from which he was descended had taken active part in public affairs.

TURKS TAKE TEN GIRLS.

Christian Village Is Shelled and 90 Persons Killed.

Teheran, Aug. 8. — Turkish troops which recently crossed the northwest frontier of Persia are marching on Urumiah, burning and devastating villages along their route. The Christian village of Mevan has been shelled and ninety persons, including many women and children, were killed. Ten girls were carried off. A panic prevails at Urumiah. Persia has asked the assistance of the Russian foreign office to secure a settlement of her frontier dispute with Turkey. The original delimitation of the Turko-Persian frontier was made by Russian and English surveyors in the '60s.

WITH GOVERNOR IN RATE FIGHT

ALABAMA LEGISLATURE STANDS SOLIDLY BEHIND GOV. COMER.

WILL ENFORCE NEW FARE LAW

ARKANSAS HAS TROUBLE—LIVE STOCK AND WHEAT RATES CUT.

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 9.—It is given out by the members of the legislature that in case an extra session is called the members will stand solidly behind Gov. Comer in his fight for enforcement of the new railroad legislation. The evident intention of the governor to hold that the passenger fare law, which has been enjoined by the United States court, is being violated, and to encourage arrests upon it, indicates the possibility of conflict between the state and the federal courts even to a greater extent than was expected.

Gov. Comer yesterday gave out a statement in which he says he is standing out for the 2 1-2 cent fare bill.

"Every time a ticket is sold for more than 2 1-2 cents a mile the roads violate the law, and the person selling the ticket commits a misdemeanor," he says. "It is the duty of every court to so charge the jury and the duty of every solicitor to make out a case. I have told Col. Russell, representing the Southern railway, that, with his reputation for fairness, I shall expect him to realize and concede that the railroads must obey the laws the same as any other person."

Trouble in Arkansas.

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 8.—Assistant Secretary of State McHaney has not received official notice of the issuance of an injunction by Judge Van Deventer at St. Paul preventing the state from revoking the charter of the Rock Island railroad in Arkansas, and says he cannot take action in revoking a license now without being in contempt of court, the same as though he had received notice of an injunction.

Attorney General Kirby notified McHaney yesterday that he can revoke the charter immediately without being in contempt, as the Rock Island has operated the road since the passage of the Wingo act without complying with the law and has failed to file its charter and pay the fees. Furthermore, the Rock Island company, in defiance of the state law, has removed its cause to the federal court.

The attorney general urges the assistant secretary to revoke the charter before the injunction arrives.

Cuts Wheat Rates.

Washington, Aug. 8.—An order was made by the interstate commerce commission in a decision handed down by Commissioner Harlan yesterday directing that beginning Sept. 15 next the through rate on wheat from points in Nebraska to Pacific coast terminals shall not be more than 65 cents per 100 pounds. The rate now in force on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy is 75 cents per 100 pounds.

The commission holds that any rate over the route in question in excess of 65 cents per 100 pounds is unreasonable.

Cut Rates in Wisconsin.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 8. — Sweeping reductions in the rates for shipping live stock were ordered by the Wisconsin railroad commission in a decision announced yesterday.

The reductions are of various degrees, but the average will not be less than 20 per cent.

THEFT SYSTEM CHARGED.

Elevator Manager Accused of Regular Embezzlements.

Mauston, Wis., Aug. 8.—Otto Guenther, manager of an elevator here, has been arrested on a charge of embezzlement. The amount involved in the charge is said to be about $1,000. Guenther had charge of the buying and selling of the elevator, and it is alleged that he held out a portion of the proceeds. The alleged irregularities are said to have extended almost throughout the period of his employment.

DARROW CAST OUT BY MINERS

ATTORNEY WHO CONDUCTED THE HAYWOOD TRIAL IS NOT SATISFACTORY.

Denver, Aug. 8.—Clarence S. Darrow, leading counsel for William D. Haywood in the trial at Boise which resulted in his acquittal, has been dismissed from the service of the Western Federation of Miners.

He will not appear in behalf of Pettibone, whose trial is set for Oct. 1, nor will he act for Moyer if the latter is ever brought to trial.

Succeeding Mr. Darrow as leading counsel will be the law firm of Richardson & Hawkins, composed of E. F. Richardson, Mr. Darrow's associate in the recent trial, and H. N. Hawkins, who is rated as one of the shrewdest criminal lawyers in the Rocky mountain region.

The cause of Darrow's summary dismissal had not been made known, but he and Mr. Richardson disagreed violently several times during the Haywood trial.

FILL BRAKEMEN'S PLACES.

Leading Citizens of Colorado Town Keep Trains Going.

Central City, Colo., Aug. 8.—Ten of the most prominent citizens did duty as brakemen on trains to avert a fuel famine which would close the mines at this point. They took the places of men affected by labor troubles with the Colorado & Southern railroad. The men of the Denver & Rio Grande road are formulating demands for an increase in wages, which if made may result in a tie-up which will affect every railroad in the West. Many mines already are closed, owing to inability to get their product handled.

HERDER IS FOUND DEAD.

Is Believed to Have Fallen Into Water Hole With Horse.

Twin Butte, N. D., Aug. 8. — John Sutherland, a sheep herder, who had been working on a ranch north of Wibaux, suddenly disappeared last week and his dead body has just been found in a water hole. It is surmised that while Sutherland was watering his horse the animal slipped and fell into the hole, falling on the man and injuring him so badly that he was unable to get out and was drowned.

AUTOMOBILE KILLS TWO.

One Other Probably Fatally Injured in Accident at Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Aug. 8.—Two Milwaukee men were killed, one fatally injured and one slightly hurt. Ald. Kuschbrecht was killed instantly and George Poss, chauffeur, died on arrival at the hospital, the result of an automobile accident at Brookfield corners early yesterday, the automobile containing the four men going into a ditch.

SLEEPWALKING FATAL.

Man Married Less Than Month Falls Through Trap Door.

Council Bluffs, Iowa, Aug. 8.—Guy Kelley of Missouri Valley was found dead at his home yesterday afternoon, his corpse being discovered by his bride of less than a month. Kelley was a somnambulist, and it is believed that while in a somnambulistic state he arose from his bed and fell through a trap door to the floor below.

THE NEW YORK LIFE'S PROGRAM.

Economy, Publicity and the Paramount Interest of Policyholders.

President Kingsley, of the New York Life Insurance Company, says, in an address to the policyholders, that his plan of administration involves these points:

"First: Strict economy; second, the widest, fairest and fullest publicity; third, the continuance of the New York Life as a world-wide institution; fourth, such an amount of new business under the law as we can secure while practicing intelligent economy, and enforcing the idea that the interest of the policy-holder is paramount."

Allowances Necessary.

"Why does marriage seem to dispel so much of the glamor of affection?" asked the sentimental young woman.

"Well," answered Miss Cayenne, "perhaps a woman doesn't make sufficient allowance. It must be very hard for a man to seem as graceful and heroic when advocating household economics as when he is offering to lay the world at your feet."—Washington Star.

FEARFUL BURNING SORES.

Boy in Misery 12 Years—Eczema in Rough Scales, Itching and Inflamed—Cured by Cuticura.

"Cuticura has put a stop to twelve years of misery I passed with my son. As an infant I noticed on his body a red spot and treated same with different remedies for about five years, but when the spot began to get larger I put him under the care of doctors. Under their treatment the disease spread to four different parts of his body. During the day it would get rough and form like scales. At night it would be cracked, inflamed and badly swollen, with terrible burning and itching. One doctor told me that my son's eczema was incurable, and gave it up. I decided to give Cuticura a trial. When I had used the first box of Cuticura Ointment there was a great improvement, and by the time I had used the second set of Cuticura Remedies my child was cured. He is now twelve years old, and his skin is as fine and smooth as silk. Michael Steinman, 7 Sumner Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., April 16, 1905."

WHERE WAS THE SLEEK CAT?

Pound of Meat Was There, but the Kitten Was Missing.

A certain family living in one of the suburbs of New York owned a kitten of which they were very fond. When they went away for the summer it was decided after various consultations to leave the kitten with the butcher, on condition that he should treat it with the greatest kindness and give it about a pound of meat a week, besides its daily allotment of cream.

Some weeks after the family had closed the house for the summer the nominal head of the family visited the suburb to attend to some business matters and decided that he might as well drop in at the butcher's to see how the kitten was getting along.

He found the kitten curled up in the corner asleep and apparently at peace with the world, but, far from being sleek and well fed in appearance, it was so thin that he felt constrained to call the attention of the butcher to the fact.

"Do you mean to say you have fed that cat a pound of meat during the last week?" he asked.

"I certainly have," responded the butcher.

"Put him on the scales and see how much he weighs."

The butcher did as requested and gently deposited the kitten in the balance. The pointer indicated exactly one pound.

"Well, grunted the owner of the animal, "there's the pound of meat all right, but where's the cat?"

SOAKED IN COFFEE

Until Too Stiff to Bend Over.

"When I drank coffee I often had sick headaches, nervousness and biliousness much of the time, but when I went to visit a friend I got in the habit of drinking Postum.

"I gave up coffee entirely and the result has been that I have been entirely relieved of all my stomach and nervous trouble.

"My mother was just the same way. We all drink Postum now, and without coffee in the house for 2 years, we are all well.

"A neighbor of mine, a great coffee drinker, was troubled with pains in her side for years and was an invalid. She was not able to do her work and could not even mend clothes or do anything at all where she would have to bend forward. If she tried to do a little hard work she would get such pains that she would have to lie down for the rest of the day.

"At last I persuaded her to stop drinking coffee and try Postum Food Coffee and she did so and has used Postum ever since; the result has been that she can now do her work, can sit for a whole day and mend and can sew on the machine and she never feels the least bit of pain in her side, in fact, she has got well and it shows coffee was the cause of the whole trouble.

"I could also tell you about several other neighbors who have been cured by quitting coffee and using Postum in its place." "There's a Reason." Look in pkg. for the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville."

HUGE SCANDAL IS CHARGED TO ROAD

OLD MANAGEMENT OF D. & H. ACCUSED OF $7,000,000 IRREGULARITIES.

DROVE WILCOX TO SUICIDE

STOCKHOLDERS KICK AND DIRECTORS INQUIRE INTO REASON FOR UNREST.

New York, Aug. 8.—Irregularities aggregating over $7,000,000 are charged against the old management of the Delaware & Hudson company. It is believed that David H. Wilcox, the late president, was driven to commit suicide by fear of impending exposure. Stockholders of the company will be treated to some startling disclosures concerning the past management of the company if results of an investigation into the concern's financial methods recently made by a committee of directors is ever submitted to them in full.

Made Vague Denials.

Charges were made against the old management at the last annual meeting of the company on May 14, when dissatisfied shareholders asserted that they had not been advised as to many transactions which had been carried out by the officers, but their demands for explanation met with vague and general denials of the charges presented.

Guilty of Irregularities.

The row, however, at which the old régime virtually was ousted, stirred up the incoming executives to such an extent as to lead them to prosecute a rigid investigation of the financial operation of the company within the last few years, and the result of this substantially confirms the insinuations made by the protesting shareholders at the May meeting.

The facts disclosed leave little or no doubt that the former management was guilty of irregularities.

HAVE OLD SETTLERS' DAY.

Beltrami County Fair Program Sets Aside Sept. 26.

Bemidji, Minn., Aug. 8.—The preliminary arrangement for holding the Beltrami county fair in this city on Sept. 26-28 are about completed, and the premium list and program are nearly ready.

It has been decided to give over Thursday, Sept. 26, the first day of the fair, to the Old Settlers' association of Beltrami county, and the officers of that organization will co-operate with the fair management in making the opening day a big success.

CRUSADE VICTIM ACCUSED.

Ex-Policeman Is Held for Murder of Newspaper Man.

Helena, Ark., Aug. 8.—Former Policeman Ben Curruth was arrested here yesterday, charged with the murder of J. M. Scott, city editor of the Helena World, Sunday morning. Curruth denies the charge, but the police claim to have strong circumstantial evidence against him. Curruth was a member of the police force at the time the entire force was compelled to resign upon the demand of the citizens' mass meeting, following charges of graft by the World.

EXPERTS TO SEE DULUTH.

German Electrical and Railroad Men Will Sail Aug. 12.

Berlin, Aug. 8.—The commission of electrical experts and railroad officials appointed to study American city and interurban transportation facilities will sail for New York Aug. 12. The commission will visit the United States, Canada and Mexico. The trip will last three months. The commission will sail for home from Vera Cruz, Mexico. During their trip the experts will visit Madison, Wis., Duluth, Colorado Springs and Spokane Falls.

Faribault Merchant Bankrupt.

Faribault, Minn., Aug. 8.—Application in voluntary bankruptcy has been made by C. Schuleine, a clothing dealer of this city. The matter has been referred to R. G. Sanford, referee in bankruptcy. The schedule shows liabilities of $3,190.56; assets, inclusive of exemptions, $1,153.50.

Says Man Sold Buggy Not His Own.

Northfield, Minn., Aug. 8. — G. A. Brown was brought to Northfield yesterday from Faribault by the sheriff on a warrant sworn out by Ald. Roman Berke, who claimed he was the man who defrauded him last spring by selling a buggy owned by a Farmington liveryman.

Drowned While Racing.

Defiance, Ohio, Aug. 8.—While racing on the Maumee river yesterday the canoes of Earl Krotz and Victor Mansfield became entangled. Both young men were thrown into the water and drowned.

Man of Eighty-five Ends His Life.

Huron, S. D., Aug. 8.—Henry Sunderman, aged eighty-five years, who lived with his son on a farm near Cavour, committed suicide by cutting his throat. No reason can be assigned for the act.

Boost for St. Hilaire.

It's now John D. Rock-fallen since Judge Landis took a fall out of the Standard Oil company. His fine was in touch with his feelings for the company.

A Bemidji citizen last spring set out some tomato plants in a box in which had been shipped some whiskey, and since the plants have grown and ripened it was found that each tomato contained a half-pint of the very best of distilled whiskey. Wonder if the government would have him up for bootlegging were he to sell his tomatoes.

Down at Crookston recently a couple got married which take the preserves for being close. The man had a justice of the peace perform the ceremony, suggested a promenade around the town in lieu of a wedding trip, bought five cents' worth of stick candy for a present, and then hinted that they save the candy for the baby.

Kasson Republican: The big department stores are to make one grandstand effort to secure the passage of a parcels post system by congress. It is about as just as it is for the government to single out one line of business—that of the printers—and enter into competition with them. The parcels post is wrong; so is the other, still you will not find many country merchants protesting against the government printing envelopes at wholesale prices. It makes a difference whose ox is gored, doesn't it?

Bro. Eastman does us an injustice when he states through the columns of his Thief River Falls News that the Great Northern people tore up the road between Wylie and this point. The track torn up was the Hague branch, near Halstad, while the Wylie branch is still open for traffic, or at least trains have been running thereon for the past week. But then we could expect nothing more from the up-river brother this week when we take into consideration that he has all the pretty gals who are attending the Red Lake county fair to care for.

Standard Fined $29,240,000.

Judge Kenesaw M. Landis has gone and done it—fined the Indiana oil company whose stock is owned by the Standard Oil company of New Jersey $29,240,000 for taking rebates on shipments.

This is the record fine of the world. To pay it would require just 60 per cent of the Standard Oil company's earnings for the last year. The money represented in this fine is worth a fortune of $2,000,000 a year at 7 per cent interest. The principal is as much as the United States appropriated last year for interest on the national debt. So much for the financial aspects of the world's greatest fine. What will be its moral and legal effect?

Morally, it blasts the Standard Oil company of New Jersey. It has been a secret lawbreaker, and has invited, by its course of conduct, the heaviest penalty the court could inflict. There were no extenuating circumstances apparently, or the judge should have taken notice of them in fixing the fine. In the absence of such circumstances, and only in their absence, would he be justified in imposing this record-breaking fine on a corporation.

The moral effects are blasting. The Standard Oil company of New Jersey has lost what little public repute it had. The mask of doubt has been torn away. It stands revealed. It has been defying the law like a common felon.

What of the legal effect? To be sure, the Standard Oil company will resist the collection of this stupendous sum of money. It may be a long time in litigation before it is collected. Nevertheless the United States must persevere until the check which settles this fine is drawn and cashed, because the policy of stopping rebating by fines is on trial. Heretofore the trusts and railroads which have been fined have laughed. It remains to be seen whether the laugh is not today on the other side. If the Standard Oil company parts with its money in payment of this fine the fact will have a sobering effect upon others educated in the same school of lawlessness with the Standard. The fine system may justify itself after all.—Minneapolis Journal.

Write Things Down.

All persons find their memory defective in some particular. If it is not dates that one forgets it is names, and the best help to memory is to write down the things one is apt to forget. Not that the memorandum is ever looked at again—but the act of writing a thing down is likely to impress it on the memory. Write it down somewhere now that you should order a case of golden grain belt beer, or, better still, do it now before you have a chance to forget it. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson, Crookston.

Willed Away the Laundry.

When a perfectly strange woman came for the soiled clothes the mistress of the house came to the conclusion that her own laundress had simply employed a new messenger and made no comment on the circumstances.

But when two weeks had gone by and still the old laundress, known as Susan, no last name having been mentioned, did not appear the mistress of the house felt that she would be lacking in her duty if she did not make some inquiry about her.

"Where is Susan?" she asked the tall and bony structure who came for the clothes.

"She has gone to Pennsylvania to live, yessum," returned this person, with composure. "She went to Pennsylvania some time ago, an' she lef' goodby fer yuh, but s' long es yuh didn't seem tuh notis I didn't say nuffin'."

"But why didn't she come and tell me and allow me to make some arrangements about my laundry?" asked Susan's ex-mistress.

"Well, she lef' yo' clothes tuh meh. She made a will an' lef' dem clothes tuh meh. Wese allus been good frien's, and so w'en she lef' she say I may wash yo' clothes long ez I wush tuh, an' dere wuz no use worryin' yuh bout it, now was dere?"

To which moderate and sensible question the mistress of the house could only remain speechless. — Baltimore News.

Satisfied Her Curiosity.

A certain south side lady has come to the conclusion that curiosity can no longer be indulged in with any degree of safety. One night she entertained a group of friends and at the moment of departure, when conversation always lags a trifle, her eye fell idly on a package carried by one of the men.

"What is it you have there?" she asked, with hardly a thought of what she was saying.

"Well," said another guest, springing forward, with mock indignation, "if he's going to be searched, I feel that all of us should be subjected to the same indignity."

"Oh, I," commenced the hostess, her face flushing—"I give you my word that"—

"I can prove the ownership of this watch," cried one man.

"This was my mother's ring," explained another. And so it went down the line until the laugh came just in time to save the life of the hostess.

Hereafter one of her guests can walk off with the grand piano and be free from remark.—Kansas City Independent.

Worth the Difference.

A big jobber sent an aspiring young man on the road to open up a new territory where a new railroad was going through. All the towns being new, there were no hotel accommodations, and it was necessary for the salesman to secure meals and lodging at restaurants, etc., where the price was 25 cents per meal. On looking over the expense account the manager noticed all meals charged at 50 cents.

"Look here, Charlie, I see you have charged us 50 cents per meal on your trip, and I am reliably informed that it is impossible to get a meal for more than 25 cents in your entire territory. How about it?"

"Well," said the salesman, "you are right. It did cost me but 25 cents per meal, but I tell you, sir, it's worth the other 25 to eat those meals."—New York Times.

How Tin Foil Is Made.

Tin foil, which is extensively used for wrapping tobacco, certain food products and other articles of commerce, is a combination of lead with a thin coating of tin on each side. First a tin pipe is made of a thickness proportionate to its diameter, proportion not given. This pipe is then filled with molten lead and rolled or beaten to the extreme thinness required. In this process the tin coating spreads simultaneously with the spreading of the lead core and continuously maintains a thin, even coating of tin on each side of the center sheet of lead, even though it may be reduced to a thickness of .001 inches or less.—American Inventor.

Her Disease.

One day Marjorie, aged three, wanted to play doctor with her sister. Marjorie was to be the "doctor" and she came to make a call on her sister, who made believe she was sick. "Do you want to know what you've got?" the doctor asked after a critical examination. "Yes," faintly assented the sick woman. "You've got dirty hands," said Marjorie, dropping in disgust the wrist on which she had been feeling the pulse.—Buffalo Commercial.

He Knew the Kind.

A small boy in Boston was rebuked by his father for swearing. "Who told you that I swore?" asked the bad little boy. "Oh, a little bird told me," said the father. The boy stood and looked out of the window at some sparrows which were chattering. "I know who told you," he said. "It was one of those damn sparrows."

The Rosetta Stone.

The Rosetta stone was found in 1799 by a French engineer officer in an excavation made near Rosetta. It has an inscription in three different languages, the hieroglyphic, the demotic and the Greek. It was erected 195 B. C. in honor of Ptolemy Epiphanes because he remitted the dues of the priestly body. The great value of the Rosetta stone lies in the fact that it furnished the key whereby the Egyptian hieroglyphics were deciphered.

A Poor Compliment.

Minister (on return from holiday)—Well, Danie, my good man, and how have things been going on in my absence? Daniel—Deed, sir, a' things been gaun on brawly. They say that you meenisters when ye gang frae hame aye tak guid care to send waur men than yoursel's to fill the poopit. But ye never dae that, sir!—Punch.

A Jingo.

"Father," asked little Rollo, "what is a jingo?"

"A jingo, my son, is a man who is firmly convinced that somebody other than himself ought to go out and whip somebody."—Washington Star.

A Sure Cure.

"I've cured my husband's insomnia."

"How did you do it?"

"Pretended I was ill, and the doctor left medicine which Henry was to give me every half hour all night long."

Not.

"Your foreman perspires freely, doesn't he?"

"Yes, he doesn't; his perspiration costs me $5 a day."—Houston Post.

Mrs. Hans Rolland and Miss Agnes were sightseers at the county fair at Thief River Falls on Thursday.

There will be services at the Swedish Lutheran church to-morrow forenoon at 10:30. Alex Sand, pastor.

Sam Hunt was in the city Monday as a representative for the Marshall-Wells Co. hardware house of Duluth.

Just think, we have had almost a week of fine weather—not a storm of any kind and only nice weather for the farmers to finish their haying.

County Auditor J. B. O'Brien was up from Red Lake Falls the first of the week, his mission being the inspection of a ditch out west of town.

Knute Kolstad has the contract for painting the village school house and he and a force of men are busy at work on the same hoping to get the job completed before the opening of the fall term of school.

Rev. Alex Sand will leave next Monday for Kenmare, N. D., where he will visit his father and his sister a few days.

Misses Olga Peterson and Lizzie Tibbezar, of Crookston, were guests at the B. E. Burkee home the fore part of the week.

The Wylie base ball team will cross bats with the locals on the St. Hilaire diamond on Sunday, Aug. 11. Turn out and root.

Dr. Spofford makes his next visit to St. Hilaire Sept. 8th, at Hotel Markham. Remember the date if troubled with your eyes.

Supt. Casper E. Bergh departed Thursday evening for Hendrum, whither he goes for a few weeks' visit ere the opening of the city schools.

M. L. Hanson.

Dr. J. E. Argue, dentist, of Red Lake Falls, will be in St. Hilaire on Wednesday of each week. Office with Dr. H. E. Nelson, over Hall's confectionery store.

Mr. and Mrs. K. O. Hovet, of Trail county, North Dakota, were the most welcome guests at the home of their son, Thos. Hovet, in this city over last Sunday.

Rev. Olaf Wangensteen conducted services last Sabbath at section 33, town of Mayfield. A large and appreciative audience was reported in attendance.

Mrs. R. C. Workman will entertain the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church at her home next Wednesday afternoon at the usual hour. All are most cordially invited.

Chas. Fellman, Hans Wilson, Knute Kolstad and Ole Branum drove up to Thief River Falls Thursday to attend the county fair and also to take in the sights about the city up river.

C. A. Nackbar was in the city the first of the week calling upon our hardware dealers. This office has a pleasant call to acknowledge, this gentleman and the editor both being from the same town.

Mrs. O. F. Post returned home Thursday morning from her extended visit among friends in Winnipeg. She was in the city during the fair and reports a large attendance and splendid attractions.

—A poor article is high at any price. When you buy flour see that the name Gold Medal is stamped on the bag, which means the best. You will find a good supply of Gold Medal flour at M. L. Hanson's.

The Four Leaf Clover land office has been treated to a new coat of paint the past week, which helps materially the appearance of the building. The company is doing a thriving business for a starter and we hope for them all kinds of success.

J. J. Soll was seen upon our streets the first of the week. He came down from his farm way up north to attend the Red Lake county fair, and while so near his former place of residence thought he would drop down and pay numerous old friends a brief visit.

Mrs. Geo. L. Austin and sister, Miss Myrtle McCullough, are enjoying the week as guests of Miss Cora Yark in Thief River Falls. They were accompanied to the city by the Misses Olga and Emma Hoff, who went up to attend the first day at the county fair.

A large addition has been added to the Crookston College this summer. The building is up-to-date in every respect and will now accommodate 500 students. The college catalog is just printed and you can get a copy free by writing to J. C. Sathre, Crookston, Minn.

Miss Clara Hoff, the efficient clerk in Jeglum & Co.'s general store will next week take a much needed vacation and visit friends and relatives at Albert Lea, this state, and also in Northwood, Iowa. During her absence Miss Olga Hoff will assist in taking care of the trade.

Please pardon us, but it has been impossible for us to get the names of all who have gone from here up to the county fair, and those whom we have missed we will give a special mention some of these weeks if they will but come forward and tell us something about their troubles.

The Rapp & Post general store has been neatly repainted the past week, and the general good appearance thereof has been greatly improved thereby. Were several other places of business to be repainted it would add greatly to the good appearance of our town. Who'll be next.

Mesdames F. and A. Satterberg are spending the week as guests of Mrs. Gus Fellman in Cass Lake. Adolph says it is rather lonesome for both his wife and mother to be away at the same time, and he has the sympathy of a number of other fellows whose wives have been away for the past two or three weeks. No names need be mentioned.

A beautiful grove in the new part of the Minnesota state fair grounds has been set apart as a camping ground for the fair, which opens on Monday, Sept. 2. A large number of commodious tents will be set up and will be rented for $2 for the entire fair week—a merely nominal charge for the cost of handling. Tickets entitling the individual to remain on the grounds during the week may be bought for $2. A family can camp very cheaply, as meals can be bought at low rates from the restaurants on the grounds or cooking can be carried on at the camp ground in a simple way. There is a supply of pure water and ample sanitary arrangements.

Numerous teams passed through the village Thursday enroute to Thief River Falls, and they joined by the St. Hilaire crowd would remind one of a circus procession. Our little city and the surrounding community has surely contributed her share of visitors to the county fair this year.

Justice O. H. Peters on Wednesday afternoon united in the holy bonds of matrimony Andrew Hanson, of Thief River Falls, and Miss Dora L. Lindahl, of this place. The Spectator joins with numerous friends in wishing the happy young couple much joy and happiness in the travels down life's rugged pathway, and may their lot be strewn with roses.

President C. L. Hansen, of the Merchants State Bank reports the sale of a Red Lake county farm the first of the week to Durand Christofer, of Howard Lake. We failed to learn whether or not Mr. Christofer would occupy the farm himself, but we hope to see a new resident ere long and one who will seek to make the best of his investment by the dairy route.

T. A. Johnson, representative for the Wright, Barrett & Stilwell paper house of St. Paul, was in the city the first of the week and favored this office with a call. We gave Mr. Johnson a fine order for paper stock and will now be in a position to supply your wants in the printing line on short notice, no matter what the order. We also print wedding stationery.

Are you planning in attending the state fair the first of next month? It will be well worth your while to go down and see sights that you had never before dreamed of and exhibits you would hardly think it possible to raise way up here in the north country. Everybody who can will be there and you should not fail to attend if it is possible to get away.

Rev. Olaf M. Wangensteen, pastor of the United Norwegian Lutheran church announces the following: Sunday, Aug. 11, evening services. Wednesday, Aug. 14, Young People's Society meets in the evening. Thursday, Aug. 15, the Ladies' Aid Society meets in the afternoon with Mrs. Forseen. Friday, Aug. 16, the Confirmation class meets in the church at 1 p. m.

Deputy Postmistress Miss Mary Hoff will take a month's vacation from her arduous duties as Uncle Sam's efficient assistant, commencing next Monday, and will spend the greater part of her time visiting among friends and relatives in North Dakota. She has surely earned her vacation and all patrons of the office will wish for her a pleasant trip and a jolly good time.

The picnic that should have been held at Andrew Soderberg's northeast of St. Hilaire last Sunday, had to be postponed a week on account of the rain and will be held to-morrow afternoon instead. All are invited. Those wishing conveyance free will be at Hotel Markham at 2 o'clock. Ice cream, coffee and cake will be served. A short program will be rendered, including a speech by Dr. Cephas Swanson.

—Prices on hats cut in two; $2.00 hats for $1.00 at M. L. Hanson's.

A. O. Letvig, the well man, has been busy the past week fixing the flows about town. The flow at the First State Bank corner is now running a fine stream and there will need be no more fixing done thereto for several months to come. St. Hilaire surely has an abundance of fine water with two flowing wells and several basins about the town. The basins are all supplied from the same underground river, but the flow does not reach the top of the ground.

We have received several subscription renewals the past week and still there are more to come in. How do you stand with the printer? Some of our subscribers remind us of Tom Jones, the man whom the Swede collector for the Fraternal Record had such a time. The Swede returned from an unsuccessful trip and told the boss that "Yim Yohnson say he vill pay when him sell his hogs; Yim Smit he vill pay when him sell his wheat, and Tom Yones say he vill pay in Yanuary." "Well," said the boss, "that is the first time Tom ever set a time to pay. Did he really say he would pay in January?" "Vell, aye tank so," said the Swede. "He say it been a colt day when you got dat money. I tank dat been in Yanuary."

Station Agent A. J. McFarland, who tendered his resignation as agent at this place for the Great Northern, has been given a supply in the person of J. N. Bielemeyer, who was transferred from Bagley. Mr. McFarland leaves this afternoon for a brief visit at the home of a sister in Illinois, and from there will go further south where he can enjoy the winter at its best—where one's summer suit will wear just as well during the winter as at any other time. Mr. Bielemeyer, the new agent, arrived in the city Wednesday and immediately took up his new duties as agent for our people. He comes well recommended, has a family, and has already taken up residence in the Patterson cottage at the corner of Broadway and Fourth street. While it is with regret we see "Mac" leave, still we extend to the new agent and his estimable wife our warmest welcome and trust they may enjoy their surroundings among us.

St. Hilaire is well represented at Thief River Falls this week, the attraction being the county fair. Those who have been in attendance report the fair far superior to that held the past year and say it is well worth a person's time to attend these gatherings. The exhibits were quite numerous and were products of which this country can well feel proud. The races were good and some extra fast time was made, and everything in general went to make the fair a success and the attraction one long to be remembered by those in attendance.

"Grandpa" K. O. Gigstad received the happy news Wednesday morning of the arrival of a bouncing baby boy at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Al Edstrom, in Princeton. The letter also conveyed the news that all concerned, the father as well, were getting along nicely. The Spectator joins with numerous friends in extending congratulations to the proud parents, while much sympathy is expressed for "Grandpa" Gigstad. At first he insisted on taking the first train for Princeton, but now he declares he is a hobby horse and wants them to bring the youngster here so he can give him the ride of his life. Well may Mr. Gigstad feel proud of his first grandson, for the pleasure is one not to be enjoyed by all of us.

Humor in Journalism.

Next to a million dollars a hearty laugh is about as pleasant a thing as one can have. Everybody really wants to laugh. No man and no newspaper can be really great without a sense of humor. The Chicago Record-Herald regards the promoting of smiles and laughter as a part of the legitimate mission of the press. For years the "Alternating Currents" column of S. E. Kiser in that paper has been a daily source of delight to its readers. The cartoons of Ralph Wilder on the first page also are designed to make people laugh—and to make them think as well. In fact, the humor of the Record-Herald, like its news columns, is always clean and kindly as well as amusing and entertaining. It affords a striking example of the right way to "tell the truth laughing."

Famous humorists contribute to the Sunday Magazine of The Record-Herald, with the popular novelists and celebrated writers on timely questions. Both text and illustrations are of the highest standard of periodical literature—the new idea in Sunday journalism perfected.

Catching Butterflies.

To catch butterflies you must reach out after them. As a rule you won't catch many in your hand. You must use a net. It is the net that scoops them in.

A hand reach in catching butterflies is no better than a handbill in catching business. It is the net that counts.

The net is the newspaper. This reaches out to all the people and scoops them in. Experience of several generations has shown that the newspaper is the best business bringer.

Take, for instance, this paper. (Most people take it.) An announcement in this paper goes into the homes of the people whom you must reach if you get the business you are after.

There is, indeed, a very much larger net that scoops in the business butterflies. It is stretched out not only over this community, but over every similar community in the land. It is the mail order net, made up of big catalogues and of advertisements in periodicals which are circulated broadcast to catch the unwary.

To prevent that great net—which is really an octopus with a thousand tentacles—from catching your trade away from you, wisdom suggests that you use your home net—the local newspaper.

Usually a word to the wise is sufficient.

If you want to keep your patronage or build it up, you must compete with the butterfly catchers from the outside.

The Dollar is the Butterfly. It has green wings, and is attractive to merchants in the big cities just as it is attractive to you.

If you would catch these pretty butterflies that are circulating around home, you must use the net that circulates around home.

TIRED BACKS.

The kidneys have a great work to do in keeping the blood pure. When they get out of order it causes backache, headaches, dizziness languor and distressing, urinary troubles. Keep the kidneys well and all these sufferings will be saved you. Mrs. S. A. Moore, proprietor of a restaurant at Waterville, Mo., says: "Before using Doan's Kidney Pills I suffered everything from kidney troubles for a year and a half. I had pain in the back and head, and almost continuous in the loins and felt weary all the time. A few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills brought great relief, and I kept on taking them until in a short time I was cured. I think Doan's Kidney Pills are wonderful."

Allowances Necessary.

"Why does marriage seem to dispel so much of the glamor of affection?" asked the sentimental young woman.

"Well," answered Miss Cayenne, "perhaps a woman doesn't make sufficient allowance. It must be very hard for a man to seem as graceful and heroic when advocating household economics as when he is offering to lay the world at your feet."—Washington Star.

First Japanese Railway Train.

The throttle of the first Japanese railway train was pulled by an American, Duncan McDonald, now a veteran in the employ of the Southern Pacific. That was thirty-five years ago, says the Railroad Man's Magazine, on the occasion of the completion of the narrow gauge line from Yokohama to Tokio, and McDonald had the honor of drawing the present mikado, then a young man of scarcely twenty.

New "Heat Veil."

The fire department of Cologne, Germany, has adopted as a protection to the faces of the men a newly invented "heat veil." The veil is made after the principle of a safety lamp, with double windows. It is composed of fibers of cane, which, as is known, possess the peculiar property of retaining water for a considerable length of time. The veil is dampened before being fastened to the fireman's ordinary brass helmet.

Children and Forestry

Massachusetts is trying to arouse her public school pupils to interst in forestry, and the state forester, F. W. Rane, has sent out to every school superintendent in the state a circular letter setting forth the desirability of further educating the children in caring for trees. He offers seedlings and seed of white pine, white ash, red spruce, beech, chestnut and acorn trees on payment of the actual expense of digging and express charges.

Brains are Built from certain kinds of FOOD
Try
Grape-Nuts

"America has become a land of nervous emotionalists, largely owing to our sins against the dietetic health laws of nature.

"Only outdoor exercise in a cold climate would enable vigorous individuals of our species to digest the viands forced upon alimentary organs enfeebled by sedentary occupations," wrote Dr. Felix Oswald.

Brain workers must have different food than laborers, because brain work uses up parts of the brain and nerve centers, while physical labor uses up other parts of the body.

Grape-Nuts, a food for brain workers, prepared by scientific food makers, is a pure, natural food made from selected parts of field grains known to contain the natural phosphate of potash and other elements required by the system in rebuilding and repairing the brain and nerve centers. This food is skillfully cooked at the factory and is ready to be served instantly with cream. At all first-class grocers and made by the Postum Co., at Battle Creek, Mich. Woman's Part in Educational Work

By Sadie American

Inadequate Educational Advantages Granted Women in the Past—Home and School Combine to Make Highest Type of Womanhood—The Dignity of Doing the Daily Task—Women Not Satellites, But Companions to Men—Women's Work in Kindergartens and Public Schools—Recreation an Important Educative Force—School Suffrage Granted to Women.

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

(Miss Sadie American has won a wide reputation through her connection with forward educational movements. As a member of the International Council of Women and of the National Council of Jewish Women she has taken a prominent part in the proceedings of those influential organizations. Though now a resident of New York, some of her most valuable and lasting work has been done in Chicago, where she was largely instrumental in establishing the system of vacation schools. Her work for municipal playgrounds for children also put in motion a movement which has had excellent results. Miss American's persistent efforts along these lines were due to her knowledge of the needs of the congested districts where she worked in the interests of poor women and to gain light on the grave problem of juvenile delinquency.)

With the onrolling tide of civilization woman finds herself carried into positions of responsibility and action she has not before occupied. Of the swelling waves none has risen higher than that of education, on whose crest she finds herself.

Looking back she finds—what? From time immemorial woman has been treated as a possession, a toy. She has been educated, when educated at all, to the end that she may please men. "Education," says Nicholas Murray Butler, "is the adaptation to environment and the development of power to modify environment." In the sense of the first half of the definition woman has been educated—"adapted to the environment"—dominated by the will and the wishes of man. As she has risen to heights of clearer vision or nobler ideas to which she has responded her education has been modified and broadened until to-day we see the second half of the definition being carried into effect and woman's education following along lines and in ways tending to develop power "to modify environment."

Individual men there have been always who have seen the part and place woman should have in education, but until their cumulative influence was felt their ideals could not be realized nor could their ideas be carried into effect. So have there been women always who, rising above their environment by individual effort, have gained for themselves and sometimes for others a broader education than was the rule of their day, and have disproved the contention that its effect was evil. But they have scarcely affected or accelerated the movement of education or had part or place in it until within the century just past.

It is, after all, in our own century and in our own country that our interest centers, not only because it is closest to us, but because so rapid has been the advance made therein that the foregoing centuries seem much farther away than the actual passage of years warrants their appearing.

Woman's part and place in education naturally divides itself into three lines—those of pupil, teacher and mother interested in the welfare of her children or influenced by that feeling of the mother spirit which, though perchance denied the joys of motherhood, must needs take up its duties.

Toward the end of the tenth century came the awakening of woman with the awakening of mankind to greater possibilities in and for men than had been dreamed of before. It was the individual who was being considered, the individual and his right, not the individual and his duties.

Lady Mary Mortley Montague wrote: "We are permitted no books but such as tend to the weakening and effeminating of our minds." And our own Abigail Adams says, in one of her letters: "It is fashionable to ridicule female learning." Both instancing the new attitude of dissatisfaction with existing conditions. The very use of the word "female" is itself an indication of the attitude toward the education of women. It was "female" as opposed to "male"—female education, female learning, female schools—always the sex difference uppermost in mind.

It was well into the second half of the nineteenth century before the woman replaced the female and, unhappily, wrote herself with a capital W. Perhaps it was necessary then—it is no longer so—and to-day, if we read the times aright, we may see the signs of a healthy reaction toward a world of men and women spelled with equal letters.

In the establishment of the common schools the thought of our fathers was that the boys might learn to read Bible, ballot and blue laws—the making of men was not the school's concern, nor was there need that it should be, for in the days when men were conquering the soil and subduing wild nature to their needs life itself was a finer schooling than any which books could give. It was the time for deeds, not words—the time when all were compelled to lead the strenuous life as the very price of existence—when it was a much simpler thing than it can be under the complex conditions of to-day.

The same conditions held good of women as of men; their life, too, was strenuous; they, too, needed to do—to do the simple tasks of daily living, to cook, to brew, to wash, to spin, to weave, to knit, to manage with care and economy affairs within the house while the men were conquering adverse conditions without. The school was supplemented by the training in the house which the girls got at their mother's side. Meager and inadequate as the provision for their education seems to us, it was not so entirely inadequate. At no time more than today have we realized that home and schools must combine—must again combine to make the highest type of woman; to-day, when we have added amply and more amply to schooling and when home training has fallen more and more into disuse. They erred on the one side, perhaps, in the past; we, on the other, and now that 100 years' experience has proved that pure mental training is inadequate to make the men and women pictured by those who advocated it as the panacea for the woes of the world, we are making increasing and unceasing efforts to give back to the girls something of the healthful sturdiness which comes from doing—doing with the hands which seem to have lost their usefulness, doing the common, necessary things of daily life—the cooking, washing, sewing—with the dignity with which they were done by the old colonial dames.

When the first dame's school was opened in New England a woman was hired to take children on her knee to teach them the alphabet, the New England primer, the shorter catechism and manners. No provision was made for girls over nine years old. From another report we glean that "girls were sent to school to learn proper decency of behavior, spelling and reading sufficient to read the Bible and, if parents deemed it necessary, needlework and knitting; to which was sometimes added music and drawing to complete a liberal education."

Toward the end of the eighteenth century girls over nine years old were given some little instruction in the boys' school by the masters during vacation, which was the wedge opening the way for the entrance of women to the higher schools and colleges. And there has been no time since when back of those who secured the new privileges there was not an ever-increasing number clamoring for these privileges themselves.

In the endowment, encouragement and establishment of higher schools for women men have seemed to play the greater part; they have been in the forefront of the movement; but it has gained force and momentum, as alone it could, from the awakened desire in the women themselves to get all they could of education. The leaders worked for women, but until women worked for themselves no great advance could be made.

One who saw the possibilities for women in the broader education was the Rev. Joseph Emerson of Byfield, Mass., whose influence was epoch-making and whose pupils became pioneers in the higher education of women. Notable was Mary Lyon, founder of Mount Holyoke seminary, established "that those of moderate means might have within their reach a more liberal education." The personality of the founder made it a center of wide and beneficent influence and it became the model for many schools. Another whose work was of signal importance was Mrs. Emma Willard, whose address to the New York legislature was farreaching in its results; sane, comprehensive, full of high common sense, it deserves careful attention to-day. In it Mrs. Willard asks "that institutions for girls be endowed by the state as well as for boys. . . . to keep the daughters of the rich from being frivolous and the daughters of the poor from being drudges." She laments that "the education of one sex has been to please the other." "Religion and morality teach that we are primary existences," she says, "that it is for us to move in the orbit of our duty around the lonely center of perfection; the companions, not the satellites of men." Her school established in Troy, N. Y., was the first of its kind to receive state aid, thus establishing the principle of the duty of the state to educate its girls as well as its boys and making a precedent which was to be largely followed. It became the model of a large number of institutions north and south, with a curriculum the most comprehensive of its time.

Epoch-making as was the establishment of these schools, they were but milestones on the road, though to many they seemed the very end. Their followers created the "finishing school," which in some parts of the country still drags on a weary existence, but on the whole may be said to be almost dead. Do we realize, I wonder, how short a time it is since all girls were "finished" at school? What a change of attitude from the "finishing school" to the college, whose members study that they may begin to learn! But the seminary at Troy was a tremendous beginning. Horace Mann, fighting for opportunities for women as "primary existences" on a par with men, had to leave the conservative east and go to the open-hearted west to found a school where men and women equally should have entrance—at Antioch, O.

Progress was slow for a time, but from 1869, when Boston university opened its doors to women, it has been rapid and to-day there is scarcely a college of note which has not made some provision for women to have the advantage of the service of its faculty and equipment, while the state colleges are open to women and men alike.

Naturally the increased advantage offered brought marked results to women as teachers, and teaching from being despised as a calling has come to be one of the most respected professions.

From time long past woman has had charge of the education of woman, but under the direction of man; women have taught women, but naturally could impart no more than they knew. But they gave much more than mere knowledge. Would any teacher to-day wish an epitaph finer than that of Mrs. Murray, found in a Cambridge church yard?

"This good school dame
No longer school must keep.
Which gives us cause
For children's sake to weep."

It was not until 1789 that women had legal recognition as teachers, could collect wages under the law. From this time on their recognition and standing rapidly improved. With increase of opportunity for learning there came naturally and inevitably an improvement in teacher and teaching.

Many causes have tended to the enormous increase in the number of women teachers—the establishment of the common schools and the consequent great demand for teachers; the fact that women could be had for a smaller wage than men and proved astonishingly satisfactory; the civil war, throwing many women on their own resources; the great increase in the number of schools opened due to immigration; compulsory education laws, public kindergartens, etc. Not only has there been a great increase in the number of women teachers, but they have increased in knowledge, in ability, in power, until from having been merely tolerated as teachers of their own sex alone, they to-day dominate the teaching field both of girls and boys and the generic term for teacher has changed from "he" to "she." They have risen from the place of mere teacher to positions requiring executive ability of the highest order. As organizers, principals, supervisors, superintendents and in city, county and state offices they are making a record of which they may well be proud.

They have a deep sense of the meaning of education and of the responsibility and dignity of their position as molders of the new woman of to-morrow. To-day teaching is not merely an avocation chosen to gain a livelihood but the chosen vocation of many who, seeking an outlet for their energies, see in it the means of highest usefulness to race and state. Women are in the vanguard of all advance movement, seeking to dignify and perfect to the highest the members of their profession that they may bring to those under their care the best and wisest service.

Receptiveness and synthesis are not only the inheritance of women through training but are her inherent qualities, the value of which has scarcely been fully understood until the last decade.

These qualities may account for the fact that she has been follower rather than leader in the field of education, her natural place that of cherishing mother in the mental as in the spiritual and physical world, taking in and fructifying in her bosom the ideals sent forth by the great prophets in education. It is a fact worth pondering that in these men there has always been largely developed the feminine quality of cherishing tenderness—need we instance more than Pestalozzi and Froebel, whose teachings women have done so much to put into actual practice? These men saw with the larger vision the happy land where men and women could develop the best that is in them to their own perfection and the service of their fellows; they started up the trail leading to it, stumbling over the rough places which women, following with deep faith and insight, moving surely and steadily on, have trodden, often with weary feet, into a path on which others may walk with ease.

The introduction of the kindergarten and its growth have been due almost entirely to women, in which teachers and mothers in fact and in spirit have joined. To the latter is due the founding of some of the earliest and the best manual training schools. Their greatest work, however, is done through the women's clubs, which have through organization concentrated and converted into power the forces formerly exerted here and there by individuals.

In order to use this power intelligently, women are studying the whole subject of education, preparing themselves to be proper guides, educating themselves that they may carry out Oliver Wendell Holmes' injunction to "educate" the children 70 years before they are born. They are giving themselves to child study and mothers' conferences, in which there may be much sentimentality and fad worship, but out of which comes much illuminating thought. They have been instrumental in establishing libraries, vacation schools and playgrounds, parental and truant schools, and in securing compulsory education, truancy laws and laws for the protection and education of dependent, defective and delinquent children; in connection with the last of which mention must be made of the Illinois juvenile court law and similar laws in other states, which, though affecting education indirectly, yet affect it in most important ways.

More—women know that education does not cease with school days, and they have established night classes and clubs for boys and girls which, with due regard for their needs, educate them to a more complete living than the cramping conditions for a young working life permits. Recreation is a most important educative force and understanding this has led to the opening of day and evening play grounds, and gymnasia, indoors and out.

A Bargain in "Orchids."

A New York woman, who has a summer home in the Catskills, was delighted a few days ago when some of the native children brought her a flower which appeared to be a rare orchid. She promptly offered the children three cents apiece for each plant of the kind that they would bring her.

Next day the group returned bearing 60 plants of the desired variety. The second day the force of small laborers was augmented by every child for miles around, bringing in all three hundred orchids.

The third day farmers who had been working in the neighborhood with their teams abandoned all other occupation for the gathering of orchids, with the result that the buyer had to take 3,600 of the plants, all of the same variety, before she could call off the contract.

She is now studying "How to Tell Orchids from Potatoes."

Not Her Day.

Eleanor's beauty was of a changeable type. If her hair were becomingly arranged and the color of her gown just right she was almost beautiful. Under adverse conditions, however, she was really homely.

One day, while rushing homeward after a visit to the dentist, Eleanor unexpectedly encountered her younger brother in the street.

"For heaven's sake!" he pleaded earnestly, as the girl approached, "walk straight ahead and pretend that you don't know me. There's a whole bunch of the boys coming this way, and it isn't ten minutes since I told them that you were pretty!"—Lippincott's Magazine.

Women Shun Dentistry.

Dentistry does not seem to appeal to women. It is one of the professions which is not threatened by a feminine invasion. There are very few women hovering around the dental colleges.

PUTTING IT DELICATELY.

Servant Wanted Instructions About the Mother-in-Law.

Stuyvesant Fish was discussing in Philadelphia the March panic.

"That was delicately put," he said, referring to the remark that indirectly cast the blame for the panic on a certain source. "Whether your remark is true or false, it was couched delicately. It reminds me of the story of the footman.

"A footman called his master up by telephone and said:

"'I regret to inform you, sir, that your house is on fire and fast burning down.'

"'Oh,' cried the master, 'what a terrible misfortune! But my wife—is she safe?'

"'Quite safe, sir. She was got out among the first.'

"'And my daughters—are they all right?'

"'All right, sir. They're with their mother.'

"There was a pause. Then:

"'And what about my mother-in-law, James?'

"'That, sir,' said the footman suavely, 'was what I wished to speak to you about, sir, particularly. Your mother-in-law is lyin' asleep in the third story back, and knowin' your regard for her comfort, sir, I wasn't sure whether I ought to disturb her or not, sir.'"

SCULPTOR AT WORK IN JAIL.

Accused of Wife Murder, He Models Royal Group for the Government.

The Italian sculptor, G. Cisariello, who has been in prison at Naples for the last eighteen months, has recently been allowed to practice his art in the prison. The idea was suggested to him by a postal card sent to him by a friend, with a portrait of the crown prince of Italy on it.

He sketched a group showing the king and queen and the boy and made application for modeling clay and tools and for permission to have a child of three years to visit him daily to serve as a model for Prince Humbert. The tools and clay were furnished, but the child model was refused.

Cisariello went on with the work and he has just finished it. Fellow prisoners occasionally posed for the adult figures, but he had no material for the child except the postal card.

Notwithstanding this, the work is said to have merit. The government has ordered the model to be cast in bronze and the finished work is to be set up in front of the prison.

Cisariello's trial is expected to begin next month.

PIPES OUT, CIGARS IN.

Philadelphian Says Broadshouldered Young Man of Picture Is Passe.

"Cigars are again the go. Away with the pipe! It's no longer the cult," says a Philadelphia dealer. "Men took to pipes a time ago as a sort of rage, and the drop in the cigar business was considerable. But after a year or two of pipes they have gradually rejoined the old ranks of the cigar smokers, and we sell cigars daily now to men to whom we were long glad to hand out a package of smoking tobacco once a week. I believe the newspaper and magazine illustrations had considerable influence in making pipe smokers. They always showed the broadshouldered young chap, sitting on a rock, gazing afar off to where his girl was supposed to be, and smoking a big-bowled pipe. The young fellows tried to emulate the picture man, and stuck to the job for a while. Then they weakened, as I have stated."

HAD TOO MANY TRICKS.

Reason Why Dog Wasn't a Very Good Guardian.

The Irishman wanted to sell the dog, but the prospective buyer was suspicious and finally decided not to buy. The man then told him why he was so anxious to sell.

"You see," he said, "I bought the dog and trained him myself. I got him so he'd bark all the time if a person stepped inside the gate, and I thought I was safe from burglars. Then my wife wanted me to train him to carry bundles, and I did. If I put a packet in his mouth the dog would keep it there till some one took it away. Well, one night I woke up and heard some one in the next room. I got up and grabbed my gun. They were there—three of the scoundrels and the dog."

"Didn't he bark?" interrupted the man.

"Sorra a bark; he was too busy."

"Busy? What doing?"

"Carrying a lantern for the burglars."—Dublin Freeman.

Mr. White Had Them Guessing.

The new ambassador of the United States, Henry White, has the gift of tongues, which is not generally the case with his countrymen, says Le Cri de Paris.

Some time ago he was at Venice with his daughter. Each took a cup of tea at a garden. Not far from them at another table were seated two Americans who did not know the diplomat.

"I'll bet," said one—the Yankees always bet—"that he is an American; he looks out for the ladies."

"No," said the other, "he is English. He has already drunk three cups of tea. An American would be content with only one."

At that moment a waiter appeared. The ambassador addressed him in unimpeachable Italian.

"Bah!" cried the Americans in the same breath. "He's a Roman."

Still Hope.

"Steward, how long will it be before we get into the harbor?"

"About an hour and a half, ma'am."

"Oh, dear, I shall die before then."

"Very likely, ma'am. But you'll be all right again when you've been on shore ten minutes."

ALL WOMEN SUFFER

from the same physical disturbances, and the nature of their duties, in many cases, quickly drift them into the horrors of all kinds of female complaints, organic troubles, ulceration, falling and displacements, or perhaps irregularity or suppression causing backache, nervousness, irritability, and sleeplessness.

Women everywhere should remember that the medicine that holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female ills is made from simple native roots and herbs. For more than thirty years it has been helping women to be strong, regulating the functions perfectly and overcoming pain. It has also proved itself invaluable in preparing for child-birth and the Change of Life.

Mrs. A. M. Hagermann, of Bay Shore, L. I., writes:—Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—"I suffered from a displacement, excessive and painful functions so that I had to lie down or sit still most of the time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me a well woman so that I am able to attend to my duties. I wish every suffering woman would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and see what relief it will give them."

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female illness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. for advice. She is the Mrs. Pinkham who has been advising sick women free of charge for more than twenty years, and before that she assisted her mother-in-law Lydia E. Pinkham in advising. Therefore she is especially well qualified to guide sick women back to health.

Hereditory Professions.

A characteristic illustration of the habit of the Japanese of following the profession of their fathers was recently afforded by an advertisement in a Japanese newspaper. STRIKE OF KEY MEN SPREADS RAPIDLY

ASSOCIATED PRESS SERVICE HAMPERED BY WALKOUT OF OPERATORS.

26 MORE CITIES JOIN STRIKE

OFFER TO MEDIATE BY GOTHAM OFFICIAL TURNED DOWN BY COMPANIES.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—The strike of the union commercial telegraph operators will be universal throughout the United States and Canada within twenty-four hours, according to National Secretary Russell of the telegraphers' organization. This statement was made by Mr. Russell after he had been informed of the action taken by the men in New York, who at a meeting there yesterday decided to hold a walkout in abeyance until the latter part of the week.

Pending a Conference

in Chicago early this week in which United States Labor Commissiontr Charles P. Neill, Samuel J. Small, president of the telegraphers' union; Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Ralph M. Easley, chairman of the executive committee of the National Civic Federation, will endeavor to effect an adjustment of the trouble.

About 500 men were added to the ranks of the strikers yesterday. The new recruits come from various sections throughout the country, in each case the strikes being precipitated by the men refusing to work with nonunion men in other cities.

Approximately 4,500 telegraphers are now on strike, divided among thirty-eight of the larger cities of the country, including Chicago, St. Louis, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Milwaukee and Fargo.

TWin Cities Join Fight.

St. Paul, Aug. 12. — St. Paul and Minneapolis union telegraph operators employed by the Western Union went on a strike Saturday. About 100 walked out of the main office in St. Paul and about sixty quit work in Minneapolis. The action was taken without instruction from the national officers.

Operators Walk Out.

Chicago, Aug. 14.—The operators in the office in this city and on the South and Western circuits of the Associated Press leased wires stopped work last night at 7:30 o'clock. The strike was made against the wishes and advice of Grand Secretary Russell of the telegraphers' union, who tried to keep them at work for another twenty-four hours, or until satisfactory arrangements could be made for a conference between M. E. Stone, the general manager of the Associated Press, and a committee of the operators.

Strike Spreads Rapidly.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—The strike of the telegraphers spread rapidly yesterday, the men walking out in many cities in the East and West. The chief strike of the day was in New York, where the operators of both the Western Union and Postal companies left their keys. Other strikes during the day were as follows:

Western Union—Montgomery, Ala.; Savannah, Ga.; Augusta, Ga.; Des Moines, Iowa; Chattanooga, Tenn.; Cleveland, Buffalo, Baltimore, Toledo, Columbia, S. C.; Pittsburg, Washington, D. C.

Postal—Columbus, O.; Des Moines, Iowa; Denver, Los Angeles, Salt Lake City, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Buffalo, Baltimore, Columbia, S. C.; Washington, D. C.; Minneapolis.

Both Sides Claim to Be Satisfied.

New York, Aug. 15.—From the viewpoint of the employers of telegraph operators the strike situation last night was declared to be improving hourly, and the officials of both the Western Union and the Postal companies announced themselves to be more than satisfied with the progress that had been made during the day and the early hours of the night toward the restoration of wire communication throughout the country.

Can Handle Business.

"Enough men have remained in every office," they said, "to enable us to handle all ordinary traffic and to attend to the technical and administrative ends of the business."

These statements on behalf of the companies were declared to be based on reports from all over the country and were not confined to the situation in the general offices in New York.

The officials of the telegraphers' union, on the other hand, expressed satisfaction with the progress of the strike.

Ask President to Mediate.

Chicago, Aug. 14.—President Hiram N. Sager of the Chicago board of trade yesterday sent a telegram to President Roosevelt, asking him to use his personal influence toward affecting a settlement of the telegraphers' strike.

Situation in St. Paul.

St. Paul, Aug. 14.—The local management claims to have fifty operators at the keys in the main office here. They say that business is moving on practically a normal basis. The Postal men are all at work as usual. Officers of the union say they are perfectly satisfied with the situation.

BOTH SIDES APPEAR HOPEFUL

COMPANIES CLAIM TO BE MAKING PROGRESS — STRIKERS SAY THEY ARE GAINING.

Oyster Bay, Aug. 15. — President Roosevelt will not concern himself personally with the telegraphers' strike, according to the best information obtainable here last night.

Several appeals to the president to take some action were received at the executive office yesterday from boards of trade and commercial bodies, similar to that formulated Tuesday by the Chicago board of trade. Each emphasized the importance of direct action by the president.

The communications have been referred to Commissioner of Labor Neill, but it is understood that no instructions or recommendations have been forwarded to him. Mr. Neill, it is stated here, has as yet made no report to the president. The impression is given that in Mr. Neill's efforts the administration considers that the limit of its authority is being exercised.

Conditions Improved.

Chicago, Aug. 15. — The telegraph situation in Chicago and throughout the entire Middle West, according to company reports, is that during the past twenty-four hours considerable progress has been made towards normal conditions. Conditions have improved so much with the Western Union Telegraph company that it will open its board of trade office here this morning. The Postal company officials declared themselves more than Satisfied With Conditions.

They say that should matters continue to improve as rapidly as they did yesterday it will be but a short time until branch offices will be reopened. The union officials turned their attentions to the brokers, and all commission men using leased wires were notified that unless working contracts were signed with the men by this morning their employes would be called out.

Peace Move Makes No Progress.

Peace efforts inaugurated by Samuel Gompers and other officers of the American Federation of Labor are still under way. President Gompers said last night:

"The feeling is so intense on both sides as to make it difficult to accomplish much at this time. Peace has not failed, because peace has not been considered yet by either side. While men are still answering the impulse to strike there is little use in trying to get them to think of going back."

Little Change in New York.

New York, Aug. 15.—There was little change in the situation in New York and other Eastern cities. Both telegraph companies profess to be satisfied with the progress made. On the other hand, the leaders of the strikers claim that their cause has been strengthened. No trouble has developed among the operators in the brokers' offices, where, according to the telegraphers' union many big houses granted the demands of their men as regards wages and working hours. The news service throughout the East was practically unimpaired. The hope of the strikers that the Order of Railway Telegraphers would make common cause with the commercial operators has not been realized.

FALL FROM BUGGY FATAL.

Woman Thrown Out When Horse Becomes Fractious.

Dickinson, N. D., Aug. 15.—As Mr. and Mrs. Matt Messer started to drive out into the country from this city their horse became fractious at the approach to the county bridge over the Heart river, and Mrs. Messer was thrown from the buggy and injured so severely that she died soon afterward.

Caught in Belt and Killed.

Humboldt, Iowa, Aug. 15. — Charles Sherman, a prominent and well-to-do farmer of this place, was killed by being caught in the belt of a threshing machine. He was thrown into the flywheel and whirled around several times before the machine could be stopped. His body was ground to a pulp and every bone broken.

Killed by a Blow.

Centerville, Iowa, Aug. 15.—Struck in the back of the head by the descending cage at the Relay mine of the Block Coal company, Raymond Gault, the eighteen-year-old son of the weighmaster, Tom Gault, received a broken jaw and had his neck wrenched so badly that he died from the injuries.

Marshal Routs Burglars.

North Branch, Minn., Aug. 15.—Burglars visited this town again last night but secured no booty. Marshal Nelson caught robbers at work in a saloon, the men took to their heels and the marshal chased them as far as North Branch creek, where he lost track of them.

Dynamite Wrappers Fatal Food.

Bruce, Wis., Aug. 15.—William Dagle lost two fine steers yesterday. They ate the paper wrappers of sticks of dynamite and died in a few hours.

Jackdaw's Thefts.

Following the loss of numerous wooden labels attached to the plants in the city park the Turro corporation issued numerous solemn warnings to children, says the London Daily News.

At a Chapel near at hand, however, a large pile of the missing labels has just been found under a hole in the roof, having been carried there by a jackdaw.

The heights never are scaled by the top-lofty.

REBATES LAID TO MILWAUKEE ROAD

GOVERNMENT SECRET AGENTS SAID TO HAVE FOUND VIOLATION OF LAW.

CONCESSIONS TO THE PACKERS

ACCUSATION IS DENIED — SAY SEEMING REBATES WERE CLERICAL ERRORS.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—Secret agents of the government are said to have discovered evidence tending to show that rebates recently were paid by the Milwaukee road to the packing firm of the Schwarzchild & Sulzberger company.

The alleged rebating consisted in permitting the packing firm to pay freight rates on less than the minimum weight allowed for shipping their products in what are known as "peddling cars." Representatives of the railroads and the packing company deny the accusation and insist that the seeming rebates were in reality only clerical errors, which are likely to occur in any business transaction.

Found Only by Government.

That the errors were undiscovered until the government found them out and not until quite a number of them had been committed is also explained by both companies concerned.

The secret agent of the government is said to have discovered that in many instances where Schwarzchild & Sulzberger had shipped less than 10,000 pounds in "peddling cars," they were given bills for the exact amount shipped and payment was made upon this basis.

Company Fined Over Year Ago.

In order that such rebates be paid it was necessary for the false bills to pass auditors of the railroad and the packing company. It is not stated how many false bills were uncovered by the government, but rumor has it that there were between thirty and fifty cases. More than a year ago the same firm was convicted of receiving rebates from the Alton road, and heavy fines were assessed against the company and against the firm.

LO SELLS MUCH LAND.

Crow Creeks Get $11 an Acre for Some of Their Land.

Gann Valley, S. D., Aug. 15.—During the last year a large amount of Indian land on the Crow Creek reservation has been sold to whites. This land is all allotted to the Indians under trust patents and is held for them by the government for twenty-five years. The twenty-five years on most of the land does not expire until 1920, but when the allottee dies his heirs are allowed to probate the estate in the county courts and the land then is sold by the heirs. A section of this land was sold this week for $11 an acre. There were twelve bidders.

JUMPS FROM TRAIN; LOSES LEGS.

Eau Claire Man Has Serious Accident at Elk Mound.

Elk Mound, Wis., Aug. 15. — When Oliver Oliverson of Eau Claire attempted to board the Twin City train of the Omaha road at this city his feet slipped and he fell under the wheels and both his legs below the knees were crushed. He was taken to the Sacred Heart hospital at Eau Claire, where both of his limbs were amputated. He is improving and may recover.

ERECT LIGHTHOUSES.

Lake of Woods Navigation to Be Aided.

Spooner, Minn., Aug. 15.—A crew of the United States lighthouse service has been here this week. It is establishing a number of lighthouses along the American side of Lake of the Woods. Two lighthouses are to be erected at the mouth of Rainy river; two more are to be built at the mouth or Warroad river, and two more along the shore of the Lake of the Woods.

Thrown From Horse; Badly Hurt.

Yankton, S. D., Aug. 15.—Ernest Jacob, a young farmer here, was thrown from a horse and received a broken jaw and internal injuries, besides numerous serious bruises and abrasions. He was thought to be fatally injured at first, but he now is showing signs of improvement.

Solon's Wife Hurt in Runaway.

Royalton, Minn., Aug. 15.—Mrs. M. N. Young, wife of Representative Young of Two Rivers, a small place about two miles from here, has been badly hurt in a runaway. Her arm was broken and badly splintered and her collarbone was fractured. She received also numerous bruises.

Run Down by Engine.

St. Paul, Aug. 15.—Eric Sward received probably fatal injuries yesterday afternoon by being struck by a switch engine in the Minnesota Transfer yards. His spine is seriously injured and his body from the waist down is paralyzed.

Dynamiters Arrested.

Anoka, Minn., Aug. 15.—Game Warden C. E. Stevens arrested three men Monday who were using dynamite to catch fish in Rum river. They were fined and released.

BANK AT NEWFOLDEN RAIDED

SAFECRACKERS DEADEN NOISE WITH HAY AND GET AWAY WITH $2,000.

Crookston, Minn., Aug. 15. — After piling a wagon load of hay against the front of the building to deaden the noise, robbers last night broke through the rear door of the Farmers' State bank at Newfolden, blew open the safe and stole $2,000. They escaped and there are no clues that give hope of their capture.

The Newfolden robbery follows one committed at Humboldt last week, when the bank at that place was looted and the criminals escaped unscathed. It is believed that both crimes were committed by members of a gang of safecrackers that infested this vicinity last year at about this period and perpetrated a score of robberies.

Newfolden is fifty miles north of Crookston, on the Soo road, and about thirty miles from Humboldt. The robbers worked quietly, and through their foresight in dumping the load of hay against the front of the bank building probably prevented detection. The door at the rear of the bank was easily entered and the robbers proceeded to blow the safe. The detonation was so thoroughly muffled that none of the residents of the place was aroused.

How the criminals entered and left the town is not known, and the authorities are at a loss for a theory that holds out any probability of leading to the identification and apprehension of the robbers.

BLOWS SAFE; WRECKS STORE.

Burglars Create Havoc in a General Merchandise Store.

Stillwater, Minn., Aug. 15. — The blowing of a large safe in the new store conducted by C. A. Anderson and Edward C. Kroeger, general merchants, at South Stillwater, made a fearful wreck of the building and worked wonderful demolition of the safe.

A roll of $60 in money was blown out on the floor, with papers from the safe, and was not found by the yeggmen.

MINER STABBED IN BACK.

Candlestick Wielded by Italian May Cause Man's Death.

Butte, Mont., Aug. 15.—Ed Granger, a miner at the Mountain Consolidated mine, was stabbed in the back by a fellow miner, an Italian, and now lies at St. Joseph's hospital in a critical condition. He was stabbed with a candlestick.

Granger does not even know the Italian's name, and says that he believes he was stabbed by mistake.

MAY HEAR JOHNSON.

Plankinton Is After Minnesota Governor for Celebration.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Aug. 15.—If the plans of the people of Plankinton materialize either Gov. Folk of Missouri or Gov. Johnson of Minnesota will make an address in South Dakota before the close of the present month. On Aug. 29 and 30 there is to be a grand celebration at Plankinton and elaborate preparations are being made for the event.

JAPS COME THROUGH CANADA.

Immigration Inspector Tells of Tour Along Border.

Helena, Mont., Aug. 15. — Immigration Inspector Alfred Hampton of the district embracing Montana and Idaho has returned from a trip of inspection along the Canadian border from Bonners Ferry to the Flathead reservation. He found that a few Japanese were coming in, but on the whole conditions were excellent.

SHERIFFS AT BEMIDJI.

Fifty Delegates Attend Semi-annual Meeting.

Bemidji, Minn., Aug. 15.—The semi-annual meeting of the State Sheriffs' association opened in this city yesterday. Over fifty were present at the opening session. The morning was devoted to a carriage drive around the city and the suburbs.

Nine Horses With Glanders Killed.

Tyler, Minn., Aug. 15.—Nine horses were shot by the state veterinarian in Tyler. About a week ago Utoft Bros., who own the city dray line here, perceived what appeared to be glanders in a newly purchased broncho team. The state veterinarian was notified and when he arrived seven other horses were found to be suffering from the same disease. None of the horses is valued at less than $100.

Lightning's Strange Freak.

Escanaba, Mich., Aug. 15.—During a terrific electrical storm lightning played many queer pranks at the home of Michael Considine, a North-Western conductor. Mr. Considine was standing near a window reading a paper when the bolt struck the house. The paper was torn into small bits, but the reader escaped without injury.

Shoots Sister in Neck.

Waterloo, Iowa, Aug. 15. — While playing with a loaded rifle, Willie Murphy accidetally discharged the gun and the bullet struck his four-year-old sister Agnes in the neck. The doctors believe the child will recover.

Thresh Oats in Martin County.

Granada, Minn., Aug. 15.—The first grain of the year was threshed here yesterday. It was a 25-acre field of oats and averaged twenty-seven bushels to the acre. The price received was 35 cents a bushel.

STOCK MARKET IS DEMORALIZED

PRICES FALL BELOW THE LEVEL REACHED IN NORTHERN PACIFIC PANIC.

FEAR GOVERNMENT'S ATTITUDE

THREATENED MONETARY STRINGENCY ALSO ONE OF CAUSES OF STORM.

New York, Aug. 15.—Distrust of the government's attitude toward the corporations, a threatened monetary stringency in all the leading markets of the world and the financial embarrassment of the Pope Manufacturing company combined to demoralize the stock market yesterday. Prices melted in sensational fashion and the average level of decline was below that reached in the memorable Northern Pacific panic of May, 1901. Stocks were sold lower than ever before in their history.

Pope Failure Excites.

Of the several causes named the failure of the Pope company probably excited the greatest amount of apprehension. During the early session of the market yesterday there was no hint of the coming storm. In fact it was not until the failure of the Pope company became generally known that the list became unsettled. Then the speculators for a decline, encouraged by their successful attacks on prices during the past fortnight, renewed their attacks, concentrating their forces on the Harriman and Hill issues, Reading, St. Paul, the Coppers, American Smelting and the Steel stocks.

Excitement Is Intense.

Under vigorous hammering a flood of orders to sell to stop losses were uncovered, and as usual in times of great excitement numerous accounts were sold for what they would bring.

On the exchange and in the various brokers' offices the excitement was intense. After the close of the market urgent calls for additional margins were issued by brokers. There was talk of a bankers' pool to protect the market from further raids, but this was ridiculed in trustworthy quarters. The more substantial interests offered little or no support.

HILL STILL CONTROLS N. P.

Authoritative Denial Comes From New York Office That Harrimna Is "It."

New York, Aug. 15.—Official denial has been given to the report that James J. Hill and his associates have lost control of the Northern Pacific property and that it passed to the Harriman crowd.

The denial came from the Northern Pacific headquarters here. Rumor has been rampant since Saturday that the Harriman interests had finally won out and that the Harriman big combine of Western lines had been strengthened another peg. The denial is so authoritative that the rumor is considered a dead one here.

Poisoned by Cheese.

Bruce, Wis., Aug. 15. — Rev. J. F. Franklin and family were poisoned last night from eating cheese bought at a local grocery. Prompt medical attention is all that saved their lives.

Arm and Ankle Broken.

Stillwater, Minn., Aug. 15. — Henry Stussi was thrown from his wagon in a runaway and seriously injured. His arm and ankle were broken and he was painfully bruised.

Harvest Hands Needed.

Paynesville, Minn., Aug. 15.—Harvesting is progressing nicely and is being pushed as fast as possible. Help for the harvest fields is scarce and demands good pay.

Mansfield Will Act No More.

Lyon Mountain, N. Y., Aug. 15. — Richard Mansfield is not improving in health. Those close to him admit that the actor may never again be seen on the stage.

Fall Kills Conductor.

Chadron, Neb., Aug. 15.—While attempting to close an end door of a stock car, Conductor Smith fell and sustained injuries which caused his death.

Disfranchisement Bill Passes.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 15.—By a vote of 139 to 16 the house yesterday passed the so-called negro disfranchisement bill previously adopted by the senate.

Badger 2-cent Law in Effect.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 15. — The 2-cent rate per mile on all railroads operating in Wisconsin went into effect at midnight last night.

OVERFLOW FROM THE WIRES.

Fire destroyed the Erie railroad warehouse at Susquehanna, Pa., entailing a loss estimated at $185,000.

Mrs. Sarah Doremus of Newark, N. J., has just celebrated her 104th birthday. She was born at Saddle River, N. J., Aug. 13, 1903.

Gen. Coxey, leader of the famous hobo march across the country to Washington a few years ago, is planning to start a new pilgrimage, but he refuses to tell its destination or its purpose.

OPEN LANDS IN SOUTH DAKOTA

TRACT OF 55,000 ACRES IN OLD LOWER BRULE RESERVATION OPENED.

Washington, Aug. 15. — Announcement was made at the interior department yesterday of a proclamation issued by the president opening 55,000 acres of public lands, formerly part of the Lower Brule Indian reservation, in South Dakota. The plan of the opening is to be similar to that recently employed in the opening of the Huntley lands in Montana. In this case the lands are to be divided into about 350 farms. The tracts are situated about ten miles southeast of Pierre, and are not only valuable for agricultural purposes, but much of them can be cultivated without irrigation.

These lands are to be entered under the homestead law in tracts not exceeding 150 acres, and are to be paid for at from $1.25 to $2.50 an acre. The first payment of $1 is required on the date on entry and the others in annual installments.

The drawing will take place on Oct. 14, and on the Monday following the successful applicants will begin to make entry.

THEFT LAID TO ST. PAUL COUPLE

Accused of Stealing $140 From Eau Claire Jeweler.

Eau Claire, Wis., Aug. 15. — A smooth faced young man wearing an old-style infantry uniform and a young woman registered at a hotel here as G. Gunovius and wife, St. Paul. After breakfast the young man went to Ferry's jewelry store and offered a ring for sale to the clerk. Just at this time Mr. Ferry had laid on the counter at the rear of the store $140 in currency which he was about to send to the bank when he was interrupted by a customer. The soldier, it is alleged, being told by the clerk that the proprietor would have to be consulted about the ring began walking up and down the store, and finally saying, "I'll be back," walked out in a leisurely manner. When Mr. Ferry looked for the money it was gone. The soldier, it is claimed, went straight to his room, put on a civilian suit, and with his wife started on foot for Altoona City, two miles away. In the meantime the authorities got busy and the soldier and his wife were arrested at Altoona City as they were about to take a train. The couple were searchind in jail in this city and $140 was found in the possession of the woman.

SHERIFF FOILS CUPID.

Indian Prisoner Cannot Wed Without Uncle Sam's Consent.

Yankton, S. D., Aug. 15.—John Little Owl, a Yankton Sioux, in jail here as a federal prisoner, and who is allowed the outside for fresh air occasionally, got as far as the court house here and procured a marriage license to wed Mrs. Watkin Win, also a Yankton Sioux. Then Sheriff Hickey stepped in and spoiled the romance and wedding, as he would not permit it to go without government sanction. Little Owl still cherishes his license, however and will use it on his release several months hence.

FIXES STATE TAX LEVY.

South Dakota Board Completes Its Work.

Pierre, S. D., Aug. 15. — The state board of assessment completed its work yesterday and fixed the state levy for the coming year at 4 1-4 mills, divided: 2 mills general levy, 1 mill deficiency levy and 1 1-4 mills twine plant levy, this latter having been voted by the people as a special constitutional amendment at the last general election.

BULLET DRILLS HAT.

Iowa Militiaman Has Narrow Escape During Exercises.

Des Moines, Iowa, Aug. 15.—During the maneuvers of the Blue and Brown forces of the state militia Corporal Moraville of Shenandoah had a narrow escape from death when a bullet plowed through the rim of his hat. It is thought that a mistake of some kind occurred and that no one attempted to kill the corporal.

Famous Plum Farm Sold.

Windom, Minn., Aug. 15. — Joseph Woods has sold his 160-acre farm and fruit ranch to W. F. Walker of Sheldon, Iowa, for $52 an acre. Besides having one of the best farms in Cottonwood county, Mr. Woods has been prominently identified with fruit raising. He is the originator of the famous Woods plum, which has taken blue ribbon honors at the state fairs of Minnesota and Iowa.

Potato Crop to Be Big.

Des Moines, Iowa, Aug. 15.—There will be no potato famine in Iowa. Director J. R. Sage of the Iowa state estimate and crop service bureau announced in his weekly bulletin that the "spuds" are safe and there will be a big crop. Corn has made remarkable progress the last week.

Epidemic of Burglaries.

St. Cloud, Minn., Aug. 15.—Burglaries continue in this town. Several residences have been entered recently and valuables carried off. The use of a shotgun is being advocated among the citizens as the best cure for the prevailing malady.

Killed While Coupling.

Marquette, Mich., Aug. 15.—Engaged in making a coupling, Henry Steadman, a brakeman, was caught between two freight cars at Ironwood and was crushed to death.

GRANTS IMMUNITY TO ALTON ROAD

WILL NOT BE PROSECUTED FOR ITS PART IN GRANTING REBATES.

STANDARD OIL ALONE GUILTY

IMMUNITY GRANTED CHICAGO & ALTON FOR INFORMATION GIVEN.

Chicago, Aug. 15. — Immunity has been granted to the Chicago & Alton for its part in connection with the illegal rebates for which the Standard Oil Company of Indiana recently was fined $29,240,000 by Judge Landis at Chicago. This fact has become known coincident with the return to Washington of Attorney General Bonaparte, who is about to start proceedings in the direction of criminal prosecution of anti-trust law offenders, if a victim worthy of conviction can be found.

It appears that Former Attorney General Moody, under whose direction the Standard Oil cases recently reaching a climax at Chicago were instituted, used the Chicago & Alton to gain the information upon which indictments originally were returned. Special Counsel Morrison, formerly United States district attorney for the district of Chicago, it is understood, promised the Alton immunity from prosecution in return for the information furnished.

MOORS REPULSED; LOSS HEAVY.

Another Assault Made on Casablanca by 4,000 Tribesmen.

Tangier, Aug. 15. — A report from Casablanca says that that city was suddenly attacked by four thousand Moorish tribesmen Sunday night, who were driven back with terrible loss by the French after several hours of fighting.

The tribesmen displayed dauntless courage, charging repeatedly almost to the French guns, but a hail of shrapnel finally drove them back with heavy losses. The fire of the warships in the roadstead was terribly effective on the masses of native horsemen. The French losses were inconsiderable.

Will Not Grab Morocco.

Paris, Aug. 14.—Minister of Foreign Affairs Pichon has given an interview to the Matin, in which he says:

"The government will send no more troops into Morocco. On no account do we intend to embark upon a work of conquest."

The Matin publishes a dispatch from its correspondent at Casablanca saying the fighting between the natives and the men of Gen. Drude's command lasted all day Saturday, but quieted down Saturday night and Sunday morning. A renewal of the attack, however, is feared, as another kaid, with numerous reinforcements, has arrived. The warships continue to shell the Arab positions.

Virtually Destroyed.

Washington, Aug. 14.—The state department has received the following cablegram relative to the disturbance in Morocco from American Minister Gummere, dated at Tangier yesterday:

"I have been informed by the consular agent at Casablanca, under date of the 10th inst., that the town has been virtually destroyed and that naturalized American citizens lost everything. He also says that the foreigners have left Alcazar for Larache for security. The situation is considered very threatening. There is a French cruiser at Tangier, but in case of attack the Moorish soldiers at that point would join the tribesmen. Many people are leaving for Spain."

OIL STOCK LOWEST IN YEARS.

Wall Street Struck by Another Decline—Rail Paper Goes Down, Too.

New York, Aug. 15.—For a time yesterday there was a recession in the wave of liquidation which for several days had been depressing the price of securities, but before midday the pressure had been renewed and quotations in some instances were a point below Monday's close.

Prominent among those were Reading, Canadian Pacific and Great Northern preferred, while, exceptionally, St. Louis Southwestern preferred declined 6 3-4.

In the early trading Standard Oil sold down to 423, a decline of 77 in a week. This is the low record price in many years.

Fall in Tub Breaks Ribs.

Appleton, Wis., Aug. 15.—So weakened from the effects of a bath that he could not stand, Nicholas Dohr fell as he was about to leave the tub and fractured three ribs.

Virginia Town Burned Out.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 15.—A large portion, if not the entire business section of Princess Anne, on the eastern shore of Maryland, was burned out early yesterday. The fire was not of an incendiary origin, but was accidental, it is declared.

Departure Regretted.

Tokio, Aug. 15—Luke E. Wright, the retiring American ambassador to Japan, started yesterday morning on his return to the United States. His departure is generally regretted.

Our dear brethren with the big fish story will have to get a bustle on before the season closes with his "catch" under the ice.

Over $8,386.30 paid the patrons of the St. Hilaire creamery for July cream, and our smile continues to grow larger. Just glance at the report in another column.

The Minnesota editors are planning a trip on the great lakes for this season's outing. They expect to start the fore part of September and be out eight or ten days.

The telegraphers strike will hardly be settled as quickly nor as easily as was the strike on the range a couple of weeks ago. Gov. Johnson proved the right man in the right place upon that occasion.

Now that bank robbers are in the near vicinity we will either have to bury our gold or sleep with the bull dog chained to our penny bank to avoid a visit from these bold villains. The other morning the bank at New Folden, a little town about thirty miles north of here on the Soo road, was entered by the robbers and $2,200 in coin taken. The thugs rifled the blacksmith shop for tools with which to open the safe and then to prevent disturbance while at work barricaded the entrance to the bank with rows of barb wire.

Many of the big daily papers are seeking news over the telephone since the telepraphers have walked out. It hardly seems right that one or two men should be permitted to tie up the business of the whole country just because things does not go to suit them, and then when one considers that they do nothing but sit in their office the live long day and draw a fat salary at the expense of the poor operator—the man whom they promise to help by throwing out of employment for weeks on the plea of getting for him a higher scale of wages or shorter hours.

Attorney General Young has just rendered an opinion based upon a supreme court decision from Ramsey county, to the effect that boilers used for ordinary heating purposes do not need to be inspected every year. This comes as a result of a legal contest instituted by St. Paul people and also at the request of citizens of Little Falls who wrote Mr. Young for an opinion. The decision is quite an important one for the inspectors were allowed a fee of $3 for each boiler inspected. This will come as good news to heating plant owners in the city who have long contended that the inspection was unnecessary and only a farce.

AN INTERESTING GAME.

While the Scores Were Rather Numerous, the Game Proved Interesting.

An aggregation of ball players came over from Wylie last Sunday afternoon and tried to interest our boys in a game of ball. They were short a man or two and thought it would be no hard matter to pick up some player here who would go in and help them do us to the brown and it so happened that Mr. Davis and his helper were in the village that day and they invited the third baseman for the Fergo team to assist them. He did, and the score showed it. "Uncle Si" is a ball player from the ground up and as Wylie had no one to pitch for them he was called upon to officiate in that capacity. He was the attraction of the game, for he was the only one who had anything to say, did anything or showed any desire to play the National game, and he did his part nobly. While his position is on third base, still he showed that he could pitch some and on several occasions made monkeys of our batters, and had he the assistance of a good catcher would have done things too numerous to mention. The score by innings, as given below, will show about how the game was played:

The Triumph of a New Idea.

It has been a subject of comment that the usual features of the Sunday newspapers showed too little variety. A recent departure in Sunday journalism has met with popular recognition and approval. The great illustrated weeklies and monthlies no longer have a monopoly of the periodical field.

Conan Doyle received $25,000 for the American serial rights of his last story, the highest price ever paid for similar rights. Anthony Hope, Jack London, Sewell Ford and many other popular novelists contribute to the publication which set the pace by paying this record price. Celebrated men and women write constantly for it on all subjects of timely interest. Clever verse, wit, humor and interesting miscellany complete a most interesting table of contents. It is profusely illustrated by the leading artists. In fact, the Sunday magazine of the Record-Herald maintains the highest standard of periodical literature throughout. It gets the best at whatever cost.

A Life Sentence.

Said Mr. Joacker, who was reading the paper. "Another poor wretch has been given a life sentence at hard labor."

Said Mrs. Joacker, who was embroidering blue roses: "Probably he deserves it. What is he guilty of?"

"Fraud and no visible means of support. He obtained clothes and a fine turnout with no money and nothing collectible. He seems to be larger and stronger than most of that class, yet it is plain that he has never done a tap of work, though he has managed to live well so far. But the poor fellow takes his sentence hard and cries piteously, protesting his innocence."

"The wretch! He must have dealt with perfect fools!"

"No; his victim is our own friend, Jack Smith."

"That clever lawyer! Do read to me all about it!"

"Born to Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, a twelve pound boy."—Bohemian.

"Shouting."

Early Australian gold diggers made many contributions to the slang of that commonwealth. One of these was "shouting," or standing drinks for everybody within hail, a practice of which the lucky digger was very fond. To refuse to drink with a digger who had "struck it rich," or turned up a big nugget, was a deadly insult. A critic quotes from J. F. Hogan's "History of the Irish In Australia:" "Shouting was at one time almost universal To shout in a public house means to insist on everybody present, friends and strangers alike, drinking at the shouter's expense. It frequently happens that each one 'shouts' in succession."

Peter Johnson, living out south of town on the Cliffgaard farm, was in town Monday exhibiting a sample of winter wheat grown upon his place this year. The sample was as fine as any we have ever seen, and promises a splendid yield. Last fall Mr. Johnson sowed three acres to winter wheat and the yield will easily go twenty bushels to the acre. Thus it will be seen that this isn't such a bad country after all if the tiller of the soil will but get out and work, but in order to make a success of anything a person has to hustle these days. We have the soil here to grow most anything that can be grown in any land, but the land being new it takes lots of hard work to get it into shape to yield abundantly. But who of our rural friends is not satisfied that he can make as good a living here in our midst with as little work now as could be made anywhere? Then again, they have the cows from which they derive the money they bank for a cold day. With from five to eight thousand dollars being distributed monthly among our farmers for cream, it will not be long until our farmers will be as wealthy as most of the farmers of Illinois and Iowa.

Dr. H. E. Nelson informed us last Friday that he had been in the city just one year and during that time he and the stork had been the very best of friends. They have formed a mutual partnership and during the year have ushered into the world twenty little babies, most of which were girls. He has every reason to feel proud of the friendship he has found in the stork and we congratulate him upon his success.

At the meeting of the school board last week the new officers elected for the ensuing year were: H. O. Jackson, chairman; K. O. Gigstad, clerk, and E. M. Hoff, treasurer. They have entered upon the discharge of their new duties and we may expect exceedingly good service from the teachers this year, now that they are to have the support of the school board and parents in one effort to give the scholars the best service possible.

A decidedly novel feature of the Minnesota State Fair this year will be the flight of a real, sure enough ship of the air, twice a day. This is not a hot air balloon from which a man descends to earth hanging to a parachute, but a real, steerable vessel of the air, which will rise, sail over the heads of the people like a bird, and return to its starting place. The sailor is of long experience in his line and the exhibition will be something entirely new. The air ship will make flights three times daily weather permitting. This year's fair opens on Monday, Sept. 2, when Dan Patch will be the star attraction. It closes on Saturday, Sept. 7, with a great automobile show and race meet.
